"Let Us Go to Bethlehem"

By Leona M. Winegarden, pastor,
First Methodist Church, Charlevoix
Greensky Hill Methodist Church

Where are you going this Christmas? Are you having guests for Christmas? These are questions people have been asking each other during the past week. And the question calls to mind once more the customary Christmas rush as we make ready for the great Day.

Where ever you are this Christmas, it is hoped that all of us will make the journey, in reverent imagination and thought, to Bethlehem, for it is there that the real motif and meaning of Christmas are to be found. The invitation still stands: "Come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem." Therefore with shepherds and sages--and with the Bible as our guidebook--we do well to say: "Let us now go even unto Bethlehem and see this thing that is come to pass."

BETHLEHEM stands today, as it stood many, many yesterdays ago in a mountain bay on a gray limestone ridge, with the ground falling away in terraced slopes where olives, pomegranates, figs, and vines all grow. On the slopes of the hills are the pasturage and the fields of barley and wheat. From the heights one can catch a gorgeous glimpse of the Dead Sea and distant mountains of Moab wrapped in a rare rich purple. To the north, some six or so miles away, stands Jerusalem with the mountains round about it. Bethlehem is a tiny and outwardly unimportant town, yet it is the setting of much that was memorable in history even before the Babe was born there.

So this Christmas, when we take to the Bethlehem road in thought and reverent imagination, we are taking a journey back into the Bible and seeking an epitome of God's dealings with men. For in the tale of this tiny town of only 800 souls some of the noblest and most enduring memorials of man and his Maker are enshrined. "Let us now go even unto Bethlehem" the Hebrew word for the House of Bread.

Area Jews Light Chanuka Candles

When Antiochus Epiphanes (Historians), nicknamed Epiphanes (showman) ascended the throne of Syria (175 B. C. E.), of which Palestine was a tributary, he persecuted the Jews. He used his power to introduce Hellenism - Greek culture - among them, and he tried to force them to abandon their sacred religious practices and to compel them to worship Greek idols. He had altars erected in every city. Some Jews yielded to the pagan Greek practices through fear or conviction. Many refused, however, to obey the King's command and suffered death as martyrs for their faith.

The flag of rebellion was raised by Mattathias, the High Priest and his five sons, in Modin. He unfurled the banner of revolt with the cry: "MI L'ADONAY ELAH" - ("Whoever is on the side of God, follow me."). He rallied the scattered and weakened forces in Israel. With the Jewish religion endangered, the meek, pious Jews were transformed into warriors and heroes.

AFTER MATTATHIAS' death his five sons continued the struggle begun by their father under the leadership of Judah, called the Maccabee, (literally, the Hammer). With a limited army of zealous followers Judah defeated the overwhelming Syrian legions. After a brilliant victory he regained possession of Jerusalem and proceeded to rededicate the Temple, which the Syrians had polluted with their heathen ceremonies.

The celebration of Chanuka begins on the twenty-fifth day of Kislev a Hebrew month corresponding to December. This is the day on which the Temple was dedicated anew to the service of God, following the Maccabean victory. The festival lasts for eight days because of a miracle which is said to have occurred during the rededication. When the perpetual lamp was about to be lit, there was found only one cruse of undiluted oil enough for the needs of a single day, but it lasted for

Hawley Planning to Step Down as Mayor in '66

Charlevoix Mayor E. D. Hawley said he does not intend to run in the February primary election.

Hawley says his new duties as president of the Charlevoix County State Bank are too demanding to allow him to continue in public office.

He has been mayor four years, alderman one year, and a member of the Board of Education 14 years.

THE CITY CLERK's office reports that only two candidates for office had filed, as of Dec. 21. They are incumbent treasurer Annabelle Cunningham who is seeking re-election to the same office and incumbent First Ward Supervisor Kit Carson.

None of the three aldermen whose terms are expiring have filed for re-election. They are Bill Fochtman, First Ward; Dr. Walter Hoffman, Second Ward; and Jerry Whitley, Third Ward.

Fochtman says he is undecided about running. Dr. Hoffman says he hasn't heard of any petitions being circulated in his behalf, and Whitley says he intends to run again.

The deadline for filing petitions is 4 p.m. Jan. 3.

Meals Being Served

The "Woodshed" on Petoskey Road -- formerly the Moonlight Gardens -- is now serving meals, according to proprietor Dick Wood.

The building has been completely redecorated inside and out, with rough-hewn redwood on the exterior and redwood paneling and a beamed ceiling in the dining area. Illumination is provided by coach-type side lights.

THE "WOODSHED", which will be serving complete luncheons and dinners, already has attracted some ski business this winter.

Wood is under contract with Julius Gilbert at the Lodge to feed approximately 200 skiers every weekend during the season.

Ski groups will be transported by bus, or by a station wagon shuttle service provided by the Lodge.

TO MAKE ROOM for kitchen facilities, Wood has constructed a 10 by 60 foot addition to the building.

Chef is Dave Oberlin, formerly of Indian River Inn.

Christmas on Beaver Island is Different

BY PHIL GREGG
(Reprinted from "The Beaver Beacon")

Eager and anticipating children, frustrated and bedraggled parents, Christmas preparation are pretty much the same throughout the country. There is one exception, however, and that is unless you are spending your Christmas holidays on an island.

Here it is, two weeks before Christmas and the Shars and Montgomery outdocks look as though they had been through the four wars. If you haven't ordered it yet, don't expect it before next year.

This is Frank Nackerman's time to shine as he spends late hours preparing huge piles of mail for tomorrow's boat (weather permitting). Probably one of the most accommodating postmaster's in the country, Frank, never seems to get flustered even though at this time of the year, he doesn't even have a chance to light his cigar.

AFTER SCHOOL projects for some of the children and grown-ups, alike, are trips to the woods to gather princess pine and cones for making wreaths. Always a critical eye is kept watchful for the tree that is just right.

As boat time nears, many gather at the Shamrock waiting for a sight of it through the steamed windows. While trading idle gossip, Archie is usually chided into dropping another block of wood in his stove. Several of the women have even volunteered to knit the darned thing a sweater. With a blast of the boat's whistle, the Shamrock is quickly emptied, leaving Archie with a hot stove and no customers.

A frigid, wind-swept dock is no place for loitering, and with no passengers to meet, why the big rush to the boat? Force of habit, perhaps, but these last few trips before Christmas are critical ones, as the many sacks of mail and boxes are loaded into Bert's old truck. Some times a new bike or a sled is put into the freight shed, or taken off to Dick or Lloyd's store for later identification. The secret of ownership of items of this sort is closely guarded by boat crew and storekeeper, alike. Like the Pled Piper, Bert's old truck leads the migration to the post office, where a constant vigil is kept while the mail is sorted. Eventually it is distributed and each goes his separate way as the street lights illuminate sparkling snow swirling in the wind.

KITCHENS BECOME regular production lines of fancy cookies, cakes, fudge and home baked bread, the aroma of which makes us wonder, how many pounds we are going to add to our waists over the holidays.

'Tis the season to be jolly, and the Irish of the Beavers aren't to be denied an opportunity to celebrate, whether it's fair weather or foul.

The cards have been sent out and the last mail order came in yesterday. There were two notices indicating Susie's doll was out of stock and Jimmie's pair of skates are for the same foot. Nor running to the store for a quick replacement, but these are things we live with and in all the excitement of the many other items, they can be corrected later without too much notice. The tree has been cut and hauled from the woods and now fills most to the end of the living room.

Christmas Eve and all that can be done has been done. Mothers breathe a sigh of relief, knowing their jobs are nearly done, with only the din of Christmas morning and preparation of Christmas dinner on her agenda. Dads, too, breathe a sigh but not always of relief. A little concern about those revolving charge accounts provides mixed emotions about the whole thing.

AS THIS EVE of our Savior's birth draws to an end, Protestant and Catholic, alike dress to attend Mass. The village is left to itself as the doors of the Holy Cross Church open to its inhabitants. The altar, gleaming bright and decorated with poinsettias, bolsters the Spirit of Christmas, and as this reverent occasion progresses, we feel just a little closer to our neighbors and a lot warmer inside.

After Midnight Mass and after the youngsters are in bed, groups of friends and relatives often gather for Christmas breakfast. Breakfast at 1:30 a.m.? Actually this is a real time idea for when morn-

Loans Available to Area Residents

Farmers Home Administration is now accepting loan applications from rural families who need to improve their housing, Ivan Hooper, the agency's supervisor for Antrim, Charlevoix and Otsego Counties said today.

Funds may be used to finance homes, building sites, and essential farm service buildings. Under the new program private capital will provide the bulk of the funds with the Farmers Home Administration making the loans and guaranteeing the repayments of principal and interest to the investors.

LEGISLATION implementing the new insured loan program was contained in the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965.

The Act authorizes the Farmers Home Administration to insure loans totaling $300 million each year for families in low or moderate income levels. These loans will bear interest at 5 percent. Additionally, loans bearing 5-3/4 percent interest can be insured for families with incomes above the moderate level.

Hooper said that loans are available to families living on farms and in rural areas including towns of 5,500 population to construct, improve, or repair rural homes and related facilities, or farm service buildings, or to provide water for farmstead and household use.

FAMILIES needing credit to improve their present housing may use loan funds to add bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens, and other home improvements, as well as to enlarge or remodel farm service buildings and put in related facilities such as yard fences, driveways and sidewalks.

A farmer may borrow funds to provide buildings for his use or for the use of his tenants and laborers. A rural resident may use loan funds to buy a previously occupied house, or to buy a site on which to build his home, or to build or repair a home on land he owns.

INSURED rural housing loans are made to applicants who are unable to obtain the required credit from other sources. Further information on insured rural housing loans may be obtained at the county office of the Farmers Home Administration located in the basement of the Antrim County Courthouse in Beloit.

City Takes Thriller, 63-62

BERNIE WARD'S (51) arms appear miles long as he guards Rambler Dennie Gunderson. Background, Rayder Larry Skippergosh (35) blocks Boyne City's big Bill Benser.

Boyne Team Bows

The basketball game Friday was one of those contests that can't happen but does. Charlevoix beat Boyne City 63 to 62, with the last Rambler basket sunk in the final second of the game.

Although the reins changed hands several times, it was clearly a come-from-behind victory for the Rayders who trailed most of the evening.

HIGH SCORER for Charlevoix was Fred Wabaninkee with nine baskets and three free throws for a total of 21 points.

In second place was Bernie Ward with six baskets and three free throws, for 15 points, and Tom Webb was third with five baskets and four free throws, for a total of 14 points.

At the end of the first period, Boyne City led 20 to 15, with Wabaninkee scoring seven of the Rayders' tallies.

IN THE SECOND period, Charlevoix caught fire, tying the score at 34-34 at the half. The teams were neck and neck for a while in the third quarter, with one field goal canceling out another as the score climbed. Finally, with two minutes left, Boyne City moved ahead by four points. Charlevoix managed to close the gap to two points --- 48 to 50 --- when the period ended.

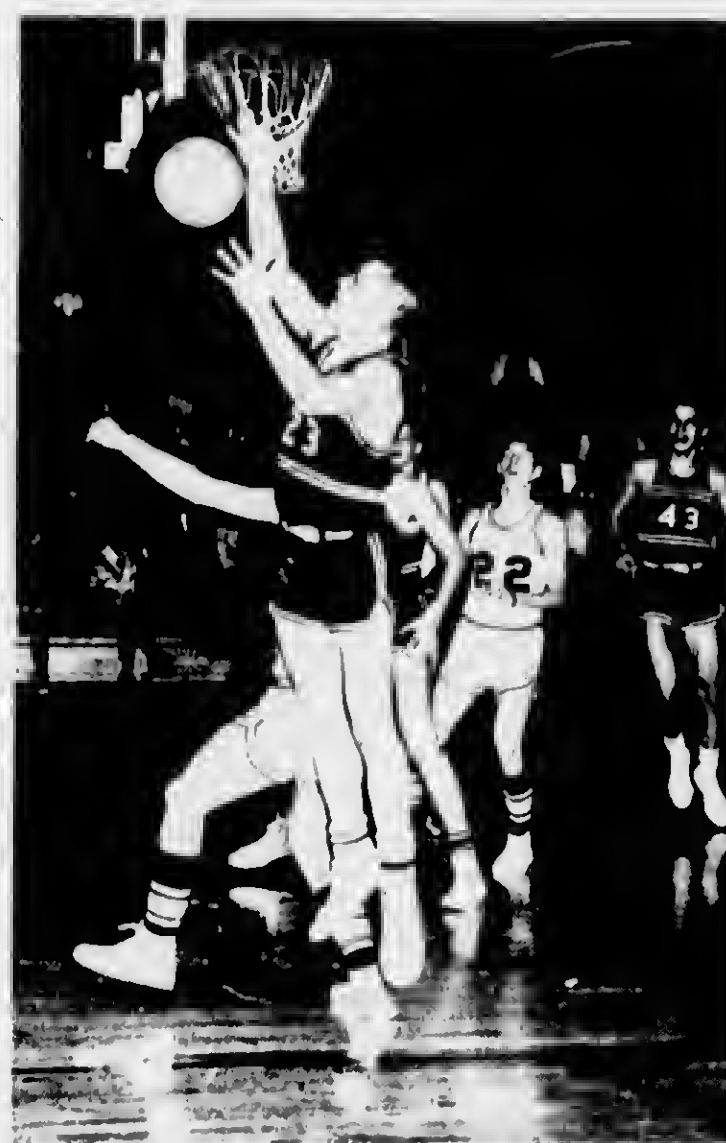

In the fourth period, Steve Smith racked up 23 field goals and 17 of 23 free throws. Boyne City had 22 baskets and 18 of 27 free throws.

AT THIS POINT Bernie Ward sank a spectacular basket from well back on the floor, followed by another by Tom Webb. Charlevoix was ahead, 58 to 57.

A free throw by Boyne City's Mike Hausler tied the score at 58 all, as the game entered its final minutes.

A field goal by Bernie Ward was offset by two free throws by the Rambler's Dennie Gunderson, boosting the board to 60 even. The din was unbelievable.

A BASKET by Wabaninkee came after the whistle and was not counted, but a free throw by Jack Bergmann, moved the Rayders ahead 61-60. Seconds later Ward sank another basket, sealing the victory. A final basket by Gunderson in the last second left the Rambler's trailing by only one point.

IN THE PELISTON game, Dec. 14, the Rayders didn't fare so well, bowing to the Hornets 53 to 43.

A basket broke during the warm-up postponed the game 40 minutes while welders made repairs.

Charlevoix fell behind right from the beginning, trailing eight points at the end of the first period and 12 points at the half. The Rayders picked up a little steam in the second half, but were unable to turn the trick.

Charlevoix one defeat and one victory last week leaves the Rayders tied for third place in the conference with two-and-two.

Christmas Joy

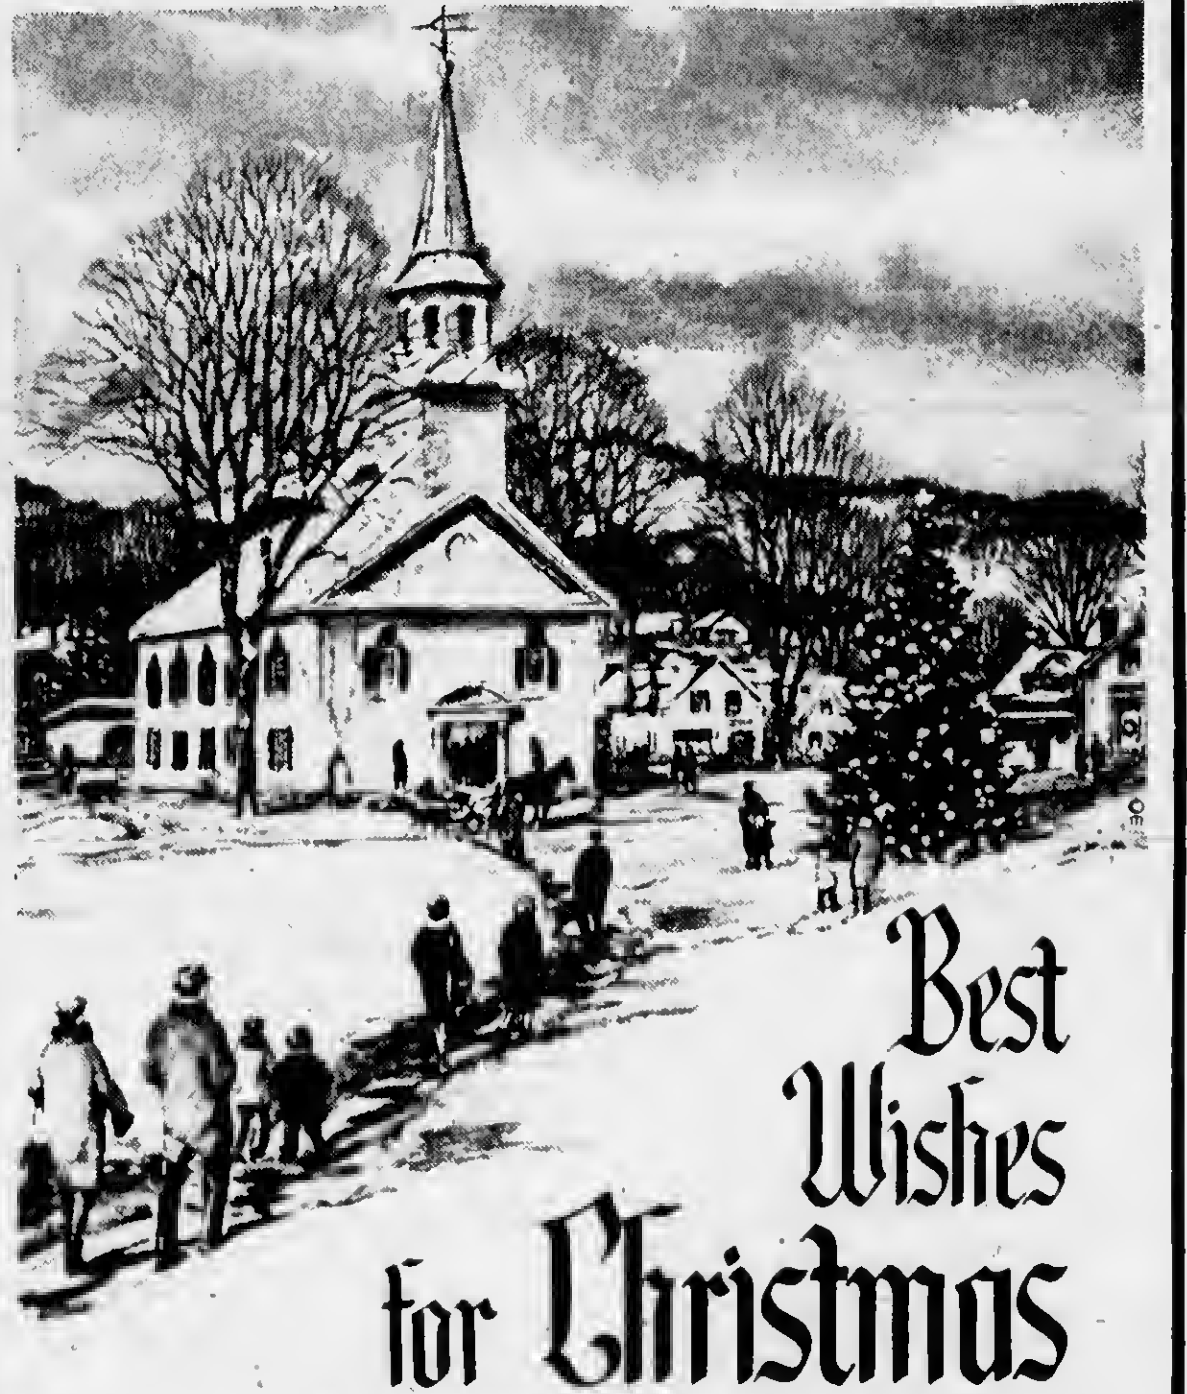

Nearly 2,000 years ago, the Wise Men bore gifts to the Infant Saviour.

Thus, Christmas became a season of giving. . . a time to share blessings. May you and yours give and receive generously of meaningful Christmas joys.

Class to Write Ellsworth News

The journalism class at Ellsworth High School has agreed to write Ellsworth community news for the Charlevoix Courier.

The 12-member class, under the direction of teacher Don Heilig, will replace Mrs. Anne Osterbaan, who has resigned.

The arrangement not only will give students experience in the actual preparation of news copy, but also should bring readers news from all corners of the Ellsworth area.

The regular correspondent's pay will go into the school's yearbook fund.

In addition to local news, the class also will handle school sports.

Following is the class' first weekly report. The project will continue in January, after next week's Christmas recess.

By the Ellsworth Journalism Class

With the holiday season upon us, the calendar is full of events. Sunday evening, the 19th, a group of carolers from the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church trudged through the snow singing Christmas carols. Wednesday, Dec. 22, a group from the Pilgrim Holiness Church will be out singing and on Thursday a group from the Alwood Reformed Church will make the rounds.

Also on the agenda are the various Christmas programs. By the time this paper comes out, Atwood Reformed Church will already have presented its program. Tuesday, Dec. 21, the P. T. A. Christmas Program took place and Tuesday Dec. 23, the Pilgrim Holiness Church Christmas Program will be given. The Christian Reformed Church also will present a Christmas program Dec. 25.

HOUSES' ALL around the town are being decorated for the holidays. If you have some spare time some night, hop in the car with your kids and take a drive around the town to look at the homes.

The business men decorated the town this year with strings of lights which wish everyone a Merry Christmas.

LARRY ESSENBERG and Jack Torga arrived home Dec. 19. They have been away from school for three weeks and have now completed their course. They learned the basic rules of how to run and operate heavy equipment. The school is located at Charlottetown, N.C.

John Tillotson is in the Ann Arbor Hospital for treatment. The stock has been very busy this last week and has raised the population of Ellsworth by three. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wynsma (a girl), Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Spoelman (a boy), and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Veenstra Jr. (a girl) on their new arrivals.

The Ebenezer Christian School P. T. A. meeting was held last Monday Dec. 13, at 8:00. The program opened with prayer. Miss Essenberg gave a speech on how Christmas carols came to be. Miss Postma showed some slides she had taken. The program was ended by Mr. Marlon Siltzema.

The individual classes at Ellsworth High School will hold Christmas parties the fourth hour in the morning, Wednesday, Dec. 22. Christmas vacation is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Dec. 22 with school resuming on Jan. 3, 1966.

To one and all, we extend our greetings for a holiday filled with joy and merriment.

Dec. 7 saw Ellsworth playing their second game of the season. This time it was against Inland Lakes. The Lancers led all the way in posting their second straight win of the season. The score was 82 to 43. Ken Richardson and Rich Ruis paced the winners with 18 points each.

THE THIRD game of the young season was played with Vanderbilt where the Ellsworth Lancers posted another win and their third of the season. The final score was 70 to 46 in the Lancers' favor. Ken Richardson again led the scoring for the Lancers with 19 points followed by Harold DeYoung who had 17 points.

THE FOURTH game of the season saw the Lancers traveling to Mackinaw City where they took on a strong and determined Mackinaw team that decided it was their night to shine as they defeated the Ellsworth five by a score of 71 to 45.

The Mackinaw team took an early lead and were never headed from the start as their height advantage was just too much for the shorter Lancers. Again Ken Richardson led the scoring for Ellsworth with 20 points.

Seal Sales Top $2,000 in Area

Christmas Seal contributions from Charlevoix County are helping to boost the 1965 fund raising campaign to a new state record. Contributions have reached $2,055 compared with $1,800 at this time last year.

While it is too early to predict the exact outcome of the 1965 Christmas Seal campaign, it is already apparent that the state-wide campaign will see a sizable increase, reports the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Returns from throughout the state are substantially ahead of last year; however, late contributions are needed to help the campaign reach its goal of $1,400,000, the association reports.

City's "Image" Is Up to You

The 1960's could well go down in history as the decade of the "image." Corporations, individuals, social organizations—even municipalities like Charlevoix—are becoming aware of their public "image"—the sum total of impressions they give to people who come in contact with them.

SOME LARGE corporations like General Motors and Ford hire huge staffs of highly trained publicists to make sure the image they present is favorable.

A town like Charlevoix, whose fortunes rest so heavily on the "image" we create for our visitors, must rely instead on individual efforts to put across the idea that Charlevoix not only is a good place to live, but a fine place to visit—again and again.

ARCHIE DAYTON, director of the Chamber of Commerce, believes that the two groups of people who can do the most for the city in this respect are our waitresses and gas station attendants. They, more than other people, have an opportunity to welcome great numbers of visitors to the city and make them feel Charlevoix might be a good place to spend a few days—or a month's vacation. Sometimes Dayton feels Charlevoix is being sold short by the same people who could do so much good.

He mentions a recent case when a newly-hired executive for a local business paid his first visit to town, before moving his family up from down below. He stopped for a cup of coffee at a restaurant and managed to engage the waitress in conversation.

"If I was you, mister, I'd keep right on going," she advised him, confidentially. "This town is for the birds."

IF THE GENTLEMAN in question hadn't already been hired and planning to settle in Charlevoix, he just might have taken such an ill-advised recommendation to heart. As it is, he's now firmly entrenched and wild horses couldn't get him to leave.

What impression of Charlevoix might he have received if that one waitress were the only person he chanced to talk to in town?

Of course no community is perfect. Camelot exists only in song and fiction. But if Charlevoix's detractors would only cast an eye about them, they would see a town with more to offer than communities many times its size.

The next time you talk to a stranger, what kind of an "image" of Charlevoix are you going to help create?

Spacemen Are Crowd Pleasers

Americans who used to gawk in wonder at see a man shot out of a cannon at the Shrine circus have been offered a super dose of thrills the past two weeks in the spacial acrobatics of spacemen Frank Borman, James Lovell, Wally Shirra and Thomas Stafford.

Adding to the excitement has been some of the best television coverage of our man-in-space program to date.

LIVE TV pictures of the arrival of all four men aboard the carrier Wasp were bounced off a communications satellite hundreds of miles above the ocean and relayed back to network transmitters on the mainland.

The result was that the people in Charlevoix could watch astronauts emerge from their capsule—or, in the case of Shirra and Stafford, from their helicopter—as they were actually doing so thousands of miles away in the Atlantic Ocean.

PERHAPS EVEN more spectacular were the films of Gemini 7 made by the pilots of Gemini 6 while traveling at speeds better than 17,000 miles an hour and maneuvering to within six feet of each other. Almost two hundred miles below, the earth slid past like a huge basketball.

This particular reel of film, more than anything else to date, helps convey the idea of the great calm of outer space. You somehow get the idea you could stick your head out of one of the portholes without having your hat blow off.

Space craft, once in orbit, are indeed satellites and the sense of motion and speed appear to be practically lost, the same as the tremendous speed earth is traveling through space is lost on earthlings. (In addition to our lazy rotation every 24 hours, the planet is traveling some 45,000 miles per hour toward the constellation Hercules.)

PERHAPS WHAT is most amazing of all is that our giant strides in space have been accomplished in the brief eight years since the first Russian sputnik was launched. The next day U. S. Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson told a gathering of newsmen he couldn't see what all the excitement was about.

In a sense, we're further removed from the days of C. E. Wilson than we are from that by-gone age when a circus cannon belched forth a clown and sent him tumbling into a net at the far end of the arena.

American Rights in Jeopardy

Selective Service Director Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey has come under fire from Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart and others for canceling draft deferment privileges from students who participated at a "sit-in" at the Ann Arbor draft board office several weeks ago.

Hershey has called deferment from A-1 status "a kind of parole."

"They have violated the terms of their parole and they have no business to have deferment after that," he says flatly.

SENATOR HART insists that only the courts should decide whether or not the draft law has been violated by a sit-in. The old soldier in General Hershey sees duty to the United States government as a kind of privilege. He claims to object as strenuously as the next fellow to the idea that serving one's country via the local draft board is some kind of grim punishment visited upon the youth of the nation by Congress.

Therefore it is inconsistent for him to look upon deferments from service for schooling or any other reason as "a kind of parole."

WE ARE CONFIDENT that General Hershey has the best interests of the country at heart. Yet his critics have the U.S. Constitution to fall back on when they say the courts—not General Hershey—should interpret the intent of the draft law.

Whether we agree with the actions of the demonstrators, the fact remains that they are still American citizens, subject to the protection of the Constitution and the courts. To allow these rights to be waived by arbitrary legal interpretations such as General Hershey's appears to be would be defeating our purpose in Vietnam.

Old Fashion Yule in Store

Visitors already are commenting on how well Charlevoix is lit up this Christmas. The view driving west from Ironston is particularly spectacular at night, with the lights on Bridge Street visible from several miles away.

Many homes also are displaying exciting Christmas displays, showing not only a great deal of ingenuity but also no small amount of hard, bone-chilling work.

THE TASK of judging the most attractive displays in each ward is a monumental undertaking and the judges are to be congratulated for their excellent selections.

With all the sparkling decorations, a dusting of snow on the ground and all the comings and goings reported by our correspondents, it looks like a good old fashioned Christmas is shaping up for Charlevoix.

odds FRAN MARTIN ends

IT'S GETTING high on to that time...the time when we have only a few hours of daylight...and with the gray days we've been having, the days seem shorter than ever because it never seems to be light...

I will be watching with great interest the day of the equinox for, 'tis said, the weather on that day is what we'll have for the next 90 days...

But the dark days of December will soon be over for when the sun starts on its upward swing it seems to make the trip faster than on the downward swing...

Right now all the youngsters, and quite a few adults, are hoping for a white Christmas...and it could be they'll get it, what with snowflakes in the air...

SPEAKING of snow, in a recent issue of the Look magazine there was a picture story of this big business of skiing...and Boyne Mountain was named to represent the Midwest...not bad for every-one else gains by it...reflected glory, so to speak, for when one resort in an area gets the publicity all the others will eventually get their fair share...And, of course, I'm always happy when one of our nearby resorts gets a plug...after all, Boyne Mountain is in Charlevoix county so we all gain...

Speaking of skiing, if half of the people on the slopes show up in the latest ski and apres' ski fashions that one sees in the fashion magazines, it would be worth a trip to the slopes just to look...or should I say stare?..

Do you suppose the fellas aboard Gemini 8 and 7 will get a look-see at Santa as he makes his annual trek on Christmas Eve? You know, this mode of travel may someday replace Comet and Donner and Blitzen and all the others...Those boys better tend to business or else...

Last week I mentioned the German shepherd dogs being used as sentry dogs in Vietnam...Perhaps you saw several teams of these dogs and men on a national TV show Sunday night and heard the plea for dogs...

And don't forget, there's always a need for Leader Dogs...With a Christmas card from the Leader Dog School at Rochester outside Detroit was a list of the number of dogs presently serving as Leader Dogs for the blind...What Godsend they are...And this is another place you may give your pet...

PERHAPS SOME of you saw the announcement the other day that Coach Francis MacMahon was retiring from 'active duty'...It was with a touch of sadness that I learned of this for Mac's been around a long time...15 years in northern Michigan, to be exact...It's going to take some getting used to...He's been one of those guys who always managed to turn out good teams...Right now he has two 6-5 players at Mackinaw City that any school in the state could use...And through his years at Pellston he had his fair share of outstanding players...

Through the years there have been some pretty fine people who've been in this coaching business...people like our own Ray Kipke, Boyne City's Earl Brotherton, the late Irish Coleman to whom the new trophy case at School will be dedicated shortly, Manelona's Matt Jacobson and Grayling's Bruce Smith to name a few all unselfish men who gave far more to the youth they coached than they ever received...and because they were like this, the people with whom they rubbed elbows are finer people than they might have been...I know I speak for many when I say I am grateful for the opportunity to have had the good fortune to have worked with them during their years of coaching...

Coaches are people I can get on a soapbox about...There's no one, whether volunteer softball coach or the highest paid college mentor, who works under more pressure...They're expected to be miracle men...No one gets praised anymore when he pulls off an unexpected win or cussed anymore than when he doesn't call the plays as you thought they should be called...I have all the sympathy in the world for them and, to my way of thinking, they need it...As I see it, their chief compensation is knowing they're doing the best they can with what they have to work with and in feeling that possibly a few kids along the way are better people because they gave them a word of encouragement or had faith in them when they needed it most...

AND NOW we'll turn to New Year's resolutions...Do you have your list made out? Your haven't much time left, you know, and it might be a good idea to take stock of yourself and add a few improvements along the line...

Christmas Message Hails Travelers to Bethlehem

A House of Bread it is, too, when we see it for the first time in the Scripture, but the bread is the bread of sorrow. There was Jacob and Rachel. On our way to Bethlehem we shall see her way-side tomb. Those of us who sorrow and are sick at heart, those of us who are left alone, those of us whose little ones have been touched by the breath of death, those of us who know the little cradle to be empty and feel the grave to be full—Let us go even unto Bethlehem...

But Bethlehem is also the House of the Bread of Love. To this tiny town there came a young widow from a foreign land, poor, desolate, with but one friend in the whole country. Yet here into her loneliness, came a new love, strong and noble. Here Boaz beheld Ruth, wooed her, and won her.

"Let us now go even unto Bethlehem," those of us who wish to love with the clean, pure love of God, for Bethlehem is the House of Bread of love. The tiny town still tells all who have ears to hear the love story of Ruth and Boaz and the love story of God and man. Again, Bethlehem is the House of the Bread of joy and courage.

Here in Bethlehem was born the Baby who was to be king of Israel, to whose reign the people would ever look back with joy and thanksgiving.

"Let us now go even unto Bethlehem..." those of us who admire courage and heroism, those of us who wish to be courageous, for men of valour with God in their hearts have fought there.

But the story of Bethlehem—the House of Bread—is not yet fully told. For...

At Bethlehem—the House of Bread—where royalties again are shed over a small brown baby head, pillowed upon a manger-bed, the sages and the shepherds see the height of all humbly,

"Let us now go even unto Bethlehem" with men who are simple in their wisdom and wise in their simplicity, with shepherds and sages, with kings and with "artificers in humble things." The Bread of sorrow and love, joy and courage, are all to be found there, and they are embodied in a bracken-bedded Baby. But Bethlehem is, above and beyond all else, the House of the Bread of life, and to this tiny town travel all who desire life and desire it to the full.

Only as we accompany the truly wise ones of our world to Bethlehem, drawn by the Good News of great joy, will the whole perspective of history and of God's redemptive purpose begin to unfold themselves to us. The birth of the Babe was not simply another interesting event which happened in that tiny and outwardly unimportant town but the Incarnation—the Word, "God-in-Love."

"Let us now go even unto Bethlehem..." not simply to hear these quiet streets tell stories of sorrow and love, nor merely to be told tales of heart-break and joy and heroism by these hallowed hills and valleys, but also that we may kneel in lowly adoration with a host of worshippers before the Babe Who is the Bread of Life. "Let us now go even unto Bethlehem..." not simply to stop, look and listen, nor speak and sing only, but also to eat and live!

Candles Lighted

eight days.

Jews CELEBRATE Chanuka with joy and thanksgiving. Beginning with one candle on the first night, Chanuka candles are kindled in Jewish homes, their number increasing each night by one until on the last night eight candles are lit. The Menorah is lit each evening soon after sunset while people are still about so that seeing the candles they may be roused to renewed loyalty.

In the spirit of the festival, Jews distribute Chanuka gelt (money) and presents to the children. They decorate their homes with Chanuka motifs on walls and windows, so that children may constantly see the visible signs of the festival.

A FOLK TRADITION has it that after Antiochus forbade the study of the Torah, religious teachers would retire into the forest with their disciples and there give them instructions in Torah (religion). As a safeguard against imprisonment, they took with them the four-sided Greek astragalus, the constant companion of the Syrian-Greek gambling soldier coming upon them would doubt that the Jewish students had gathered for a lawful game of chance instead of for the outlawed study of the Torah.

So on this day Jews spin the DREIDEL (a four-sided top) and use its letters in their game of chance. But at the time they interpret them to mean "Nes Gadol Hayah Sham," which means - A Great Miracle Happened There.

Ground White

For Christmas

It looks like a white Christmas for Charlevoix, according to weatherman Larry Ladd.

Almost three inches of snow (2.9 inches) fell during the week, following .17 inches of rain.

High temperature was 36 degrees Tuesday, Dec. 14 with a low of eight degrees Monday.

State Approves Library Funds

The State Board for Libraries has voted to earmark $74,092 in federal funds toward the cost of a new library for Charlevoix.

Word of the approval was received Dec. 20 by Burr Blanchard, president of the Board of Education.

The amount is two-thirds of the cost of the proposed library on Clinton Street, which is now estimated at $111,000.

GENEVIEVE M. Casey,

Michigan State Librarian, says final working drawings and specifications must be filed with the State Library before March 15.

Ma enjoyed Christmas more than any other holiday, but it always left her bushed. That's why she always kept the rest of us busy helping her.

She professed to hate cooking, yet her Christmas dinners were memorable. And somehow she managed to get the whole family involved, one way or another.

One of my jobs was to stuff dates with walnut pieces and roll them in powdered sugar. This was one of the first courses on Christmas day, just before the egg nog and the shrimp cocktail.

I also had to shake the cranberries, under close supervision of the head cook. Ma had a way of fixing them using only sugar, but the whole thing would burn, or explode, or something if the pan wasn't kept in constant motion. This was my job. The berries always resembled crushed rubles when they finally reached the dining room table.

YOU COULD ALWAYS tell when Christmas was close at hand because a large brown paper sack would appear on the kitchen cupboard to hold Ma's collection of dry bread for the turkey stuffing. The actual dressing was made Christmas Eve and Ma had a lot for everyone. Someone would toast the bread, someone else would chop onions and celery and whoever else was handy would make crumbs with the rolling pin. I was usually retained as a taster. Ma's dressing always tasted superb, but I gained a reputation as an authority by frequently suggesting a pinch more sage or a dash of salt.

AS MUCH AS she hated cooking, our house smelled like a Scots bakery as soon as the first snow fell. Although Ma was Canadian by birth, and leaned heavily toward short-breads, she occasionally ventured into the field of German holiday specialties, such as springerles and pfeffernusse. Whatever their national origin, we usually clipped our teeth on Christmas cookies until Easter.

MA ALWAYS enjoyed doing her Christmas cards. She had studied the "Palmer Method" of penmanship in school, and her Christmas envelopes were veritable works of art.

She preferred to buy boxes of assorted cards rather than all one kind. Her friends had many different personalities, she reasoned, so why not try to send an appropriate greeting to each?

If a recipient lived in the country, there was a good chance he'd get a card depicting a rural mailbox bulging with Christmas packages. If he were a sports fan, he'd probably find a jolly Santa Claus on ice skates.

My parents had some friends in Detroit who were given on occasion to tipping to excess. Invariably they received a card showing holiday roisterers with long muffers and ruddy noses stumbling out of a Merrie Olde English tavern and piling into a Merry Olde English handsome cab for a lift to the next bistro down the line.

WHEN MA finished signing and addressing a card, she always stuffed it into the envelope and then reopened it, doing a parody on how it would be received.

"Well, look who this one's from George, the Clocks. Himm, Belts. Didn't they send us bells last year? Looks like the same card. Wouldn't surprise me one bit. Did we send this one this year? I can't remember. Better get out the extras and put one in the mail."

IN LATER YEARS when she had her cards printed, she used to have two sets made up, one reading "Percy and Agnes" for friends from their younger days, and another reading "Johnnie and Agnes" for later acquaintances who only knew my father by his first name. She lived in dread of getting the cards mixed up and having someone think she had taken up with a new man.

MA ALSO was an expert on Christmas trees. Her specialty was determining the "bad side" that should go toward the wall. She also had an unerring eye for telling when a Christmas tree was perpendicular. Using our neighborhood compass points, she would fire instructions to whoever was doing the adjusting under the tree.

"A shade more toward Wiers'. That's fine. Now it's leaning toward Blair's. I think if you'd tighten the screw by Wiggins' you'll just about have it. There, that's fine."

When my sister, my cousin and I finished trimming, Ma would come in from the kitchen and say it was the best looking tree on the block. She said it every year, but it always made us feel good.

Ma died quite suddenly last year. She had a stroke and was gone before we knew what was happening. None of us really looked forward to TURKEYS like these might soon be fair game for hunters on Beaver Island.

Turkey Carves Niche in History

The plump roast turkey which will appear on many Michigan tables during the holiday season represents more than a good meal; the bird is part of a panorama of American history extending back to the Spanish conquest of the Aztecs and including turkey hunting by Michigan Indians armed with crude bows and arrows.

"The English colonists who landed on the Atlantic coast found native turkeys which the Indians had been hunting," says Prof. Philip P. Mason, Wayne State University archaeologist and historian.

IT WAS SOME time before they began domesticating the birds, since the supply from the woods was ample. One group of American Indians had, however, domesticated turkeys several centuries before the white men came. These were the Pueblos in the Southwest.

They raised them not for food, but for feathers, plucked from the live bird for burnt

Christmas, knowing what it used to be like. But when the big day arrived, we were in for a surprise. There were the stuffed dates she taught us to make, and the cranberries looking like crushed rubles and the turkey done to perfection. Our tree was the best looking one on the block, and there was laughter and good humor and good company, just like always.

Suddenly I realized what I should have known all along: A person who leaves so many pleasant memories behind never really goes away at all.

The turkeys of the Atlantic coast were of the bronze-colored variety, but within the Americans there were six or seven distinct species, including a blue-headed, brilliantly plumaged Central American species.

INDIAN folklore of some North American tribes held the birds to be sacred. They believed them to represent reincarnated human spirits.

"Michigan Indians hunted them without hesitancy," says Dr. Mason. "The Potawatomi tribe of the southern lower peninsula had a Thanksgiving-like celebration in the fall of the year in which roast turkeys were a main part of a feast which followed tribal dances."

Michigan's wild turkey population died out about 1900 but the State's Department of Conservation began repopulation in the mid-1950's so that the birds now thrive in several of the state's forest areas.

THE BIRDS usually travel by wading but can fly up to 55 m.p.h. when frightened. They roost in the tops of trees at night.

The wild turkey population reached high enough proportions this fall to make possible a hunting season, limited both in territory and in number of permits issued.

Michigan turkey hunters are permitted by State law either to follow the State's Indian tradition of using the bow-and-arrow, or to use shot-guns.

Beaver Island is expected to be the next state area opened to turkey hunters.

Boyne Mt. Was Pioneer

Snow Machines Prolong Winter

A dozen years ago the rains came in mid-February throughout the northern ski country. After three days the ski slopes were washed bare. And the skiers stayed home. Then there was a wait for new snow cover. And early in March it came—pure white drifts and cold weather.

A VISITOR at Boyne Mountain here looked out on the slopes and watched a scant half dozen skiers having fun. "Best snow of the winter," said Charles Moll, Boyne Mountain manager. "But we are not getting the skiers. They are out of the notion. And once the spell is broken it's hard to get it back."

IT WAS SHORTLY after this incident that the first snow machines in Michigan were installed at Boyne Mountain. Since that time, 11 years ago, there has not been a time when there was not some snow cover on the Boyne slopes. The snow makers built a base that defied all thaws until the warm winds of April came.

It didn't take long for other ski centers to catch on. Snow making equipment now is doing the job at a score of West Michigan centers. And now the spell is not broken.

THERE'S SKIING in Michigan today from Thanksgiving to Easter—thanks to the makers. The machines are on the job in the early weeks of the season, and if there is a snow drouth the machines fill the gap. And the damage of midwinter thaws is quickly repaired.

Snow machines, of course, operate only when the temperature is below 32 degrees. Snow is created by blending a fine spray of water with a jet of cold air.

Man-made snow tends to be somewhat more granular than natural snow and some skiers think it tends to ice up faster.

OTHERWISE, it's hard to tell man-made snow from the real McCoy.

As any real ski addict will tell you, it's better than no snow at all.

Christmas Carols Have Long History

Christmas caroling is almost as old as Christmas itself—though not in the form we know it.

An early historian wrote that in the Second Century the bishop of Rome urged his people to sing "in celebration of our Lord." Christmas hymns go back to the Fifth Century, when most of them were written in Latin.

ST. FRANCIS of Assisi is regarded as the father of caroling as we know it. In 1223, St. Francis placed a creche (miniature Nativity scene) in a hermitage in Greccio, Italy.

After this many churches began displaying a Nativity scene at Christmas, and soon the people began acting out the Christmas story. The actors composed carols to sing with their Nativity plays and after the plays they would stroll down the street, singing. In that way, street caroling was born.

Joseph Mohr, a pastor in Oberndorf, Austria, composed "Stille Nacht," or "Silent Night," on Christmas Eve, 1818. Franz Gruber, the local schoolmaster and organist, composed the music the same day, and the hymn was sung for the first time at Midnight Mass that night.

CHARLES WESLEY, brother of John Wesley, wrote "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" in 1739. Phillips Brooks, a noted Boston clergyman, wrote "O Little Town of Bethlehem" in 1868 after visiting Bethlehem.

Though not a carol, Handel's noble "Messiah" is a Christmas tradition. It first was performed in Dublin in 1742.

The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers disseminates information on all aspects of electrical and electronic engineering and its allied fields, and furthers the professional and social development of its members.

Violation Nets Term in Jail

Sherman S. Hurbert, 39, of East Jordan, was fined $20 and $5 costs and sentenced to five days in Charlevoix County Jail for driving while his operator's license was suspended.

Hurbert was arrested by Sheriff's deputies and appeared before Justice John C. Connolly in Charlevoix.

King's Custom

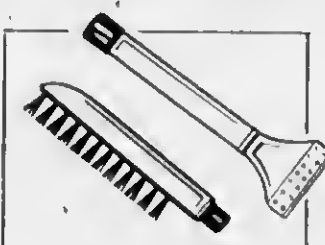

The "Messiah" oratorio, a Christmas tradition, was composed by George Friderick Handel in only 25 days. It was first performed in 1742 in Dublin. A year later King George II set the custom of standing during the oratorio's "Hallelujah Chorus."

The First Christmas

When the great Caesar Augustus
Ordered a census made,
He became part of the Christmas story
But it was a minor role he played.
'Twas an onerous journey he imposed
Upon Mary and Joseph—they traveled far,
But that which began a difficult trip
Ended with Angels, wise men, a star.
Caesar knew not that the glorious character
In the story the ages would tell,
Would be, not he, but a child
In a manger outside the hostel.
So Augustus could not have suspected
That his only claim to fame,
Would be that he was Caesar
That night the Christ Child came.

Taylor's Are 'Fair' After Auto Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor were reported in fair condition at Mercy Hospital in Grayling following an auto accident on Route 72 west of Grayling shortly after noon Dec. 23.

Taylor, 61, Charlevoix City Superintendent, reportedly has a broken hip, broken leg and three broken ribs. Mrs. Taylor, 60, has a broken hip, broken shoulder and possible concussion.

The Taylors were en route to the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard May of Hillsdale, for the holidays when the accident happened.

CRAWFORD COUNTY Sheriff Art Clough said Mrs. Taylor was driving when she lost control of the car and went off the pavement about three-quarters of a mile west of Grayling. The car glanced off one tree, took down a 10-inch jack pine and came to rest against a third tree.

The Taylor's 1964 Oldsmobile was a total wreck, Clough declared. He said it was so bad the transmission fell out.

The Taylors were taken to the hospital by ambulance. The sheriff said the car was traveling about 60 miles an hour, although it was entering a 45-mile-per-hour zone.

It had been raining and the blacktop pavement was slippery at the time, he said.

TAYLOR HAS A telephone in his hospital room, but is allowed to receive calls only from Mayor E. D. Hawley or his office at the City Hall.

At Monday's Council meeting, Mayor Hawley said he would talk to Lloyd Kuebler, manager of the sewage treatment plant, about co-ordinating some of Taylor's activities while he is away.

Two Aldermen In Mayor Race

Aldermen Bill Fochtman and Dr. Walter Hoffmann have announced their intentions to run for mayor in the February primary.

Fochtman has been First Ward alderman and Dr. Hoffmann Second Ward alderman for the past two years.

Mayor E. D. Hawley announced last week that he does not intend to run again. He has been mayor four years, alderman one year, and a member of the Board of Education 14 years.

Only announced candidate to date for the three vacancies on the city council is Jack Mol, who has petitioned for the First Ward vacancy, formerly held by Fochtman.

Jerry Whitley said last week he intends to run for re-election as Third Ward alderman.

In addition to Mol, the only other candidates on file at the city clerk's office Tuesday afternoon were Annabelle Cunningham who is seeking re-election as treasurer and incumbent First Ward Supervisor Kit Carson.

Deadline for filing petitions is 4 p.m. Jan. 3. Election is February 21.

Ironton Post Office Changes Postponed

The U. S. Post Office District Office in Chicago has postponed until Jan. 26 the re-designation of the Ironton Post Office as a Charlevoix substation and the appointment of Louis Edwards as clerk in charge.

The action came after acting Ironton Postmaster Don Bennett appealed to Congressmen Raymond Clevenger to have the action halted. He believes he can show postal officials that he is running an efficient post office and should be retained as postmaster.

BENNETT says he was not aware last summer that the Ironton Post Office was being considered for conversion to a contract station, under Charlevoix.

Notices to that effect were posted in June and July in the old post office, run by Roy Meyers, and Louis Edwards applied for the job of contract postal clerk.

Later when Meyers announced his retirement, Bennett received the endorsement of local Democrats as his successor.

Bennett became acting postmaster in late October, building a $1,500 structure near his home on Ferry Road to serve as the new post office building.

IN THE MEANTIME, the necessary paperwork was completed for conversion of the Ironton Post Office to a contract station and the contract was awarded to Edwards, proprietor of the Jiffy Market.

The move came as a surprise to Edwards who had closed his store for the winter. He says the postponement to Jan. 26 will give him more time to stock his shelves and set up a post office facility.

Rain Dominates Weather Picture

Rain during the past week measured .37 of an inch, according to weatherman Harry Ladd.

Snowfall measured only .4 of an inch, all of it coming after Christmas.

High temperature for the week was 43, recorded on Christmas Eve. Low was nine degrees Sunday morning.

Courier Ad Uncovers 3 Oil Heaters

Thirty Years Ago Jan. 1 Marks Anniversary of Burning of Marold II

New Year's Day marks the 30th anniversary of one of the most boisterous accidents ever to touch the lives of the people of Charlevoix and St. James.

Jan. 1, 1936, was the day the Beaver Island mail boat Marold II exploded and burned, while salvaging gasoline from the tanker J. Oswald Boyd aground on Simmons Reef.

Five persons lost their lives in the tragedy: Captain L. L. Hill, 63, captain of the Marold II, his son, Leon H. Hill, 50, the ship's engineer; Everett Cole, 35, his brother, Raymond Cole, 30, and Bruce McKenough, 33, co-owners of the Beaver Island Transit Co.

The Marold II was replacing the freighter Rambler which had made 24 salvaging trips to the grounded Boyd. The Marold left Charlevoix at 8:15 a.m. New Year's Day to make its second trip to the tanker. Because it was a holiday, many townspeople had talked about going out to the Boyd aboard the Marold, but the early departure left them ashore.

THE BOYD had gone aground in a storm early in November and the Rambler had spent almost two months removing her cargo of high test gasoline.

The Rambler was smaller than the Marold II, however, and could only transport 9,000 gallons at a time. When ice became a problem, the steel hulled Marold took over, bringing back 17,000 gallons on the first trip.

The gasoline was sold locally for pennies a gallon, and was transported for sale as far away as Cleveland, Ohio.

The first indication the people on shore had that the Marold II was in trouble came at 5:30 p.m. New Year's afternoon when a lookout at the Coast Guard station reported

Men Are Invited To Work Out in High School Gym

A Wednesday evening physical education program for men will begin in the High School Gym at 6:30 Jan. 12, according to Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan.

Del Terrill, director, says the program will include volleyball and weight-lifting, with discussion sessions on exercise and diet.

Jail Lonesome

Charlevoix County Sheriff Glenn Rose reports only two residents in the County Jail on Christmas Day, 1965, compared to 25 in the calaboose Dec. 25, 1964.

Service Is Seen by Fall

Cable television is coming to Charlevoix.

The City Council Monday night approved a contract with Gilbert Clark, president of Great Lakes Community Television Co., permitting him to string cable in the city next spring and summer.

The first hookups should be made in September.

There is no subscription cost for the service slated in the contract, although Clark says most other pay systems are presently getting $5 a month per subscriber.

INSTALLATION cost also is not stated, although it will not be more than $15, Clark said.

Clark said he probably will cut installation costs initially in order to get many people as possible signed up right away.

The company will string its cable on Charlevoix's utility poles, paying the city an annual fee of $2 for each pole used.

The firm will have to make a separate agreement with Michigan Bell for any telephone poles used.

GREAT LAKES will pay for relocation of wires of any tree trimming necessary. Power lines will go above the TV cable, telephone line below.

The contract will remain in effect for ten years, the pole rate negotiable after five years.

Clark said he will have an engineering survey of the city made this winter and will begin installation when the weather warms up.

THE SYSTEM will bring in more stations, with clearer pictures, the company believes.

Zoning Change Is Asked by Grey Gables

The City Council has scheduled a public hearing Jan. 24 on a petition by Clark Nehls to rezone Grey Gables property from Residential - 2 to Commercial - 1.

The change will be necessary before Grey Gables can go ahead with plans to build a 35-by 14 foot kitchen addition to the present building. Nehls is the son of Florence Dundas, owner of the property.

1965 Was Busy Year in City

It's been an exciting year of growth and change in Charlevoix the Beautiful. Lots of big, important things have happened that are going to affect Charlevoix for many years to come -- like construction of the Medusa Plant at South Point.

Many other things have happened, too -- marriages, births, anniversaries and death notices, all of which have been recorded in the Courier. A lot of old people -- a few young ones, too -- who were regular readers of the Courier last year at this time are out in Brookside Cemetery now.

And some little fellows who weren't ever born on New Year's, 1965, are starting to take a few steps and make noises that sound strangely like words.

Here are some of the highlights of 1965, as gleaned from the pages of the Charlevoix Courier.

JANUARY 7
The Rev. L. E. Tenhopen moves to Charlevoix from South Haven to fill the pulpit at the Congregational Church. He succeeds the late Rev. Robert A. Harrison who died unexpectedly in April, 1964. Plans are announced for new boating facilities at Beaver Island, including slips for 16 more boats and showers for boaters.

JANUARY 14
City Council approves Corps of Engineers' plans for straightening and widening Pine River Channel. Aldermen also decided to put the question of pensions for city employees up to the voters. Dick and Jean Wood purchase Moonlight Gardens. Jack Begrow moves his office to Charlevoix from Bellaire.

JANUARY 21
The state reports there are fewer unemployed in Charlevoix than other winters. At the same time, a one-third percent increase in crime is reported by Sheriff Glenn Rose.

JANUARY 28
Begrow and Brown unveil "Renaissance" designs for remodeling business places on Bridge Street. Chamber of Commerce forms winter carnival committee with Bob Humphries at the helm. Karl Erber reports business on the Beaver Island down about five percent from 1963. Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport calls on home owners to help put up skiers.

Don't Let Accident Spoil New Year

New Year's Eve for many motorists will be spoiled by accidents they might have avoided, it was predicted today by Gerald W. Shipman, Executive Secretary of the Michigan State Safety Commission.

"Law enforcement officers have loved ones of their own with whom they would like to spend more time this holiday weekend, but they'll be on duty to help make the holidays safer and happier for others," he pointed out.

"This doesn't mean they will be lenient with the driver who flagrantly disobeys traffic laws, endangering the lives and property of others," he warned.

"Drinking drivers are no safer to themselves, their passengers, and fellow motorists--on this holiday weekend than on other weekends. Drinking drivers are involved in more than 60% of the local fatal accidents according to spot checks by medical examiners and other authorities."

The Safe Winter Driving League warns, "Speed too fast for slippery roads and bridges, inattentiveness in driving, failing to yield right

Head-Start School Is Begrow Project

Begrow and Brown is one of six architectural firms selected to submit plans for a nursery school to be built in connection with the federal government's "Operation Head Start" for culturally deprived children.

To be designed for three- and four-year old children, of way, driving in the twilight with only parking lights on... these violations lead to trouble, holiday or no holiday."

"Let joy abound," he concluded, "but let reason rule behind the wheel."

the pilot school will be located on the grounds of the present City and Country School in Bloomfield Hills. Jack Begrow already has designed one classroom building on the site.

Begrow says the school will seek out gifted children on all economic levels for specialized pre-school training.

Other architects invited to take part in the project are Bill Caudill, Peter Terapata, Glen Paulsen, Gunnar Burkarts and Lynn Smith.

The Panama Canal Zone extends five miles on either side of the canal.

Joan Sonnenberg Heads Pistol Team

Joan Sonnenberg has been elected president of the Women's Pistol Team.

Other officers for next year are Pat Drost, secretary-treasurer; Carla Spencer, news correspondent; and Andie Mathews, rangemaster. N. R. A. Pro-Marksmen Medals were awarded to Pat Drost, Andie Mathews, and Carla Spencer for attaining a score of 40 or better for six consecutive weeks. The medals were presented by instructor Frank Zednick.

PAT DROST won a revolving trophy after shooting the highest score for three consecutive weeks. The trophy was started when the Pistol Team was organized. It is awarded weekly to the shooter with the highest score.

Women interested in becoming members of the Pistol Team are invited to attend the Tuesday evening meetings which start at 7:30 p.m.

Members believe the team provides a good way for women to learn how to use firearms properly.

For more information about the team, call Joan Sonnenberg at LI 7-2056 or Pat Drost at LI 7-2205.

Club Will Decorate Unknown Graves

The Charlevoix Garden Club has voted to undertake beautification of that section of Charlevoix's Brookside Cemetery known as "Potter's Field."

Located south of Stover Creek, the graves of 15 unknown persons are side by side in a small plot of ground separated from the rest of the cemetery.

THE MOVE was made at a recent meeting of the Garden Club at the suggestion of Mrs. Allen Campbell.

The club feels that even though the grass is cut and the graves are well kept, the addition of flowers and shrubs will provide a "personal touch" which is lacking.

A planning committee, including Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Roy Raymer, and Mrs. Russell Mieras will decide on a planting program before the April meeting.

OLDTIMERS in town recall a few of the people buried in Potter's field. Ernie Miller of Charlevoix Lumber Co. says one of the men fell into the hold of a ship docked at the Argo Milling Co. and was killed. None of his shipmates knew his name and he was buried anonymously.

Earl Young says another grave belongs to a man who burned to death in Charlevoix in 1912. The man was well known by appearance about town, but nobody knew his name when they went to bury him. He too was buried in Potter's field.

Other Garden Club projects include maintaining flower baskets in the downtown section during the summer and presenting a rotating plaque for the best-kept gardens in the city.

At the last Club meeting, Mrs. James Richey gave an interesting talk on holly.

The next meeting will be Jan. 11 at Mrs. Richey's home.

Gibbons Passes Bar Examination

Michael A. Gibbons, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Gibbons of 1402 S. Bridge St., Charlevoix, has passed the Michigan Bar examination.

According to Donald F. Winters, clerk of the Supreme Court, Gibbons was one of 302 in the state to pass the examination in August.

Applicants took the examination in August.

Mrs. Gilbert Ferris has gone to 308 William St., East Jordan, for the winter.

Miss Annabel Comfort of Chicago spent Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Metta Comfort.

"... So Shall Ye Reap!"

As a result of his labors and the goodness of God he has been rewarded with a bounteous harvest. His grandfather taught him, long ago, that "if you reap well you must prepare the soil properly and sow good seed."

So it is in all walks of life. If we sow the dragon's teeth of intolerance and hate we are certain to garner only the tares of unhappiness and evil. We see and feel almost everywhere throughout the world today the awful consequences of the sowing of the seeds of prejudice and greed. The harvest, as we all know, has been frightful — War, Disease, Famine and Death.

If we would all try sowing a few more of the seeds of Kindness, Charity and Understanding we might, each, in our own small way help make the World a better place in which to live. There is no better place to seek for guidance in this worthy undertaking, and the revival of faith in ourselves and in our fellow man, than by regular attendance at the Church of our choice.

In arranging this program, Mrs. Charles Bleha, chairman of the program committee, said that no subject in today's curriculum has been of more interest than modern math. It was for this reason that the program committee sought an authority on the subject.

Auto Accidents Claim 2,100 Lives in Michigan

Michigan's 1965 traffic toll -- an estimated 2,100 deaths -- will be the fourth worst in 33 years of record keeping while the projected injury and accident totals will hit new annual highs of 157,000 and 318,000 respectively. These projections on traffic statistics are included in the annual roundup of Michigan

State Police activities reported by Col. Fredrick E. Davids, director. The year's combined casualties -- deaths and injuries -- will be the highest on record for the state.

THE DEATHS, one per cent fewer than 2,120 in 1964, could surpass that toll, however, when all reports are in. Injuries in the state rose for the seventh consecutive year and were 8.6 per cent more than 144,623 in 1964. Accidents increased for a fourth year in a row and were 11.8 per cent more than 284,446 last year. Other exposure factors also showed new annual highs: 40.1 billions of estimated mileage, 4,066,826 registered motor vehicles and 4,600,000 licensed drivers, each increased about five per cent over the previous year.

THE DEATH rate of 5.2 per 100 million vehicle miles was down 5.3 per cent from the 5.5 rate in 1964.

Meanwhile, crime in the state continued to rise with the 1964 rate of 1,393.6 major offenses per 100,000 population being about 12 per cent more than the 1963 rate of 1,238.7. Major crimes reported -- murder, rape, robbery, burglary, assault, larceny and auto theft -- totaled 213,717, up six per cent over 201,536 in 1963.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR MEN

Oil Heat vs. Gas

Revealing the hidden high costs of conversion and introducing a pay-later home modernization plan with oil.

You're not buying the "gas line," are you?

Read between the lines when you're considering the gas company's promises. You may be putting up a bundle that you won't get a return on for 12 years.

Take out a pencil and figure it for yourself.

The high initial investment

That "nominal amount" the gas company is asking you to pay for going to gas heat can really mount up. The average gas furnace comparable in size and quality to your present oil plant costs as high as $500 installed. And don't forget the price for laying in the gas pipe to your home. At $1.25 a running foot, 50 feet will amount to an extra $62.50.

Then kick in the interest they'll charge you if you buy on the installment plan. Over 3 years, that's $90 on a $500 new furnace and installation.

Look for the real cost of gas heat

Funny thing about gas bills. You pay several different rates each month. The first amounts of gas you use are at a high rate, the next amounts a little lower, and only after you've used up 2000 cu. ft. do you get to the third rate. So in order to keep the figure that they quote for home heating low, they "assume" you'll be using the high priced gas for things other than heating.

"If," they say, "you are now using gas for cooking, water heating, clothes drying, or gaslights..." Which means that to get a gas heating price equal to "11½ cents a gallon for residential heating oil," you'd have to invest in a gas range, gas clothes dryer, gas water heater, gaslights, etc. Looking at it that way, how long will it take to pay off the cost of going to gas heat?

And after 12 years, what do you have to show for your investment? A 12-year old furnace. Had you put your money in the bank, at 4% interest, it would have amounted to over $270 in savings.

New Oil Heating Modernization Plan by Standard Oil.

If your oil heating plant needs to be modernized, chances are it can be done for far less than the cost involved in converting. Very often all that's needed is a new burner which costs under $100.

And now Standard Oil even makes that easy.

1. They will inspect your heating equipment, and suggest the least expensive modernization for the best efficiency.
2. No down payment or payment until July 15, 1966.
3. Up to three years to pay.

And Standard has a line of AMOCO, Sta-Warm heating equipment including burners, furnaces, boilers, hot water heaters, humidifiers (both portable and furnace attached). You're certain to be getting the best quality because it all has been tested in their research laboratory.

Other Considerations

There are other good reasons for staying with oil—especially when you buy from your local Standard Oil agent.

For instance, he doesn't charge a stiff penalty when you miss paying your bill by a couple of days. And his prices are kept low by the competition of the many other fuel oil suppliers around—no one-supplier monopoly here!

He's on the lookout for your total heating comfort... providing personalized attention. His complete comfort plan includes price protection and budget payment insurance. Your heating bills are covered in case you're ill or suffer an accident that keeps you from working.

These benefits come with the modern, clean fuel—American Heating Oil. And it's safe—made to burn only when it is prepared for burning in the heating unit.

So before you make a decision, see your Standard Oil agent. He'll tell you the real facts about home heating—and work out the full penalty you pay for going to gas—with you in your own home.

You SAVE more from Standard and you get it!

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

In the Dec. 8 issue we reported that Hal Forbigh's new apartment building is going up on the corner of Mercer and Dixon instead of at the corner of Meech and Dixon, two blocks away. After talking it over, we've decided it would be a lot easier for us to run a retraction than to have to move his footings.

HOW DO YOU sign your Christmas cards? Does your wife's name go first or does yours? Judy and I were going over our collection the other night and found ours to be evenly divided, with a slight edge going to the gentlemen-firsters.

It would be interesting to know what psychiatrists have to say about it. From our assortment, generally speaking, it seems if the woman is the dominant personality in the marriage, then her name comes first.

There are some obvious exceptions in the cards we received this year, however, and I suppose psychiatrists would have a field day untangling the reasoning behind them. It would probably turn out that the woman wants to be dominated, or she wants her friends to think she is dominated. The machinations of the human mind are wonderful to contemplate.

Judy thinks it may depend on who does the signing. If the woman signs she may put her husband's name first out of courtesy. The same would hold true if the man signs.

I prefer to take a cue from the "Mr. and Mrs." form of address, and put the male up front. How many times have you seen a letter addressed "Mrs. and Mr. So-and-So?" Not many, I'll wager.

THERE ALSO appear to be some new trends afoot in the Christmas card business. Impromptu name cards seem to be getting fewer and fewer.

We received only four this year, compared to 15 or 20 other years. Long, skinny cards also seem to be giving way to cards rather large in all dimensions.

Cards featuring a photograph of the whole family, or just the kids, also seem to be disappearing. We didn't find one in the mail box this year. We received only two identical cards. One came from a friend in Oxford, Mich., and the other from a cousin in Warton, Ontario. The only difference is that one says printed in U. S. A. and the other says Litho in Canada.

ested to know that the deer population in northern Michigan never again will be as large as it was in the late 1940's.

That's the opinion of John Byelich, Region II game biologist at Roscommon.

Byelich says the first widespread contact wildlife in northern Michigan had with man was in the 1800's when lumbermen moved in to remove the skyscraper trees. In fifty years, much of northern Michigan was reduced to brush and slash. From 1900 to 1910 great fires swept the area, leaving little or no cover. Numbers of deer and other wildlife were very low.

A cry arose to eliminate deer hunting and the "one-buck" law went into effect. New growth in the north after the fires was largely tamarack, jack pine and birch, species which cannot stand shade. Combined with the "one buck" law and the new growth, the stage was set for a population explosion in the deer herd, peaking out in the 1930's and 1940's.

MICHIGAN'S DEER herd numbered more than 1,200,000 during this period, and it wasn't unusual to see 100 deer at a time.

By the 40's, however, the forest could support no more deer. Bad winters saw as many as 50,000 animals die through starvation. Treadable damage was done to balsam, spruce and cedar by the hungry animals. And trees that did survive began shading out new plants and shrubs used for forage.

Byelich says 2,300,000 cords of timber matures in northern Lower Michigan each year, and less than 700,000 cords are being harvested. Unless there is wholesale timber cutting, he predicts the deer herd will decline for the next 10 years or so. The present forest will reach maturity about 1980, and trees not harvested will begin dying off, opening up large areas and generating new forms of plants beneficial to game.

Hunters should begin noticing an increase in the deer herd about that time, he says, but it will never approach the numbers of the late 1940's.

WITH THE DIMINISHING deer herd, Byelich says hunters are going to have to become better at their sport, learning something about deer habits and habitat. He predicts the average hunter is going to have to work a lot harder to be successful.

Byelich is firmly against any curtailment of doe hunting.

He says a ban on does could wipe out 10 years of work to hold down the winter deer kill and build up stocks of plant life now sustaining the herd.

Snow Records Listed

Charlevoix County's snowfall last winter measured 113 inches—or a little under 10 feet.

But such a snowfall is pretty puny when you consider what other parts of the country have suffered through.

For instance, back in 19-21, 76 inches of snow fell at Silver Lake, Colo., in just 24 hours. And at Tahoe, Calif., 108 inches of snow came down between Jan. 12 and 15, 1952.

THE RECORD snowfall for a calendar month occurred at Tamarack, Calif., which got 390 inches during January, 1911, in the same year a record depth of snow accumulated at Tamarack, where 454 inches covered the ground.

ALL THESE figures are records, and therefore unusual. But individual snowfalls of 30 inches are not unusual. But individual snowfalls of 30 inches are not unusual at all. In the hills southeast of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, the average winter snowfall is more than 150 inches. Erie, Pa., on the southeast shore of Lake Erie, was buried by a 27-inch snowfall on Thanksgiving Day, 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Beau-doin and two children have returned to Franklin after spending several days with his mother, Mrs. Bert Beau-doin.

Glenna and Julie Franklin of Chicago are spending the holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gilbert.

CHARLEVOIX Postmaster Dan Geneit (left) is welcomed to Post Office orientation and training program in Chicago by Henry W. McGee, director of the Personnel Division.

Scouts Planning Dan Geneit Trip Out West Attends Class This Summer

Scenic Trails Council, to which local Boy Scouts belong, is planning a pilgrimage to Philmont Scout Ranch near Raton, New Mexico next summer.

The program includes hiking, mountain climbing, fishing, hunting, gold panning, archeology, horseback riding and training in scouting skills. The Scenic Trails contingent will leave Traverse City July 9 and be gone about 20 days. They will visit several cities en route to New Mexico and spend two days at Rocky Mountain National Park. On their way home, they will climb Pike's Peak.

Thirteen Scouts from northern Michigan already have signed up to attend.

College students studying foreign languages now use tape recordings to make learning easier. By pushing a button at Oglethorpe College, Atlanta, a language is selected. The student listens, then repeats what he hears. French, Spanish and German are available on the tapes.

Postmaster Dan W. Geneit of Charlevoix was one of 17 from Michigan to attend an orientation and training program for new postmasters at Chicago recently.

Geneit spent four days at regional headquarters to learn further details of his job.

The Postmasters discussed post office operation, personnel problems, and accounting and transportation procedures with regional staff members.

They also toured the Chicago Post Office, the largest mail handling facility in the world.

Hunter Sends $20 For Riddled Sign

The following letter was received recently by the Charlevoix County Road Commission.

Commission Clerk Ralph Hamilton says it's the first time in his 20 years with the commission that he has run into a similar act of conscience.

Twenty dollars accompanied the letter, but no address was given.

December 22, 1965

Dear Sirs,
On December 20, 1965 I was hunting in Charlevoix County, I did something which I regret now, and I know that I will never repeat the act. On Hudson Road 1, using poor judgement, shot a road sign with a 22 calibre rifle and damaged its backside.

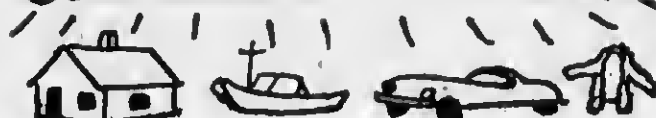

Here in Lansing I contacted the State Highway Department who gave me the cost of such a sign.

The sign was a diamond-shaped curve indicator sign. Now, the price that I was given for such a sign measuring 36" x 36" was $14.66 not including labor. I am sending you $20.00 to replace the sign.

I only hope that you do not feel too bitterly that a Michigan resident would do such an act of wanton destruction. I am aware that the road signs are placed along roads for my benefit as well as for others. I don't think anyone knows about the sign as of now, but it's a matter of honesty and self-respect even though it's belated.

Sincerely, D.

Aliens Must Register

District Director Walter A. Sahli of the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates that 130,000 aliens will report their addresses in the State of Michigan during January under the Federal Alien Address Report Program.

The Immigration official said that 131,000 aliens reported their addresses during January 1965.

Sahli said that all non-citizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, are required to file the address report.

He added that any alien who willfully violated the address report requirement may be subject to serious penalties.

In addition, aliens who are not in the United States during January must report their addresses to the Service within 10 days after their return.

Sahli said that address report cards will be available at the Immigration and Naturalization Service office at 3770 East Jefferson Avenue, and local United States post offices beginning Jan. 1, 1966.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Editorial Page

Wednesday, December 29, 1965 Page 11

New Business Welcome

The Courier extends best wishes to the City's two newest business endeavors -- the Hare's Lair and the Woodshed. Located in the basement of the Holiday Beach Hotel, the Hare's Lair is owned by Birmingham attorney Henry Hogan. The cocktail lounge has the atmosphere of an old English tavern, with fireplaces, beamed ceiling and hamsred bronzes lighting fixtures.

Entertainment of the folk-singing variety will be presented weekends.

The Woodshed -- owned by Dick Wood is the former Moonlight Gardens. Completely refurbished inside and out, the Woodshed began serving complete luncheons and dinners last week. Live entertainment and dancing also will be offered weekends.

Both the Hare's Lair and the Woodshed hope to capture a share of the ski trade expected in Charlevoix this winter, widening the range of facilities already available in the city.

We hope the confidence Hogan and Wood have shown in Charlevoix --- not only as a potential winter sports mecca but also as a good place to do business --- proves to be well founded.

Wanted: Snow and Colder

Time was when an "open winter" such as we have been plagued with in Charlevoix so far, this season was considered a blessing by all concerned. There were no walks to shovel, no hip-deep snow drifts kept farmers from coming to town, no one broke a tibia or a femur falling on icy pavement. Everybody was happy.

This, of course, is no longer the case. Ever since skiing became the No. 1 winter outdoor sport, snow is just as important to Charlevoix in winter as sunshine is in summer.

THE PAST two weeks have been particularly frustrating for skiers and those who depend on skiers for their livelihood. Every gray cloud on the horizon has been eagerly and erroneously heralded as a sign of snow. When the clouds did open up, all we had was rain.

Christmas Eve the Weather Bureau buoyed up hopes all over town with a forecast that up to seven inches of snow was on the way. Yet nary a flake fell, although Christmas Day telephones calls "down below" brought news of a heavy ground cover and no end to the storm in sight.

Yule Truce Raises Hopes

Even though the 30-hour Christmas cease-fire in Vietnam could scarcely be called a success, it was a move in the right direction.

Now the feeling seems to be that if it worked for 30 hours, why not 60, or 120 or a whole year.

IRONICALLY the cease fire proposed for Christmas Eve and Christmas morning was not suggested by the Christian West but by the Communistic Viet Cong.

We countered with: "Why just 12 hours? Let's make it 30."

There was no answer from the Viet

Cong, but in the absence of any serious gunfire over the holiday, apparently they took us up on the proposed extension.

SEN. ROBERT Kennedy (D-N.Y.) has proposed that the Christmas cease-fire be used as a springboard to the conference table, and has urged President Johnson to renew his earlier offer to negotiate a peace settlement.

In a war with as many limiting factors as the present struggle in Vietnam, perhaps a negotiated settlement is the best we can hope for. All-out victory apparently has gone the way of all-out war.

A Cause Worth Supporting

One of the most worthwhile activities supported by a local organization is Leader Dogs for the Blind, an unusual educational institution which banks heavily on assistance from the Charlevoix Lions Club and others throughout the county.

Located near Rochester, Mich., the school trains dogs to act as eyes for their blind masters. Leader dogs give the blind virtually the same mobility sighted people enjoy, whether walking on busy city streets or country roads, traveling on public conveyances, dining out or attending the theater.

THE SCHOOL'S so-called "production report" dated Nov. 30 shows that Leader Dogs for the Blind has trained 2,208 dogs and graduated 1,445 masters. Scores of dogs, of course, are used as replacements. The report further shows that dogs and masters have come from 43 states and the District of Columbia, as well as Argentina, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Costa Rica, Hawaii, Israel, Mexico, Panama and Spain.

German Shepherds are the most commonly pictured leader dogs, but other breeds also are desirable. These include Labradors, Golden Retrievers, Malamutes, Belgian Sheep dogs and some cross breeds.

Perhaps you have a dog which might qualify for training at the Leader Dog School. Here are the qualifications:

Dogs must be friendly, healthy, willing to lead out and accept responsibility, be accustomed to people and fairly good looking with sound nerves. They should be between one and two years old, of either sex and at least 24 inches high. They need not be registered.

Dogs should be leash broken and trained to the point where they obey commands such as "come" and "sit down." They should not be taught to "heel."

IF YOUR DOG is acceptable, the school will offer you a written contract. When the dog graduates, you will receive a picture of the dog with its new master. If the dog fails training, it will be placed in a good home, or returned to its original owner.

LEADER DOGS are taught initially on the streets of Rochester. They learn how to observe curbs, pedestrians, parking meters, low awnings, traffic and other potential hazards to a blind person. Once a dog has mastered Rochester, he is taken to Pontiac where he receives advanced training in heavy traffic, crowded areas, revolving doors and elevators.

Student masters live at the school four weeks getting used to their animals, and vice versa. Trainers study the habits and characteristics of the student and try to match him with a dog with a compatible personality.

At the end of four weeks, the student and leader dog are sent home---ready for independence as a team. It's hard to imagine a project more worthy of continued support.

My neighbor, Lawrence Bergmann, found an old copy of the Charlevoix Courier dated Apr. 17, 1916, and loaned it to me. . . . This was an especially interesting copy because, among other things, it had a two-page spread urging people to purchase Liberty bonds. . . . "If the peoples of the earth are not to become totting millions for the Prussian Junkers and the Prussian terror-ridden slaves at the mercy of a German Kaiser's will, Prussianism must be driven back within its own borders and kept there". . . . It seems as though we must always live with some type of "ism". . . . It was Prussianism then . . . followed by Nazism and Facism and oow Communism. . . . all of which adds up to the same thing under a different name. . . .

BUT WHAT I found the most interesting was the fact that this small community had 69 men in their services of this country. . . . a part of the sheet was missing so the entire list wasn't there but among the names I found were such familiar ones as Adolphus Allard, Leo Allard, Clare Coulter, Frank Coasta, Lawrence Dittleson, Forrest Fowler, James Gaskin, Ted Kibbee and Sen King to name just a few. . . . whom you might know. . . . and there were others who are no longer among the living. . . .

Oh yes, Ellsworth had quite a page to itself in those days. . . . just as it does now. . . . but the page also contained a stable ad from Ellsworth businesses including a department store. . . . Apparently it was a more thriving community than it is now. . . .

And the ads for cars. . . . there was a beautiful picture of an Overland. . . . really sporty with its top down and looking mighty new and trim. . . .

RECENTLY I mentioned the Michigan Gift Lift and how terrific I thought it was. . . . Now I have a story regarding that I think is really something. . . .

I have read all the stories with great interest for two reasons the first being that I think the idea is great and secondly, because I happen to know the Pete DeMaagd from the Grand Rapids Press whose name has appeared on all the stories regarding the operation. . . .

When the Press came Saturday I read it with great interest and was truly excited when I found the name of a local serviceman, Staff Sgt. Barnaby Chambers. . . . Not may not know Barney for he's been gone from here for ages. . . . but, by way of identification, he's a brother of Jay Chambers, now of Traverse City and Mrs. Emerald LaBance, now of Tawas. . . . I quickly called my sister-in-law, Mrs. Pat Martin, a sister-in-law, also of Helen LaBance's. . . . to call her attention to the story. . . . Her remark was "O good heavens, the last time I asked about him the family hadn't heard from him in years. The last they knew he was living in Florida". . . . She immediately related the story to Mrs. LaBance and then, last Wednesday, came a picture of the group of Michigan men who were on hand to help with the unloading of the boxes. . . . and there was Barney, not looking a bit different than he did the last time he was in Charlevoix. . . . All of which makes for a happy Christmas for his family back in Michigan for this was the first they knew he was in Vietnam. . . . And I wouldn't be a bit surprised that this may be one of many unusual stories that will come out of "Operation Christmas Star" as it finally became known. . . .

AND SPEAKING of stars, the night sky never ceases to fascinate me. . . . I'm one of those people who can't spot any of the constellations or planets or whatever other people see. . . . but I just like to look at it. . . . And, when I see something in a newspaper or magazine about the night sky I usually read it. . . . and for your information, the December sky, will be real interesting if it isn't overcast. . . . For instance, there'll be two planets visible. . . . Venus which has been visible for a long time and can be found low in the west shortly after sundown. . . . The other is the planet Jupiter, which is described as the brightest thing in the night sky. . . . It will rise early in the evening and will cross almost from east to west. . . . not too high to the sky. . . . so, if you're interested, take a look especially on a clear cold night. . . . There are many constellations that are visible but I can't remember what they are. . . . If you want to know more, check the Science News Letter at the public library which carries that info. . . . and it's there because I checked with Miss Milner. . . .

Fate of Marold II

BY VAUN L. OGDEN

The fateful crew
Of the Marold Two,
Sailed out from Charlevoix Bay.

The sea was light,
No lee in sight;
Tho 'twas on a New Year's Day.

Northward they sailed,
The land was veiled
In a haze of uncertain hue.

A sound was heard,
"On", was the word,
"To the wreck", said the doomed crew.

"To the lanker B'yde,
With 'ile inside,
We'll pilfer her bounteous store.

Our barrels will hold,
Of this liquid gold,
Ten thousand gallons or more."

Hog Island now was on her bow,
They had but an hour to run.

The engines strain
With might and main,
And soon the hour is won.

Tied along side
Of the lanker B'yde,
They go to work with a will.

Some on the deck;
Some on the wreck;
There are plenty of barrels to fill.

"Cigarettes out!"
The leaders shout,
"We want no calamity."

A little light
Might soon ignite
This furious volatility."

The day soon goes,
A light wind blows,
A seagull hovers around.

Can his eye see Catastrophe,
Where the tanker went aground?

A Charlevoix guard
Is staring hard
At a pillar of smoke and fire.

At Epoufette,
All eyes are set
On the column, mounting higher.

They see the flames
From off Saint James,
Can their sons have come to grief?

They mutely stare
In dumb despair
At the blast from Simmons Reef.

At Mackinaw,
The coast guards saw
That the sea had claimed its toil.

Charlevoix's out,
Yet there's great doubt
If they can save a single soul.

They all stand by
As flames mount high,
They dare not approach this hell.

Then morning light
Brings to their sight,
A scene no pen dare tell.

Ere they returned,
Two bodies burned
To a crisp, were taken away.

They knew that three Would never be Found on this wretched day.

Old Captain Hill,
His body still
In this wreck's consumed by fire.

A Captain he Full eighty-three,
In a week he was to retire.

For many a year
The engineer
Had promptly answered the bells.

The captain's son
His work is done
When the water over him swells.

The sea takes toll
Of Everett Cote
His business was in ott.

They wonder why
He had to die
When his life was eager for loft.

The sailors say,
His brother Ray
Was a wonderful engineer.

His life that day
Was snuffed away;
His body burned and sere.

Could not Death wait?
Could not have fate
Passed Bruce McDonough by?

A Captain fine
At twenty-nine
He was too young to die.

Who knows the grief
From Simmon's Reef,
The anguish and the woe?

The mothers wail,
The sisters pite,
The wives are stricken tow.

At fortune's side
These boys have died
Their memories are alive.

Good friends had they,
Who from that day,
Will mourn this dauntless five.

The fateful crew
Of the Marold Two
Sailed out on New Year's Day.

Their journey done
When half begun
Was the price too much to pay?

A STUDY IN CONTENTMENT

A boy, his dog, a shady spot on the bank of a stream, a "Tom Sawyer" pole on a day "Knee Deep In June"—a setting for perfect contentment. But boyhood days are gone all too soon.

How may we assure for him that peace of mind and sense of well being that make for perfect contentment throughout life? There is a way: That way is to provide the means for his ideals and moral courage to grow with his mind and body. Training that results in spiritual, as well as mental and physical growth, will bring everlasting contentment. Cultivate and nourish the moral fiber at the church of your choice each Sunday.

District Kiwanians Will Install Officers

John Schmidt will be installed as president of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club at joint ceremonies with Harbor Springs and Petoskey Jan. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Charlevoix High School cafeteria.

Harry A. Elsenheimer of Lansing, governor of the Michigan District of Kiwanis

Tips Must Be Listed

Charlevoix employers are reminded that under recent amendments to the Social Security Act, "cash tips" reported to them by employees must be included in employment tax returns, effective Jan. 1, 1966.

The reminder came from A. M. Stoepler, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan.

Printers producing and employers purchasing substitute Forms 941A may use up their shelf stocks before they adopt the new official format of this form, said Stoepler. If tip income is to be reported on the old Forms 941A, the heading of Item 20 should be changed to read "Taxable Tips Reported".

The Internal Revenue Service will begin issuing revised Forms 941A during February, 1966. Forms suppliers may now obtain reproduction proofs of the January, 1966, revision from the Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C. 20224, Attention: AF:MP.

International, will be on hand to speak and perform the installation ritual.

TAKING OFFICE with Schmidt will be William Peck of Ironton, president-elect; R. E. Meras, vice president; and Curtis Burlin, secretary-treasurer.

Officers from visiting chapters will be installed at the same time. Guests at the banquet-installation will include wives of Kiwanis members, Mayor and Mrs. E. D. Hawley, and Lion's Club President Don Meggison and Mrs. Meggison.

MEMBERS of the installation committee are Ralph Hamilton, Roy Bennett, the Rev. Larry Tenhopen, Harry Bingham, and Lt. Gov. Barney Engelhart. Elsenheimer, who works for White Motor Corp. in Lansing, will outline some of the major goals of Kiwanis as the organization enters its second half century of community service.

As head of the Michigan district, Elsenheimer is official spokesman for approximately 9,600 Kiwanians in 205 clubs, in the lower peninsula and the three eastern counties of the upper peninsula.

Kiwanis Club Donates Money

At the last meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, members voted $25 for "Santa Claus Anonymous" and $85 for the Cub Scouts.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

A number of people in town have made New Year's resolutions to stop smoking. More power to them. As a former smoker I can only offer sympathy and encouragement.

I can't see why a person shouldn't be able to quit smoking on Jan. 1, 1966, just as readily as I did on April 29, 1959. In fact, it hardly seems possible it was only 2,444 days ago. And six hours. And 17 minutes. Let me tell you about it.

I WAS a smoker in the classical pattern. My first brush with tobacco came when I was 12 years old and Bob Faber gave me a cigarette on our way home from a football game at Northwestern Field in Detroit. Bob's father smoked and he had access to them.

At first I wasn't overly impressed, just drawing in the smoke and letting it curl out through my nose.

"You don't do it right," Bob complained. "Let me show you. Take a big mouthful of smoke and then a big gulp of air."

I did as I was told and I can still see that big platter of a field begin to sway back and forth like a porch glider. I was hooked.

WITH TWO of us smoking, it soon became apparent we couldn't feed the habit with cigarettes. Besides, we were Scouts and knew it wasn't right.

Cigarettes in those days cost 10 cents a pack, and it didn't take us long to figure out that if we pooled our nickels—a week Boy Scout dues we'd be in business. Every Scout night we'd rendezvous in front of St. Matthias Church at Grand River and West Grand Boulevard where our troop met, but instead of going in we high-tailed it down to a little confectionery store where the proprietor had a wicked reputation for selling contraband to minors. There we would acquire a package of Marvels and a box of matches and head for LaSalle Gardens, lovely old street lined with Lombardi Pops where we could walk and smoke all evening with arousing suspicion.

I'll never know why my mother never suspected anything because I came home week after week from Scout meetings reeking of smoke. I suppose she figured we were building bonfires, or whatever Scouts do. I never did find out myself.

IN HIGH SCHOOL I became a health fadist. Smoking was bad for the wind. It left yellow stains on the fingers. If you blew smoke through a handkerchief it left an ugly smear where the tars collected. I was off cigarettes for good.

Unfortunately, I hadn't reckoned on my first year at Michigan State. How cool it was to light up a cigarette, particularly if a certain someone was watching. I bought a pack of Luckies my first week on campus, but didn't do a very good job of getting rid of them. Three months later I reached into my pocket and threw the brittle, half-empty pack into the Red Cedar River.

It wasn't until final exams of the third quarter that I really got going again. Someone introduced me to Kool cigarettes and they hit the spot. The only trouble was that Kools were considered a girl's cigarette in those days, so I used to put mine in a Camels package, in open defiance of the Delv. H. Clinton stamp.

FROM HERE ON, I smoked in earnest, switching from Kools to a variety of non-mentholated brands.

Once I was a confirmed smoker, I set about immediately to "cut down." I can tell you here and now that none of my schemes worked. Once, when I found myself emptying more than three packs a day, I decided to cut down systematically. I started by limiting myself to one cigarette every 15 minutes about one step removed from chain smoking. The system worked fine and I was very proud of myself. After a few weeks, I cut down to one cigarette every half hour. This was a struggle, but with lots of coffee and hard candy I was able to make it.

When the interval spread to 45 minutes, I was practically beside myself. But finally I succeeded. After a time I became relatively comfortable with my tobacco consumption cut two-thirds.

THE KILLING STEP was the hour interval. I just couldn't do it. Life became one long wait to light up. I found myself getting up far earlier in the morning than I needed to just to work in an extra cigarette or two. And I stayed up half the night for the same reason. Finally I took to cheating. I'd sneak a cigarette ten or fifteen minutes early. Then I'd go about riddled with guilt feelings until my next regularly scheduled nicotine treatment. It would help if I set my watch back, but sometimes I lost an hour or two each day.

Like all my plans to "cut down" this one ended in disaster. I went back to smoking more than ever, almost as though I was trying to make up for all the cigarettes I had missed.

MY DECISION to quit came quite suddenly. I had been working long hours and hitting five packs a day for several days. Then one morning I got up, lit a "Brand X" and was astounded at how terrible it tasted. All of a

Lakes' Shipping Up in November

November shipments of iron ore, coal and grain over the Great Lakes totaled 15,437,656 net tons, highest for the month in nine years, the Lake Carriers' Association reported today.

Only iron ore dropped in volume from the 1964 month— from 8,414,716 to 5,008,792 gross tons. Coal shipments increased 711,931 tons to 3,363,324 net tons, second highest for the month on record.

Shipments of the three major lakeborne commodities this year to Dec. 1 totaled 145,615,600 net tons, almost two million tons ahead of the movement for the corresponding period last year, and the highest volume since 1957, when 156,756,116 tons were hauled. Grain shipments set a new record of 20,324,462 tons for the period. Only 12.2% of the shipments, however, were moved in U. S. ships.

up in short order. For about four years, I was pretty shaky where cigarettes were concerned. I didn't trust myself to smoke one, for fear the old craving would return. Only recently have I gained a little confidence in my ability not to go back. But it's a funny thing. I don't even want to anymore.

Low Marks Tied to Health Problems

Is your child having trouble keeping up his grades in school this year?

There may be a physical reason for his poor record. Does the child squint, strain, rub his eyes or complain that they hurt, water or itch? Does he hold his book very close to his face when he reads? Has it been a long time since his last eye test? He may have defective vision. He may not be able to read the teacher's notes on the blackboard.

DOES HE often ask you to repeat a question or statement? (That may have nothing to do with hearing, of course. Many of our children know we will say something a second, third or fourth time. We often encourage the habit of not listening.) Does he sometimes miss—or seem to miss—a point made in a movie or on television by the spoken word? Does he turn his head to one side as he listens? His may have defective hearing. It might even be as simple as impacted wax in the ears.

which can be removed by your physician in a simple office procedure.

Has he had an infection, disease or accident whose effects may be lingering? Is there a possibility (as far-fetched as it may seem to you at first) that poor nutrition may be holding him back, limiting his enthusiasms, interests and capabilities? He may be eating a considerable quantity of food, but still be undernourished, if he eats improperly, or if his tastes in food are too limited.

If your child isn't performing properly in his school work, ask yourself whether it is time for an examination to determine whether his problems are caused by a physical condition that might be corrected.

Divers heating water for coffee in the undersea houses used in recent experiments off the coasts of California and France found that it would not boil, though it got as hot as lava. The heavy pressure of the atmosphere in the house kept bubbles from forming.

Rayders Win One, Lose One

HIGH SCORER Steve Smith retrieves ball for second try in game with last year's alumni.

Defeat Petoskey, Bow to Alumni

Charlevoix Rayders split two non-conference games Christmas week, defeating the Petoskey Northmen 65 to 52 but bowing to last year's championship Charlevoix squad 96 to 71.

The second game was a benefit, arranged to raise money for the Varsity Club. The meeting with Petoskey was highlighted by a 30 point burst by Charlevoix in the final period which broke up a tight ball game and sent the Rayders vaulting ahead of the Northmen.

Charlevoix led by only four points at the beginning of the fourth quarter, but built up a 12 point lead in the first two minutes of the final period.

Petoskey playing was marked by poor passing and a series of walking violations.

Top scorer for Charlevoix was Steve Smith, with 22, followed by Fred Wabaninkee and Tom Webb with 11, Bernie Ward and Jack Bergmann with 8, Larry Skippergosh with 4 and Gary Plum with 1.

IN THE GAME with the Alumni, Charlevoix got off to a slow start, scoring only two field goals and one free throw in the first quarter. It was almost as if the Rayders were intimidated by the reputation of last year's team.

Alumni, on the other hand, moved swiftly from the beginning, chalking up 19 points in the first period.

Second period play saw the Rayders gain confidence --- and points. At the half, they still trailed the alumni by only 14 points, 38 to 24. During the second half of the game they brought the spread to less than 10 points at times.

At the end of the third quarter the score was 69 to 48, moving to 96 to 71 by the final whistle.

High scorer was Steve Smith with 12 field goals and four free throws, for a total of 28. Second was Fred Wabaninkee with eight field goals and five free throws, for a total of 21. Bernie Ward scored seven points, three and one; Brad Carey, six with three field goals; Tom Webb five, with two and one; and Jack Bergmann two.

For the Varsity, top scorer was Jim Uhrick with 21, including 10 field goals and one free throw. He was followed closely by Dave Norton who scored nine field goals.

Dave Smith and Doug Winnell scored 14 points each. Del Terrill 10; Warren Belding 6; Tom Maxwell and John Bleha 5 each; and Randy Carey, 3.

THE RAYDERS' next contest will be a home game with Grayling Jan. 7.

LEE FORBRIG who bowls for Murdicks has the highest average---153---in the Gutter Gals league.

Horse Sense--and the Mustang Six

I don't know much about engines. If mine's smooth, powerful and gives great gas mileage, I'm satisfied. That's why I got a Mustang Six.

You don't have to be an engineer to appreciate the Mustang Six. Just get comfortable in one of those deep-foam bucket seats, fire up that husky 200-cu. in. powerplant... and let yourself go.

Nor do you have to be an investment banker to realize you've made a great buy. Standard Mustang Six luxury includes: all vinyl upholstery; plush wall-to-wall carpeting; padded instrument panel and many other extras at no extra cost.

Sound sweet? Mustang makes lots of nice sounds. Optional stereo-sonic tape is one. Another is money jingling in your pocket, thanks to Mustang Six's meager appetite for gasoline.

See for yourself. Stop in at your Ford Dealer's and test-drive America's runaway success car.

Corps Test Is Jan. 8

The next Peace Corps placement test will be at 9 a. m. Jan. 8 at the Main Post Office in Traverse City.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (If test scores indicated a limited language - learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country.)

The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive - an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

THE APPLICATION form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

Senior Citizens to Get Answers on Medicare

Charlevoixans with questions about Social Security benefits are invited to a question-and-answer session Jan. 20 at the home of Mrs. Anna O'Brien, 115 E. Upright.

The meeting is sponsored by the Charlevoix Senior Citizens Club.

Ralph McNabb of the Social Security office in Traverse City will be on hand to answer questions about Medicare and other benefits older persons are entitled to under the Social Security law.

According to Mrs. Gerald Gibbons, several members have expressed an interest in some kind of Senior Citizens village for Charlevoix, similar to what has been done in Cadillac.

Central Grads Asked to Join Alumni Chapter

A meeting to organize a Central Michigan University Alumni Chapter will be held at 8 p. m. Jan. 12 in Room 11, Petoskey High School.

CMU alumni from Charlevoix, Alanson, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Leaning, Pellston, Petoskey and Walloon Lake are urged to attend. Arrangements are being made by Lorna Hayner, Marquerite Beckley and Don Nelson of Petoskey and Tom Fairbairn of Alanson.

Don W. Carr, alumni director for CMU, will be present. Refreshments will be served.

Let's Tell Skiers the Truth

Once again misleading ski condition reports have given northern Michigan a black eye so far as midwestern skiers are concerned.

For example, the Detroit Free Press on Friday reported that skiing at Nub's Nob was "very good," with a three to seven inch base. That's the day the temperature nudged 60 in these parts, if you'll remember, culminating two days of warm, almost balmy weather.

Chicagoans arriving in town Friday night were likewise astounded to find we didn't have any more snow than Miami Beach. They came north on the strength of reports in the Chicago papers that skiing in northwestern Michigan was very good.

CHARLES MOLL, manager, of Boyne Mountain, and Ned Tanner, manager of Boyne Highlands, complained piously last week that ski condition reports "have to go out too early." They said when they filed reports last Wednesday morning there was still fairly acceptable skiing at both areas. Probably so.

But so far as we know there is no state law --- or any federal law, for that matter --- requiring that ski condition reports be filed Wednesday morning. And we are equally certain that there is nothing preventing all areas from correcting or amending reports when ski conditions begin to deteriorate, or improve.

A few telephone calls to downstate newspapers and radio stations would be enough.

It certainly would be better than having thousands upon thousands of skiers spend good money driving north only to find we don't have enough snow to cool a daiquiri.

Now Moll and Tanner say the season is pretty much shot; the momentum is gone. Both areas are cancelling proposed expansion projects for 1966. Area wide, the loss in Christmas week ski business is estimated at $1 million.

FROM ALL REPORTS, Charlevoix didn't suffer so badly in the money department as communities like Boyne Falls, which depends so heavily on the ski business. Charlevoix's largest motels claim they were pretty well booked up, with cancellations begin filled from waiting lists.

Skiers took the punk weather in stride, swimming where facilities were available, bowling, shopping of just partying.

Yet overall business in lodging and dining was not what it might have been if there had been a 40 inch base and a foot or so of powder.

NONE-THE-LESS, the ski business is far too important to the economy of Charlevoix and the rest of the north to be jeopardized by ill-advised or inaccurate ski condition reports. No one wants to discourage skiers from coming north, but certainly they shouldn't be encouraged when snow conditions are poor or when Charlevoix County is merely hoping for a change in the weather.

This isn't a job for a committee or group. Individual ski resort owners should make it their prime responsibility to see that accurate, up-to-the-minute ski condition reports are released to the public. A similar responsibility rests with resort owners and others who might be contacted about ski conditions in the area. Their honesty is sure to be repaid many times over in increased business when conditions are favorable.

Luring skiers north when our hills are bare is tantamount to picking the pockets of their stretch pants. There's no surer route to economic disaster in the winter sports business.

efforts in projects such as our space program which are beyond the scope of any one person.

WE STRIVE, week after week, to make the Courier as accurate as humanly possible, whether quoting prices in our advertising or reporting the year Aunt Emma and Uncle Charlie said their "I do's."

We try to bring you each week all the news of interest to Charlevoixans--from public affairs and sporting events to who had dinner with whom.

We attempt to cover all phases of community life, offering news and information pertinent to businessmen, housewives, workers, students and senior citizens.

In 1966 we shall continue to print all the news of interest to Charlevoixans, in a manner we hope you will find easy to read and entertaining.

THE TREE'S been dismantled, the last ornament stored away, the Christmas wrappings and tags tucked in the box and the Christmas gifts placed in use, worn or placed in waiting for that special occasion.... Holiday greetings are on the desk where they'll be added to the list before going the way of all Christmas cards.... the last holiday cookie eaten and carcass of the turkey long gone.... In other words, Christmas is over for another year after the weeks of planning.... I've heard some people wonder if the fuss is all worthwhile for such a short time.... I think it is because it just wouldn't be Christmas without it....

I love Christmas for many reasons.... because of its religious significance, because of children who really make Christmas what it is, because of the fun of planning and preparing but I think I like it most of all because you hear from so many people you haven't heard from in ages and ages.... Christmas is a time for remembering for most people and for that reason they'll drop you a note.... It's great fun and one of the things that makes Christmas what it is for me though, of course, I love all the unexpected gifts and remembrances too.... Did you ever stop to think what a catastrophe it would be if we no longer observed Christmas?... I shudder at the thought....

And now that all the reminders of Christmas are tucked away for another year and your list of New Year's resolutions pinned on the wall where you can easily scratch them off as you break them, one by one, I must turn to other things....

THINGS LIKE the fact that we're on the edge of ski country and we've little more than a flake of snow on the ground.... and certainly not enough of the kids to try out their sleds or skis.... I've had a number of people ask me to mention that we had nary a flake on the ground on Christmas Day because relatives elsewhere wouldn't believe them.... especially if they lived in southern Michigan where a blizzard kept many a relative at home instead of with families in the north....

If it weren't for the mechanical snow-makers, the skiers would be in a bad way these days.... But the weather's been cold enough so that the machines are running around the clock to keep the slopes in shape for the devotees of the sport....

But one of these days the sky will open and tons of that white stuff will come drifting down.... and the skiers, at least, will be happy....

THIS WEEK marks the end of a full career for one of the most loyal of public servants.... a man who, I swear, never missed his appointed rounds because of snow or sleet or dark of night.... Of course you know I mean Walker Miles.... the man who has walked more miles than he can count as he covered his route for 25 years.... a route that was seven miles long if measured in the middle of the street but one that stretches to approximately 21 miles on busy days when there was mail for every one of his 490 patrons....

When he made his rounds Thursday it marked the end of 33 years in the postal service and 25 years over a route that took him through the business district, through a section of the valley, down the old Coast Guard hill to Palmer-St., and across the bridge to all of the north side where he covered the area from Lake Michigan to Meech St. and from Round Lake to Division Ave....

That 25 years represents a span from birth announcements and after graduation announcements to wedding invitations and back to announcements heralding the arrival of another generation.... And, in all too many instances, he carried the news of the passing of those first patrons he served....

And through it all he has changed little.... his personal appearance varies only slightly despite the heavy pack he's carried for these many years.... And his face still has the pink and white complexion and the happy smile with which he greets everyone from the tiniest child to the oldest patron.

And among his oldest patrons is a very dear friend, Capt. Joe Howard, former harbor master, who now lives alone on East Dixon Ave.... Our genial postman not only delivers Mr. Howard's mail but often, on his days off, will pay him a personal call, stop by to read his mail for him, take him a treat or for a ride around town.... He's been equally as good to others on his route.... and through the years has chalked up many stars in his crown by doing countless things that weren't in the book.... I'm sure that those 490 patrons and their families will join with me in wishing him everything good in his retirement.... With all the things he has planned, he's going to be busier than ever....

Winter Chores Keeping 'Duluth' Skipper Busy

PAINTED FIRE engine red, the dredge Duluth is a colorful addition to the scenery at the foot of Antrim Street.

Skipper Bill Schorer of the dredge Duluth doesn't find time hanging heavy on his hands, although the workboat is tied up for the season at the foot of Antrim Street.

There's plenty to do getting the machinery on board ready for next spring when the Duluth will continue dredging Medusa Harbor off South Point.

Schorer expects the dredge will be back in operation in April, and the job will be completed by August, 1966.

With the crew gone, Schorer's wife, Barbara, is spending a few weeks aboard ship before they leave on a trip to New Orleans in February. New drapes in the captain's quarters are a sure sign there's a woman aboard.

SCHORER finds plenty to do keeping machinery aboard the Duluth in peak condition.

DRAPES add a feminine touch normally lacking in the masculine decor of the skipper's quarters.

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor?

It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you... write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone... free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "bowl down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous... even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you... issues, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business... scores of things to write about!

Courier Restates Its Policies

The first edition of a new year is a good time for a newspaper to dust off its editorial policy and bring it up to date.

Unlike Aunt Emma's will, an editorial policy is not something that can be stashed away in a bureau drawer and forgotten year after year.

Instead, it exists in the day-to-day world of the mind and spirit, changing with the times and altering itself to match the attitudes and interests of those chosen to implement it.

THE EDITORIAL POLICY of the Charlevoix Courier is one of the chief products of 101 Clinton Street.

Politically, the Courier is independent. We're for the man we feel can do the most for Charlevoix, the state or the nation.

We respect the initiative and ingenuity of the individual in creating the kind of world he wishes to live in. We also recognize the importance of collective

Post Station Bids Asked at Ironton

Ironton groceryman Louis Edwards says he has received word from the Post Office District Office in Chicago that bids for maintaining a contract postal substation at Ironton have been reopened.

He says the new deadline for filling is Jan. 6.
Charlevoix Postmaster Dan Genett says he has received no information from the District Office on the latest effort to establish a contract substation at Ironton.

"overflow" town so far as skiers are concerned, with many of them moving to locations nearer the ski areas as vacancies open up.
He said he would like to see the city offer some winter activities of its own, like skating and tobogganing.

THE CITY'S newest restaurant, Dick Wood, is having some second thoughts about serving ski groups.
Wood, proprietor of the Woodshed, said he had arrangements to serve 63 skiers from the Lodge Friday and Saturday nights, Friday the group showed up, but Saturday they took a bus trip and had dinner somewhere else.
Wood was left with perishables that had to be thrown out.
From now on, he says, he'll deal with groups when it's cash in advance.

Snow Arrives as Skiers Leave

The last skier had scarcely turned the corner by the Co-op Sunday afternoon when the snow came -- 2.3 inches of it, according to weatherman Harry Ladd.
Rain Christmas week amounted to .30 of an inch, with a high temperature of 55 degrees on New Years Eve and a low of 16 degrees Sunday.
December precipitation totaled 1.54 inches, with 4.2 inches of snow.

Acting Ironton Postmaster Don Bennett says at present he is undecided whether to bid on the contract station.

BENNETT was named acting postmaster in October upon the retirement of Roy Meyers. He built a $1,500 post office and went into business.
Then two weeks ago Genett received word that the Ironton Post Office was to be abolished the end of December and a contract for maintaining a postal service was being granted to Edwards.
The government had advertised for bids on the station last June and July and Edwards applied.

BENNETT entered the post office picture later in the year when Meyers announced his retirement. Bennett asked for and received Democratic Party endorsement for the job.
Last week the Post Office Department announced it was postponing conversion of the Ironton Post Office to a substation until Jan. 28.

DEMOLITION of the three Houston houses on Michigan Avenue is under way. The property was bought last year by Ocean Lake Development Corp. as a motel or apartment site. Lewis Skeels is contractor.

Car Hits Tree, Airman Injured

Airman Paul Merritt was reported in fairly good condition at Charlevoix Hospital Tuesday afternoon after suffering injuries in an accident on Bridge Street at 1:15 a.m. Jan. 4.

Police Chief Joe Smith said Merritt was driving south when his Mustang went out of control, crossing the center line and took down a good-sized tree near the highway.
Merritt was treated by Dr. L. E. Grate for concussion and multiple lacerations of the face.

Defense spending is expected to exceed $60-billion in 1966.

JAMES WILLIAM GALLAGHER

Third Generation

Gallagher Retires From Coast Guard

As of Dec. 31, three generations of Charlevoix area Gallaghers had retired from the U. S. Coast Guard.

The latest to join the ranks of retirees from this seafaring family is James William Gallagher who has returned home after 23 years in service. Part of his Coast Guard time has been spent right here in Charlevoix.

GALLAGHER'S grand-father, the late Owen Gallagher of St. James, and his father, Peter Gallagher of Charlevoix, both retired from the Coast Guard.

Master Chief Engineman Gallagher's last assignment was aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Mollican docked at Norfolk, Va.

He also served aboard the CGC Sundew (Sept. 1958 to Sept. 1964), the CGC Woodbine (Oct. 1954 to Sept. 1958), and the CGC Nettle in the Philippines (Jan. 1953 to Oct. 1954).

Flyers Review Lease

The lease agreement between The Charlevoix Flying Club and the City of Charlevoix has been reviewed and revised by Bob Hoffman, an attorney and member of the club. It will be re-submitted at the next Council meeting, according to City Attorney John Michael.

The lease permits the Flying Club to build a hangar on city property, with the building reverting to the city at the end of 12 years.

Michael made the announcement at one of the shortest Council sessions in months, as adjournment wound up city business in about 70 minutes Monday night. Actions included:

- Renewal of all liquor licenses held within the city.
- Transfer of the SDM beverage license held by the late Harry Gebreau to Mrs. Gebreau.
- Passage of a resolution commending Harry Gebreau for many years of service to the city.

Dimes March Starts

The 1966 March of Dimes will be held Jan. 15 through Feb. 15, according to Chairman Jack G. Harris, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Co-chairman is Roy G. Bennett, former Charlevoix superintendent of schools.

March of Dimes contributions help youngsters crippled by polio and other diseases.

Rev. Harris has appointed the following committee chairmen:

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, mother's match; Helen Richards and Thelma Wigner, buffet dinner; Dr. Robert Tolias and David Fowler, basketball blanket drive; Mrs. Grace McDaniels, pin-a-buck drive; and Mrs. Robert Lieberman, coffee day.

Others are Mrs. Clarence Odmark, F. F. A. Fund director, cannister drive; Mrs. Stan Fiedorek, bowling; and Glenn Snyder, school contributions.

Bennett said for every $1 contributed to the March of Dimes in Charlevoix County, $1.35 is returned.

Snow Helps Ski Resorts

Charlevoix had 3.3 inches of snow during the week, according to Weatherman Harry Ladd.

Precipitation measured .19 of an inch during the week, with 3.3 inches of snow, according to Weatherman Harry Ladd. High temperature for the week was 38 degrees, reached Jan. 4, with a low of four degrees Saturday morning.

BOYNE MOUNTAIN Lodge reports from a foot to a foot-and-one-half of base in the snow making areas and that skiing is excellent.

Tuesday morning, two double lifts and two rope-tows were operating and the area had had three inches of new snow overnight.

Ed Thurston, Manager of Barn Mountain at Boyne City, reports skiing is fair. Accumulated snow is being packed down on the hills this week and skiing is getting better every day, Thurston says.

Fire Put Out

Charlevoix firemen put out a fire in the basement of Williams Cigar Store Jan. 5.

THE LARGEST group of draftees to leave Charlevoix since World War II departed Jan. 6 for induction. The 12 young men came from throughout Charlevoix County. Recent calls have been increased in proportion to U.S. participation in the Vietnam war.

Thirteen Leave for Army

Thirteen young men from Charlevoix County left for induction into the armed forces Jan. 6, the largest contingent to be drafted since World War II.

The original Selective Service call for January was for 17 men, but when the records were reviewed, only 16 were available.

SINCE THEN, Dennis Massey of Walloon Lake was deferred after the local Selective Service Board recognized his status as an apprentice pipefitter, and the induction of Jerry Holley of Charlevoix was postponed. Holley is an apprentice at Morvold in Ellsworth.

A third inductee, Phillip Loucks, had transferred his registration to Detroit.

A SCORE of parents and sweethearts were on hand when the Greyhound bus pulled out for Chicago. Destination was to be either Fort Knox, Ky., or Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Leaving last week were: CHARLEVOIX: Andrew A. Lee and Edmund B. Bogart. BOYNE CITY: Floyd D. Collins.

Officers Defend Airman Arrested in Party Raid

A 21-year-old airman pleaded guilty to furnishing alcoholic beverage to minors in justice court Jan. 5, but escaped a jail sentence when a host of law enforcement officers and his commanding officers spoke up in his defense.

Instead, Tom Collins of North Point was fined $50 and $15 costs.

A native of Pennsylvania, Collins is assigned to the 10th Radar Bomb Scoring Detachment at Bay Shore and lives in a rented house in Charlevoix Township.

HE AND 36 others were herded down to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's office late Dec. 30 after sheriff's deputies caught glimpses through the windows of teenager drinking at a party at Collins' home.

On the advice of County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum, charges were brought only against Collins.

AT THE TRIAL, Varnum begged leniency, saying that a jail term would go against Collins' service record. He said

Collins was from out-of-state and might not have been familiar with Michigan's drinking laws.

Then Deputy Byron D. Stockwell, the accusing officer, stood up and said that he himself had been in service 22 years and would not like to see the uniform disgraced by Collins' drawing a jail term.

Sailors Approve Cross Village Port

Charlevoixans with lake interests have hailed a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers recommendation for construction of port facilities at Cross Village.

It is generally felt such a port would be a harbor of refuge in an area where one is badly needed.

The proposed small-boat harbor would provide benefits for recreational and commercial fishing craft and for operation of the ferry to Beaver Island.

KARL ERBER, president of the Beaver Island Boat Co., says the firm has no intention of moving its mainland terminal from Charlevoix.

But he says a harbor at Cross Village would be welcome when the Beaver Islander is caught in northwest winds. Cross Village is about 10 miles closer to St. James than Charlevoix.

Commercial fisherman John Cross would also welcome port construction at Cross Village. He says southwest or northwest winds sometimes make it difficult or impossible to enter Charlevoix Harbor.

ARMY ENGINEERS recommend construction of 2,300 feet of breakwaters, an anchorage and maneuver area of about eight acres and 10 feet deep. The harbor would have a flared entrance channel 12 feet deep, decreasing in width to 100 feet between the breakwaters.

The breakwater would have a bituminous surface for recreational fishing.

Engineers estimate the cost of the project at $1,172,000 for construction and $2,600 for maintenance, exclusive of costs for navigational aids.

FEDERAL SHARE of the project would be $723,000 for construction and $2,500 for maintenance. The balance apparently would be made up from state and local funds.

Final action on the project is scheduled sometime after Feb. 3, after review by the board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, D.C.

Announcement of the project was made by Sen. Patrick D. McNamara (D-Mich.) and Cong. Raymond D. Cleverger (D-11th Dist.).

Group Makes Report

A new 20-room elementary school for grades K through 4 was recommended Monday night to the Charlevoix School Board by Ralph Doan, chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee.

Doan told the board the new school is needed to accommodate Charlevoix's burgeoning school population.

At present the High School is 59 over its capacity for 500 students and the grade school is 72 above its capacity for 600.

DOAN SAID that studies undertaken by his group indicate the best location for the proposed K-4 school would be on the north side where new housing development is most likely.

He added that his group already has its eye on a 70-acre site which would provide plenty of room for expansion.

Doan said if the school is built, the committee recommends locating grades five through eight at the present elementary school in the valley and reserving the high school for grades nine through 12.

THE NEW SCHOOL under this arrangement would relieve overcrowding at all levels of instruction.

Doan's group is part of a steering committee formed last year to advise the School Board on future school needs.

He presented a chart to the board which indicates Charlevoix will have an estimated 950 elementary school pupils and 925 high school students by 1976.

According to School Superintendent Rex Milligan, overcrowding already is a problem.

Driver Cleared by Blood Test

Charlevoix County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum says it is unlikely any action will be taken against Robert F. Tyler, 38, in the death of Donna Whalen, 7, on Jan. 2.

Donna was a passenger in Tyler's car which hit a tree on M-66 just south of the city. Donna was dead on arrival at Charlevoix Hospital and Tyler and four other passengers in the car were injured, including Donna's mother, Barbara Whalen, 30.

A TEST showed the alcohol content in Tyler's blood was .07 per cent.

Varnum said the threshold of intoxication is .15 per cent more than double Tyler's reading.

The test was taken after three empty beer bottles were found in the wrecked car.

No that vacation is over and all the skiers have headed back disappointed, we are finally getting freezing weather with lots of snow.

Some fishermen tried to beat the rush, and put their shanties out on the lake early, only to have them start sinking through the thin ice.

Among those that weren't so lucky were Pete Vander Ark and Jerry Alward. Pete, with help of a couple friends, pulled his light shanty out. Jerry's story is a little different -- his was too heavy to pull out so it still lies there partly sunk in the lake.

Speaking of fishing, we would like to mention the fact that the new Chain-o-Lakes bait shop will be open starting Jan. 8. This shop is located on the river between Ellsworth Lake and Lake St. Clair, and is run by Harold Gross.

Illness and injury seems to be hitting hard around Ellsworth lately. Mr. Richard Denny is out of the hospital and slowly recovering from a punctured lung. He is spending some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Denny of Ellsworth.

Mr. Walter Hardy was released by Charlevoix Hospital Wednesday, January 5 and was able to return to work this Monday.

Mr. John Boss recently underwent surgery in Ann Arbor.

Mr. Jack Vallance of Alwood fell and broke his hip at home and is now in Charlevoix Hospital.

Artis Drenth is hobnobbing around school on crutches, the result of an operation on her knee. The operation took place in Traverse City at Munson Hospital. She has a high cast which will remain on for the next six to eight weeks.

Mrs. Virginia Loper, of Route 1, Charlevoix, announced the engagement of her daughter, Mary Agnes, to William Eugene Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Patton of Warren, Mich. The couple both work at Mt. Clemens Metal Products in East Jordan. They will be married Jan. 22.

On Christmas Day Judy Waller and Dale Daclman announced their engagement. A former resident of Ellsworth, Judy is now living in Muskegon. Dale lives in Coopersville. Judy is a junior at Central Michigan University, while Dale has already started his coaching career. They are planning a spring wedding in Muskegon.

With school back in session, all high school students are busy studying for semester exams to be held Thursday and Friday Jan. 13 and 14. The seniors are passing out their senior photos, which they just received.

Averill will continue as publisher and Hogan will be editor.

The Averill-Hogan partnership was formed in 1962, after long-time publisher George R. Averill sold his interest.

The paper which has a circulation of slightly under 20,000, was founded in 1878.

1965 Road Deaths Near 1965 Mark

Michigan's provisional traffic death toll of 2,103 for 1965 was 17 or one per cent less than 2,120 for 1964, according to State Police.

This was the fourth worst annual count in 33 years of record keeping. In addition to 1964, the other higher tolls were 2,175 in 1937 and 2,133 in 1941.

Delayed death reports are expected to push the 1965 count over the 1964 mark.

Contributing to the high 1965 loss were 220 deaths in December, 30 more than 190 in the same month in 1964. December was the fourth month of the year to exceed the 200 mark, the others being July with 210, August with 220 and September with 201.

MORE COMPLETE figures for November showed 166 persons killed and 12,630 injured in 26,142 accidents. The figures represented seven per cent fewer deaths but increases of six percent in injuries and accidents compared with November a year earlier. Injuries were increased for 47 successive months compared with the same months a year earlier, while accidents were up in 45 out of the last 47 months. Estimated mileage for the first 10 months of 1965, the latest available information, totaled 33.2 billions, a rise of five per cent over the same period in 1964, while the death rate of 5.1 per 100 million vehicle miles was down nine per cent.

Miss Louise Willard has returned to Portland after spending some time here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Seymour.

FORMER CHARLEVOIX bowler Mary Anne Stone is continuing to set bowling records in Edmore, her new hometown. On Dec. 29 she knocked down 689 pins in one three-game series.

Ex-City Bowler Has Edmore Agog

Breaking alley records at the Marl View Lanes east of Edmore, Mich., is getting to be a habit with Mary Anne Stone, former Charlevoix bowler and bowler at Paul Bunyan Lanes.

On Dec. 29, Mary Anne knocked down a total of 689 pins, helping her team, the Friendly Tavern of Edmore, start the second half of the season on the right foot.

In doing so she also surpassed her old record of 650 pins set last year.

MARY ANN WEIGHS only 107 pounds, but throws a powerful ball.

She rolled games of 261, 212, and 216, getting 23 strikes in the series and qualifying for an award from WIBC for 100 pins over her average with the 261 game.

Edmore is located on highway M-16 about 20 miles west of Alma.

HERE'S how the Sundew looked when she returned to Charlevoix Harbor Jan. 10 after an afternoon on Lake Michigan. The land temperature was about 10 degrees.

Saw a beautiful sight Monday evening. The Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, steaming down Pine River Channel frosted over with what Skipper Dale Foster estimates to have been six tons of ice.

As the ship slid into round

Lake, it sounded as though there were a jazz combo aboard. Instead it was the crew chipping the ice from the superstructure with hammers. Foster says the Sundew was heading for Escanaba on the other side of Lake Michigan to do some ice breaking when she ran into foul weather about 30 miles out and was forced to turn back. Spray froze to everything above the waterline.

Church... Signifying A Place Of Worship

One of the best known, most common words in the English language. Yet, perhaps, few may know of its origin.

It stems from a Greek word meaning "to call out or call together," denoting an assembly or collection. Hence, any assembly of people at a given place, for the purpose of worshipping God is a CHURCH.

The one pictured here is typical of the thousands of modest, unpretentious HOUSES OF GOD to be found in town and country, throughout the length and breadth of this Great Land. Places where anyone may go to worship God in his or her own way—may find solace and be uplifted in spirit by the power of prayer and song.

If you have not been attending church come this Sunday, and every Sunday thereafter. TAKE PART IN ITS ACTIVITIES AND YOU WILL BE GRATIFIED WITH THE FEELING OF WELLBEING AND PEACE OF MIND IT WILL GIVE YOU!

Barnard Home Extension Club will meet Jan. 17 with Mrs. Roger Turner. Each member is asked to bring a darning needle and linen material.

Due to bad weather, Barnard Grange meeting was postponed to Friday, Jan. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Warner visited Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elzinga.

Mr. Ivan Warner and friend, Miss Linda Tassie, of Pontiac spent the weekend with the Jasper Warners. They also visited other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cummings took their daughter, Mary Ann, back to school in Detroit Saturday. They also visited relatives there.

Mrs. John L. Boss visited her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vandenberg and family at Fraser, and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Wheat and son at Blissfield the past week.

Many folks here will remember the Warren Frank family who lived in Barnard in the early 1930's. On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Frank called me and it was a wonderful surprise. I hadn't talked to her in 28 years. She has bought a home in East Jordan and is now residing there.

Girl Scout Leaders' Class Starts Jan. 31

The Basic Leadership Training Course for new Girl Scout leaders who have not completed their basic leadership training is being offered by special invitation of the Big Waters Girl Scout Council to leaders of the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council living in Emmet and Charlevoix counties.

The course will start Monday, Jan. 31, and will continue for four consecutive evenings, Feb. 1, 2, 3, in Cheboygan St. Charles Catholic Church. There will be evening sessions only, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Trainers will be Mrs. Polly Hays, executive director, Big Waters Council, and Mrs. Muriel Bissell, Girl Scout National Staff Council advisor.

Both councils are member agencies of the United Community Chests.

Cribbage Meet Starts in City

Charlevoix's annual cribbage contest between the Masons and the Oddfellows started Thursday, Jan. 6. The Masons got off to a good start, with a lead of 352 points. Three and a half tables met the first night, but players would like to see twice as many at the next meeting, Jan. 13 at the American Legion Hall.

High player for the Masons is Floyd Chamberlin with 967. High Oddfellow is Hap Cunningham with 938.

COURIER REPORTER Mrs. Jasper Warner prefers to work at the kitchen table, close to wall telephone. Mrs. Warner covers Barnard.

Courier Reporting Is Family Tradition for Mrs. Warner

Reporting Barnard news for the Charlevoix Courier is practically a family tradition for Mrs. Jasper (Mary) Warner of Barnard Road.

Mrs. Warner's mother, Mrs. Clyde Smith, was the Barnard correspondent for more than 40 years before her death in 1955.

"Then my sister, Mrs. Arthur Steel, wrote the news for a year before she started teaching at Ellsworth in 1956. That's when I took over the job," Mrs. Warner says.

A NATIVE of Barnard, Mrs. Warner says she enjoys corresponding "because it keeps me in touch with all my friends and their families."

Mrs. Warner does most of the paperwork connected with her Courier job seated at the kitchen table, handy to the telephone.

She wishes folks in the area would volunteer more news. As it is, she finds herself originating most of the telephone calls to find out what's new in the neighborhood.

THE WARNERS, who have lived on the same farm in Marion Township for 26 years, have four children: Mrs. William (Marian) Pasche of Lansing; Larry of Charlevoix; Judy, a student at the Beauty Academy in Petoskey; and James, an 8th grader at Charlevoix High School, and seven grandchildren.

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Warner left Friday on a 10-day vacation to Sheboygan Falls, Wis., where they will visit relatives.

John Norton Jr. returned Saturday to Farndale after spending three weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Sr.

Albin Durance has returned from a week's visit with relatives and friends in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mieras and family returned recently from a vacation trip that included a visit with relatives in Grand Rapids and a trip to Miami, Fla., and the Bahamas.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Begrow were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Begrow of Huntington Woods, his aunt, Mrs. Mae B. Maas of Birmingham, and Mrs. Begrow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Doyle of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

C&O Earnings UP $15 Million in '65

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway --- the only railroad serving Charlevoix --- has reported consolidated earnings for 1965 of $65 million, equal to $7.45 a C & O common share. This compared with consolidated earnings of $50 million equal to $5.80 a C & O common share in 1964.

C & O's consolidated earnings include its 90 per cent ownership of the affiliated Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and C & O/B & O's 65 per cent ownership of the Western Maryland Railway.

"Revenues and earnings advanced strongly in a year of excellent national business activity," according to the report to C & O's 107,000 shareholders, signed by Cyrus Eaton, board chairman, Walter J. Tuohy, chief executive officer of C & O and B & O, and Gregory S. HeVine, president of both railroads. They added, "C & O's working capital and cash positions were maintained at high levels. B & O's were improved."

Few periods in C & O's history have been so eventful as the year just ended, the report said, adding: "Biggest news of the year--of many years -- for C & O/B & O was the agreement for merger of C & O with the Norfolk and Western Railway. We believe this is the most important move for greater service growth and strength that could be made."

It was announced that C & O shareholders will vote on the N & W-C & O plan at the C & O annual meeting, which this year will be held in Cleveland on May 12.

THE FLASH report noted that the N & W-C & O merger plan "would create a large, strong system connecting most of the major centers in the northeastern quarter of the nation. It would be about equal in gross revenues, assets and miles of road -- and would provide true competitive balance -- with the proposed Penn-Central system, which has already been recommended for approval by the ICC hearing examiners. Summing up, it would make possible a new era in railroading in the East."

"B&O would, of course, be part of the new system," the report stated, "as would Western Maryland if the ICC approves C&O/B&O's pending application for control."

Theirs.

You can dry more than five loads in a Gas dryer for the cost of doing one in an electric. Which means your Gas dryer will pay for itself in just seven years. And most Gas dryers last for more than ten years.

What's more, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will connect new and used Gas dryers free in the areas we serve. And maintenance expense is negligible. In a survey of more than 300 families who owned their Gas dryers an average of five years,* total maintenance costs averaged out to less than 20¢ per year per dryer.

During Gas Dryer Dividend Days, prices are reduced to save you even more. So see the latest Gas dryer models at your dealer or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms.

*Survey conducted by an independent research organization.

Travel Editor Due Jan. 20

Bill Thomas, travel editor of the Charlevoix Courier, will be in Charlevoix Thursday, Jan. 20, to gather material for a series of articles on winter sports facilities in northern Michigan.

Charlevoix is one of the stops he will make during a six-day tour of the area.

Thomas is especially interested in seeing what lodging facilities are available. He also wants to strap on a pair of boards at one of the ski areas and try his luck at ice fishing.

Archie Dayton, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, will be his host while in Charlevoix.

Rayders Trounce Vikings

The Rayders tucked away a comfortable 59 to 38 victory over Grayling Friday night, securing a third place niche with East Jordan in the Northern Michigan Class C Conference.

Grayling, which traditionally is better in basketball than football, got off to a bad start, scoring only six points in the first quarter to Charlevoix's 12.

FRED WABANIMKEE and Tom Webb dominated the first period for Charlevoix, each sinking two baskets.

Bernie Ward came to the fore in the second quarter, starting off the scoring with three free throws. After baskets by Wabanimkee, Webb and Steve Smith there was a long period of inactivity until Ward came back in the final minutes scoring two field goals and a free one.

JOHN SORENSON sparked the Grayling game in the second quarter, scoring three of the Vikings' five fieldgoals.

At the half, the score stood at 26 to 18, with Brad Carey replacing Webb in the final minutes of the second quarter.

In the third period, Charlevoix increased its point spread to 14 by the whistle (42 to 28). Third quarter star for Charlevoix was Smith, who rang up four baskets and two free throws on the score board. The Rayders scored on six foul shots in the period.

In the final period, Charlevoix broke into a scoring derby that never once left the outcome of the game in doubt.

Smith, Carey, Wabanimkee, Webb and Ward all chalked up one or more baskets giving Charlevoix a 21 point margin at game's end.

High scorer for Charlevoix was Steve Smith with 20 points (14 and 6), followed by Ward with 13 (4 and 5); Webb 10 (4 and 2); Wabanimkee 8 (four fieldgoals); Carey 7 (3 and 1); and Larry Skippergosh 1.

For Grayling, Leroy Neal led with 12 (5 and 2); John Sorenson four baskets and 6 (3 fieldgoals); Art Wakely and Pat Thompson 5 (3 and 1 each); Capt. Terry Wright and Mike Corlew 4 (2 fieldgoals); and Dale Slussen 2 (a fieldgoal).

In other Friday games, Grayling beat Mancelona 74 to 62; Pellston defeated Boyne City 80 to 44; and East Jordan downed Harbor Springs, 64 to 56.

Deer Reported Yarding in U.P.

With snow depths and temperatures about average for this time of the year, deer have begun to yard in some areas of the Baraga district and along the northern fringe of the Lake Superior watershed in the Upper Peninsula, the Conservation Department reports.

In other Northern areas above the Straits, most deer have moved into heavier cover but the animals are not "boxed in" by any means. Roughly east of a line from Marquette to Crystal Falls and south of Highway M-28, deer are generally free to roam for food.

The going remains relatively easy for whitetails in the northern Lower Peninsula where snow depths are only about six inches at the most. Although colder weather in recent days appears to have pushed some of the region's deer into heavier sheltered areas, the animals are not yet yarded.

In the western end of the Upper Peninsula, snow depths measure about 1-1½ feet.

The Charlevoix county Democratic committee will hold its first meeting of 1966 at the city hall at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 15. Archie M. Murphy, county chairman, has announced.

State Elk Found Free of Disease

Michigan's wild elk herd rates a clean bill of health, according to results of a recent investigation conducted by teams of scientists from Wayne State University and the State's Department of Conservation.

The elk herd, estimated at 3,500 animals, is located in the Sturgeon and Pigeon River areas in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula. A steadily increasing birth rate allowed the state to hold a limited elk hunting season last fall.

ELK HAVE been in Michigan since 1916 when, in an attempt to provide more game in the state, an elk herd was brought from Wyoming to the Upper Peninsula. The first herd died out and the present herd is descended from animals rounded up from zoos all across Michigan and released in Cheboygan County.

Although most animals in the wild state carry some parasites," says Wayne State biology Professor Dominic DeGiusti, who is directing the study, "we found Michigan elk to be relatively free of them."

THE INVESTIGATION included detailed study of the stomachs and intestinal tracts of a representative sample of the elk which last autumn's hunters brought home.

A chief objective of the scientists was to search for signs of the so-called "brain worm" disease, Pneumotracularia tenuis, believed to be the cause of serious brain damage in certain large game animals.

Paula Penfold, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dar Penfold, who underwent a tonsillectomy at the Osteopathic Hospital in Traverse City on Dec. 28 returned to her studies on Monday at the Ebenezer Christian School in Ellsworth.

Wanted: Parents Who Care

It is difficult to imagine parents ever putting more things in this world ahead of the safety and well-being of their children. But apparently there are people in Charlevoix who think appearances are more important.

A case in point is the recent resignation of Jack Mol as a special deputy for the Sheriff's Department. Mol was one of those unfortunate law officers who was called upon Christmas week to enforce Michigan's liquor laws at North Point.

A NUMBER of teenagers were seen drinking at a party which a neighbor had reported was becoming boisterous. Acting on the advice of Charlevoix County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum, State Police, sheriff's deputies and special deputies rounded up 37 teenagers and young people.

One person—the host—pleaded guilty in justice court to furnishing alcohol to minors and paid a $50 fine and $15 costs. That part of the incident is closed, so far as the courts and the police are concerned.

YET COMMUNITY resentment against the law officers who took part in breaking up the party cannot be ignored.

In tendering his resignation, Mol told Sheriff Glenn Rose that he had received telephone calls from a few of the parents of youngsters who were rounded up in the raid complaining that an injustice had been done their offspring.

Mol said he doesn't feel it's wise for a man who depends for his livelihood on the goodwill of his customers (Mol runs a plumbing shop) to place himself—after hours—in a position as open to criticism as that of a special deputy in the Sheriff's Department. As unfortunate as it seems, Mol probably has a point.

He made it clear that a lack of time and other factors influenced his decision to quit, but that phone calls from angry parents were a deciding factor—the last straw.

WE'RE AT A LOSS to determine just what these parents would have had the police do under the circumstances. Ignore Must Skiers Go to Bed Hungry?

Charlevoix is making an earnest bid for a share of northern Michigan's lucrative ski trade, and certainly lodging available in the city is comparable with the best going.

Yet we think skiers who arrive Sunday nights to take part in one of the so-called "ski weeks" have a legitimate complaint. If they reach town any later than 8 p.m. there is no place for them to eat. And skiers are notorious for their big appetites.

ONE GROUP checked in at a motel the Sunday after Christmas and asked the night clerk where they could get a snack before going to bed. To his embarrassment, the clerk had to tell them that the closest restaurant open was in Petoskey.

"Maybe that's where we should have

Ma Nature Has a Mean Streak

New Year's weekend definitely proves that Mother Nature has a mean streak.

Skiers had barely left town with their unused boards when the snow started. Flurries and light snow have been adding to the base almost every day since.

The consensus seems to be that since winter is starting so late, it will probably continue right on through Easter. Some dyed-in-the-wool pessimists are even laying odds on a white Fourth of July.

AT ANY RATE, ski resort operators

Interesting Election Shapes Up

It looks like an interesting city election shaping up in Charlevoix Feb. 21.

Mayor Hawley has announced he does not intend to run for re-election, putting in motion a re-shuffle of city office holders all down the line.

THE CONTEST drawing the most comment is in the Second Ward where four persons have petitioned to fill the alderman's chair being vacated by Dr. Walter F. Hoffmann. Dr. Hoffmann is running for mayor against Alderman Bill Fochtman.

the party? Knock on the door and tell the party-goers to "keep it down." Notify parents and be told in all seriousness that kids will be kids.

Regardless of how an individual feels about Michigan's rather strict laws concerning minors and drinking, the fact remains that it is illegal for people under 21 years of age to drink alcohol on these peninsulas. The law holds it is an even greater offense when people who should know better furnish them with it.

Until they are changed, these are the laws and we must live with them.

OUR LAWMAKERS have long felt that young people lack the discretion to use alcohol wisely. The advent of the automobile has further complicated matters. One doesn't have to be a sociologist to know that just as many "accidents" can occur in the backseat of a parked automobile as in the front seat of one going 70 miles an hour—especially when the occupants are young people freed from normal restraints through alcohol.

It is interesting to speculate what would have been the reaction of certain parents if some of the young drinkers at North Point had been hurt in an accident on the way home. One can almost hear the cries of "Where were the police while all this drinking was going on?"

FORTUNATELY, not all Charlevoix parents are so indifferent to the welfare of their children. One angry mother called the Courier and wanted to know why we didn't run her son's name as one of the offenders.

"If he wants to go out and make a fool of himself, I'd like him to read about it in the paper," she complained.

Technically only one person was arrested; otherwise we would have been happy to oblige.

IN ANY EVENT, it is high time that otherwise responsible citizens stop intimidating Charlevoix's law enforcement officers in the performance of their duties. We can ill afford to lose many men of the caliber of Jack Mol.

stayed," one of them remarked.

Of course it costs money to keep a restaurant open, cooks and waitresses don't work for free. But it's a shame any visitor to Charlevoix must go to bed hungry, after driving hundreds of miles to get here. We wonder if he's likely to return.

WE ARE NOT recommending a solution to the problem. We are hoping that motel operators and restaurateurs can put their heads together and come up with an answer before too many people get the idea we don't know how to treat tourists.

After all, hospitality has been Charlevoix's stock in trade since before the turn of the century. It would be a shame to let our reputation slip.

may have a chance to pick up at the end of the season some of the business they lost at the first.

Our own Mt. McSaubia opened Saturday, with Manager Chuck Meier reporting a brisk business over the weekend. Christmas trees strategically placed on the slope are helping hold the snow in place until more accumulates.

Winter was late in starting, but skiers are keeping their fingers crossed that it will turn into a real humdinger before it's over.

Second Ward candidates are Don W. Brown, Nathan Boss, Robert G. Lieberman and John R. Martin.

Another interesting race promises to take place in the Second Ward where Jack Mol and Claire C. Martin are vying for Fochtman's seat on the Council.

JEROME W. WHITLEY is running unopposed in the Third Ward, as are First, Second and Third Ward Supervisors Kit Carson, Harold Totten and Lee Moerland.

And still it goes on... this unbelievable weather that's had people water skiing in Little Traverse Bay and others swimming at Muskegon. . . . And the poor youngsters who received skiing equipment and sleds and skates for Christmas are driving their mothers mad. . . . as though they could do something about the comparatively warm weather and the lack of snow. . . .

What should have been the biggest weekend of the entire skiing season became almost a nothing. . . . A few skiers did come and did have fun, from what I hear, but it was nothing to what it might have been had we had snow. . . .

But that's the way it happens. . . . But who ever would have thought two months ago that the weather was going to be like this. . . . after the late spring, cold summer and rainy fall everyone was betting we'd have a hard winter. . . . You just can't win. . . .

EARLIER this fall, there were a number of people who sighted something in the evening sky which was probably the Keya-Seki comet. . . . It was a thrilling experience for those who did see it because not too many did and some of those people were not aware of the fact that they had seen one of the rare sights of our time. . . .

But what is even more thrilling, as far as I was concerned, is the story behind the boy who first sighted it. . . . Kaoru Keya. . . whose name it bears along with another Japanese astronomer. . . . The story's told in the January issue of the Reader's Digest under the title "The Boy Who Discovered His Father's Name". . . . It's a story of persistence, family pride, sacrifice and honor all rolled into one. . . . I couldn't even start to do it justice by retelling it so read it for yourself. . . . please. . . . you'll love it. . . .

Wasn't it good to see so many of those who are usually around only in the summer joining in the festivities of the recent holiday season. . . . Just scads of these people returned, opened their cottages and enjoyed Charlevoix which so many of them see only in the summer. . . . I just hope they weren't too disappointed when we didn't have snow. . . .

KAY FITCH was telling me a cute story. . . . about the youngster who had been telling her friends and classmates for weeks that she was going to Michigan where she was going to see snow and have a chance to play in it. . . . On Dec. 28 this young lady, Jackie Batmale, and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Batmale, arrived to visit the latter's son-in-law and daughter, the Tom Erbers, and found northern Michigan with no more snow than downtown San Francisco. . . . As time went on and the weather got warmer and warmer she was really in a tizzy. . . . But the day was saved when it snowed early the morning of Jan. 4 and she was able to frolic in the snow and throw her share of snowballs before departing later in the day for the land of sunshine on the west coast. . . .

DID YOU EVER have someone call you on the phone and ask if you remember something you'd written almost 11 years ago? . . . That happened to me the other day and I still can't believe that anyone would recall something from that along ago. . . . I'm told by Bob Pearl who recalled this in May, 1955, I had said that on the fifth of that month in that year one could write 5/5/55 in writing the date for that day. . . . and that it would be 11 years before one could write a similar combination. . . . Bob jogged my memory and said that this was the year when we can write 6/6/66. . . . and, of course, it will be another 11 years and one month before another such combination can be written. . . .

WE HAD A NEW visitor in our neighborhood this morning. . . . a red squirrel. . . . but chances are he won't be around for long. . . . I've been telling you about all the little black squirrels we now have. . . . It is my understanding that when they moved in the red ones moved out. . . . but I saw him, with his little red coat as bright as could be in the sunshine, scampering across the snow. . . . Maybe he was just passing through. . . .

MAYBE I'll get my wish yet. . . . I'm always bemoaning the fact that I've never seen a cardinal. . . . My neighbor, Mrs. E. W. Anderson at the Victorian at the corner of Michigan and Ainslee, a short block from my house, reports that a pair visited their feeder recently. . . . Mrs. Russell Mieras, only half a block away on Ainslee, said they'd also been there. . . . So if I can just be patient. . . . and alert. . . . I may just get to see one yet. . . . I know there are several upon Michigan ave. where it's rather isolated and quiet. . . . but I never dreamed they'd be visiting this area where there's a lot more traffic and many more people. . . . I'll be watching. . . .

THE FORMER Coatta home at 1202 Bridge St. has not changed much since this picture was taken in 1902. From left are Rose Coatta Schumacher (d. 1948); May Coatta (d. 1907); Frank Coatta Sr. (d. 1947); Frank Jr., of 308 W. Lincoln; and Margaret Coatta (d. 1934). Today the porch has been enclosed, and the rear kitchen is gone.

This is the kind of winter we had in Charlevoix in 1928. At right is natural ice bridge on the beach. Know Your Newspaper Editor

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor? It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter—and he probably will—you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you. . . . write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone. . . . free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "boil down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous. . . . even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you. . . . taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business. . . . scores of things to write about!

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY'S LARGEST NEWSPAPER

THE BEST attended P-T.A. meeting this season took place at the High School Jan. 5 when Dr. David Wells of Oakland County lectured on the "new math." He used a class of Sixth Graders to demonstrate how it is taught.

NEXT SHERIFF Glenn Rose took the floor and said that in view of Collins' hitherto spotless record, he, too, would like to recommend leniency. The last to speak was Maj. Alvin Aronovsky, Collins' commanding officer at the Radar Scoring Detachment. Aronovsky said Collins has a clean record, is well-liked and has never been a problem before "from a duty point of view."

JUSTICE of the Peace John Connolly then asked Collins what would happen if he gave him a 60-day jail sentence. Collins said since he has only 34 days of accumulated leave, he would probably face an Air Force court martial upon his release from jail for being AWOL. He added that such a court martial would probably result in a dishonorable discharge.

He noted that he already has served three and one-half years of a four-year enlistment.

AT THIS POINT Sheriff Rose proposed Collins on probation for the remainder of his enlistment, but Connolly said such a probation would be impossible to enforce.

Before sentencing, Connolly gave his own reasons for leniency:

"In the back of my mind, I have an idea you're not 100 percent responsible for this. There may be some others involved."

He indicated that he could not see how anyone living on an airman's pay could buy drinks for 36 people.

COLLINS explained that the party was a "bring-your-own-booze" affair, and that he certainly couldn't afford to throw such a party on his own. After sentencing, reporters asked Varnum why only Collins was charged, when after a similar beach party last summer many teenagers and young people were charged with a breach of the peace.

Varnum said the beach party was something the young people had "cooked up" themselves, whereas the house party implied an invitation from Collins.

Collins was represented at the trial by Charlevoix Attorney John Michael.

Park Signs, Car Plates Land Teenagers in Jail

Shenandoah with park signs and auto license plates have kept two 17-year-olds in hot water with sheriff's deputies and Justice Court for the past three weeks. Both ended up in jail.

They are Leo Sadowski, who lives with his grandmother at 424 Pearl St., Petoskey, and Ernest William Dureux, a Coast Guardsman stationed aboard the Sundew.

The trouble began Dec. 28 when sheriff's deputies received a tip linking the two to the disappearance of three wooden signs from the Bell's Bay campground maintained by the State Conservation Department.

The signs, which were carved on heavy plank, read: "Water", "Camp Registration Tags at Bulletin Board", and "Water 1/4 Mile at First Camp Site."

SADOWSKI and DUREUX appeared before Justice of the Peace John Connolly on Jan. 14 and were fined $25 each and $5 court costs. The signs were returned to Bell's Bay.

The same day, Sadowski was arrested by sheriff's deputies for driving an automobile with improper license plates.

The plates, numbered PH-5259, had been issued for a 1956 Ford, but Sadowski was using them on a Chevrolet. It developed in court that he also had used the same plates on a third car.

CONNOLLY fined Sadowski $10 and $5 costs -- or 10 days in jail. Sadowski chose jail until he could raise the fine and costs. Sadowski was no sooner out of jail Jan. 15 when he was picked up on a second offense of using improper plates. This time the plates were from Dureux's car.

Back in Justice Court, Sadowski received a $20 fine and $5 costs plus ten days in jail and an additional 20 days if the fine and costs are not paid.

For allowing Sadowski to use his license plates, Dureux was fined $10 and $5 costs -- or 10 days in jail. He was unable to pay the fine and went to jail.

Back in Justice Court, Sadowski received a $20 fine and $5 costs plus ten days in jail and an additional 20 days if the fine and costs are not paid.

One of Johnny Carson's TV guests the other night told about a practical joke that is terrifying bank tellers and their customers in California. The joker simply writes "This is a stick-up" on the back of a deposit slip and leaves it glued on the pad. The next person along unwittingly fills out the deposit ticket and takes it to a cashier. It's not until the cashier turns over the slip to stamp it that all hell breaks loose.

It, Allen Smith once wrote a book entitled "The Complete Practical Joker", detailing the length some people go to get the best of their fellow man. A classic instance is the well-heeled Londoner who came across a group of workmen tearing up a street one day. There didn't appear to be any foreman in charge, and he was struck with a brilliant idea.

"Come now, gents, we've done enough here for the day," he said stepping into the group. "Big job over on Trafalgar Square. Let's get a move on."

Without further ado, the workmen packed up their tools in wheelbarrows and followed their spiffy new leader to the heart of the city. They promptly set up barricades across the busy thoroughfare and began tearing up the street with pick axes and shovels.

Crowds gathered to watch as the excavation grew deeper and deeper and the traffic of downtown London became hopelessly snarled. Late in the afternoon, the self-appointed foreman was satisfied he had done enough mischief. He jauntily tipped his hat to his befuddled co-workers and continued merrily on his way.

... ONCE HAD a great uncle who was a great hand at practical jokes. When I first met him he had retired from the Kansas City Star and was living in Windsor, Ont. Now Windsor is a fairly decent place to live, but it has a Sunday afternoon quality about it that sometimes got under Uncle Jim's skin. So he'd do what he could to make life interesting.

One spring he found he had bought more seed onions than he had room for in the garden. Every time he'd visit a neighbor, he'd make sure he had a couple of them in his pocket, and when the host wasn't looking he'd poke an onion or two into a potful of geraniums or any other houseplant that happened to be handy.

A week or so later he'd make it a point to pay a second call on the unsuspecting neighbor. Sometime during the course of his visit he would leap from his chair and excitedly rush to examine a tiny green shoot growing in the flower pot.

"Unless I miss my guess, this is a rare eladotus wind-sorius," he'd declare, picking a Latin-sounding name from thin air. "Very few of these live in these parts. This is a real find."

After examining the young onion from all sides, he would leave the proud owner with all kinds of instructions on how to care for it. I'm afraid more than one Windsor houseplant was yanked out by the roots to make way for some of Uncle Jim's onion sets.

ANOTHER TIME Uncle Jim had a neighbor who doted on his tomato garden, going at it in a most scientific way. He kept accurate records of how much fertilizer he applied, what day the seedlings were planted and how much fruit they bore. Uncle Jim also liked gardening, but he thought his friend made a fetish of it. One day my Uncle was at the Windsor farmers' market when his eye lit on one of the largest tomatoes he had ever seen—a well-rounded giant weighing more than two pounds. It was the product of one of the alluvial farms in southern Essex County which are noted for the quality of their fruit.

Uncle Jim bought the tomato from the farmer and carried it carefully home with him. That night, under cover of darkness, he crept into his neighbor's yard and deposited the big tomato conspicuously under one of the vines.

The next morning early, the neighbor was pounding on his back door. "Look at 'er ain't she a beauty?" he said, setting the familiar tomato down on the kitchen table. My uncle and aunt ooh'd and aww'd appreciatively.

"You know," the neighbor continued, warning up to his story, "I've been watching this here tomato grow since it was a little fellow. Known right from the first I had a real winner on my hands. Then last night, plump! Down she come. Ain't she a beauty!"

While he was talking Uncle Jim came up with a splendid idea. "This is too good to keep to ourselves," he exploded. "Let's take it downtown and let everyone know what kind of tomatoes we grow in Windsor."

The neighbor started to protest, but Uncle Jim already had his hat on and off they went, tomato in tow.

For the following week the tomato was prominently displayed in the window of a jewelry store in downtown Windsor, with a neatly printed card explaining how Mr. So-and-So had tended it so carefully and watched it grow.

IT APPEARS there also are some excellent practical jokes in the rising generation. We had a young fellow at Holy High School a couple of years ago who pulled a dandy. His English teacher was a mild-mannered, wide-eyed, unsuspecting sort of fellow who never seemed to know what the score was. On the first day of school, the teacher gave an assignment in class and my practi-

To The Editor

In answer to your editorial of Jan. 12, "Must skiers go to bed hungry?" (The editorial stated that skiers arriving in town on Sun. evening have no place to eat before going to bed.)

The Argonne serves meals until 10 p.m. on Sun. night. The Coffee Cup is open Sun. evening the Woodshed is open Sun. evening, and I believe the Weather Vane Inn is also open. I think any of these people would be happy to have this business. As far as I know the large motel that caters to these ski groups has never notified anyone as to when these people are arriving or how many there might be. If this night clerk who complains that he has to send people to Potosky to eat would have the foresight to pick up a telephone and call some of these people in advance he might be quite surprised to find out that they would be very happy to cooperate with them on accommodating these people. We can all serve any group much better if we have some idea how many to prepare for.

Perhaps if we all tried a little more cooperating and a lot less complaining we could have many more satisfied people when they left Charlevoix.

cal joker friend hurriedly finished his own work and then jotted off a second set of answers and signed the fictitious name Joe Smaltz.

When the instructor handed back the papers he called out "Joe Smaltz and gazed pitifully around the room, knowing there was no Joe Smaltz in his class list. When no one answered he shook his head and put the paper back in his grade book.

The same thing happened on succeeding assignments. Each time the instructor called out "Joe Smaltz?" he was greeted by icy silence and his eyes would start to roll. One observing student noticed at mid-term that the poor man had entered Joe Smaltz's name in his class book, followed by a neat row of fairly good grades.

At the end of the semester, the teacher pleaded ill health and asked to be released from his contract. The school board obliged and the last I heard he had moved to another town.

A Welcome Summons

Down through the centuries bells have been used to summon people, to peal out joyful news and when needs be to sound alarm. They have often proclaimed liberty, as did our own Liberty Bell in 1776.

Centuries before the Liberty Bell sounded in Philadelphia the churches were striving to elevate man to his rightful position—were striving to make him free. In many instances the bells in their steeples called him to his only hours of peace and to services which gave him the comfort and strength to endure his lot.

The institution that has done so much for man, down through the ages, has something for you. Find the church where you derive greatest peace and strength and attend it with consistency.

Rayders Drop to 4th Place

New Medusa Crew Is on Job at Site

C. E. Hayes has moved to Charlevoix as superintendent of engineering for the Medusa Portland Cement Co. slip and manufacturing plant.

Hayes is employed by the engineering firm H. K. Ferguson of Cleveland, O., which is also home office of Medusa Cement.

About 10 Ferguson employees will be living in the area, with from 40 to 50 workers hired locally.

HAYES he says he hopes to get the first concrete poured in the slip this week, weather permitting. The chief problem is water seeping into the excavation.

Medusa recently made a decision to have the walls of the slip made of poured concrete rather than sheet metal piling.

THE FERGUSON firm has moved a trailer onto the site to serve as a construction office.

Elsewhere on the Medusa site, the John C. Strahan Co. has the exterior walls of the office structure virtually completed.

The huge building, which is clearly visible from Charlevoix, will be used to house construction offices and for warehousing until the plant is completed.

The Ryan Co. of Janesville, Wis., is continuing its work on the slip excavation.

Superintendent Roy Matson says the temporary road which has skirted the excavation near the Lake Michigan shore will be moved further out as excavation and blasting operations move toward the lake.

An earthen coffer dam will keep out lake water until cement work is completed.

The blasting of the slip inland is just about finished. Rock removed has been stockpiled near the quarry area for eventual use by Medusa in cement manufacture. Overburden also is being removed from the quarry area.

New Book Gives Hot Tips to Ice Fishermen

A host of hot tips for a cold sport await sportsmen who pick up free copies of the "Handbook for Ice Fishermen" through the Conservation Department's Publications Room in Lansing.

The pocket-sized folder, designed to make the beginner's first outing the start of something big in outdoor fun, tells how to go about ice fishing with hand lines, tip-ups and spears.

Among other things, it also gives pointers on homemade fishing rigs and other angling gear, lists ideas for keeping warm and saving bait, and provides information on ice safety.

In spite of a 25 point scoring spurt in the final quarter, Charlevoix dropped a hard-fought basketball contest to East Jordan Friday night, 72 to 66.

The loss dropped Charlevoix into fourth place in the Northern Michigan Class C Conference and left East Jordan alone in third.

There was a spread of only six points in the final tallies, after East Jordan ran up a 16 point lead in the first quarter.

HIGH SCORER for Charlevoix was Steve Smith who rang up 14 fieldgoals and 8 free throws, for a total of 22 points.

Second was Fred Wabaninkee with 18 and 2 for a total of 18; third was Tom Webb with 12 and 2 for a total of 14; Bernie Ward, 4 and 2 for a total of 6; Bob Bergmann, 4 points on fieldgoals and Brad Carey, 2 points on fieldgoals.

High scorer for East Jordan was Tom Drenth with 28 total points scored on 22 fieldgoals and 8 free throws. Second was Bill Snyder, 12 and 5 for 17, followed by Steve Bell and Jim Cihak, 6 and 5 for 11; Brad Jones, 2 and 1 for 3; and

Trooper Walker Leaves Petoskey

The transfer of Trooper Phillip J. Walker of the Petoskey State Police Post to Bridgeport is announced by Col. Fredrick E. Davids, department director.

Walker will be replaced by Trooper Edward F. Hancock, presently assigned to the Brighton Post.

The transfers were among 28 announced recently by Davids.

Bill Chase, two on a fieldgoal.

EAST JORDAN came on fast in the first quarter piling up 27 points before the buzzer. Sixteen of the points were made on fieldgoals, 11 on foul shots.

In the second period, Charlevoix seemed to gain confidence but was able to narrow the margin only two points, leaving the score 43 to 29 at the half.

The Rayders kept the margin from worsening in the third period, scoring five baskets and two free throws, compared to six baskets and no free throws for East Jordan.

It wasn't until the fourth quarter that the Charlevoix team exploded, bringing the score to within three points of East Jordan at times.

About midway through the quarter the scoreboard on the north end of the gymnasium had to be disconnected because it started smoking.

When the period was over Charlevoix had scored 25 points -- 9 baskets and 7 free throws, compared to three baskets the 11 foul shots for East Jordan.

Last night the Rayders were scheduled to play at Harbor Springs. The Friday contest will be at Charlevoix against Mancelona. The Rayders defeated Mancelona in their first encounter this year.

In other action Friday, Gaylord defeated Boyne City 75 to 58; Pellston whipped Mancelona 79 to 54, and Harbor Springs squeaked past Grayling 48 to 44. Here are the standings as of Jan. 14:

The improper left turn took place Jan. 6 at Bridge Street and Park Avenue when McAllister left a parking spot in front of the Sugar Bowl and turned down Park in front of a south bound car.

Donald Curtis was elected warden; Mrs. Donald Brown, secretary; and Max Hosmer, treasurer.

James Ritchey and Percy Woodcock were elected to three-year terms on the Bishop's Committee and Mrs. Charles England was elected to a one-year term.

WILLIAM CAREY was chosen as delegate to the Diocesan Convention in Muskegon May 17 and 18, and James Ritchey was named alternate. Max Hosmer was selected by the pastor to receive the Bishop's Cross for 1966.

Tom Carey spoke on the upcoming Diocesan Center Campaign.

The meeting closed with the Doxology and benediction by the vicar.

By Mrs. Ross Alexander
LI 7-2037

Winter has arrived and the entire lake is frozen. The fish shanty village is fast growing near the ferry and out to the point. A two and one-half pound lake trout and two fourteen inch rainbow trout were caught Saturday, along with some nice perch.

Mr. and Mrs. William Crowe have returned home after spending several weeks in Detroit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Evelyn Vanderwall is a surgical patient in Charlevoix Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith and family have moved from the Saunders farm to their new home on the Loeb Road.

Carolyn Vanderwall from Ann Arbor spent several days the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vanderwall.

Diane Alexander was a guest Sunday at the Wayne Saunders home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Christman from Grand Rapids are spending several days in their local home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cooper and family were guests Sunday at the home of Tom and Mary Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Medema and two daughters from Muskegon spent Sunday with the latter's sister, Evelyn Vanderwall at Charlevoix Hospital.

Our community extends its sympathy to the family of Mrs. Winnie Brown, who passed away last Friday at the home of her daughter Mrs. Lewis Peterson in East Jordan. Services were held at two o'clock Monday. The family lived on a local farm many years and Mrs. Brown was an active member in our church.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Stockwell spent several days last week visiting friends in southern Michigan. The annual church meeting will be at 2:30 this Sunday afternoon. All members and those interested are invited to attend.

State C of C Hits Tax on Pollution

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce has branded the suggestion that industry pay a tax on pollution as a "negative and unrealistic approach" to the entire problem of pollution, which would only encourage polluting rather than control it.

"We feel that paying for the privilege of polluting is not the system that we should promote here in America," said Harry R. Hall, President of the State Chamber. "It violates the concept of multiple use of our waters and would negate the process that has been made in pollution control in recent years."

Commenting on this progress, Hall said that contrary to reports that "we are being deluged with our own fifth," the state of Michigan has made notable improvement in the reduction of the principal contaminants, as noted in the recent report of the Public Health Service.

"Practically every industry in the state has made tremendous investments in treatment facilities in recent years, and will be making more improvements as required under the new pollution control act, passed in the last session of the Legislature," he said.

He reported that to encourage more rapid progress, the State Chamber is now in the early planning stages of setting up a conference, to be held in Lansing, at which time well-known technicians will assist smaller industries with their problems of better control of specific wastes. The conference is set for Feb. 17.

School Proposal Makes Sense

The Building and Grounds unit of the Charlevoix School Study Committee has recommended that the district build a new 20-room school to meet the needs of Charlevoix's growing population.

The recommendation was made Jan. 10 before the School Board by group chairman Ralph Doan.

THE DECISION of whether or not a school will be built lies with the School Board. But Doan laid these facts on the line.

---Charlevoix's two schools already have 130 students more than they were designed to accommodate.

---The district will have an estimate school population of 1,875 in ten years, an increase of about 650 over present enrollment.

The decision to build a new school is never a popular one to make. Taxes are bound to increase in order to build, and it will cost money to staff and maintain a new facility. That is why school administrators have found it's wise to let an impartial study group made up of interested citizens decide just what school needs are.

ACTUALLY, Superintendent Rex Milligan and the School Board have been painfully aware all year of the need for a new school. Somehow two new classrooms are going to have to be carved out of the elementary school before classes resume in the fall. And an additional room for special education pupils must be found in the high school, where some classes already are meeting in the cafeteria.

The reason for the burgeoning school population is Charlevoix's unprecedented growth, which is bound to step up when construction of the Medusa Portland Cement Plant gets underway this spring.

The Building and Grounds group is to be complimented for coming up with a plan which actually will create more space for students in all Charlevoix schools with the construction of only one building.

The proposed elementary school should be located on the north side, Doan said, and should be large enough to house a kindergarten and grades one through four. The present elementary school in the valley would become a junior high school for grades five through seven, and the present Junior-Senior High School would become a senior high school solely housing grades nine through twelve.

There is no question Charlevoix needs a new school. It is now up to the School Board and school district voters to decide where it will be built and how much money we can afford to spend on it.

City Needs More Housing

A housing shortage of monumental proportions appears to be shaping up in Charlevoix.

The first personnel from the H. K. Ferguson Engineering Co. of Cleveland have arrived in town and are having trouble locating housing.

The firm, which is responsible for engineering work on the Medusa slip and cement plant, will have people in the area about two years, according to the newcomers.

Many of them would like to move their families and furniture to Charlevoix because of the duration of the job, but judging from inquiries at the Courier office, some of them are having trouble acquiring suitable dwellings.

The problem is bound to grow more acute as hundreds of construction workers begin arriving in town this spring and summer. It certainly would benefit the entire community if these workers could be housed and supplied in Charlevoix.

It may be too late to furnish the kind of housing demanded by the Medusa construction people, but it certainly is not too late for the City of Charlevoix or the Chamber of Commerce to determine what the housing needs of the city will be in the next few years, and attempt to attract reputable, large-scale housing development in the area.

13 Draftees Say Goodbye

January 6 provided some solemn moments at the Charlevoix bus terminal as 13 young men from throughout the county bid goodbye to mothers, fathers and girl friends and left for a two-year hitch in the U.S. armed forces.

The contingent was the largest to be drafted from Charlevoix County since the days of World War II and many of the young men could well see service in Vietnam before our differences with communism are settled in that quarter of the globe.

THE SUBDUED spirits of the departing GI's-to-be indicate they understand and seriousness of the job they are being asked to undertake.

We hope they also understand what a singular honor it is to be selected to serve in the U.S. armed forces in time of national need. Not every boy is chosen, because not every boy can measure up to the rigorous mental and physical demands of our fighting forces.

NATURALLY, there are boys --large numbers of them --- who would love to serve their country but are not selected because of mental or physical shortcomings. This is regrettable. Still others are turned down because they lack the emotional stability and discipline needed to make an effective contribution to one of the armed forces.

Potential fighting men today must have a combination of muscle, brains and initiative to make it worthwhile for the government to train them. Warfare is becoming more complicated with each succeeding conflict and it takes nimble minds to learn how to use modern weapons.

EMOTIONAL stability is necessary if a young man is going to function well in the highly disciplined, totalitarian societies that makes up our military services. A GI must be able to grasp the importance of absolute discipline and be willing to subjugate his own desires to common goals.

More than ever before, our armed forces must be staffed with the elite of our society. We still have foot soldiers, but today they know why they're walking and they're going to do when they get there.

Tight Game Shows Spunk

Even though the Charlevoix Red Raiders bowed to East Jordan Friday night, we're hard put to recall another team that showed so much fight when the going got tough.

Sometimes it's difficult to remember that the Raiders are still juniors and sophomores, without a senior in the bunch.

But it's not so difficult to visualize what kind of teams Charlevoix will have in the next two years.

In the East Jordan game, the Raiders were snowed under by a flurry of tallies by the opposition in the opening quarter, with 16 points separating the two teams at the end of the first period. How the Raiders came back, narrowing the margin to six points by the final whistle, made it a game worth remembering.

Both the visitors' and home stands were well filled for the game, a good indication of the continuing fascination the game holds for northern Michlganders.

IF YOU'RE in the habit of looking toward Lake Michigan as you cross the bridge, and I can't imagine anyone not doing that, you've noticed that the South pier head light is glowing brightly these days. It was turned off a few winters ago but thanks to a few rugged souls, among them Dr. William Ratigan, it's now left burning...

I hate crossing the bridge and not seeing the light. Knowing the big lake's beyond the light I want something to guide me home, just in case they're out there. Though there isn't much traffic this time of year, I have the feeling that the lake's a big unknown without that bit of light. I imagine anyone looking for the pierheads has much the same feeling....

Speaking of something to guide you home, a couple fellows you all know were very much in need recently of something, probably a compass...when they were enroute home from eastern Michigan where they'd spent the evening with a former student, Chuck Krahne...Both are former Scouts but they apparently never learned to live by the motto, "Be Prepared"...for they ran out of gas at Mio, at 1 a.m., had to find a policeman to get a service station operator to come to their rescue...After having the tank filled and bidding the helpful cop goodbye they drove away into the night...I might add that by this time it was snowing...Some 40 miles later they discovered they were well on their way to Bay City...So taking stock of the situation, they turned around and headed home, again passing through Mio, waving again to the cop who had a very puzzled look on his face...and, in the not-so-small hours, arriving in Charlevoix...If you have an extra compass, I'd be happy to furnish you with the names of the two travelers.

Old Man Winter pulled a sneak attack last week...instead of riding in out of the northwest, he decided, this year, to come in from the northeast...but the wind was as cold as ever and though there wasn't too much snow, everyone was aware that the calendar had finally been straightened out and that winter was here to stay...

The end result was a chain reaction that accounted for a high rate of absenteeism as people headed for the ski slopes all over the north...things at Mt. McSaba were jumpin' over the weekend as kids tried out their Christmas skis for the first time, dodging the bare spots on the slopes and wishing for more snow...workmen, poised with snow shovels and hoses, quickly went about the business of building an ice rink and, in no time at all, the song of sharp skate blades on blue ice could be heard in the valley...F is for fun, who'd been warned to stay off inland lakes because of the unseasonable weather, packed up their hooks, lines, bait and other gear and headed for the countryside...Winter resort operators with snow machines had them running around the clock and other transported snow to the slopes to build a base...As though at the sound of a whistle, the ski resorts shifted into high gear in anticipation of bus load upon bus load of skiers who have been kept from the hills all too long...Supply trucks started rolling up to unload quantities of food at eating places, laundry trucks were seen making scheduled rounds, women whose white uniforms peeked from winter coats were seen heading their cars toward the resorts...

IT'S REALLY very interesting how things fall into place as though someone had sent up a bright red flare to announce that the day had arrived...If you haven't been aware of all these things happening about you then you're not aware of the fact that skiing has done wonders to the economy of this north country...whose winter wonders were once observed only by the wild life that roamed the hills or an occasional soul who braved the elements to wander through the countryside as he sought solitude or a tasty rabbit for the pot...But all this is changed now because a few people with foresight gazed into a crystal ball.

AND HAVE YOU heard anyone mention recently how much the family grocery bill was for the week?...I'll probably have a few buyers around my neck when I say that it isn't really as much as they'd have you believe...not when you subtract the cost of the dog food, the cat food, funny books, pocket books, records, laundry and cleaning supplies and all the other things that one buys at the store these days...Check your list next time you shop and you'll see that a good part of the items on them can hardly be considered groceries though you buy them in the same store...

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor?

It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you...write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone...free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "bail down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous...even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you...taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business...scores of things to write about!

Surviving are one daughter, Florence Dundas, of Charlevoix, four sisters, Mrs. Frances Mulder of Holland, Mich., Mrs. Ruth Carter of Sarasota, Fla., Mrs. Sena Schmidt of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Gertrude Wheeler of Utica, Mich. Also surviving are three grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Blue Star Routes Garden Club Idea

The Charlevoix Garden Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. James Richey with Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie as co-hostess. The Litterbug Committee announced the litter poster contest has begun at the elementary school.

Tray favors made by the members of the club were given to the hospital and used on Christmas Day. It was suggested garden markers can be made by cutting strips from plastic bottles and marked with an indelible felt pen.

The lesson was given by Mrs. Jack Mol on the topic "Let's Have More Blue Stars Shining." Blue Star Memorial Highways were started in 1945 in New Jersey by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. Purpose: to establish a soundly constructed and well-designed Blue Star Memorial Highway in every state in tribute to the men and women of the Nation's Armed Forces. This project is a working together of (1) garden clubs (2) highway departments (3) private individuals (4) state governments (5) federal government (6) Nurserymen's Associations and (7) veterans' groups.

Each community decides what kind of "living memorial" will best serve as a permanent tribute. Range in scale from a modest planting of a few camellia bushes and live oak trees by a garden club in Greensboro, Ga., to such large and splendidly appropriate projects as a Community Forest at Allentown, Pa., or the magnificently conceived Blue Star Drive which represents the war memorial of the Garden Club of New Jersey.

The Michigan Blue Star Memorial Highway was dedicated in 1948 near Mackinaw City where US No. 31 from the south connects with US No. 2 which runs north to Sault Ste. Marie. This highway from the Indiana State line to the Soo totals 379 miles of native landscape and roadside development.

A bronze plaque was donated by the Garden Clubs of Petoskey, Elk Rapids, Traverse City, Cheboygan, and Charlevoix.

Michigan is now one of 23 states which have a Blue Star Highway, and one of eight which have placed the bronze plaques in dedication. Other bronze plaques are located south of Miles in a roadside setting of pines and evergreens, north of Muskegon in an island approach to an already well-established roadside park, and south of Sault Ste. Marie with the usual base planting interest and appropriate background. There are four in number, and all purchased by the local federated clubs.

The next meeting will be Feb. 8 with Mrs. Harley Ochs and Mrs. Roy Bennett in charge.

Benjamin pointed out that when Bennett was appointed temporary postmaster last fall, he was cautioned not to spend any money because the job might be short-lived. Bennett said he spent $1,500 on a building.

Democrats also withheld endorsement of East Jordan City Clerk Ben Bustard as Secretary of State representative in that community.

East Jordan reportedly wanted the office so that auto tag fees might help offset skimpy revenues from its new operator's license bureau.

George LaBlanc, whose wife, Edna, runs the Secretary of State's office in Charlevoix, says he believes assignment of such jobs should be a matter of party patronage.

Dayton says a list of members and businesses will be published in the Courier after the drive ends.

He added that throughout the year the Chamber will continue to promote a fund started in 1965 for establishment of a Chamber of Commerce office and facilities for yachtsmen on Round Lake.

Fight Zone Change

Neighbors Protest Grey Gables' Plea

A dozen persons showed up at Council meeting Monday night, most of them interested in a hearing to change the zoning of Grey Gables on Belvedere.

Adult Ed. Survey Started

A survey to determine what the people of Charlevoix want in the way of adult education is being conducted by the Citizens' Committee on School Needs.

The committee feels there is a need for evening classes, tailored for adults.

TO DETERMINE what the people want, the committee is running a coupon ad on Page 11 of this week's Courier. Simply clip out the coupon circle your preferences and mail it to the high school. Or telephone your preferences to LI 7-9716 or LI 7-2904.

THIS indication of interests will enable the committee to make definite recommendations to the Board of Education.

Possible courses suggested are: shorthand, office procedure, business machines, typing, bookkeeping, sewing, knitting, bridge, ceramics and upholstery.

Others are: auto mechanics, welding, electronics, architectural drawing, machine shop, photography, conversational French or Spanish, interior decorating, amateur radio, modern math for parents, or others.

Snow for Week Over 5 Inches

Cold, snowy weather continues to keep Charlevoixans happy.

Weatherman Harry Ladd reports .19 inches of precipitation last week, including 7.6 inches of snowfall.

High temperature was a sub-freezing 31 reached Saturday, with a low of 9 recorded Monday.

Snow continued to fall inland, improving ski conditions at all of the big six ski resorts.

vedore from Residential 2 to Commercial 2.

The zoning change will be necessary before the supper club is allowed to expand kitchen facilities.

Application for the zoning change was made by Mrs. Florence Dundas and her son, Clark Nehls, owners of Grey Gables.

After a half-hour discussion, Council voted to turn the matter over to the Ordinance Committee, made up of Aldermen Bob Neff, Jerry Whitely and Dr. Walter Hoffmann. Dr. Hoffmann asked Mrs. Dundas and Nehls to supply the committee with drawings of the lot, the position of the house and the proposed addition. The owners said they would do so.

CHIEF spokesman for the opposition was Irvin Cabana, who owns a home immediately west of Grey Gables. He said he was afraid any addition to the property would result in more noise.

He further insisted that Grey Gables has created a parking problem Belvedere.

CABANA said some years ago the late "Irish" Coleman talked him into converting his 16-room house into a tourist home.

"Coleman told me he would keep it filled with guests, and he did," Cabana said.

He added however that since Grey Gables was awarded a liquor permit in 1961 he can't rent rooms any more because it's too noisy.

"And it stands to reason if you enlarge your business, you enlarge your noise," he said.

CABANA said his bedroom window is 25-feet from the bar entrance and that some nights it's so noisy he goes across the street to Round Lake and sleeps aboard his boat.

Mrs. Dundas said Grey Gables has no intention of expanding its dining or bar facilities, but would like to increase the size of the cramped kitchen.

Cabana said that if the Council changed to C-1, then he would like his own property rezoned C-2 so he could dispose of it as a commercial holding.

COUNCIL inquired as to Continued on back Page

Carnival Is Ready to Roll

The dog sled course has been laid out, the Michigan Canoe Racing association has ok'd Round Lake for winter races, and officials of the Sports Car Club of America are satisfied that Lake Charlevoix will be ideal for speed competition.

Even the weatherman has cooperated by sending temperatures plunging to zero and below, solidifying the somewhat shaky ice of Lake Charlevoix.

And the Charlevoix Winter Sports carnival is on its way!

UNDER the direction of Lt. Dave Smith of the Sundew, the dog sled course has been laid out over a 15-mile-plus course starting at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course. The route circles Mt. McCausaba, proceeds northeast along the Lake Michigan shore, doubles back near the Big Rock Nuclear Plant and parallels the C&O railroad and Struthers Road to the junction of Old U.S. 31.

The route then heads south, follows the east shore of Susan Lake to Quarter Line Road, then down to the Lake Charlevoix shore, around Oyster Bay, and back to the Golf Course.

WORD HAS been received that Rodney Downey of Star Lake, N. Y., last year's champion in competitions sponsored by the Arctic Sled Dog Club of America, will enter the competition for $1,000 in trophies and prizes.

Beaver Island Breaks Records

The Beaver Island Boat Co. made 278 round trips from Charlevoix to St. James during 1965, a record for any calendar year, according to company officials.

The record was set in spite of the fact that the Beaver Island was laid up for almost two weeks during hunting season. During the second week, however, the Emerald Isle carried passengers and freight.

A TOTAL of 2,666 cars were transported during 1965, 118 more than in 1964. The number of passengers also was up from 10,506 in 1964 to 10,955 in 1965.

The Beaver Island made her last run of the season Dec. 30 and is now berthed in Charlevoix for the winter.

Assisting Lt. Smith in packing the trail Sunday afternoon were Charlevoix Sea Scouts and Tom Acton, Brian Seymour, Jerry Left and Carl Fusee.

The Charlevoix Radio Club has agreed to station members along the route to radio back progress reports to the Golf Club.

The dog sled races are slated to begin at 1 p.m. this Saturday and at noon Sunday. Other events this weekend will be snowmobile races at the Rod and Gun Club, with time trials at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

Fishing for Snowcats

FISHERMEN near Ironton were called upon last Thursday to help bring sunken snowcat to surface.

Diver Saves Vehicle

A snowcat which went through the ice at Ironton Jan. 18 was retrieved by Charlevoix diver Don Meggison last Thursday in 45 feet of water.

The vehicle was being driven by Lee Stuckman of Bucyrus, Ohio, with his wife as a passenger, when the ice gave way several hundred yards north of the ferry.

The Stuckmans were thrown into the water but managed to climb onto safe ice. They were not injured, but Mrs. Stuckman later came down with a slight cold.

THE STUCKMAN'S marked the site with an evergreen tree and two days later Meggison retrieved the vehicle, with the help of Jim Ager of Charlevoix, and Sonny Williams and Merle Scott of Ironton.

Several ice fishermen in the area also were called into the act to hoist the 300-pound vehicle to the surface.

A four-foot square hole was chipped in the ice and an anchor to help Meggison in his descent was lowered. The anchor came to rest on the seat of the overturned vehicle, Meggison said.

After he had been under several minutes, bubbles began appearing very rapidly on the surface, and Meggison jerked several times on the control line. He was hauled quickly to the surface, where he said his oxygen tank apparently had sprung a leak, accounting for the bubbles.

However, one line was already attached and the snowcat was lifted almost to the surface where Meggison attached other lines to lift it out of the water.

Two cans of Miller's beer on the dashboard came to the surface with the vehicle, undisturbed by the 45-foot plunge. A sandwich box, thermos jug and dead perch also bobbed up in the open water.

The Polaris snowcat was towed ashore on a toboggan and was in running condition the next day after drying out.

The vehicle is owned by James Frielink, 955 Cherry, S.E., Grand Rapids. Frielink, a frequent winter fisherman at Ironton, is a good friend of the Stuckmans.

Library Needs $10,000

The Library Advisory Committee was to hold a meeting Jan. 25 to decide on projects to raise $10,000 for the new library to be built this spring on Clinton Street.

William Peck, a member of the committee, said contributions to the fund may be made at either bank in town. He added that at least one memorial fund has been established to assist the library.

THE NEW BUILDING will cost $111,140, with $74,003 being paid by the federal government. Of the $37,047 balance, $30,756 will come from existing library funds, the Kiwanis Club, the Art Ranger Memorial Fund, sale of the old library and current library appropriations, leaving $6,291 to be raised.

Advertising for bids on the building has already started, and demolition of the present house on the building site will start April 4. Construction is slated to begin April 11.

DIVER DON MEGGISON (left) gets an assist from Sonny Williams of Ironton in adjusting oxygen equipment.

LEE STUCKMAN, the man who went through the ice, examines snowcat for signs of damage. There wasn't any.

Fitness Classes for Women Slated

A physical fitness program for women aged "20 to 30" will begin at the High School gymnasium at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 31, according to Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan.

A similar program for men already is under way Wednesday evenings at 8:30. Beginning this Wednesday, lessons in weight lifting will be given for those interested, according to instructor Del Terrilli.

IN ADDITION to the physical education programs, Milligan has announced that courses in modern math and conversational French and German will begin in February.

Four sessions on modern math will be held at the High School at 8 p.m. Tuesdays, beginning Feb. 1. Instruction in French and German will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 9. A small fee will be charged for the language classes.

Blackout Sunday

Sunday will be a bad morning for electric blankets, coffee pots, and electrically controlled furnaces.

The power to 500 subscribers on South Hill will be interrupted from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. while workmen move power lines to new poles.

FORD 7-LITRE HARDTOP

When we go skiing, we go in style...in our '66 Ford. I choose the speed I want with the automatic speed control...select the music I want with the stereo tape player...and relax with one of the world's quietest rides.

(I should have stayed in the car.)

Ford sales are booming! One reason—engineering magic like this:

New stereo tape player option with easy-loading cartridges. ■ New station wagon Magic Door—swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. ■ New automatic speed control option. ■ A ride so quiet that owners of European luxury cars—from a handcrafted Jaguar to a $14,000 Mercedes—have said, after a demonstration ride in a Ford XL or LTD, that it was even quieter than their custom-built cars. ■ Quiet-test a '66 Ford for yourself.

Caldwell-Miller Rites Solemnized

Carolyn Sue Caldwell of Lansing became the bride of Richard Paul Miller of Charlevoix and East Lansing Jan. 22 at Trinity Lutheran Church, the Rev. William C. Huener officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jacolin Caldwell of Lansing and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Miller.

THE DOUBLE-RING ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with white Shasta mums and ferns, with 175 relatives and friends attending.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Arthur F. David of Lansing, the bride wore a white brocade and taffeta floor-length gown, with a satin bow in back and Juliet veil. She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses.

MAID OF HONOR was Miss Connie Caldwell of East Jordan. She wore an aqua taffeta floor-length gown with matching shoulder-length veil and carried pink sweetheart roses.

Best man was Richard Wood of East Lansing and Ronald and James Ritzloff, cousins of the bride, were ushers. R. G. White was church organist. The bride's mother wore an off-white wool flannel suit with bone accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Miller wore a pink knit suit with pink accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

A RECEPTION was held at the church parlors, followed by a reception for relatives at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. David.

Nearly 37 million enrollments were recorded in educational television during the 1964-65 school year, according to Dr. Lawrence E. McKune, director of the University of the Air at Michigan State University.

North Central Registration Starts Feb. 2

Registration for evening classes at North Central Michigan College will begin Feb. 2, according to Dean A. D. Shankland. Day class registration will be Feb. 10 and 11, with all classes starting on a full schedule Monday, Feb. 14.

First-time students may enroll at the college as late as Feb. 11, but it would be wise for them to contact the college as soon as possible to establish a schedule, Shankland said.

Evening classes being offered this semester are:

Monday: Intermediate algebra, astronomy and second year Spanish.
Tuesday: English composition 102, accounting and conservation.
Wednesday: Business machines, U. S. history and sociology.

Thursday: English composition 101, English literature and economic geography.

Legion Women Distribute 61 Holiday Baskets

The American Legion Auxiliary met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Leo Allard, with 13 members present and Pres. Mrs. Harry Pearsall presiding. Reports were given by various committees. Members heard that 61 baskets were delivered to patients at Grandview Hospital and 18 baskets to veterans and shut-ins at Christmas time.

A THANK-YOU note was read by chairman Mrs. Leo Allard from the Legion's Childrens home at Otter Lake for 12 pair of mittens sent to them in December. All the mittens were knit by Mrs. George Shearer.

A thank-you note was read from Battle Creek for the $10 check sent to them for a coffee hour.

With Bob Clock

THE DISCOTHEQUE has come to Charlevoix. Three go-go dancers from Detroit invaded the Flare's Lair Friday night attracting record crowds and keeping the till jangling.

They were dressed in traditional go-go costumes - slinky briefs, net stockings and sequined shirts that shimmered with each gyration of the torso. At least one of them wore white snow boots. The others might have, too, but I didn't want to waste that much time looking at their feet. Proprietor Hank Hogan supplied the girls with a go-go stand, about five feet square, where one would hold forth at a time, twisting the turning, bumping and grinding to the roar of the juke box.

OCCASIONALLY one of the audience would leap onto the go-go box during a lull (there weren't many) and pick up where the professionals left off. Their costumes were a little more subdued, leaning toward stretch pants and turtle necks.

Around the go-go box were the amateur go-goers, usually but not necessarily dancing in pairs. There was a nice mixture of localities, airmen, Coast Guardsmen, skiers and a few whose origins were uncertain.

Most of the dancers were born since the days of Glenn Miller, but a good many of the spectators must have acquired their dancing legs doing the Charleston and the Black Bottom. Some appeared a little puzzled at the go-go antics, but they looked on with the good-natured curiosity of maiden aunts at a pop art exhibit.

A few of them even did a few turns around the floor when the music slowed down to "King of the Road" or some other such sleepy number.

ONE OBSERVER gazed deeply into his cups and mused that if this era is remembered for anything in the long skein of history, it will be for popularizing sex.

"Can you imagine this even ten years ago?" he demanded.

Come to think of it, I can't. Whether the go-go girls stay in Charlevoix, of course, depends solely on continued interest. They certainly have put a little zip into what started out to be a rather humdrum season. When it's all over, this could go down in history as "the winter of our discotheque."

I STOPPED for a libation at Irv's the other night en route home and sat down next to a little fellow who told me point-blank that he was Irish and would like to buy me a drink. I thanked him and refused, saying I was in a hurry to get home.

"You don't drink very much then?" he asked. "No, not much," I hedged. "Well, I do," he said. "And it makes me feel just awful." "I think if it made me feel awful, I'd quit," I suggested. "Well, I've tried that and it don't work," he said sadly, as only an Irishman can be sad. "I've even gone to a few meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous but that didn't do any good."

"Alcoholics what?" I asked. "Alcoholics. Unanimous," he repeated. "You know, those drinkers who don't. I suppose it's a good group, but I just couldn't take it. Those people smoke so much I could hardly breathe."

And so it goes.

Learning The Easy Way

Studying geography is fun and much more interesting when it is tied in with history and stories of things that have happened in the world. For example, tracing the course taken by the Children of Israel in their flight from Egypt to Palestine and speculating on why they could have been so near their journey's end and yet spend forty years in the Arabian Desert. It makes the account of such happenings much more vivid if one can see where it all happened.

The place to learn about many of the happenings in the Old World and the Bible stories about them is in Church. Regular attendance at church and the church schools brings one in touch with all the thrilling stories of Biblical times.

The Charlevoix Red Raiders defeated a vastly improved Mancelona team by a score of 53 to 44 Friday night. The winning margin was just half the 18 points by which Charlevoix whipped the Ironmen Dec. 3 in their first varsity encounter of the season. The score in that game was 49 to 31.

quarter, Mancelona actually led the Raiders by one point, but they were snowed under by a flurry of Charlevoix talties in the final period. The loss was Mancelona's seventh of the year.

Conference action over the weekend saw Charlevoix move into a tie with East Jordan for second place. Both teams have won live and lost three.

LEADING the pack are Gaylord and Pellston, tied with seven and one each. Grayling is in third place, winning three and losing five; followed by Boyne City, two and five; Harbor Springs, two and six and Mancelona, seven lost.

In Friday's game, Steve Smith relinquished his position as leading scorer as Tom Webb came through with three field goals and ten freethrows.

Steve Smith	5	2	12

THE GAME started slowly, with very little scoring in the opening minutes. The period was half over before the scoreboard even began to look like a basketball game was in progress. At the whistle, the score was Charlevoix 14, Mancelona 10.

In the second quarter, the Ironmen forged ahead, scoring point after point against the stunned Raiders who had expected a pushover victory. At the half, Mancelona had evened things up, 24 all.

There was very little scoring in the third quarter, but when it ended, the visitors were leading by one point, 33 to 32. It wasn't until the final period that Charlevoix caught fire, sinking six fieldgoals and nine freethrows to win the game.

The Raiders next contest will be against Gaylord this Friday night. In other Northern Michigan Class C Conference games, Pellston defeated East Jordan 82 to 57, Gaylord downed Harbor Springs, 62 to 53 and Grayling trounced Boyne City, 72 to 56.

Here are the standings to date:

Gaylord	7	1
Pellston	7	1
East Jordan	7	3
Charlevoix	5	3
Grayling	3	5
Boyne City	2	5
Harbor Springs	2	6

In Junior Varsity action, the young Raiders defeated Mancelona 47 to 25; Pellston whipped East Jordan 76 to 55; Harbor Springs downed Gaylord, 46 to 41; and Grayling toppled Boyne City, 58 to 51.

MRS. THOMAS Maxwell types her weekly report for the Courier at her home on See Road.

Reporter Makes Friends by Phone

Mrs. Ada (Thomas) Maxwell has found that corresponding for the Courier from her Hayes Township home is a good way to keep in touch with her neighbors. Mrs. Maxwell says that during her two years as a correspondent she has met a lot of people via the telephone, many of whom have become good friends.

The Maxwells moved to the area 20 years ago from Joliet, Ill. A good friend had located Charlevoix, and frequent visits convinced them it was a good place to live.

BEFORE long they had purchased a 40-acre farm at the end of See Road, although their farming has been limited to raising chickens and putting in a vegetable garden every year.

Mrs. Maxwell's husband, Tom, has worked for the Michigan Maple Block Co. in Petoskey for 17 years. The firm makes butcher blocks, cutting boards and pastry boards.

The Maxwells have one son, Tom, a 1965 graduate of Charlevoix High School. Tom is now attending Davenport College, studying Transportation and Traffic Management, and Traffic Management. Evenings he works in the circulation department of the Grand Rapids Press.

THE MAXWELLS also have raised a niece, the former Anna Mae Maxwell. Anna Mae is now Mrs. Ted Baker and lives with her husband and four children at Marne, near Grand Rapids.

The Maxwells are active in the Church of God, and Mrs. Maxwell spends a good deal of time on church activities.

DURING the summer, she works in the office at Maxbauer's Dairy and is also head cook at the Church and Family campground on Loeb School Road.

Mrs. Maxwell enjoys corresponding for the Courier, but wishes more people in the Hayes-Bay Shore area would volunteer news. Until they do, Mrs. Maxwell is resigned to "digging" for her weekly report.

W-2 Forms Due Jan. 31

Michigan employers who have not yet given the wage and tax statement Form W-2 to employees are reminded that Form W-2, showing income and social security tax information for 1965, must be furnished all employees on or before Monday, Jan. 31, 1966, according to A. M. Stoepker, District Director of Internal Revenue in Michigan.

Charles Kellogg, Mrs. John Beck and Mrs. Bruce Muscott. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Charles Kellogg, with a Valentine Party, Feb. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. David Miller of Charlevoix had supper Monday night with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Arsenault recently purchased a store, the Torchville Grocery and Gift Shop at Torch Lake, on US 31, and will be open every day.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Winnick, Jr., and family of Flint were weekend guests of his parents, the Peter Winnick's, Sr.

Mrs. Clara Witte, mother of Mrs. Oliver Garver, left last week for Detroit to spend the balance of the winter in the homes of her daughters, Mrs. Mark Treadwell, Mrs. Kenneth Jefferson and Mrs. William Hair. Her son, Quinton White, took her to Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Garver spent Sunday afternoon with a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Garver, at Harbor Springs. Mrs. James Elzinga and children of Charlevoix were Monday night supper guests of her parents, the Oliver Garvers.

Is a Teen Club the Answer?

If you were 17 years old and lived in Charlevoix, how would you spend your spare time?

Ski? Chase girls? Hot-rod around town? Skate? Buy beer and go someplace to drink it? Watch television? Go to the movies? Fish through the ice? Do homework? Fish signs from Bell's Bay? Go to basketball games? Antagonize the cops? Drive to Petoskey for kicks? Drive back home for more kicks? Stand around on the corner wondering what else to do?

THUMBING through some of the exchange newspapers which come to the Courier office every week we see quite a bit of news about Teen Clubs, Teen Centers, etc. The town of Tecumseh is in kind of a bind right now because the advisor of the local Teen Club has been transferred to a new job out of town.

It seems the Tecumseh Club is organized chiefly for the purpose of having fun. All activities are developed by the teenagers themselves, and the so-called advisor is there simply to make sure things stay on an even keel.

Twice a month the club's 20-member legislature meets to "formulate future fun," in the words of Editor Tom Rioridan of the Tecumseh Herald. The number of activities varies from week to week, depending mainly on what's going on at the school. If it's a busy week, the Teen Club lays low for a while. If things are slack, the club whips up a dance, or a sleigh ride, or a hay ride, skiing trip, weiner roast, or what have you.

THE ADVISOR'S chief job is keeping track of chaperones and making sure there are a few on hand for each outing. His task is simplified by the service clubs in town, each of which takes over the job of supplying chaperones for Teen activities for a month at a time.

With the advisor leaving, Tecumseh is shopping around for a replacement --- possible a man-and-wife-team interested in kids and youth activities.

All-in-all, it sounds like Tecumseh has a good thing going. It's a not a frantic rah-rah effort that keeps teens, advisors, parents and chaperones in a lather. Instead it's rather cool and casual, the way fun activities should be, filling in voids when there is nothing else to do.

Such a club might be just the ticket for Charlevoix teenagers, a growing number of whom seem to be at loggerheads week after week with police and sheriff's deputies as the result of off-beat spare time activities.

Maybe it's worth a try. But it's up to the teenagers to get organized. We have no doubt that a sponsor and chaperones will fall into line.

Meiers Family Tames McSaubia

If you're a skier, or the parent of a skier, or the offspring of a skier, then it's no news to you that Mt. McSaubia is once again one of the busiest spots in town.

Skiers from infancy to advanced old age have been showing up at the ski area regularly for the past two weeks to partake of long draughts of fresh air and soak up the magnificent vistas of Lake Michigan offered from the top of snow-clad Mt. McSaubia.

SNOW CONDITIONS have been just about ideal. There are four to five inches of base in the tow-loading areas and just enough powder has been falling every day or two to keep thin spots on the slopes from showing through.

Chief credit for maintaining and operating this magnificent city park goes to Chuck Meier and his wife, Jackie. There is no telling how much family life they sacrifice every fall and winter to make sure the slopes are properly groomed and the tow equipment is functioning safely and efficiently.

THE JOB BEGAN early last fall when Meier called several "work bees" to help get the slopes in shape. All too few people showed up, but the work they didn't do was accomplished by members of the Meier family in their spare time---erecting snow fences, building and painting a second starter's shanty, and making sure tow machinery---unused all summer---was still in working condition.

A good deal of the hard work was done by the Meiers' two sons, Charles Jr. and Mike, and their buddy, Albert Seese.

Just making sure equipment and facilities meet stringent state regulations governing ski areas is an exacting task in itself.

The result is a community facility that Charlevoixians can well be proud of. It doesn't take too many breath-taking trips to the summit of Mt. McSaubia to make the price of a season ticket seem paltry indeed.

Charlevoix owes a vote of thanks to the Meiers for tackling a big job year after year and doing it so well.

Senior Citizens on the Move

The Charlevoix Senior Citizens Club is off to a good start. It has grown from a bare handful of persons who turned out for the first meeting last fall to the group 40-strong who met last week to hear a talk on Social Security and Medicare.

U.S., Soviet Scientists Show Mutual Respect

American and Russian scientists apparently have formed a mutual admiration society.

Peter Kapitza, a leading Soviet Physicist, said last week that Russian scientists are only half as productive as American scientists. And he said there didn't appear to be any immediate prospect of closing the gap.

Meanwhile, back at Ann Arbor, Prof. Samuel P. Hicks, M.D., of the University of Michigan's medical school, said it would be a mistake to underestimate Soviet scientists, adding their progress ranges from quite modest to excellent.

DR. HICKS and six colleagues in the field of radiation biology and neurobiology, recently visited Russia for two weeks. Dr. Hicks said he picked up a few ideas worth exploring from the Russians on potential radiation dangers of space travel.

If nothing else, such mutual respect for each other's accomplishments seems a healthy development, principally since exchange visits between our cultural and scientific communities are about the only person-to-person contacts we have with the Russians.

Mrs. Elsie Gibbons, a guiding light behind the local movement, says one of the most pressing needs right now is ideas for future meetings. She thinks perhaps churches or other organizations in town might be willing to invite the Senior Citizens to attend if they have an interesting meeting or activity in the offing.

SHE SAYS it is surprising how many elderly people in town would like to play a more active role in Community life but are reluctant to do so because they feel they are not needed or they just don't know how to get started.

Mrs. Gibbons also feels there is much that could be done locally to improve the lot of the city's Senior Citizens. She says Cadillac has completed a residential village for its Senior Citizens where they can live comfortable and economically within their fixed incomes.

The U.S. government recently has made funds available for such projects, and Mrs. Gibbons is making inquiries on behalf of the local group into what monies might be available for use here.

THE SENIOR CITIZEN movement is a new one in Charlevoix, but it is well established in other parts of the state. In some Detroit suburbs Senior Citizen groups take day-long trips to points of interest in Michigan, Ohio and Ontario. Senior Citizen Clubs also provide the framework for a wealth of social activities, such as card parties, picnics, concerts, and theater parties.

With medical progress prolonging life, more and more of our citizens will be living longer and longer. An organization like the Senior Citizens is certainly a step toward making the senior years some of the most enjoyable.

Couldn't help but think what a blast our antique car buffs would have had at Ormond Beach, Fla., recently had they been able to attend the Birthplace of Speed Association antique show . . . a copy of the Halifax Reporter carried scads of stories and even more pictures dating back to the days of R. E. Olds, Henry Ford, Barney Oldfield, Louis Chevrolet . . . to name a few . . . You should see the old cars that have been re-conditioned . . . they're beautiful . . . and some of them you wouldn't believe . . . I can just see Harvey Varnum, Bob Hooper and some of those other devotees of the past going into orbit over them . . . Incidentally, I maybe displaying my ignorance when I make this statement but I never knew that the Chevrolet took its name from its original builder . . . Don't know where I thought the name came from but this bit of info came as quite a shock.

I SHOULD have mentioned this before but it got lost in the holiday shuffle . . . I'm told by those in the know that the Lynn Porters at 207 Belvedere ave. had the loveliest but most unusual Christmas tree . . . they had cut a wild sumac, leaving its berries intact, spray-painted the top of the branches a lovely shade of blue and then decorated it with white doves and a few choice ornaments . . . It all sounds very exotic and I'm told it was lovely, lovely . . . One reason I didn't mention it earlier was because I didn't want the Porters swamped with requests to see the tree . . .

THOUGH the ground is now covered with snow and winter has arrived for real, a couple bits of information have come to light regarding our recent unseasonable weather . . . I hear that Vern Jones who lives along Lake Charlevoix's South Arm found violets in bloom some time between Christmas and New Year's . . . and you know that they're a pretty delicate flower . . . And a local resident, who prefers to remain anonymous, was amazed no end to find a hyacinth in full bloom, huddled against the south wall of her house, on Dec. 31 . . . How's that for things unseasonable?

From Big Pine Key, Fla., came a note the other day and a clipping which I'd like to share with you . . . Forrest Fowler who is spending the winter in the Keys . . . where the temperature is 70 degrees but a bit coolish because there's a 15 to 20 knots an hour wind . . . Tsk, Tsk! . . . Anyway, he sent a clipping from the magazine section of the Miami News which I found most interesting . . . It's entitled "Our Gamblers were once So Elegant" and it tells of the early days of gambling when Miami was little more than a swamp . . . It spoke mostly of the Pine Island, one of several islands, pumped up off Miami Beach and a club which bore the name of the island . . . The story goes back to the early 1920's when the club was established . . . A few years later it was sold to John Koch who was described as a "stiff-collared gambler who avoided diamond stick pins and slang and who, at the time, was successfully operating the Colonial Club in Charlevoix, Michigan, where Detroit millionaires frequently dropped more at roulette than they did on a new body design that flopped in the show room. Koch firmly believed the best way to a man's pocketbook was through his stomach. He knew that a hungry man doesn't have the stamina to throw dice until five a.m."

It went on to say that "Koch hired Oreste Gatti, the founder of Gatti Restaurant on Miami Beach, to run the dining room. The captain of waiters was Joseph "Papa Joe" Bursar, a stately man who has since become a permanent fixture at Gatti."

WHAT interested me most, I think, was the information about Koch. It seems he started his career as a parlor car gambler, took long distances and kept passengers amused by dealing friendly games. He was described as a generous man to his friends with an outgoing manner . . . The story told of how he got out of the Palm Beach Club "before the market crashed" Senator Estes Kefauver knocked at the door . . . In 1925, Koch began to feel the pressure being put on by the gambling syndicates. He could see there would soon be no room at the wheel for the old-fashioned "square dealer" . . .

THOSE who remember Mr. Koch know what a soft-spoken man he was . . . always dressed in the height of fashion but never over-dressed . . . but being the gentleman he was, I find it hard to believe that he was a gambler by profession . . . But to Charlevoixians he represents a era that was . . .

Yesteryear on the Slopes

Skiing was as popular a sport in the 1920's as it is today, although there were no power operated rope tows to whisk skiers to the top of Mt. McSaubia. They went shanks' mare.

The ski run shown in these pictures was located on the south side of the hill, facing the city. It could be reached by going straight out Michigan Avenue.

A SKI jump was located near the top of the run, with winners sharing cash prizes. Right is one of the winners, William Wood, who lives in Lake Bluff, Ill.

Other activities included tobogganing at Mt. McSaubia, dog sled races (using the family pooch), ice skating races, a parade, selection of a queen, bob sled races and sulky races on Bridge Street.

BILL WOOD once took home the prize money as ski champ. Anyone recognize who's behind him?

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor? It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you . . . write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone . . . free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "boil down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous . . . even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you . . . taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business . . . scores of things to write about!

If you have gas heat, let 'the Joneses' keep up with you.

You're entitled to feel snug as well as comfortable if you heat with gas. That's why, where gas is available, practically everyone gets it. In the areas we serve, some 700,000 families heat with gas. And thousands more are being added.

Gas forced air heat is filtered heat, free of dust and pollen. It's circulated uniformly through your home. You're free of that stuffy "vacuum bottle" feeling. Smoke and odors slip away. And gas is healthfully humid, not bone-dry.

Gas is easy on your budget. It costs only about a fourth as much as you'd pay for electric heat. And you have even comfort throughout your home—even in the basement.

Gas is reliable. It comes to you in underground pipes. You can't run out of it. Maintenance? You can practically forget it. The silent blue flame of a gas burner just can't wear out.

Pity about "the Joneses," isn't it? But they can have gas heat, too. It only takes about four hours to convert most heating systems. If you convert to gas heat now, we'll pay for the installation and you make no regular payments till June, 1966.

Virtually every new home built has gas heat and about the only thing that beats it is a gas heating/air-conditioning system. It means year-round comfort. Year-round economy, too. Because there's a special low rate for heating/cooling customers.

Get with it, "Joneses." Heat and cool with one fuel... gas. For more information contact your heating/cooling contractor, visit the Gas Company office at 216 Peloskey, Petoskey, or call 347-8701.

availability of parking for Grey Gables' customers.

Mrs. Dundas said there is an area 75 feet by 50 feet in the backyard which could be used for parking, although a gigantic tree would have to be cut down to make room for a driveway.

Mayor Pat Hawley cautioned her to look into off-street parking of some kind in the event the neighbors ever closed to parking on both sides.

Mrs. Dundas and Neils agreed they would have to go out of business if parking were forbidden on the street.

IN OTHER Council business, Andy Essenburg asked the council for a hearing to rezone a tract of land at Meech and Division from Residential-1 to Residential - 2 to permit construction of a duplex.

He withdrew his petition when aldermen told him the property would have to have 25-foot front and rear yards. The lot is only 50 feet deep.

Dr. Hoffmann raised the question of responsibility for the winter carnival and said he felt city officials had been ill-informed on what progress was being made. He said so far as he could determine there are no clear-cut lines of responsibility or liability so far as the city or the Chamber of Commerce are concerned.

City Attorney John Michael said that the carnival is being sponsored by the Polar Bear Club under the chairmanship of Bob Humphries. He said several fund raising activities were held last winter and that Humphries had assured him the carnival is ready to open on schedule this weekend.

day and the derby itself at 1 p.m. A special powder puff derby has been scheduled for women.

The Michigan Canoe Racing Association has approved a "LeMans Start" for the canoe race set for 2 p.m. Sunday. The teams will shoulder their canoes at the foot of Antrim Street, race down Bridge Street, across the bridge and launch their craft on the north shore of Round Lake. They will then do ten laps around a course staked out with buoys in the middle of the lake.

Trophies won in the first weekend's competition will be awarded at 4 p.m.

A special benefit dance has been added to the schedule to raise additional funds for the carnival. The dance will be Friday, Feb. 3, at 9:30 p.m. at the Woodshed.

Music will be supplied by the Bill Moreland Band of Detroit, featuring singer Hena Lopez. Tickets will cost $2 apiece, and dress is casual.

The band will also be on hand for the Winter Carnival ball Saturday night at the Woodshed. The price of tickets is the same.

Carnival Queen will be Lou Jean Scott, a member of the 1965 Venetian Festival Queen's Court. She will reign over carnival festivities and will be presented at the ball.

Outdoor events the second weekend include sports car races on the ice, motorcycle races, a race for four-wheel drive vehicles, and demolition races.

More entrants are needed in the four-wheel-drive competition and the demolition contests. Louis Holm Jr., Cecil Drost Jr., Richard Louiselle, Tom Acton and Bill Farkas already have signed up to take part in the auto demolition exhibition.

Due to a change over in the electrical transmission system, it will be necessary to turn off all electrical power in the system which serves Charlevoix's South hill area.

AN ESTIMATED 40 snowmobiles showed up at the Rod and Gun Club Sunday to take part in the Winter Carnival snowmobile competition. Visitors said the races were extremely well organized. Chairman was Ralph Hess.

FIVE CANOES got off to a slow start in ice-clogged Round Lake. Leroy Widling and Ed Adams were the only canoeists who completed five laps without assistance from the Coast Guard.

FORTUNATELY, the Coast Guard's 44-footer was on hand when Bill Ayers and Mike Bigelow tipped over. Survival time in icy water is a matter of minutes, but guardsmen were there in a jiffy.

CHAMPION canoeists are congratulated by Winter Carnival Queen Lou Jean Scott. They are Leroy Widling and Ed Adams, both of Holly.

THERE were plenty of spills and chills for spectators at the snowmobile races, as the spunky vehicles churned through an obstacle course.

No Dogs, Carnival Goes On

Two activities of the 1966 Winter Carnival came off practically without a hitch over the weekend, but a third—the dog sled races—were washed out.

Several hundred persons showed up for the snowmobile races at the Rod and Gun Club grounds on Sunday, and several score more watched five teams of intrepid canoeists fight ice floes in Round Lake.

But the dog sled races, which promised to be one of the highlights of the weekend, were not held.

POLAR BEAR Club officials said that the day before the contest not enough entries had been received from the Great Lakes Dog Sled Association to warrant the prize money involved. One thousand dollars in prize money and trophies had been promised.

"The association refused to settle for a lesser, more reasonable amount, and they cancelled the races," according to a statement from the club. "Two teams did show up, but limited their activities to giving children rides on the sleds."

NEXT WEEKEND, more festivities are planned, including dances Friday and Saturday nights at the Woodshed. The Friday dance is a benefit to raise money for the carnival. The Saturday dance is the Carnival Ball. The Bill Morehead Band of Detroit will supply music. Tickets cost $2 apiece.

Other events include sports car races at Ferry Beach on Saturday and sports car, motorcycle and demolition races at the beach Sunday.

The canoe races was conducted with the cooperation of the U.S. Coast Guard which broke up heavy ice in Round Lake and kept it open throughout the race.

The 44-footer also came to the rescue of Bill Ayers of St. Louis, Mich., and Mike Bigelow, of Alma, when their

Ironton P.O. Will Remain

The oft-again, on-again Ironton post office is on-again, according to Charlevoix Postmaster Dan Genett.

Last week, Genett received word that the office was being converted to a rural station, and that Mrs. Mary Bennett, mother of present postmaster Dan Bennett, had been awarded a contract to handle the mail.

Over the weekend, Genett received word from Post Office District headquarters in Chicago saying conversion to a rural station was being postponed "indefinitely" and the 4th class post office under young Bennett was to continue.

Contacted in Washington, D. C., 11th District Congressman Raymond D. Cleveland said late Tuesday the decision calling off creation of a contract station was made to give the Post Office more time to study the situation.

He said alternatives are:

1. Continuing to maintain a 4th class post office at Ironton.
2. Converting the office to a contract station.
3. Serving the Ironton area with a rural route.

Cleveland said he has not seen a cost study on the third alternative but it might be the most economical. However,

Forty-four Charlevoix band students will go to Boyne City Saturday to participate in the annual District II Solo and Ensemble Festival, according to director C. A. Odmark. The program begins at 9 a.m. and there is no admission charge for parents or friends who wish to attend.

Area Teachers to Meet Here Next Tuesday

There will be no classes in Charlevoix schools Feb. 8 as teachers attend the 1966 Teachers' Institute.

Sponsored by Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, sessions begin at 9 a.m. with registration and coffee in the High School gymnasium.

The general session begins at 10 a.m. with music by the Charlevoix High School Music Department and an invocation by the Rev. Lawrence E. Tenhopen of the Congregational Church.

SPEAKER is Dr. Donald W. Bouma, professor of sociology at Western Michigan University, who will talk on "New Faces for Old Problems."

Problem clinics begin at 11 a.m. with a luncheon served from 11:30 to 1 p.m.

After District meetings of the Michigan Education Association, teachers will hear a talk by Dr. Marquette J. Fisher, Professor of Political Science in the Maxwell School of Citizenship, Syracuse University.

CYO Started in City

Catholic high school students in Charlevoix have organized a Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) to plan youth activities in the city.

At an organizational meeting Jan. 24, Linda Supernaw was elected president, Arlene Supernaw, vice president, Paulette Hansen, secretary, Chris Seidl, historian, Kathy Kele, treasurer, and Mark Hourigan, sergeant-at-arms.

THE CLUB adopted the name "St. Mary's CYO" and designated the first Monday of the month for meetings.

The group will consist of Catholic high school students in Charlevoix. However, the club plans to invite other Catholic and non-Catholic organizations in the area to take part in club-sponsored projects.

2 Feet of Snow Fall in January

The snow didn't start until late, but more than two feet of it fell in January, according to weather man Harry Ladd. Most of it is still on the ground.

He said total snow for the month totaled 24.5 inches, with 4.2 inches falling last week. Precipitation was calculated at .13 of an inch.

Low temperature for the week was 10 degrees below zero last Wednesday morning. The high for the week—28 degrees—was reached the same day.

Ask $2 an Hour to Start

Twenty city employees—disgruntled over what they consider inadequate wages—met with the City Council Finance Committee at the City Hall Monday night to ask for higher pay.

They asked to attend the meeting after the city offered them a five percent across-the-board wage increase.

The meeting brought out some graphic descriptions of what it's like to work in the sewers of Charlevoix and at the sewage treatment plant.

POLICEMAN Glenn Pemberton, unofficial spokesman for the group representing all city departments, said he considered the proposed five percent boost "a cost-of-living increase, pure and simple."

He indicated it would just about cover rising costs for the past two years.

City employees did not receive an across-the-board increase last year when a pension plan was instituted. Cost of the pension was estimated at between 8 and 9 percent of payroll.

PEMBERTON said he would like to see the minimum city salary raised to $2 an hour, excluding fringe benefits.

The Finance Committee, made up of Mayor E.D. Hawley and aldermen Bill Fochtman, Bob Wolf and Bob Gill, said they would take the proposal under consideration and try to come up with a counterproposal by Feb. 15.

Accident Picture Darkens

Delayed death reports have pushed Michigan's traffic toll for 1965 to 2,131, passing 1964's count of 2,120 to become the third worst annual record in state history, State Police figures show.

With the final count still several weeks away, the 1965 loss also will undoubtedly surpass the 1941 toll of 2,133 to become the second worst annual mark. It would then be the highest loss in 28 years, exceeded only by 1937's total of 2,175.

CONTRIBUTING to the worsened toll for last year were 240 deaths in December, which became a new all-time high for any month. Previous record was 235 counted in December of 1936.

The revised figures for deaths are in addition to the estimated all-time high totals of 156,000 injuries and 318,000 accidents previously charged in 1965.

Provisional death figures early this month were 2,087 for the year and 216 for December.

At a short business meeting, Angie Stolt was elected president; Hazel Leist, vice president; and Betty Novotny, secretary-treasurer.

Chief Hospital Corpsman Paddy E. Patrick, USN, husband of the former Miss Betty L. Putman of Route 2, Charlevoix, has reported for duty at the Naval Base, Subic Bay, Republic of the Philippines.

Subic Bay is the Seventh Fleet's "service station and supermarket" on the South China Sea.

With the current Vietnamese crisis, Subic Bay has greatly increased its significance. The largest naval complex of its kind in the Western Pacific, it is a strategic point as a refuel, resupply and repair station for the ships, and a rest and recreation facility for the men of the Seventh Fleet.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

EVERY DAY I learn something. The day of the big storm last week I learned I shouldn't try to share my ski hat with 20-month-old Kathleen.

It's a stretchy knit kind, and we sort of take turns. Whoever puts it on first gets to wear it.

Last Thursday morning I was up and away -- ski hat and all -- long before Kathleen awoke. When I reached the office I doffed my hat and found a half dozen Krispie Kritters (Crispie Critters) clinging to my hair.

Krispie Kritters (Crispie Critters) is one of the new breakfast cereals that Kathleen is batty about. Apparently she had been stashing it away in our mutual hat for a mid-morning snack.

THE BREAKFAST cereal business certainly seems to have gotten a fresh start all of a sudden from somewhere. I can never remember seeing so many different varieties of dry cereal on grocers' shelves.

Personally, I lost interest in breakfast cereals about the time Cheerios came along, so it comes as sort of a surprise that Cheerios are no longer considered the upstarts of the cereal world.

The aforementioned Krispie Kritters (Crispie Critters) are a case in point. Not only are individual morsels shaped like dogs, cats and werewolves, but they're different colors -- something I would take a pretty small child to appreciate early in the morning.

Furthermore, the pioneering Cheerio shape has led to all kinds of innovations. It's not unusual today to find cereals cast in almost every shape imaginable. Stars are real popular. And at least one manufacturer has come up with a geometrical honeycomb design for a cereal which tastes faintly like honey. Each piece is about as big as a quarter and has seven or eight holes in it.

Another company is offering a cereal with dried marshmallow chunks in it. Still others have added slices of dehydrated strawberries, peaches and other fruits. They taste surprisingly fresh, once milk is added.

The old sugar-coated cereals which you could munch right out of the box have given way to cereals flavored with chocolate, and other condiments.

ACTUALLY, I'm not much of a cereal fancier myself. Oh, I don't mind the old stand-bys -- but a bowl of free-form corn flakes or shredded wheat is about my limit. Kathleen on the other hand has an insatiable curiosity to try them all.

She sits bolt upright in the grocery cart like a food inspector as we glide past row after row of cereal boxes in the supermarket, examining each one as if it contained the Hope Diamond.

Hmmm. Not a bad idea at that. "Dainty Diamond Dimples" -- start every sparkling day with a bowlful of these tiny, tasty gems. At least they'd look better in my hair than Krispie Kritters (Crispie Critters).

Talk of the Town

James Dennis and Stanley Martin returned to their studies at Northern Michigan University in Marquette Monday after spending the weekend with their respective parents.

Andrew Essenberg Jr. left Tuesday on a vacation trip to Scottsdale, Ariz., Palm Springs, Calif., and other points of interest in the west.

MRS. RAYMOND SCHULTZ

Raymond Schultz Wed in Flint

Shirley Darlene Avery became the bride of Raymond John Schultz in a ceremony at the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Flint Jan. 29, the Rev. Gust A. Wuorinen of Saginaw officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Alfred J. Avery of 113 E. Thackeray, Flint, and the late Mrs. Avery.

The bridegroom is the son of Karl Schultz and Mrs. Schultz of Charlevoix.

THE BRIDE wore a peach satin gown with a fitted Empire bodice and alencon lace around the scooped neckline. The controlled bell skirt had alencon lace on the front panel and on the inner pleats of the detachable chapel train. The bouffant veil was secured by a band of lace and pearls.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Bruce Bakke as matron of honor, and Mrs. Gerald Sawatzki as bridesmaid. Other bridesmaids were Miss Agnes Halversen and Miss Sally Alander. Nineteen-month-old Laura Kay Sawatzki, the bride's niece, was flower girl.

THE BRIDESMAID wore floor length crepe sheath dresses with Romance blue velvet Empire bodices, long sleeves and scooped necklines. Sheath skirts had crepe panels down the back and velvet bows at the waistline. Face velts with matching Dior velvet bows completed their costumes.

George Schultz was his brother's best man, and groomsmen were Stanley Hildwood, Donald Clarke and Harold Holmbeck. Ring bearer was Kristian Pieshakov.

A reception was held at St. Michael's Byzantine Activity Center.

AFTER a two-week honeymoon to ski areas in New England, the couple will live at 125 W. Graceland, Oakview Manor, Flint.

The bride attended Flint Junior College and is employed at Buick. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology and works at the Chevrolet plant in Flint.

Postal Fees to Climb

Proposed increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C.O.D. rates to be effective March 26, 1966 were announced today by the Post Office Department.

The cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually. The proposed fee increases would narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled in Fiscal Year 1965. The new fees are the first changes since 1961.

THE PROPOSED fee changes appeared in the Federal Register and can be put into effect under existing administrative authority. No legislation is needed.

THE INCREASES include: Money Order fees; Domestic and International money order fees would be increased by 5 cents.

Insurance fees: The minimum fee bracket would be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee would be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. Most other fees would be increased 10 cents. The maximum fee, now 40 cents, would be increased to 60 cents for values above $150 to $200.

REGISTRY FEES: The present 60 cent and 75 cent fees would be combined into a single fee at 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 would remain unchanged.

C.O.D. fees: The present 40 cent and 50 cent fee brackets would be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in the fees covering items valued above $10.

Certified Mail: The fee would be increased 10 cents from the 20 cents per item to 30 cents.

Losses incurred in the operation of special services are paid from funds drawn from the Federal Treasury. The proposed fee increases would shift a substantial portion of the special service cost borne by the public to the users of these services.

M-66 Relocation Is Missing From State Bid List

Widening and blacktopping slightly more than a mile of Michigan Avenue in Boyne is the only Charlevoix County road project on which bids will be taken Feb. 9 in Lansing.

Originally, relocation of M-66 entering Charlevoix was to have been included, but the state scrapped plans when it ran into trouble securing easements. The Boyne City project will cost $40,000 and the completion date is Oct. 15, 1966.

THE PROJECT is one of 30

with an estimated cost of $14,600,000 --- on which bids will be asked in February. The department has scheduled projects with a total estimated cost of $131.0 million for 1966, the first full year of a six and one-half year, $1.3 billion program between now and July 1, 1972.

Let There Be Light

"And God said, let there be light and there was light."
The gift of light has been the most wonderful boon handed to man by his Creator. It is with the aid of light that he can throw off fear and all the other things that shackle him and keep him from attaining his rightful place in the scheme of creation. No wonder then that the lighthouse is a symbol of hope—of good. The terrors of disaster at sea are banished for the mariner when the beam of light comes over the dark waters.

Another symbol of light is the church where regular attendance sheds light on many perplexing and heart-rending problems. It stands as a lighthouse in the darkness of uncertainty and doubt.

ELLSWORTH NEWS

Journalism Class
Ellsworth High School

The Chamber of Commerce annual meeting was held last Monday, Jan. 17. New directors were elected for the coming year. They are Henry Cline, Le Roy Rowe, and Harold Jansen.

Our town has been full of visitors the past few weeks. They include Mr. and Mrs. Dick Van Dellen and their daughter, of Iowa, who have been visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Van Dellen of Ellsworth.

Wilson Tans, who visited a few days before leaving for Vietnam is the husband of Mary Jean De Grot.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Petter Jr. and four children have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Petter.

Mrs. Peterson, sister of June Boss, has come from Mexico and moved into the former Hoffman house in Ellsworth. Welcome to our Community!

In the line of school happenings the big news events are two very close ball games.

On Tuesday, Jan. 18, the Lancers travelled to take on Petoskey St. Francis. After doing the majority of the scoring throughout the game the Lancers slackened off in the final period and were threatened by a strong Crusader quintet. The Lancers managed to stay on top and win 72-62.

Friday night, Jan. 21, the Lancers took on the Bellaire Eagles on the latter's floor. The Lancers led at the beginning of the fourth quarter by a nice margin but saw this slowly fade. When the final horn sounded the Lancers had won by the slight margin of 63-60.

The Ellsworth Junior High had a great game last Wednesday, Jan. 19 against Bellaire Junior High at Ellsworth. As the final horn sounded the Little Lancers led 35-26. When the points were totaled up, Steve Chellis became high scoring player with 17 points.

In other school news, Mrs. Nidy and Mrs. Spoelman substituted for Miss Raymer and Mrs. Herberger while the two teachers were away at a meeting.

Saturday, Feb. 4 the Juniors of Ellsworth High are planning on having a class party at their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Nidy. There will be a lot of outdoor activities such as skiing, skating, tobogganing, and sliding. The night will end with Mr. Nidy singing folk songs composed by Juniors in English class.

Thursday afternoon school was dismissed early because of bad weather and did not resume until Monday morning.

Friday night at the ballgame, everyone got to wish Coach Gaunt a happy birthday as the cheerleaders presented him with a cake.

Miss Darlene Klooster was home last week during mid-term exams. She is attending Butterworth College where she is studying nursing.

Miss Sharon Drneth was also home from college this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith and children left us and the town of Ellsworth, Jan. 31 for their new home in Detroit. Mr. Smith is employed in Detroit.

Jack Tornga will leave Feb. 3 for Detroit where he will take his physical exam for the Air Force. He expects to be inducted in about three months if he is accepted.

Valentine Gifts to Help Mission

Rather than exchange Valentines this year, youngsters at St. Mary's school are sending their "hearts" to a Catholic mission in Peru in the form of pennies and dimes, money they would ordinarily spend on greeting cards.

The mission is located at the town of Chimbote. Sister Georgianna who formerly taught at St. Mary's is presently stationed there.

The youngsters will still have a party to celebrate St. Valentine's Day, but no greeting cards will be exchanged.

M-66: Highway Stepchild

The State Highway Department's list of February bids is out, and it looks short of lonesome without the M-66 project which was supposed to have been put up for bids this month.

The state scratched its plan to ask for bids after running into difficulty securing an easement through Brookside Cemetery.

City Fathers would like to keep the cemetery about the same size, but have been unable to secure adjacent property of the size it needs and at a cost it can afford.

THE LATEST move by the city is an attempt to work out an agreement whereby the state would condemn adjacent land and turn it over to the city for cemetery purposes in exchange for the tract they need.

The Council has been curiously reluctant to consider any plan other than one that would keep the present cemetery intact. The prime reason seems to be that maintenance of two cemeteries is a cost which the city might just as well avoid if possible.

 THERE ARE other reasons, of course.

How to Raise a Delinquent

(The following is reprinted from The Peace Officer magazine. It was submitted by Willis Peters.)

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants; in this way he he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.
3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."
4. Avoid use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.
5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around--books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced on throwing all responsibility onto others.
6. Let him read any printed matter basic, deep-seated, psychological reasons that no one has even talked about: The importance of family ties even after death. The sense of unity derived from having members of the same blood line interred in a common burial ground. These values are important because of their overtones of immortality.

Yet if the present effort to clear the way for M-66 fails, we hope the city will be big enough to step aside and let the road come through, even if it involves creating another cemetery in time. Many cities the size of Charlevoix have two or more cemeteries, and don't seem too strangled financially.

 THE PRESENT M-66 route, with the sharp turn at Ferry Ave., is downright unsafe, particularly for northbound travelers who pick up speed coming through the wilds from Mancelona.

And it's not the best arrangement in the world to have a busy state highway skirting two sides of a schoolhouse, as M-66 does at present.

We have an idea that unless M-66 is straightened out, Charlevoix is going to need a second cemetery before long, whether we like it or not.

he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silver and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.
8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?
9. Satisfy his every craving for food drink and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.
10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.
11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying "I never could do anything with him."
12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be apt to have it. Another rule which will help make a delinquent out of your child:
13. Don't bother to send him to Sunday School or Church.

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor? It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you... write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone... free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "hold down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous... even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you... taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business... scores of things to write about!

HISTORY of a sort was made last Tuesday when an oil tanker brought some 16,000 barrels of petroleum products to the marine terminal on Lake Charlevoix. Up until now the latest trip any of these "thin-skinned" vessels had made was Dec. 21. Not only that, it had to break its way for better than half a mile in Lake Charlevoix. Before coming here the tanker had gone into Traverse City to unload half of its cargo...

 THIS IS an S. O. S.; the class of 1916 is planning a reunion later in the year. Mrs. Leslie Everts is handling local arrangements and is seeking a member of the class whose name was Hulda Anderson. She can't recall anything about the girl's family, so if any of you know where she is, won't you write or call Mrs. Everts? She'd appreciate it...

 BEEN to a basketball game this season? Noticed the other night that most of the old faithful were there. But there are those who just don't bother. If the Rayders aren't well on their way to the title... This is a "down" year, one of the few that Charlevoix's had in a long, long time. The kids are young... there isn't a senior on the squad... but they play their hearts out every game night... and in between spend long hours practicing. If you could see how these youngsters have improved since that first game Dec. 3, you wouldn't miss a minute of it all. I've said since this group of youngsters played with Coleman's Cats back in the grades... that's how long I've been keeping an eye on them... that if ever we were to win a state title, this was the outfit that would do it. Certainly you can give some time to watching them so that when they come into their own... and they will... you will be the job of seeing them hit their peak...

 HAPPENED to run into my friend, Clay Smith, at a basketball game recently. He was telling me about his dog, King a big Huskie. Now I've heard story tellers in my day, but few can come up to Clay... I won't attempt to quote him but according to Clay, the dog was beautiful... a husky... but he was also a tramp... He loved the dog and did his level best to keep him happy... and at home. But he was always receiving calls that the dog had turned up at the Grill, the neighbors... any number of places where he just didn't belong...

Clay knew he had to do something but what? Suddenly it struck him... A place where he couldn't wander far, a place where he'd be accepted by the populace which wouldn't panic at the sight of a dog running loose. But where? As time went on and he received more and more calls, he realized that he had to do something... King's circle of friends was growing and so was his theatre of operation...

Finally he had a thought... and why not? So a quick call to Beaver Island solved the problem... Charlie Martin, whom everyone knew would love to have the dog... Clay assured him that he'd send him over on the Beaver Islander before the end of December. But before he could get to it, the ferry suspended operations for the season. So to the airport they went... Clay bid the big animal a fond goodbye and assured him he'd like the island and that he would see him when he came to the island for the beaver season...

The plane, with two other passengers who weren't too happy about sharing the flight with King, was well on its way to St. James when it suddenly struck Clay that the only time King ever got across was when you got near him when he was tied to something... He had visions of King tearing out the seat he was tied to and wrecking the plane or the passengers sueling him for damages and/or injuries so he waited for the return flight of the plane... He was almost afraid to ask but he didn't have to... Joe McPhillips assured him that the flight had been a fine one and, except for the loss of the upholstery on the back of a seat (where King had vent his anger) it had been most uneventful...

And when you listen to Clay, you know he's done the right thing by King... You can just picture him being everyone's friend, making his way into the Shamrock, the post-office, the church or the school... He even had me picturing King on the dock greeting the Beaver Islander every day... as he ended his story with this remark... "King loves people, he's a tramp at heart and that's just the place for him"...

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mol Is Praised by GI Stationed in S. Vietnam

Jan. 20, 1966

Sir:

Re: "Wanted: Parents Who Care" (12 Jan) A fine editorial. Hats off to Jack Mol who has the guts to turn the other cheek after having been intimidated by a "few" of those whom he served, and is still willing to offer his services to the citizens of Charlevoix.

It is men like Mol, Fochtman and Brown, who, realizing a responsibility to their community, are willing to lend their time and themselves, unselfishly, that Charlevoix might be an even finer place to live. They are tomorrow's leaders today. These fellow citizens will indeed have my vote of confidence.

My mother got a subscription to your newspaper, and now everybody reads it. It works like you'd expect it to. It tells about the town you want it to, not the world.

I've spent my summers in Charlevoix so I have a special interest.

THIRTY years ago, the family pooch took part in dog sled races down Bridge Street. The more spirited animals invariably fought, and the prize went to the slow plodder who minded his own business.

BARBARA JEAN BRADLEY was Miss Charlevoix in winter sports festival of 1929. She is now Mrs. Gerald Chamber of Traverse City.

HORSE RACES also were a feature of winter carnivals in the old days. This picture was taken on the corner of Antrim and Bridge Sts.

AS IT IS TODAY, the carnival was sponsored by the Polar Bear Club. These are some of their "cubs" enroute to festivities downtown.

Scouts Show Skill at Klondike Derby

Scouts from five counties took part in the annual Klondike Derby at the Rod and Gun Club Saturday. Events included compass problems, building fires, getting meals and tying knots.

Among Charlevoix Scouts, the Owl Patrol captured first place, the Eagle Patrol second, and the Panther Patrol and the Wolverine Patrol tied for third.

They participated in events called the "Mars Marker," "AA Trip Ticket," "Poisonous Purple Tailed Doo Dad," "Leave No" and "Brrr."

THE FIRST and second events had to do with compass problems. "The Poisonous Purple Tailed Doo Dad" involved making a fire and cooking, and the last two problems required a knowledge of knots.

After the derby, scouts were invited to a supper of pancakes, sausage and milk by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club. In addition to Charlevoix, Scouts attended from Antrim, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties.

Charlevoix Scouts taking part were: Owl Patrol, Bruce Meggison, leader; Ken Wilks, Dave Plum, Bob Donaldson and Dave Mieras.

Eagle Patrol: Bob DeYoung, leader; Gordon Solomon, Randy DeYoung, Tim Anders, Jerry Fochtman and Clayton Sarasin.

Panther Patrol: Eric Peterson, leader; Jim Aronovsky, Jeff Lachman, Gordon Skell and James Seidl.

Wolverine Patrol: Jim England, leader; Pat Linse, Greg Mosey, Alan Avery and Joe Avery.

Title I Funds OK'd

Dr. William Ratigan, assistant superintendent-personnel services, says he has received tentative approval from the state of a program to make use of so-called Title I federal funds for educationally and culturally deprived children in the Charlevoix School District.

Ratigan presented the plan to state educators in Lansing last week.

THE PROGRAM, which has an estimated cost of $23,000, calls for remodeling space in the Elementary School for administrative and operations use.

Main objective of the program will be to improve reading and communication skills of culturally and educationally deprived children, using the talents of a wide range of diagnostic, psychological, and remedial specialists. Volunteers from the community also will play a role in implementing the program.

ACCORDING to Dr. Ratigan, 281 children in Charlevoix schools are eligible for special help under the program, included youngsters enrolled in St. Mary's Catholic School.

He hopes that the program will be able to give special help to youngsters for an average of four hours a week for 18 weeks of the second semester. Under the program, specialists will analyze each child individually and determine precisely where he needs help. A comprehensive physical fitness program is included, since very often a child's poor performance in the classroom may stem from a lack of physical coordination generally.

THE PROGRAM also includes summer tuition for disadvantaged children and in-service training and outside consultations for teachers. Assisting in the program will be Mrs. Hank Wolmer, a remedial reading teacher, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fuller, diagnosticians and Mrs. E. D. Hawley.

WINNERS were Leroy Widling and Ed Adams of Holly, Mich., who are champion canoeists in national competition.

Second place went to Jerry and Rod Kellogg of Muskegon, with Ivan and Ken Whitely of Charlevoix capturing third place honors.

In fourth were David Massey of Alpena and Kerry Jorgenson of Ossineke who were plucked from the lake by the Coast Guard on their final lap when ice began to close in.

Ayers and Bigelow were taken into the boat's cabin, stripped and wrapped in blankets. They were supplied with dry clothes at the Coast Guard station after the race.

The dunked canoeists were the only competitors who were not wearing wet suits. In some places during the race the ice was so thick that racers left their canoes and pushed them along.

Massey and Jorgenson even beached their craft on one foot to dump the water out.

THE SNOWMOBILE RACES

were conducted by Ralph Hess. The crowd came early for the time trials and some of them stayed all day.

Winners in the time trials were Don Steinbeck, 14 horsepower, 1:52; George Dubay, 11 to 13.9 horsepower, 1:32; Jerry McDonald, up to 10:5 horsepower, 1:38; and in the open classification, George Dubay, 1:32.

Wages

know if the people of Charlevoix are aware how much city employees are making.

THE LOWEST rate paid by the city is $1.56 an hour and the highest is $2.50 an hour. These exclude such fringe benefits as full family insurance coverage, sick leave, and vacation pay.

Mayor Hawley said raising the minimum wage to $2 an hour would amount to an increase closer to 25 percent rather than the 5 percent offered.

The highest wage under the scale proposed by Peniberton would be $3.10 an hour, paid to sewage plant workers.

SHERIDAN ROOT said in his opinion employees who work in or around the sewage treatment plant deserve a raise. "As soon as you come home your wife starts sniffing and you've got to put all your clothes right in the washer before they smell up the whole house," he said.

Other workers affirmed that it is no fun working ankle deep in sewage.

He also indicated that the city might end up with a higher caliber employee if wages were increased. He said he recently telephoned the road department during a storm to tell of three corners that needed sanding. He said the work was never done because the man taking the call was unable to write the information down, and was unable to remember it.

Ironton

Ironton would probably lose its postmark as a rural route, a condition which neither he nor the residents of Ironton favor.

He said he would be for the most inexpensive service which would allow Ironton to keep its postmark.

SCOUT emerges dripping with water through the broken ice of Lake Charlevoix. Sunglasses left on seat were not damaged.

Cutter Raises Scout

An International Scout which plunged through the ice on Lake Charlevoix Saturday was raised by the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew Monday morning.

The Scout went through the ice while Willard Drost was clearing a track for the sport car races scheduled as part of the Winter Carnival.

Polar Bear Club officials contacted 9th Coast Guard headquarters in Cleveland Sunday night for permission to use the Sundew. Officials said it would be all right, if no other means of retrieving the vehicle were available.

Drost had attached a chain to the vehicle before it went under in 20 feet of water. Diver Don Meggison supervised raising the vessel with the ship's boom and secured heavier chains for lifting the vehicle onto the ship's deck.

Temperature Climbs to 38

The temperature reached a low of one degree Sunday, according to Weatherman Harry Ladd. High for the week was 38 degrees, recorded Monday. It marked the first time the mercury had crept above the freezing mark since Jan. 4.

Precipitation for the week measured .13 of an inch, which fell as 2.3 inches of snow. Total precipitation in January came to 1.01, Ladd said.

IT TOOK NERVE and a sure footing for Don Meggison to secure chains to the vehicle.

Musicians Compete

City Wins Ten Events

Charlevoix High School musicians returned home Saturday with a coveted No. 1 rating in 10 events in the District Solo Ensemble Festival held at Boyne City. The competition was sponsored by District 11, Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

By taking the highest rating, participants are eligible to participate in the State Solo Ensemble Festival, slated at Midland March 19. WINNERS of top honors in Saturdays festival were the following soloists: Carol Annis and Barbara Avery, clarinet; Janet Pease, piano; Janice Sundberg, xylophone; and Diane Moore, snare drum.

Ensembles winning the highest rating were: two clarinet duets-one with Carol Annis and Bruce Livingston, another with Sue Bacet and Carolyn Gallagher; an oboe-bassoon duet with Erin and Ellen Arvilla; trombone quartet with Larry Hutchinson, Joy Pierce, Al Solomon and Ralph Sweet; and the Woodwind quintet, composed of Julie Odmark, Erin Arvilla, Kathy Etienne, Ellen Arvilla and Julie Hill.

ENSEMBLES receiving a II rating, (good, with minor flaws) were: a flute duet, with Bennie Gill and Jane Norton; a clarinet duet with Kathy Hoffman and Doris Vandenberg; a clarinet trio with Lorelei Glegg, Sue Staley and Linda Hamilton; a saxophone trio with Linda Supernaw, Larry Marme and Kathy Miles; a brass quartet with Sharon Nielsen, Diana Bartlett, Joy Pierce and Kitty Gill; a brass sextet with Steve Smith, John Gibson, Alan Kroft, Paul Martin, Larry Hutchinson and Larry Feindt; a drum duet with Diane Moore and Jeannie Bergmann; and a drum quintet, with Elley Cunningham, Betty Klooster, Diane Moore, Janice Sundberg and Jeannie Bergmann.

KATHY ETIENNE, a clarinet soloist, received a III rating in the competition.

Accompanists for the various entries were Karen Heeres, Kathleen Gill and Janet Pease. Judges for the event were Cornell De May, Mervyn Mitchell of Grand Rapids, Harvey Van Dyke of Hudsonville, and Robert Lee of Portage. Festival chairman was Herbert Parrott, Band Director of the Boyne City High School.

City Pay Raises OKed at Closed-Door Session

Carnival Pleases Many

A crowd estimated at nearly 1,000 turned out Sunday afternoon at Ferry Beach to see what Charlevoix had to offer in the way of a winter carnival.

Most of them went away pleased after watching sports car and motorcycle races on the ice and feasting on hot dogs and hot coffee at a Lion's Club concession.

THE TWO WEEKEND carnival was marred by a series completely squelched an undertaking that didn't have something pretty solid to offer.

This weekend's troubles began Friday when the Bill Moreland band coming up from Detroit was involved in an auto accident. The drummer was reportedly injured, and the band was unable to continue to Charlevoix.

The band was to have played at the Woodshed Friday and Saturday evenings for the Benefit Dance and the Winter Carnival Ball.

AS IT WAS, there was no live entertainment at the Woodshed Friday night. Saturday night Getch Campfield of Campfield's music store got together a group of musicians to play for the Saturday night dance.

The Impromptu orchestra was made up of Bob West-staff on the organ, Chuck Novotny and Frank Spencer on tenor saxophones, and Carl Fusz on the drums.

SATURDAY morning local citizens with snowplows turned out at Ferry Beach to plow a track for the sports car races. The job was hardly started when Willard Drost ran into a patch of thin ice about half a mile south of the boat launching ramp and 300 yards offshore.

Drost said he felt his International Scout going under, but was unable to move the vehicle to safe ice. Actually, the vehicle stayed on the surface about 20 minutes, giving

FIRST CONCRETE for the Medusa slip was poured Feb. 2, with the operation lasting far into the night. The walls of the slip are being poured in alternate sections which will be joined later.

$10 Million Job

Prime Contracts Let by Medusa

Medusa Portland Cement Company has announced that Darin & Armstrong, Inc. of Detroit, and The Nicholson Co., Inc. of New York have been awarded the $10 million job of constructing Medusa's new 10 million barrel cement plant at Charlevoix.

Worth Loomis, Medusa Vice President in charge of design and construction of the plant, said that the contractor would move on site within a week.

"WE EXPECT to have the Plant in operation a year from July 4," he said. "The entire project from start of design a year and a half ago is being monitored by critical path scheduling. We are right on target."

Site preparation, including the dredging and construction of a $3 million harbor and slip and construction of five miles of railroad, has been underway since early last summer.

A $4 million contract has already been awarded to Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., Milwaukee, Wisconsin, for the manufacture of the crusher, kiln, cooler, mills and motors for the plant. "The last component of the engineering, the electrical work, is in process and will go out for bid March 1," said Loomis.

DARIN & Armstrong and Nicholson have been important factors in cement plant construction, most notably the plant of the Atlantic Cement Co., in Rahway, New York and Dundee Cement Company near Monroe, Mich.

The H.K. Ferguson Co. of Cleveland has done the engineering of the plant complex and will also be contract managers during the construction phase. The crushing plant was separately designed by Giffels & Rossetti of Detroit.

Nursing Home on East Dixon Told to Close

The City Council Monday ordered City Attorney John Michael to notify Mrs. Rose Daugherty she has 90 days to close a convalescent home she is operating at 401 E. Dixon.

The order came after Miss Annabel Comfort of Chicago complained that Mrs. Daugherty is violating the R-2 zoning code which does not permit convalescent homes.

Miss Comfort's mother, Mrs. Lou Comfort, lives behind the Dixon Avenue home on Nettleton.

MRS. DAUGHERTY says she only has two elderly, ambulatory patients staying with her. She says she was required to apply for nursing home permit this year for the first time. Mrs. Comfort says she has no intention of evicting Mrs. Daugherty and is sorry her daughter brought the situation to the Council's attention.

Reporter Is Asked to Leave

At a secret meeting Monday night, the City Council voted to offer employees pay increases ranging from six to 12 per cent.

The closed-door session was held after the regular meeting ended and the Charlevoix Courier reporter was asked to leave the room while the Council deliberated on pay increases.

Mayor E. D. Hawley said the discussion actually was a meeting of the salary committee. However, all the aldermen were requested to remain.

Hawley said the press was asked to leave because "personalities" might be discussed.

THE NEW WAGE offer came after a meeting last week at which city employees demanded a $2 starting minimum. Earlier the city had offered workers a flat 5 per cent across the board increase.

The new city pay package includes three weeks paid vacation after 15 years continuous service.

Apparently the raises amount to individual merit increases with reclassifications to boost the income of exceptional employees.

The proposed minimum for Street Department workers would be $1.71 an hour, up 15 cents from the previous low of $1.56. The highest wage in the department would be $2.15 an hour.

THE SALARY of the chief of police would be increased 8 per cent, and of patrolmen just over 10 per cent. Cemetery workers would get an increase of 10 per cent, as would Utilities Department employees.

Lloyd Kuebler at the sewage treatment plant would not get an increase, because he received a raise last year when he received his state certification.

The new offer appears more attractive than the original 5 per cent proposal, but falls far short of the 20 to 25 per cent increases asked by city employees last week.

City Department heads were given copies of the new wage scale Tuesday before passing it to their workers.

In other business, the Council heard a report by Chamber of Commerce President Ron Peterson explaining that the Chamber is in noway connected with the Winter Carnival just ended.

Peterson said he was answering an inquiry which came up at a recent Council meeting as to just what the Chamber was doing.

BERNARD Russell shows Bobby Warner what he looked like with his feet sticking out of snowbank. Russell is credited with saving the boy's life.

Janitor Saves Boy Stuck in Snowbank

Thanks to Bernard Russell's concern for others, there's a mighty happy family at 314 Antrim St.

Russell, custodian at the Elementary School, was walking home for lunch Jan. 31 when he saw a pair of black rubber boots sticking out of a snow bank near the Harley Warner home.

Russell continued walking north toward Sherman Street, but something about the boots bothered him. So he turned around and went back to investigate.

INSIDE the boots and nearly suffocated was six-year-old Bobby Warner.

When Mrs. Warner saw "Beanie" digging around the boots in the yard with a snow shovel, she hurried out to see what was the matter. She reached into the snow bank and pulled out her son by the shoulders.

The boy was in a stupor, breathing irregularly and his color was blue - gray, Mrs. Warner rushed him to Charlevoix Hospital where he revived and was examined by Dr. L. E. Grate.

Mrs. Warner said Bobby, an afternoon kindergarten at the Elementary School, had been digging tunnels in a snowbank while she fixed lunch.

When a playmate, Robert Russell, left, Bobby decided to explore a verticle tunnel the Russell boy had just dug. He went in head first, arms at his sides, and was unable to move.

"I THOUGHT about crying, and I thought about hollering, but nobody came," he told his mother later.

Mrs. Warner estimates Bobby was head first in the snowbank about ten minutes before "Beanie" found him.

"I hate to think what might have happened if he had been in there two or three minutes longer," she said.

Warned by Dr. Grate to keep out of snow tunnels, Bobby said next time he would go in feet first.

Chicken Dinner Will Kick Off Fair Saturday

The annual P.T.A. Fair will be held this Saturday at the Elementary School Gym.

The fair will open with a chicken dinner served in the cafeteria. Biscuits, gravy, peas, cole slaw, apple rings and cake also are included in the $1 admission.

The Kiwanis Club will maintain a snack booth, selling hot dogs, pie, coffee, milk and candy bars.

ONE of the highlights of the evening will be the crowning of the King and Queen of the fair by School Superintendent Rex Mulligan. Champion ticket salesmen will be selected.

A wide variety of booths will be open ranging from a "Country Store" to grab bags and penny pitch events.

Mothers' March

The Mother's March phase of the March of Dimes campaign will be held tonight in Charlevoix, according to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

A SHELTERED workshop for mentally retarded young adults has been established by Mrs. Lillian Bergmann at her home on Boyne City Road. The workshop subcontracts for local industry and offers retarded adults valuable work experience. The program is open to persons not eligible for other types of education, Mrs. Bergmann says.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Felder have returned from a week's visit with friends and relatives in Vicksburg and Hastings.

Driver Fined

Robert Levin, 17, of Huntington Woods, was fined $15 and $5 costs for speeding on Bridge Street. He paid the fine.

WAY

Soft contoured new Strato-bucket front seats come standard in Super Sports for relaxing comfort on every trip.

We added new bushings and softened body-to-frame mounts to smooth Chevrolet's ride. We put in soft-acting shock absorbers and soft-working coil springs at every wheel. By soft, though, we don't mean mushy. Chevrolet's Way makes for a smooth, solid ride. Very steady on curves. A bump jumps from the Wide-Stance wheels to the supple springs and shocks—and pffft! It all but disappears.

The powerfully smooth new Turbo-Jet V8 is available in all '66 Caprice, Impala SS, Impala, Bel Air and Biscayne models.

Eight features now standard for your added safety—including seat belts front and back (always buckle up!) and an outside rear-view mirror (always check in back before passing).

She carried a bouquet of Eucharis lilies and stephanotis with camellia foliage.

Mrs. Charles Hill of Battle Creek, another sister, was matron of honor, and a fourth sister, Kathleen, of Bay City joined the bridesmaids, as did Miss Beverly Geyer, also of Bay City.

ALL THE attendants wore identical two-tone emerald green, floor-length crepe Empire sheaths, with full Watteau back panels. They wore matching Rosette headpieces with circle veils.

They carried cascade arrangements of yellow carnations and streamers to match their gowns.

The bride's mother wore a red silk dress, with a mock jacket and T-rapunto embroidery. She wore matching fabric accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

Mrs. Kowbel wore a raspberry ribbon-knit two piece dress and matching accessories with a pink rosebud corsage.

Approximately 450 guests attended a reception at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall in Sebewaing.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Owendale High School. Kowbel is a graduate of Sebewaing High School and attended Bay City Business School and is now co-partner with his father in Harbor Hardware.

After a three-week wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Charlevoix.

Ellsworth

On Feb. 1 Miss Artie Drenth had her cast removed. She won't be able to walk without crutches for six weeks yet. Who says parked cars are safe? Ken Richardson's car was parked out back of the school and a lady ran into it. Mrs. Fred Bolhuis is now the new 1st grade teacher because Mrs. Herberger, the original teacher this year, has moved.

Feb. 2 the Junior High basketball team played host to Trojan Junior High. After a hard game with a minute overtime, our Lancers came out on top. The final score was 44-43. Dennis Drenth was the high point man with 15 points and Steve Chellis followed closely with 14.

On Feb. 3 the Ellsworth High School speech class presented a play for the entire school. The play was a mystery titled: "It Walks at Midnight." It was 45 minutes long and was a great success. Miss Raymer is the speech class teacher. We want to congratulate her and her students for a great performance.

Feb. 4 the Ellsworth and Atwood Young People of the Christian Reformed Churches had a toboggan party. Afterwards they went to the Atwood Church for refreshments.

Feb. 5 a window in the school office was broken when a huge icicle fell from the floor above. Repairs were made and the ice chopped down the same day.

Ellsworth High School has been receiving a lot of new teaching equipment. The school has received film strips, typing tables and new chemistry equipment.

The Junior Class had a party Saturday, Feb. 5, at the home of their sponsors.

February 8, school was closed for Teachers Institute.

THE FOLLOWING Tuesday Ellsworth played Central Lake in Central Lake's new gym. Ellsworth led all the way from the start and went on to defeat the Trojans, 75 to 58. The quarter scores were 19 to 13, 40 to 24, 54 to 43, and 75 to 58. Ken Richardson, Rich Ruls and Marv Ruls all hit in the double figures and made 20, 19, and 18 points respectively. The Great Are Humble

"Roll on, thou deep and dark blue ocean, roll!" Men need to pause and think occasionally in the presence of that which strikes awe into their hearts. It will help them to get over the false idea, prevalent in recent times, that "I am the master of my fate; I am the captain of my soul." No man is either master of his fate or captain of his soul; Nor will any appear truly masterful till he is bowed in the deepest allegiance of his life before man's true Master. Man is essentially dependent, not independent. He is strong only when he leans upon his God in trust and obedience.

CHIEF WARRANT OFFICER James Seidl presents six medals to BM William Ernest.

Guardsman Gets 6 Medals at Once

It's a little unusual when one serviceman receives six campaign ribbons at one time.

It's even more unusual when the awards are authorized by the U. S. Air Force and the U. S. Navy are presented by the U. S. Coast Guard.

That's what happened Friday at the Charlevoix Coast Guard Station when William Ernest, BM, received a half-dozen service citations from Chief Warrant Officer James C. Seidl, Charlevoix Group Commander.

SEIDL discovered Ernest had never received the awards when he was reviewing service records in preparation for Coast Guard promotion exams, which are coming up in March.

Two of the awards were earned by Ernest while serving with the Navy from March, 1946, to January, 1948. They were the Navy Occupation Service Medal, with European clasp, for serving in enemy waters before the peace treaties were signed at the end of World War II, and the World War II Victory Medal.

FOUR AWARDS were presented for service in the Air Force between June, 1949, and October, 1952. They are the A. F. Good Conduct Medal for service during the Korean War, the Korean Service Medal and the National Defense Medal.

Registration Is Feb. 10 and 11

Single Point Defeats Boyne

BALL CARRIER Steve Smith almost sat down on this play. There was lots of action in the neck-and-neck game.

Rayders Are Still Third

The Charlevoix Rayders pulled off another cliff-hanger with Boyne City Friday night with a score of 51 to 50.

It was the second time in as many meetings that Charlevoix has defeated its neighbor to the east by only one point.

The victory leaves Charlevoix in third place, in the Northern Michigan Class C conference, trailing Pellston and Gaylord, tied for first, and East Jordan in second place.

HIGH SCORER again for Charlevoix was Steve Smith, who scored 16 points on five fieldgoals and six free throws. He was followed by Tom Webb with four and four for 12. Jack Bergmann and Fred Wabunimkee each scored eight points, Bergmann on four fieldgoals and Wabunimkee in two fieldgoals and four free throws. Bergmann also scored a fieldgoal for Boyne City by mistake.

Other scorers were Brad Carey with two fieldgoals and Bernie Ward with three free throws.

HIGH SCORER for Boyne City was Dennis Gunderson, who scored half of his teams 50 points. He was followed by Ron Shepherd with 14, Bill Bensar with three, and Jack Sheaffer, Collins Belford, and John Paul with two each.

Scoring in the game didn't come easy at first, with both teams going heavy on the defense. When the first quarter ended, the score was nine to five, in favor of Charlevoix.

IN THE SECOND quarter, the game picked up momentum with Boyne City's Dennis Gunderson scoring four fieldgoals in rapid fire succession.

After the half, the score started see-sawing back and forth with the lead changing hands a half a dozen times. At the end of the period, the score was tied at 34, setting the stage for the dramatic fourth period.

In other conference games, East Jordan defeated Mancelona, 75 to 49; Gaylord whipped Grayling, 71 to 43; and Pellston knocked over Harbor Springs 89 to 53.

In Junior Varsity play, Charlevoix defeated Boyne City 51 to 43; Harbor Springs trounced Pellston, 73 to 59; Gaylord climbed over Grayling, 71 to 43; and Mancelona downed East Jordan, 39 to 38.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

Years and years from now, when former Charlevoix High School athletes get together to reminisce about their days of vim and vigor, someone is going to mention the Boyne City basketball game in February, 1966. And poor Jack Bergmann is going to blush right down to his ankle socks --- just like he did at Friday's game when Steve Smith gently tapped him on the shoulder and told him he had made a basket for the wrong side.

Accidents certainly do happen. And this was an accident pure and simple. The look of surprise, consternation and humiliation that flashed across Bergmann's face couldn't have been faked. It was the real McCoy. What might have got Bergmann off base was the fact that at every home game this season, Charlevoix has played at the south end of the gym during the first half, switching to the north end for the balance of the game. Friday night things were just reversed. Since the error took place during the second half, Bergmann might have considered the north basket fair game.

IT WAS a beautiful shot, really. Boyne City missed a free throw and Bergmann stepped neatly from the sidelines, scooped up the ball and popped it through the basket. Fortunately for Bergmann, the lost basket wasn't really needed. Charlevoix won the game with a whole point to spare.

Fran Martin, who has followed basketball longer than she cares to remember, says this wasn't a first for Charlevoix. If her memory serves correctly, the same thing happened to the Raydors about seven years ago.

AS A FORMER soccer buff, it can well appreciate Bergmann's chagrin. I vividly remember the day it made a tremendous one-man drive down the field, nursing the ball with one foot and then the other right over the goal line while the crowd roared. Then I discovered they were roaring at me, not for me, it was going in the wrong direction and my beautiful goal was credited to the other side. I haven't played soccer since, and that was years ago, back in the upper grades.

During wartime, errors of direction are all too common. It hardly seems a week passed during World War II without word filtering back from the fighting fronts about ships firing upon friendly forces, or one U.S. platoon attacking another, or airplanes bombing Allied villages---all because compasses got balled up, or the people reading them got turned around.

Probably the most memorable turnabout in history was "Wrong Way" William Corrigan who took off from our Eastern seaboard one day in the late 1930's for an overland trip west. His flight plane was ill-equipped for any kind of flight. The doors fitted so poorly they had to be wired shut. Corrigan, of course, didn't go west at all. He landed in Ireland and instantly became a folk hero to Gaelic and American speaking people everywhere.

I recall a story not long ago about a woman from Toledo who pulled her car into the Michigan State Police post at the junction of U.S. 23 and U.S. 16 near Brighton. She demanded to know how much further it was to Columbus, Ohio.

Civil Rights Chief Explains Age Law

The Editor
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan
Dear Sir:

I have just finished reading your editorial of December 9 entitled, "Civil Rights and Old Age" which takes issue with Act No. 344 of 1965 prohibiting discrimination in employment because of age.

As you know, this law was an amendment to Public Act No. 251 of 1955 which prohibited discrimination because of race, religion or ancestry. Neither Act prohibits an employer from establishing his own requirements or standards for any job so long as the worker is not discriminated against by reason of race, religion, ancestry or age. Specifically, the law does not prohibit an employer from specifying certain physical attributes or skills for a position.

Two other points: (1) The Michigan Civil Rights Commission has no jurisdiction over allegations or discrimination on the basis of sex. There is no such law. There is, however, a prohibition against discrimination because of sex in the 1964 Federal Civil Rights Act; (2) The Michigan Civil Rights Commission did not support or oppose the Michigan age amendment to the FEPC Act. The legislature assigned administration of the Act to the Civil Rights Commission.

Very truly yours,
Burton I. Gordin
Executive Director

Death Claims Noted Summer Visitor to City

Rabbi Louis L. Mann, 76, a well known summer resident in Charlevoix for many years, died Feb. 1 at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago. Spiritual leader of the Chicago Sinai congregation since 1922 until his retirement in 1962, he had often spoken at the First Congregational Church here and at other public events including, among others, the dedications of Memorial Highway Bridge and the Charlevoix Hospital.

He was considered the dean of Chicago rabbis.

A native of Louisville, Ky., he received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Cincinnati, was graduated from Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati and obtained a doctor of philosophy degree from Yale University in 1920.

His interests ranged from Oriental languages to eugenics. To better further relations between races and religious groups, Dr. Mann joined with several clergymen and prominent laymen in founding the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

For his role as a N.C.C.J. organizer and for his other activities on behalf of better race and religious relations, he was given the first human relations award of the American Jewish Committee. In 1950 Northwestern University recognized his varied achievements by presenting him its distinguished service award.

His survivors include his wife; Ruth, a son, Arthur Mann, of Highland Park and a daughter, Mary Louise, wife of Rabbi Richard C. Hertz of Detroit.

Winter Carnival Draws 'Em In

The first annual Charlevoix Winter Carnival is history---and it was a smashing success considering the obstacles, errors, misfortunes, accidents and obvious deficiencies in coordination and publicity.

To Bob Humphries--Chairman of the Polar Bear Club---goes the lion's share of the credit for making it the success it was. And one can't help wondering what it might have been like if so many things hadn't gone wrong.

We also can't help wondering what it might have been like if more people had pitched in and helped rather than sat back and criticized. With his imagination and daring, Humphries has given us a good start on what could become the high point of the winter in Charlevoix.

THE SNOWMOBILE races organized by Ralph Hess at the Rod and Gun Club were superbly conducted by any standards, and there were spills and chills aplenty once the motorcycle and sports car races finally got under way on Lake Charlevoix.

Crowds on hand the past two weekends definitely prove that an annual Winter Carnival could be a boon to the community. But improvements must be made to keep people coming back year after year. Here are a few suggestions:

---NEXT YEAR, let's not schedule our carnival the same weekends as Petoskey. The towns are too close and attract too many of the same people. This is a simple job of coordination.

---Next year, let's not make it a one-man show. The task is too monumental to be carried to such a great degree by a single person or even a few people. We need a chairman, but his job should be to delegate responsibility to others in the community. It goes without saying that the more people involved in any project, the more interest will be generated.

---NEXT YEAR the Chamber of Commerce should throw its whole-hearted support behind the Winter Carnival. Although Humphries was appointed by the Chamber of Commerce last year as chairman, he did not have the backing of the Chamber in planning, executing and raising money for carnival activities.

Next year, let's broaden the scope of activities available - and publicize them. A lot of people like carnivals, but they don't get much of a kick out of standing around in sub - freezing temperatures watching other people do things. Some do, but some don't. We should have something for people who would like to ski, or skate, or toboggan, or try out a pair of snow shoes, or go for a ride on a snowcat, or fish through the ice or take a mid-winter nature hike. There are so many ways we can show off this great big, beautiful hunk of Michigan called Charlevoix County.

---Next year things should be done to give the town a holiday atmosphere. It wouldn't take much. A few banners across the street. Loud-speakers playing Viennese waltzes and Bavarian folksongs. Perhaps a few sidewalk stands offering food and drink. A lighted ice rink in East Park.

OF COURSE there was no way to forestall or forestall any of the calamities which befell this year's carnival. Who could have predicted that Little Round Lake would break with tradition and freeze up like a polar ice cap just before the canoe race? The ice caused one canoe to tip over, and the two young contestants are alive today only because the Coast Guard was standing by. There was more carnage than carnival connected with that particular event.

How can you keep members of a band coming up from Detroit to play at the Carnival Ball from getting injured in an auto accident and cancelling out?

How can you make sure that outside participants --- like the dogsledders---will keep a promise to attend?

HOW DO YOU know that there's one little patch of ice on Lake Charlevoix that can't bear the weight of an International Scout sent out to plow a track for sports cars?

Human error played a part, too. Like assuming it would be all right to hold auto races at the airport. We're just lucky a Piper Cub didn't win the demolition contest.

But that's all water over the dam---or, over the Scout, as they say down on Lake Charlevoix. We've all learned a few lessons from the first Winter Carnival that will stand us in good stead next year.

Let's Sing Anthem Proudly

Before every basketball game, Charlevoix cagers and their fans rise to their feet while the band offers a stirring rendition of the most unsingable song in the world, "The Star Spangled Banner."

To the everlasting credit of our young athletes, every one of them makes a noble effort to hit at least a few of the right notes. Some visiting teams, we've noticed, just stand there glumly at parade rest, itchy for the anthem to end so the game can start.

"THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER," admittedly, is not duck soup for the average vocalist. In the most common version, it covers a range of 12 full notes, from B-flat below middle C to F, more than an octave and half away in the musical stratosphere. At the big league baseball parks they usually have a female soprano do the honors --- one who will belt out the song loud enough so you can't tell whether anyone else is singing or not.

In Charlevoix we're not so lucky. The team sings --- or tries to --- while the rest of us stand there like dummies, mouthing words without very much coming out.

The "Star Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key in 1814 after watching the British bombardment of Fort M'Henry at Baltimore. Key was so happy the next morning to see Old Glory still flying that he sat down and wrote a poem about it which was later set to music. It caught the fancy of Americans, and in 1931 it was declared the National Anthem by an act of Congress.

THERE HAS BEEN agitation from time to time for a new national anthem---one that's easy to sing, like "America, the Beautiful" or "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Both are good songs, but they are largely pastoral and passive, and a little too bland to represent the big, broad-shouldered country we have become. They lack completely the noise and tumult, the bursting rockets, the soaring stanzas of "The Star Spangled Banner."

In a sense, singing "The Star Spangled Banner" is a little like establishing a democracy---it's not easy to do, but once you have it mastered you really have something.

IT WOULD be nice at the next basketball game to hear "The Star Spangled Banner" sung as though we are proud of the flag and the country it represents. It doesn't matter if we hit all the right notes, so long as the band does.

The times are all to infrequent when the average American can stand up and let it be known how he feels about this country he lives in. "The Star Spangled Banner" should be sung loudly and proudly, even a little boisterously, not in the pussy-footing manner we have come to accept in Charlevoix.

Next Friday, let's hear it out there for Old Glory.

Odds and Ends...

by Fran Martin

How lucky can we get? While most of the states east of the Mississippi were stopped cold by the snowfall and laid low by sub - zero or near - zero temperatures, northwestern Michigan was having only moderate snowfalls and much above zero temperatures. ... Even last weekend when it was 16 below in Lansing and other southern Michigan cities it was never below zero here. ...

Saw Mac McMahon at the basketball game and he said that Pellston and Mackinaw City had less snow than we had and, instead of Pellston being the icebox of the nation, the temperatures were up in the 20's. ... How's that for a switch? ...

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to the Boy Scouts ... who will be celebrating the occasion at a dinner tonight (Wednesday) if all goes well. ... It's the 56th anniversary of the organization which does so much for boys. ... You'll be receiving with your Courier this week a supplement devoted entirely to Scouting in Charlevoix. ... I've been hearing a lot about it from the Scouts and their Scoutmaster, Lou Edwards, who has spent a great deal of time, along with other Scouts and Scouters, in gathering the information for the supplement. ... I hope you will read it with interest for I'm sure you'll find some familiar names of people who've been associated with it through the years. ... So, to Charlevoix's Scouts and the Boy Scout program, many happy returns of the day. ...

parents along with members of the sponsoring organization, the Kiwanis Club. ... I never know who enjoys this the most, the little boys or the Kiwanians. ... So happy birthday to you fellows, too. ... May you Cubs enjoy the Scouting years ahead of you. ...

AND SPEAKING of Scouts, the northern district Klondike Derby was held at the Rod and Gun club over the weekend. ... With 250 boys involved there were bound to be casualties. ... but I don't think anyone anticipated what happened. ... One or two victims' drowned. ... Seems there was a make-believe river from which the victim had to be rescued when he fell through the ice. ... One troop lost its victim when one of the rescuers dropped the rope before he could be pulled from the ice cold water. ... Another troop fed its rescued Scouter hot soup, little realizing that said hot soup was the only thing that would save the man who was bitten by a purple-tailed doo-dad. ... Came time to save this fellow's life and no hot soup. ... Then there was the troop that forgot most of its supplies including the soup to be heated over an open fire. ... and there was another 'victim' of the Derby. ...

Then there was the adult helper who had a backlog of five patrols to put through their paces. ... and no one to help him. ... The Derby planner, John Wynn of Petoskey, couldn't understand this because he had every station well - manned. ... After searching through the cedars, he discovered this fellow had failed to report at his proper station and had ended up opening one of his own. ... This situation was soon remedied, and was the fellow's face red, but not from the cold. ...

COUNCIL Commissioner Don Anders was a little perturbed because some of the patrols weren't successful in their attempts to plant their flags on Mars. ... Personally, I think this was asking quite a lot of a bunch of kids. ... especially when the real honest - to - goodness astronauts haven't accomplished this feat yet. ...

But despite the casualties, the Derby was a huge success. ... But the Kiwanians who were preparing the pancakes and sausage apparently forgot how much food kids this age could consume and had a little trouble keeping up with them. ... They couldn't have been parents of Scout-age boys or they would have known that these kids are practically bottomless. ... Have been looking out on the winter scene from my window. ... the sun shining on a fresh snowfall. ... and I'm wondering why more people don't capture this on film. ... So many think that color is necessary to make a beautiful picture. ... I agree that it helps that winter scenes offer such a contrast. ... and a real challenge. ... So, one of these nice days, why not take your camera and wander off into an area where there are few signs of man's presence and get yourself some choice pictures. ...

AND DON'T forget, this is the season that your feathered friends need a hand-out. ... And this is important. ... once you start to feed the birds, keep it up. ... They come to depend on you and your feeder and if it isn't there, it could mean the difference between a full tummy at bedtime and an empty one. ...

THE WAY our youth of today get around never ceases to amaze me. ... Dick Odmart stopped in, as I was writing this column, to say goodbye. ... and where is he enroute to? Crete. ... imagine an assignment like that. ... And if you'll check the list of local servicemen, you'll find them stationed around the world. ... Talked to Terry DeYoung when he was home recently. ... he'd just returned from New Zealand where he was in on Operation: Deep Freeze, tho' he didn't get to Antarctica, and was pretty disappointed. ... Perry Smith left this month for Goose Bay, Labrador. ... another out - of - the - way place. ... And then there are those who are where the action is. ... in Vietnam, and points east, west, north and south of there, as well as just about any place in Europe you'd like to mention. ... One way of teaching geography. ... but one I'm sure we'd all like to do without. ...

AND HOW ABOUT the perch returning to Beaver Island? Wouldn't that be something if they'd return here. ... I was just beginning to fish when the darned things left. ... Maybe that was why. ...

Carnival a Success Despite Woes

Drost plenty of time to fasten a length of heavy chain to the rear end.

THE VEHICLE was removed from the lake Monday by the Coast Guard cutter Sunday. When the condition of the ice was known, Polar Bear Club officials decided to move the races to the airport. The plan had the tentative approval of Airport Manager Joe McPhillips, and the plows went to work.

THE JOB was well under way when Charlevoix Mayor E. D. Hawley appeared on the scene and stopped the operation. McPhillips had had some second thoughts about the plows doing damage to new seeding and had asked the mayor to intervene.

There also were safety considerations and dual use of airport property does not have the approval of federal agencies governing airports.

Polar Bear Club chairman Bob Humphries called off his plows and sent them back to Lake Charlevoix, with orders to make a smaller track some distance from the spot where the Scout went through.

LAST WEEKEND also was plagued with misfortunes. Round Lake froze too solidly for canoeing, and a 44-footer from the Coast Guard was called upon to open up the lake and keep it open while the race was in progress. Guardsmen also rescued two canoeists who were dunked in icy water when their canoe tipped over.

ALSO dampening festivities last weekend was cancellation of dog sled races by the Great Lakes Dog Sled Association. Only eight contestants entered the races, and the association withdrew when Charlevoix lightened the purse.

Walter Barnhart of Belmont, a past president of the group, conferred with Polar Club officials by phone last week. He said he regretted the cancellation and feels the association should have kept its promise to attend. FINANCIALLY, the Polar Bear Club is on fairly thin ice. Money had to be borrowed from a local businessman to pay off sports car and motorcycle winners, and the current deficit is estimated at about $600, although pledges are still coming in.

WINNERS in the motorcycle race were: Flyweight: Phil Mann, 1st; Dan Louiselle, 2nd; Bill Novotny, 3rd; and Dan Griffin, 4th.

"B" Light: Jack Pebbles, 1st; Jack Ritchie, 2nd; Paul Johnson, 3rd; and Bill Farmer, 4th.

"A" Light: Jack Niswander, 1st; Walt Barkley, 2nd; Jerry Drost, 3rd; and Ron Green, 4th.

"B" Heavy: Dick Lone, 1st; Ron Hansen, 2nd; Frank Novotny, 3rd; and Cass Russell, 4th.

"A" Heavy: Ed Mann, 1st; Phil Mann, 2nd; Frank Pearse, 3rd; and Chuck Hodgson, 4th.

IN THE SPORTS car time trials, Bill Eckel placed first with a time of 1:02.1. Harger was second with 1:03.9; W. Hintz third with 1:07.5; and Wiseman fourth with 1:08.

In medium sedans, Tom Brennan and Beaupre Hoog both passed the time truck at 1:03.3.

Among small sedans, Loren Van Vuuren was first at 1:00.9; John Neff, second at 1:01.4 and Bultman third at 1:01.9.

At the Scout banquet Feb. 9, families will be seated by patrols, with a prize going to the patrol having all parents present.

Girl Scouts will serve the meal, which will be followed by a Scouting program.

SCOUTS LARRY Anders and Bob DeYoung will tell about their troop's exchange visits with Scouts in Preston, Ont., and slides will be shown.

Almost 40 Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts, Cubs and their leaders took part in preparing this special Scout Anniversary supplement to the Charlevoix Courier.

They were divided into two teams, half working on advertising and half on editorial matter.

Leaders on the advertising team were Doug Wilks, Lt. Dave Smith, Ralph Doan, Orm Bergeon, Chuck England, Don Anders and Russ Mieras.

Boys working on advertising were Kenneth Wilks, Bob Donaldson, Jim England, Jim Aronovsky, David Fochtman, Gordon Solomon, Greg Mosey, Tim Anders, Jerry Fochtman, Jim Seidl and Duane Wilks.

Leaders assisting on the editorial side were Bob Hooper, Bob Sommerville, Don Anders, Leonard Burns, and Louis Edwards.

By Louis Edwards

The history of Scouting in Charlevoix dates back to around 1910. The first troop could have been in the Congregational Church under Rev. Putman. Scouting has continued off and on through the years since that time. There are no records for those early years since there was no Council Office for this area. It is thought troops met in the Baptist and Methodist Churches from time to time.

John Nordrum was Scoutmaster in the 20's and again in the 30's. In 1932 the troop went to Petoskey to a Boy Scout Week rally at the Methodist Church. Charlevoix won second place in a knot tying contest, third place in the signal contest, and tied with Boyne City in the three-legged race.

Rev. Parker of the Congregational Church was Scoutmaster for a number of years in the 30's.

In 1939 Scenic Trails Council was established in Traverse City for this area. The Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix was sponsoring troop 11 at that time and was continued to do so ever since. Irwin Hallett was Scoutmaster that year, and the following year Rev. Parker came back.

The next four or five years, Pat Hawley was Scoutmaster. The troop grew and prospered under Hawley's direction.

Scouting of today is much the same as it was in 1941. One exception is the "horse pin." Sleeping bags were not as common then and boys would make a blanket roll and use the horse pin to hold it together.

Beaver Island and South Fox Island were sites for outdoor camping activities. Clair Webster and his boat the "Hawk", and a Coast Guard boat were used to get there.

BOY SCOUTS WEEK

Cubs Started During War

Cubbing in Charlevoix was started in the early 1940's, with Harold Withers and Ralph Hamilton among the earliest Cubmasters.

Mrs. Margit Hamilton became involved in the program in 1943 as a den mother and served until 1958 --- making her the oldest den mother in point of service. She received three five year service pins from the Cubs.

DURING the war, Cubs helped by collecting scrap rubber for the government. Several times trips to Camp Grellick were cancelled because of lack of transportation and Hamilton took the boys on camping trips instead. There were two dens in Charlevoix during the war.

In 1945, George LaBlance became Cubmaster, with five dens meeting regularly. He taught the boys how to be of help in case of emergencies and sometimes took them on campouts. Den mothers went hiking with the boys.

UNO SOUMELA became Cubmaster in 1950, with six dens in his pack. Den mothers were Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Kit Carson, Mrs. Arvilla and Mrs. McDinnott.

Denchiefs were Larry Burns, Bob Richards and David Glassford. Twenty per cent were Bobcats, 32 per cent Wolves, 26 per cent Bears, 14 per cent Lions and eight per cent Webelos.

On the Cub committee were Pete Burns, George LaBlance, Art Ranger, Ted Bergmann, Versal Seymour and George Bergmann.

In 1953, Frank Oleksy became Cubmaster. On camping trips he let the Cubs build their own campfires and taught them how to identify poisonous plants. They also were good at woodcraft and knew how to use the compass.

At Camp Grellick, Cubs shot pistols, had canoe races and took part in other water sports. There were four or five dens in those days, according to the Cubmaster.

CHARLES BLEHA became Cubmaster in 1956. He had 127 Cubs in eight dens, the largest pack in Charlevoix. At Pack meetings, each den presented a skit and parents were invited to meetings where their boys were to receive awards. Bleha remembers the boys were particularly interested in their Scout magazine.

Maurice Foster was Cubmaster next for three years. Every spring the boys had a picnic at Whiting Park and Del Terrill conducted games for the Cubs before lunch.

Cubs took regular trips to Camp Grellick and one year during Michigan Week the boys decorated a store window. Foster had nine dens.

In 1960, James Whitley took over the job of Cubmaster. He had 68 Cubs in eight dens. At Camp Grellick the boys practiced with bows and arrows and did some target shooting. At the end of the year they had a picnic at Whiting Park, with bag races, a tug of war and baseball game.

The biggest event of the year was the Blue and Gold dinner in February.

From 1961 to 1963, Bob Hooper was Cubmaster, followed by Doug Wilks in 1964 and Melvin Niswander in 1965. Present Cubmaster is Ken Empey.

EARL HOLBORN was the founder of the Webelos den in Charlevoix.

Among activities developed

Five Cub Ranks Help Boys Grow

There are five ranks in Cubbing. The first step is the Bobcat. To attain this you merely take the Cub scout Oath and by the Pack over the years is the Pinewood Derby, using model racers on a track. Cubs also take part in sliding parties, family cookouts, and trips to nearby points of interest such as Ford Michillimackinac.

When a boy reaches 10½ years of age he works on his Webelos rank. The Webelos promise to live up to the rules of good Scouting.

An eight-year-old boy earns his Wolf Badge by completing a prescribed program of achievements.

The nine-year-old works on his Bear badge and the 10-year-old his Lion badge.

For the middle three ranks the achievements are similar but become progressively more difficult to match the abilities of the age group.

den is the elite of the pack. It is not necessary to achieve the ranks in succession. A boy coming in the pack at the age of nine would not have to earn the Wolf rank but would start immediately for the Bear badge which is proper for his age group.

In 1951 Robert Ashdon became Scoutmaster followed by Raymond Nowland in 1952.

other troops in Northern Michigan, Troop 11 camped at the Petoskey bathing beach on Little Traverse Bay.

DURING World War II the Scouts had several scrap paper drives to help war effort. A Scout uniform at that time cost $7.25. Local merchants would sometimes let a boy work for him till he had earned that amount.

Paul Woll was Scoutmaster for a short time and then in 1946 and 47 Mike Hamlin headed the troop. While he was scoutmaster, a troop from Indiana came to Charlevoix to board the boat for a camping trip to Beaver Island. When they arrived the boat had left. They contacted Hamlin and he made arrangements for the boys to stay at the American Legion hall. They took the boat to Beaver Island the next morning. They also stayed overnight there on their return trip.

In 1948 Joe Siraayer was Scoutmaster, and in 1949 and 1950 Rev. Gaylord Howell was in charge of the troop. In the spring of 1950 the troop went to the Council Camporee on Mackinac Island. All vehicles were left at Mackinaw City, and the boys carried their gear on the ferry. They camped in the field behind the Statue of Liberty was dedicated by the Scouts during this camporee. It is located just north of the business district near the main street.

In 1951 Robert Ashdon became Scoutmaster followed by Raymond Nowland in 1952.

THE TROOP attended the Camporee in East Jordan in 1953 with Frank Case as Scoutmaster. He also took them to Petoskey the following year to Camporee.

In 1955 and 56 Clifford Riley headed Troop 11. During the Camporee at Cadillac the troop went on a hike. After about a three mile walk they discovered they were lost. A nearby farmer gave Mr. Burns a ride back to the Camporee where he got the school bus and picked up Scoutmaster Riley and the boys.

The troop went on many camp-outs and attended the Klondike Derby in Petoskey. At the Camporee in Mancelona in 1956 the troop gathered enough mushrooms for all the boys to have some with their meal.

The year 1956 saw Scouting grow in Charlevoix. Troop No. 134 was sponsored by the South Side Churches of Charlevoix. They met Monday evenings in Fellowship Hall. Bruce Bartlett and Nick Hamilton were Scoutmasters during the two-year life of the troop.

ABOUT the same time Troop 138 was formed on the North Side and met in the Washington School. That troop was sponsored by the Valley Churches of Charlevoix. Jack Grubaugh and Lee Moerland were the Scoutmasters during the year or two the troop was in operation.

Troop 11 went to the Camporee in Kalkaska in 1957 under direction of Fred Freese of the Coast Guard.

In 1958 Louis Edwards started as Scoutmaster. The Camporee was held in Charlevoix for the first time. Almost one thousand boys and leaders, from all over northern Michigan gathered in the fields behind the V.F.W. Hall for a weekend of camping.

IN JUNE of 1958 Charlevoix Troop 11 was the service troop for the Mackinac Bridge dedication at Mackinaw City. Despite a severe storm that leveled the camp they still performed their duties.

Charlevoix Scouts traveled to Gaylord to the Camporee in a school bus in 1959. A pancake breakfast was held to raise money for troop equipment. Twelve boys attended a week summer camp at the Boy Scout Camp for Northern Michigan, Camp Grellick, near Traverse City.

THE CAMPOREE was held in Atlanta and seven boys went to Camp Grellick in 1960. The troop earned money to send one boy, Terry Stewart, to the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs, Colo.

In the spring of 1961 the Council Camporee was again held in Charlevoix. The Rod and Gun Club was the site, and the Kiwanis Club was in charge of the arrangements for this tented city of boys.

The spring of 1962 saw the troop at Milo for the Camporee. In June, 12 Scouts and two leaders set out on a five day camping trip that would take them over one thousand miles on a tour of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Such places as Tahquamenon Falls, Sugar Loaf Mountain, Porcupine Mountains, Copper Harbor, Iron Mountain and Big Springs were visited.

With a Camporee at Schack's Place near Traverse City behind them, the troop started on the big trip of 1963 to Pancake Bay in Canada. A side trip was taken to Wawa and Hawk Junction where some of the boys got a train ride. After an almost constant rain for two days the troop returned to Charlevoix a day early.

The boys had enjoyed Schack's place so much that early in May 1964 the troop returned there for a weekend camp.

Ship 212 Named for Schooner

BY GEORGE LOOMIS
Sea Scout Ship 211, "Our Son" was started on May 1, 1957. It was named in honor of "Our Son" the last of the three masted schooners on the Great Lakes. First Sea Scout skipper was Robert Sommerville who had about sixteen crew members.

During the early winter of 1957, Ed Shanahan talked to the Scouts to see if they were interested in starting a maple syrup project. The Scouts obtained money to purchase an evaporator and material for a prefab shack. Shanahan loaned the Scouts some of his equipment.

THE FIRST YEAR we had oil cans that we cleaned up and used for buckets. Permission was obtained from property owners to tap the trees to gather the sap. Many people donated wood for us to burn in the evaporator. We operated the project until 1962 when the Kiwanis took over.

The group's first boat was a 12-foot metal lifeboat that was given to us by the Coast Guard in 1958. The boys had a lot of fun with it. In 1961 a 30-foot rescue boat was obtained from the Coast Guard. It was quite a change from a twelve-foot boat. It had a large cabin with two bunks, and many other features.

MUCH WORK, time and money went into repairing the boat and buying equipment. In 1958 five members of the ship went on a trip to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. In 1961 two members went to Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois to an Explorer Delegate Conference. In 1959 four crew members went on a cruise on the Coast Guard Cutter Mackinaw, from Cheboygan to Chicago during the Queen of England's visit. Scouts also have attended yearly camporees and round table meetings at different places.

EVERY spring and sometimes in the fall Ship 211 takes a camping trip of about three or four days. Some of the places we have gone are Fox Island, Beaver Island and Drummond Island, and many others. Many items like seamanship, navigation, boat handling and other nautical activities are studied and practiced during the summer sailing season.

The yearly number of crew members is about sixteen and more are always welcome. It would take a long time to list all the people-residents of Charlevoix and summer people who have donated time, equipment and funds to help keep Ship 211 in good running order.

In 1964 Lt. Dave Smith, executive officer on the Cutter Sundew took over as skipper. Since then Scouts have had many more opportunities to learn about the sea. They took a trip on the Sundew and smaller Coast Guard boats, which were good Scouting experiences.

Some of the Scouts who were crew members 1957 have traveled all over the world. A few are even in the Navy. Sea Scout Ship 211 is the oldest and continuous Sea Scout Ship in northern Michigan.

A 23-foot cabin cruiser was given to Charlevoix Sea Scouts last summer by Clark Coulter. The boat has a Chrysler marine engine.

Lt. Dave Smith and Don Anderson were there to receive the keys.

The boat has a blue deck, overhead, interior and quarter-deck. The helmsman's cockpit has a varnished wood instrument panel.

The boat is equipped with fire extinguisher, life preservers, cant hook, chart table and head.

Garage Fixed Up by Sea Scouts

By Mike Etienne
and Roger Sharrow
Charlevoix Sea Scouts have worked like bees to fix up the upstairs of the old Coast Guard garage on Pine River Channel as a meeting place.

The bare wooden walls have been covered and painted and tool and office lockers have been installed.

The meeting room is equipped with portable fixtures to turn it into a "land ship" for troop meetings.

The first floor of the garage is used as storage space by the Coast Guard.

Post of Explorer Scouts Once Flourished Here

BY PETE BURNS
The first Explorer Post, Post 211, was organized in 1948 with Ron Abfelter and Hayward Leslie as leaders. Previously the older boys in scouting were part of Troop 11.

In 1950, George Wolf and Bob Hamilton took over, followed in 1951 by Pete Burns and Charles Bleha. During the next three years, Exploring probably reached its peak with thirty-eight active members. Three of the boys went to the National Jamboree in California.

DURING this period two boys were elected to the Order of the Arrow which is a National Honorary Camping Society for outstanding scouts. The Charlevoix Post was one of five in the Scenic Trails Council and the only one in the Northern District.

In 1954 and 1955, Ted Miller became advisor and the boys had plenty of camping and outdoor activities.

After 1955, Exploring was inactive until 1963 when two scouts with Pete Burns as Advisor, reorganized. They held 7:00 a.m. breakfast meetings in the homes of the scouts

Dummies Aided by Sea Scouts in Ready Alert

BY MIKE ETIENNE AND ROGER SHARROW

On Jan. 13, 1966 the Sea Scouts had a ready alert in which Post and Starboard crews had a contest to see who were the better rescuers.

Lt. Dave Smith put two dummies in a field on Waller Street just north of Charlevoix. One dummy had a cut over his right eye, a bleeding nose, and a bump on his head which could possibly be a concussion or skull fracture. Some boys gave medical attention to both dummies.

Bob Clock from the Courier office was on hand to take some pictures, and the doctor off of the Sundew was there to supervise.

Family Plays Role in Helping Cubs

Many people are required to run a good Cub Pack and the enthusiasm of the boys as well as the benefit they derive from the program depends on the amount of help.

A pack should have a committee of at least 10 men: chairman, secretary, treasurer, and chairman for publicity, registration, advancement and activities, plus at least three more to give moral support and ideas.

There should be a cubmaster and at least two assistants who became leaders of the Webelos Dens. The Cubmaster leads the pack meeting and he and the committee are responsible for the operation of the pack.

Each six boys should have a den with a den mother, assistant den mother, den chief, and den dad. The den mother and her assistant plan and supervise the den activities.

The den chief (a boy scout) helps the den mother carry out the program. The den dad helps the den mother with her never ending search for craft ideas and raw materials. He also helps her on special den activities when he can be available.

The Charlevoix pack has seldom had enough help. Some years the pack have not been able to get all of the boys who wanted to be cubscouts. It is recommended that a boy be excluded from the pack if his parents are not willing to participate and that a boy not be admitted to the pack meeting except when he is accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The 8 to 10-year-old boy is still family oriented and the program is planned to help the family. A boy whose family is not helping him cannot advance as he should. The only benefit he derives from the membership is his pleasure in belonging and wearing his uniform.

Keeps Track

Uno Suomela has been advancement man for the Charlevoix Cub Pack Committee since 1945. The pack has enrolled about 40 boys per year since that time. Suomela further estimates that about 600 boys have been involved in the program.

In 1956, the pack had 16 Webelos, the highest rank attainable in Cubbing. In 1958 and in 1959 Charlevoix had nine Webelos. Most years average seven or less.

Usually 10 percent of the cubs never get beyond Bobcat, 40 per cent get to the Wolf rank but not beyond, 20 percent get to the Bear rank, 15 per cent get to the Lion rank, and 15 per cent get to Be Webelos.

SUOMELA notices that there is a correlation between Webelos rank and a boy's future. Boys who attained Webelos rank did well in High School. Many have gone on to College and are becoming outstanding citizens.

There has been a definite drop in Cubbing achievements during the years 1963 to 1965.

Taking Scout Oath Big Step for Boy

BY LARRY ANDERS

On my honor, I will do my best, to do my duty, to God and my Country, and to obey the Scout Law.

These are the opening words of the pledge a boy takes in being invested into Scouting. These are important words to a boy, and he is expected to live up to this pledge.

Yet, it seems the only time someone really understands this, is when a headline reads, "Scout Receives Medal for Saving Life", or, "Scouts Give First Aid During Disaster", or even this article you are reading now.

Sometimes people ask, "How can I help?"

Troop Eleven has organized a Mother's Auxiliary which any mother, whose son is a troop member, is eligible to join. Active work in your troop will help ensure better Scouting for the boys, and you will meet a grand group of people, all working for the same goal - - - a fine future for their sons.

SO IF ANYONE in a Scout uniform comes to you sometime and says, "How about giving us a hand?", you'll know what to say and do.

Lord Baden Powell, the founder of Scouting, once wrote: "The most worthwhile thing is to try and put a bit of happiness into the lives of others."

City Boy Scouts of 1942 Followed Many Careers

BY BOB DeYOUNG

Scouts go places and do things after their Scouting days are over, a survey of early Charlevoix Scouts indicates.

For example, take Charlevoix Troop 11 from the year 1942 when Mayor E. D. Hawley was Scoutmaster.

The troop was an active one which had camps on Beaver Island and at Sand Bay on South Fox Island.

One night on Beaver, the temperature dropped to 32 degrees and the wind blew so hard that all but one tent were knocked down.

TRAVELING to Sand Bay, 20 out of the 21 boys got seasick, but felt better after they set their feet on dry land. The troop was active collecting scrap paper for the war effort, collecting $170 for their trouble.

The troop met in the city hall Tuesday evenings and was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Harry Bingham was president and members of the troop committee were Robert Bridge, Rollie Lewis, Ray Hamilton, Clifford McKibben, Fred Bancroft, Fred Young and M. A. Levinson.

IT IS interesting to note that as Scoutmaster Pat Hawley steps down as mayor of Charlevoix, one of the boys from his troop in 1942, Bill Fochtman, is seeking to be elected mayor.

Following is a run-down on some of the Scouts of 1942 and what they are doing today.

Bill Poole is purchasing agent for a small company in Reed City. Eugene Bridge is with the U.S. Army in Vietnam. Earle Dean Stephens works for a masking tape company in Port Huron. Bill Peterson is a major in the U.S. Air Force, stationed at Austin, Texas. Clifford Lagerman operates a beauty salon in Traverse City. Albert Fox is a Michigan State Policeman in Flint.

BILL FOCHTMAN works for Charlevoix Oil Co. and is 1st Ward alderman. Herbert Hamlin is a building contractor in Boyne City. Russell Lewis works for American Mold Engineering Corp. in Pontiac. Don North works for a box board agency in Joliet, Ill.

Don Brown works for Hess Furniture in Charlevoix. Bernie Ward is employed by the city of Charlevoix. Jack Mol is with Mol Plumbing of Charlevoix. Eugene Barber is Master Sergeant in the U.S. Air Force, stationed in Texas. Clarke Bergeon is a radio announcer in Denver, Colo. Kendall Coursen lives in Coopersville, Mich.

BILL CAREY owns an insurance agency in Charlevoix. Bob Carey is employed by paper mill in Cincinnati, Ohio. Herb Wickersham is a special engineer for the Bendix Corp. in Ann Arbor. Frank Nowland, Jr., is with a Federal Agency in California. Andy Essenberg owns Essenberg's Grocery, Charlevoix. Richard Waffle lives in Charlevoix. Charles Bennett sells merchandise for John Horan and lives in Charlevoix during the summer and in Scottsdale, Ariz., in the winter. Don Baumbach is employed by a brick company in Holland, Mich. Jack Orwosky lived here a short time and moved to Florida. Dick Hardy is a foreman with Certified Foods at Saugus, Calif.

No information is available on the whereabouts of Bill Cruthers.

Scouts Visit Printing Plant

Charlevoix Boy Scouts, along with Louis Edwards, Scoutmaster, toured the Petoskey News-Review printing plant Jan. 8.

The purpose of the tour was to show the Scouts how the supplement (which you are reading) was going to be printed. Thomas McDaniels, business manager of the Charlevoix Courier, conducted the tour.

Scouts attending were: Panther Patrol, Jim Aronovsky, Jim Siedl, and Dave Fochtman. Eagle Patrol, Randy DeYoung, Gordon Solomon, and Jerry Fochtman. Wolverine Patrol, Larry Balsden, Greg Mosey, Joe Avery, and Enos Bacon. Owl Patrol, Bruce Meggison, Ken Wilks, Bob Donaldson, and Dave Mieras. Senior Patrol Leader Larry Anders also attended.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Pack

Charlevoix's Kiwanis Club sponsors the Cub Pack. In order to have a pack you must have the organization which will take responsibility for its operation.

In the spring when the sap gatherers are out you see Cubs and Scouts who are busy having fun helping the sponsoring organization earn the money to help the pack when it needs it for extra expenses.

You also see men working hard and having fun making sure the money is available when it is needed.

Outline Pack Budget

The Charlevoix Cub Pack operates on a budget plan which is suggested by the scout organization. A boy is charged $2.65 for his original registration. Then he pays .15¢ per week dues.

If there is more than one boy in the pack from one family, the second boy pays only $1.15, because only one subscription to Boys' Life magazine is purchased.

THE BUDGET plan was adopted because many boys never got their Cub Scout books which are their guide to Cubbing. Of the $2.65, 50 cents goes to the National Council for registration and $1.50 goes for a subscription to Boys' Life magazine. Another 45 cents is for the book for his age group, and 20 cents is for badges for the year.

If a boy pays his dues each week then the next registration and subscription and book are taken care of. If they are not paid, then the boy does not have enough for re-registration and the pack is in trouble.

THE LACK of money need not prevent any boy from becoming a Cub because the sponsor has promised to pay expenses of any boy who needs the help. All that is necessary is to tell the Cubmaster of the need.

There are many uniform parts gathering dust in the closets around town. In the past when cubs have made appeals many of them have been donated. If you have uniform parts which could be used by a Cub Scout, please take them to Ken's Garage and they will

Ten Million Scouts in 86 Countries

There are Boy Scout organizations in 86 countries of the world, with a total membership of over 10 million.

Scouting is not carried on behind the Iron Curtain since be distributed as wisely as possible.

Communists do not believe Scouting.

The largest membership is in the United States, followed by Great Britain, where the Scouting movement was founded. In third place is India followed by the Philippines, Canada and Indonesia.

Mr. John Schmidt, President
Charlevoix, Kiwanis Club
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Mr. Schmidt:

While in the process of drawing together materials for the annual report of the Council, the news that the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club has sponsored Scouting in Charlevoix for 26 years brought a most inspirational note.

Twenty six years of Scouting has been the good fortune for boys of Charlevoix because the Kiwanis "Club members believed in their motto "We Build."

How impressive it would be to the early founders of both Kiwanis and Scouting to see how their joint effort has progressed and to reflect on the great good that has been done through the years.

Twenty six is meaningful for Scouting in Charlevoix and is meaningful for the council for it too has been in the field helping men and women of Northern Michigan bring Scouting to their boys.

We salute the Charlevoix Kiwanians for their dedication to the purposes of character building, citizenship training and physical fitness through the program of the Boy Scouts of America.

Sincerely,
George E. Schraut

Leaders Learn Ropes at Campout

BY ERIC PETERSON

On Oct. 7, 1965, patrol leaders of Troop 11, Charlevoix, embarked on their annual Patrol Leaders' Training Program.

The program this year was held at the Great Sleeping Bear Dunes near Glen Arbor, Mich. Patrol leaders attending were Robert DeYoung, Eagle Patrol; James England, Wolverine Patrol; Terry Blissett, Owl Patrol; and Eric Peterson, Panther Patrol.

GOING along on the training trip were Louis Edwards, Scoutmaster; Don Black, Senior Patrol Leader; Lawrence Anders, Assistant Senior Patrol Leader; and Ronald Hoffman, Troop Scribe.

They pitched camp about noon at Sleeping Bear Dunes Park, with the weather warm and sunny. This was soon to change to cool and rainy weather for the balance of the campout.

After getting campfires, patrol leaders were instructed in their specific duties. They were told how to conduct successful patrol meetings, what their duties are as patrol leaders and what the patrol's function is as part of the troop.

THE CAMPOUT had its higher side also. On the fun side was the camping itself and preparation of meals in the rain. This is fun? Scouts also climbed and explored the dunes and surrounding area. When coming down the Sleeping Bears S. P. L. Don Black provided the entertainment by trying the descent head-over-heels, by accident of course.

The next evening all of the boys were guests of Scoutmaster Edwards at a movie in Traverse City.

They left the Sleeping Bear area, after a fun-filled weekend, on Sunday and returned to their homes in Charlevoix the Beautiful.

Magazine Award

The Boys Life Magazine award for having 100 per cent of the boys in the unit receiving the magazine was presented to Pack 11 and to Troop 11 both of Charlevoix.

The presentation was made by Mr. Guy Molby, District Scout Executive, at the district round-table meeting held in Charlevoix Jan. 13.

Boys Could Put Old Uniforms to Good Use

If you have a scout uniform around the house that is collecting dust and taking up space, why not pass it on to a boy who could put it to good use.

Each year many new boys join the Scouting organizations in Charlevoix. All of them can't afford to buy a brand new uniform.

A call to one of the unit leaders will arrange for the uniform to be picked up.

If you have a Cub Scout uniform call Ken Empey, 547-6487; a Boy Scout uniform call Louis Edwards 547-6630; or a Sea Scout uniform call Dave Smith, 547-2856.

Camp Grelick Haven for Scouts

Camp Grelick came into being around 1930, mainly as a result of the money and work of Mr. Grelick and Mr. Hobbs.

Located about eight miles southeast of Traverse City, the land was originally owned by an organization called Community Camps. It was used mostly by Boy and Girl Scout troops, but any organization could rent it.

The camp was not developed to much under this system since no group could call it their own. Its use was on a year-to-year basis. A few buildings were constructed, but the capacity was limited. With the camping season divided, only a small number of boys could attend.

AS SCOUTING grew in Northern Michigan, it became apparent that a bigger, better, more permanent camping area was needed.

In the mid-1950's the Rotary Club of Traverse City purchased the camp and gave Scenic Trails Council a 99-year lease. The club also purchased another camp site in a different location for Girl Scouts.

With the new long-term lease, Boy Scouts really had a camp to call their own, and it was now possible to make permanent improvements.

SINCE Community Chest funds can be used only for Council operation, it was necessary to find other ways to finance buildings needed at Camp Grelick. Donations by individuals and groups paid for most of the improvements.

Some gifts were money, some were equipment and supplies some were time and hard work, and some gifts were a combination of all three.

Each year the Council puts profits from the Circus or Scout - O - Rama into the Camp Grelick Improvement Fund.

THE FIRST new structure was a much needed storage building. As money and men became available, more buildings were added.

The Traverse City Kiwanis Club and Rotary Clubs were especially helpful. A shower building and Bar-B-Q pit were built. The Trading Post was donated by Jerry Oleson, Dr. Earl Baker underwrote the cost of a chapel.

The biggest single improvement, the dining hall, got underway as a result of a donation from Charlevoix. Through the efforts of Miss Fran Martin, lumber left over from construction of the Big Rock Nuclear Plant was donated to Scenic Trails Council by Bechiel Corp.

TRUCKS and men came from all over northern Michigan to haul the lumber to camp, more than 16 semi-trailers loads in all. The lumber has been used in every building built at the camp since. Picnic tables and a dock have been constructed from it, and there is still some left for future projects.

Jesse Besser of Alpena saw the lumber as the start of the dining hall, but more important than that, he saw many people from northern Michigan working together to build a really fine camp for boys. He donated $50,000 to complete the dining hall.

Last summer, 1,000 boys from all over Northern Michigan attended the camp, compared to 30 who pitched tents there that first summer 36 years ago.

Camp Grelick is now valued at nearly a quarter of a million dollars. With continued support from people who are sold on the Scouting movement, even better years are in store.

Only One Beaver

BY RON HOFFMAN

Only one person in Charlevoix has received the Silver Beaver Award. Leonard Burns was the recipient in 1956.

The Silver Beaver award is the highest award given to men by the Scout Council for outstanding service to Boy Scouting. Men of high character are chosen for this award in recognition of years of service to Boy Scouts and also service to their Church and their community.

Burns started in Scouting as a Cub Leader in Charlevoix in 1946 and has worked in Scouting continually ever since.

He was Explorer adviser for several years and has held many positions on the district committee and on the Council committee.

At present, he is active with Troop 11 of Charlevoix and is a member-at-large of Scenic Trails Council.

His latest activity was as general chairman of the Klondike Derby held in Charlevoix on Jan. 29, 1966.

In many ways. First of all the boy pays part. Boy Scouts are taught at an impressionable age that they should pay their own way in life and not expect handouts.

Boys pay for their own uniforms, handbooks, and personal equipment they want. They pay their own way in any camps or activities in which they participate. Most troop expenses are covered by dues the boys pay each week.

IF THE BOYS would like more troop equipment, such as tents, then they work together to earn money.

SPONSORING institutions such as churches and service clubs help by providing meeting places. Leaders donate their time and talent, although it is doubtful that a dollar value could be placed on that.

AN 18-COUNTY area in Northern Michigan called Scenic Trails Council employs a staff of professional Scout executives who give full time to organizing community leaders and resources to provide an educational Scout program for boys.

An office or service center with a clerical staff is maintained to keep records for each troop. The center also provides badges, literature and other program aids.

TO MAINTAIN these essential services, Scenic Trails Council has become a member of the Community Chest. Every contribution helps a little in making possible the Boy Scout program in Charlevoix.

In addition, many parents and friends of Scouting make extra financial contributions by enrolling as sustaining members. Others express their interest in Scouting by special gifts or bequests to the Council Trust Fund. It is by this means that the Council is able to make improvements and construct new buildings at Camp Grellick.

World Scout jamborees are normally held every four years, and national jamborees during the intervals between the world event. As many as fifty thousand Scouts have taken part in some of these events.

New Handbook for Scouts is Off the Press

The Boy Scouts of America have released the new Seventh Edition of the Boy Scout Handbook.

There are many improvements in the new edition. The arrangement of material has been changed to make it easier for the boys to find what they are looking for. Revised Requirements for Boy Scout ranks are also included.

The first edition was published in 1910 and since that time more than 21 million copies have been printed.

The Boy Scout Handbook has always kept in step with the changing times and with new developments. This latest issue is designed specifically for the American boy of today.

Award Attests Faith

BY LARRY ANDERS

The God and Country award program has been developed and is administered by the Protestant Committee on Scouting. It is not a merit badge, but rather a separate award.

The candidate must fulfill religious requirements of his own church, under the guidance of his minister. To receive a church award, a boy scout must have attained a First Class rank or higher.

THERE ARE three steps in the program, dealing with five subjects: 1. Christian faith.

2. Christian witness. 3. Christian world outreach. 4. Christian citizenship. 5. Christian fellowship.

There are similar awards for members of other faiths. The Ad Altare Dei Award and the Pope Pius XII Award for Explorers are offered by the Roman Catholic Church. The Ner Tamid Award is for boys of the Jewish faith.

THE FIRST boy in Charlevoix to receive the God and Country award was Donald Black. He received it at the Methodist Church under Rev. Raymond McBratne in February, 1965.

On Sunday, Oct. 27, 1965, three other Boy Scouts received God and Country Awards. They were Paul Fiedorek, Duane Wilks and Larry Anders.

These boys had been working for over a year on this award, beginning with the Rev.

Robert Harrison and finishing with the Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

GEORGE E. Schraut, Scout Executive for Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, spoke on what the God and Country Award is and the requirements of the award.

Louis Edwards, Scoutmaster of Troop 11, presented the candidates with letters from the Youth Ministry of the United Church Board of Homeland Ministries. The mothers of the Scouts planned the awards on their sons.

The God and Country Award is for all Protestant Boy Scouts or Explorers. The twelfth point of the Scout Law is: "A Scout is reverent. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion."

Troop Makes Annual Report

On Dec. 27, 1965, Scoutmaster Louis Edwards, Troop Committee Chairman Douglas Wilks, Senior Patrol Leader Larry Anders and Patrol Leader Bob De Young delivered the annual report of the Boy Scout Troop 11 to the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix, the sponsoring institution.

In the presentation, the report of the International Exchange was given along with a recap of the other events in the past year.

Doo Anders, Scenic Trails Council Commissioner presented the Scoutmaster, the troop charter which officially recognizes troop eleven in the Boy Scouts of America.

Boy Scout Recalls Tahquamenon Trip

BY TIM ANDERS
It had been the desire of many Scouts for some time to visit the beautiful Tahquamenon Falls. So it was decided the troops would make this longed-for trip on Friday, May 21, after school. At the mouth of the Tahquamenon River, Scouts set up camp for the weekend. It had been threatening to rain all day, but it had to start raining just when the tents were going up.

That night it was wet and cold. By morning it had stopped raining and didn't rain again that weekend.

SATURDAY we stayed at the campsite and some Scouts enjoyed a conservation hike with a park officer. About a half-mile from the campsite a few scouts sighted some snapping turtles buried in the mud of a pond. They managed to grab them by their sides and carry them up to the campsite. Well, you can imagine the excitement those 12-inch, full-grown snapping turtles created.

SUNDAY morning after a brief church worship we started to pack up, while the Catholics went into town for church.

About noon we finally got started to see the falls. First we went to the lower falls to see the magnificent view. Some went fishing (and had pretty good luck), while others took the trails along the banks of the falls.

Then we set out to view the most beautiful part of the Tahquamenon River, the Upper Falls.

It was a beautiful site to see. Some boys toured underneath the falls, which was not permitted.

No one wanted to leave this area of beauty when it was time to go and we hoped we could visit it again someday.

How Scouting Came to U.S.

The way in which the Boy Scout movement came to America is one of the most perfect examples of the fact that it isn't the size of a "Good turn" that counts -- it's the doing of it, whether large or small.

It was the fall of 1909. All day long the great city of London had been in the grip of a dense pea-soup fog. It had covered the city, had practically stopped all traffic, all business in the British capital.

AN AMERICAN publisher,

William D. Boyce, from Chicago, Illinois, had trouble finding an office address in the center of the city. He had stopped under a street lamp to locate himself, when out of the gloom a boy approached him.

"Can I help you, sir?" asked the boy.

"You most certainly can," said Boyce. "I wish you'd tell me how to get to this address..."

"I'll take you there," said the boy, and led on to Boyce's destination. When they got there the American reached into his pocket for a tip, but before he had a chance to offer it, the boy said: "No, thank you sir, I am a Scout and a Scout does not take anything for helping someone."

"A Scout? A Scout?" asked Boyce.

"Haven't you heard about the Baden-Powell Boy Scouts, sir?"

Boyce hadn't. "Tell me about them," he said.

And so the boy told the American about himself and his brother Scouts. Boyce was very much interested and, after finishing his errand, had the boy take him to the headquarters of the British Boy Scouts. There the boy disappeared.

At the headquarters Boyce met Baden-Powell, the famous British general who had founded the Scout movement two years before. Boyce became so impressed with what Baden-Powell told him about Scouting that he decided to bring it home with him.

On Feb. 8, 1910, in Washington D.C., Boyce and other outstanding men interested in boys founded the Boy Scouts of America. Ever since then this day has been observed as the birthday of American Scouting.

WHAT HAPPENED to the boy? No one knows. He was never heard of again. But he will never be forgotten.

Ontario Troop Returns

BY DON ANDERS

Toss members of a service club together with a bunch of boy Scouts and the mixture means International Scouting.

This happened last June with the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix and Troop Eleven. The Kiwanians donated maple syrup produced by the club members to the Scouts, who, in turn, sold the cans for expenses to enjoy a trip to Preston, Ont.

On June 26, 16 Scouts and three adult leaders began the trip to Preston, arriving at 5 o'clock Canadian time, in time for a dinner prepared by the ladies of St. John's Anglican Church, the sponsoring unit of 3rd Preston Scouts.

A letter from Canada's Prime Minister, Lester B. Pearson, awaited the Charlevoix Troop. The greeting was presented by Member of Parliament, Max Saltzman.

AFTER DINNER, a trip was made to Doon to see the Pioneer Village which impressed the Scouts on Ontario history and lore. Sunday morning saw all Scouts and leaders at church services in St. John's to consecrate 3rd Preston's new Maple Leaf flag. The afternoon and evening were spent with various host families sight-seeing and getting to know each other better.

On behalf of the Government of Canada and personally, I am pleased to extend cordial greetings to the American and Canadian Boy Scout Troops participating in the International Scouting Exchange at Preston on June 26. I am particularly delighted to welcome Scouts from Charlevoix, Michigan. I am confident that you will be warmly received by the people of Preston and that your visit will be educational, enjoyable and rewarding in every respect.

Such exchange visits among those who adhere to the Scout law demonstrate to the families of both our countries the friendship and unity of spirit shared by peoples of Canada and the United States.

With best wishes to all for a memorable visit,

Hats Off to a Democrat

No matter what the outcome of Monday's election, it is bound to go down in history as a landmark of sorts.

It marks the first time in the memory of city officials that a Democrat has registered as such in a city election. The candidate in question is John F. Martin, who is running for alderman in the Second Ward.

IN PAST elections --- as in the one coming up --- many admitted Democrats have filed on the Republican ticket on the belief that a Democrat can't win in Charlevoix.

Martin, by registering under his true colors, is out to prove them wrong.

The Courier congratulates him on having the courage of his convictions. We wish him well in the election. We hope all Second Ward Democrats see fit to support one of their number who has such faith in his party affiliation.

Polls Open at 7 a.m.

Charlevoix voters will go to the polls Monday to vote for mayor, aldermen in three wards, city clerk and treasurer, and three ward supervisors.

Deputy City Clerk Ida Helge says voters from all three wards will vote in the City Hall and the polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

With the exception of the alderman's vacancy in the Second Ward, the election for all practical purposes will determine who will govern the city for the coming year.

IN THE Second Ward, John F. Martin has filed as a Democrat, hence he will face the Republican candidate in the general election April 4.

On the Second Ward ballot, Republican candidates will appear on one side and Martin on the other. Democrats voting for Martin will be unable to vote for any other candidate.

Candidates for mayor are William E. Fochtman of the Charlevoix Oil Company and Dr. Walter F. Hoffmann, a dentist. Both men presently are serving on the City Council.

CANDIDATES for Council in the First Ward are Claire Martin and Jack Mol and in the Second Ward, Don Brown, Nathan Boss, Bob Lieberman and John F. Martin.

Running unopposed in the Third Ward is Alderman Jerry Whitley. Also running without opposition are supervisors Kit Carson, Harold Totten and Lee Moerland representing the First, Second and Third Wards respectively.

City Clerk Hugh Mayne and Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham also are running without opposition.

Library Costs Soaring

U.S. Holding Out for Union Scale

Architect Jack Begrow told the School Board Monday night that contractors for the proposed library on Clinton Street might be hard to find because of the union wage scales demanded by the federal government.

He added that soaring labor costs probably will necessitate eliminating certain non-essentials in the new building.

Library Bids Asked

The Board of Education has asked bids for the construction of the new library on Clinton Street.

Bids for architectural, mechanical, electrical and equipment trades must be received by the board by 8 p.m. March 22 by the board in the High School library.

Proposals must be on forms furnished by the architect and accompanied by a bid bond or certified check in the amount of five per cent of the proposal submitted.

PLANS will be available after Feb. 21 at the office of Begrow and Brown at 215 1/2 Bridge St., Charlevoix.

A check for $25 must be submitted as a deposit for each set of plans and specifications. The money will be refunded within 10 days after opening of bids if the plans are returned in good condition.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids in whole or in part.

Scout-O-Rama Set March 26

The Scout-O-Rama for Cub, Boy and Explorer Scouts in the Charlevoix area will be Saturday, March 26, at the Petoskey High School Gym.

Tickets for the show will go on sale about two weeks before the show and may be purchased from any Cub or Boy Scout.

Produced since 1959, Scout-O-Ramas are booth-type exhibitions of the skills of Cubbing, Scouting and Exploring.

THE NEW library will cost about $111,000, two-thirds of which will be donated by the federal government, Begrow said. However, he pointed out that any project receiving federal funds must pay union scales wages -- something many local contractors may balk at doing.

"Paying union scale on one job and then going back to their old rate on the next messes up their relationship with their men," he explained.

He added that labor rates in Charlevoix are about one quarter lower than they are in certain downstate areas like Ann Arbor.

BIDS FOR the work will be let Feb. 21, but Begrow cautioned board members against expecting a flood of bids. He said some school jobs down below are not even being bid, and that some equipment suppliers report they are six months behind.

In face of the unexpected labor costs, Begrow listed some price-cutting measures for the board to consider:

1. Simplifying the ramp-steps arrangement could result.

Tea to Promote Dance and Art Classes Here

A tea will be held at the Lodge Feb. 20 from 3 until 5 p.m. for persons interested in enrolling in dance or art classes.

Mrs. Meg Nutting of Traverse City will be on hand to discuss the program with interested persons and pre-registrations for classes will be taken.

The tea is sponsored by the Mothers Committee of the Meg Nutting Studio.

IT WILL TAKE a blizzard before this scene is repeated at Mr. McSaubia. Warm rain last week melted most of the snow on the ski hill.

Tropical Showers Melt Our Snow

A big helping of spring weather was served to the Charlevoix area last week. A tropical rainstorm booming up from the Gulf of Mexico dumped more than an inch of warm rain on the city, melting two feet of snow in two days.

Only the remnants of snowbanks were left around driveway entrances and along plowed walks.

The rain, which started Tuesday afternoon, abated on Thursday. A frosting of new snow and cooler temperatures arrived by the weekend.

WEATHERMAN Harry Ladd said the mid-winter storm brought 1.37 inches of precipitation during the week, including .7 of an inch of snow.

A high temperature of 47 was recorded Wednesday, with a low of 16 degrees Monday, Feb. 16.

SKI AREAS without snow making equipment were all but washed out by the unprecedented rainstorm.

Boyer Mountain, however, reports it had 18 to 20 inches of base in areas within the range of man-made snow equipment and that skiing as of Tuesday morning was "good."

Chairs on Victor and Top Notch will be in operation during the week, as well as one beginners' rope tow. A spokesman said other slopes probably will be open by the weekend.

Girl's Job Corps Center Will Open at Marquette

Congressman Raymond F. Cleveland announced here last night that a Job Corps Center for Women will be opened at Northern Michigan University this summer.

Cleveland said that the Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a $2,725,000 grant to NMU for preparation and operation of the center for 17 months. The contract, he said, can be extended annually for four years.

THE WOMEN'S center, Cleveland pointed out, will be the first in Michigan. There are six other Job Corps Centers for Women in the United States.

There is now a Job Corps Center for men at Marquette in the western Upper Peninsula.

It will also be the first women's center operated by a university. Northern Michigan University's Public Service Division will operate the center.

Cleveland said a maximum of 300 girls, 16-21 years old, will be enrolled in the center. Most of them dropouts, will come from throughout the country.

THE GIRLS will receive an allowance, work clothes, board and room and medical and dental care.

The center's curriculum will include basic education, vocational training for business and office work, sales, data processing, foodservice, medical and dental aide studies, home and family life, citizenship, health, and guidance counseling.

Upon graduation, Cleveland said, Northern Michigan University will help the girls find jobs.

The center, which will use existing buildings in Marquette and on the NMU campus, is expected to open late June or early July of this year, Cleveland said.

6,052 Deer Killed on Roads in 1965

About 300,000 pounds of wasted venison and an estimated $1.2 million in vehicle damage.

This is the statistical story of last year's highway deer accidents in Michigan which racked up a new record (and a lot of cars and trucks) as at least 6,052 whitetails were killed by motorists, according to the Conservation Department.

THE STATE'S previous high, set in 1964, was 5,979. Michigan's 1965 total, which established a record for the sixth straight year, is considered a minimum figure by the Department. An unknown number of crippled animals died in fields and forests after they were hit on highways.

As in recent years, the problem of vehicle-deer collisions reached most alarming proportions in southern Michigan where heavy traffic and a ballooning deer herd form a costly combination for whitetails and motorists alike.

A TOTAL of 3,232 animals was struck down in this area last year, a 14-percent jump over 1964 and an all-time high for any region of the state. Also reflecting how serious the problem has become in southern Michigan is the fact that the region's highway deer losses have nearly doubled in three years.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, deer had 1,747 fatal run-ins with vehicles last year, compared with a record 1,915 in 1964. Whitetail road losses in the Upper Peninsula dropped from 1,240 to 1,073.

ACCIDENTS during October, 771, and November, 1,086, accounted for almost one third of last year's deer toll on Michigan highways. This averages out to about 30 a day for the two-month period.

Water Levels Dip in January

Lack of melting snow resulted in lower ground water levels in much of Michigan in January, the Conservation Department reports. Test wells of the U.S. Geological Survey indicated a decline in the northern two-thirds of the state during last month. However, a key well in Roscommon county registered a record high January level.

In most of the southern third of the state, groundwater measurements remained below average. Exceptions were Gratiot and Kalamazoo counties where above-average readings were noted.

Take it off, and there's just a pure, unabridged Pontiac: crisp, Wide-Track style and handling. A handsome interior. Valentine Party at State Hospital

BY MRS. THOMAS MAXWELL

A Valentine party was held on Sunday afternoon at the Traverse City State Hospital for 34 patients in Ward 1. The party was planned by Mrs. Minert Veenstra, Miss Delora Richardson and Miss Ann Cunningham, with a program of singing of old hymns, reading of scripture and poems. One of the patients was pianist. Each patient was given a Valentine with a hankie. Refreshments of Jello, Cookies, Candy and Coffee were served.

Mrs. Connie Fales of Charlevoix, who was injured in an automobile accident several years ago, is a patient in Ward 1, and enjoys having her friends visit her.

Those attending the party from the Community Church of God of Charlevoix were Miss Ann Cunningham, Miss Delora Richardson, Mrs. Minert Veenstra, Mrs. James Bears, Mrs. Fern Pease, Mrs. E. A. Mock, Mrs. George Hallam, Mrs. Robert Daugherty, Mrs. Willard Bodley and Rev. and Mrs. George Majors.

The word "vaccination" comes from the Latin word "vacca," meaning cow. The term originally referred only to the injection of cowpox virus into the body to prevent smallpox.

IN THE JAN. 27 tourney, the Oddfellows won by five holes. Again, Ron Geer was high Mason with 909 and S. Baker was high Oddfellow with 914. Jan. 20 the Masons won by Miss Judy LaClair and Arthur Miller III of Ellsworth were witnesses.

THE BRIDE wore a navy blue and white suit with navy accessories.

After the wedding the couple toured lower Michigan. They presently are living with the groom's parents at Atwood. Devries will leave for the Air Force Feb. 14, 1966.

Swim Awards Are Issued

Red Cross swimming awards have been issued to Charlevoix County youngsters who participated in the Water Safety program sponsored by the Charlevoix County Red Cross chapter, Charles Landers, executive secretary of the chapter, has announced.

Some 180 were from Charlevoix where they received their swimming instructions from Joet Arvita and Kathy Seidl, who taught swimming as part of the city recreation program, Marilyn Novak who operates a play camp, Mrs. Janet Shields who teaches at the Belvedere Club and Thomas F. Kennedy who was the instructor at Camp Charlevoix.

Others in the county were Ronald McWatters of East Jordan, Patricia Davis and William Darbee of Boyne City.

All three communities in the county offer swimming instructions for the various age groups as part of their recreation programs.

An Eloquent Sermon

The church building is often an inspiration to people who never set foot inside it. It preaches a sermon when they pass it. It preaches an eloquent sermon of the interest of God in man. In a world threatened with violence and destruction on every hand it is good to know there is one institution that has a high opinion of man, that believes in him, seeks to lift and improve his position instead of enslaving or destroying him. Being what it is it deserves all the support we can give it. Some say, "But there are many hypocrites attending church." What of it? Someone has said, "Church attendance itself is not so much an expression of one's goodness as it is an expression of one's need for God's help in finding goodness."

Of course it is a human institution and some churches are more successful in lifting man's spirit and causing him to think on things loftier than his daily affairs. Find the one that inspires you inside its doors, as well as outside, and attend it regularly.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

I am slowly coming to the conclusion that nobody loves a good guy—not even the good guys.

Psychologists will tell you that the little boy who never gives his mother any trouble might be her pride and joy, but it's the little hellion who tugs hardest at her heartstrings.

In high school, the good boy may study diligently and get fine grades, but it's not very likely the girls will rumple his hair in the cafeteria line or the boys will pat him on the lanny at the basketball game.

And so it seems to go through life. The late G. B. Shaw recognized this personality in mankind, and in himself, when he remarked that he'd take heaven for climate, hell for company.

Anglo-Saxons have long displayed an affection for the "bad guy" in their preference of folk heroes. They have been taught the virtue of goodness, but deep down they have a soft spot for the maverick. This could account for the popularity of Robin Hood on both sides of the Atlantic. The renegade woodsman appeals to the dual forces striving within us, as does America's own folk hero, Jesse James. The two gentlemen are bandits pure and simple, but their plunder goes to help the poor, thus satisfying both sides of our schizoid personalities.

In more recent times, probably no two characters have done more to enhance the stature of their respective professions than Marshal Matt Dillon and Doc on the TV serial "Gunsmoke." Yet these two guardians of public health and welfare spend an awful lot of time belly-up-to-the-bar in the Longbranch saloon.

AN ELECTION usually is a good time to watch this rip tide in human behavior at work. And it happens year after year in community after community.

I'll never forget an election campaign in the town where I worked as a cub reporter. One candidate was a paragon of virtue—the kind of man who ideally should stand at the helm of the ship of state directing the course of events with a firm hand and a steady eye. He had proven himself through a lifetime of service to his family, his church and his community. He changed his underwear every day wore clean socks from time to time, and didn't clean his fingernail in public. Neither did he spit or swear in front of women.

His children were well dressed and courteous to their elders, his dog was registered with the American Kennel Club and his wife didn't spit or swear in front of men. A shoo-in for any political job, you say? Well, let's have a look at the opposition.

HE WAS A GUY with a real spotty past. He didn't actually have a police record, but that's only because the city hall burned down in '33 and the police files were lost. But everyone remembered how he gave Epstein salts to the principal's horse and how the F.B.I. converged on town when he started casting phony half-dollars in metal shop class.

He hadn't been in church since the day he was married, and that was only because the bride's father was there with fire in his eye and a loaded deer rifle in the back of the pickup.

No one had seen his wife in years, but there was another woman—a blonde—he had been escorting about town. She wore eye makeup and light skirts and had sort of a vacant look.

People pretty much lost track of his only son after the boy quit school and signed on a tramp steamer bound for Barbados. There was some talk of his marrying a native girl, but no one knew for sure.

HOW THE CANDIDATE made his living remained a mystery. There had been money in the family at one time, but surely there couldn't have been much left after all these years. Evenings he lingered in the pubs around town, talking loudly and vociferously about city problems. He seldom bought a drink for anyone, but there was always a line of cronies at each elbow making sure his cup runneth over. His clothes were unpressed and he spit and swore whenever he felt like it.

And who did the people elect as their stalwart leader? You guessed it. And he did a fine job.

Half-Time Show One of the Best

One of the best half-time entertainments of the basketball season was presented at the Grayling game last week, thanks to the efforts of trampolines performers. Coach Mike Whalen was moderator, describing each performance and the skills required.

Comic relief was provided by a "lady from the audience" (one of the tramp stars in costume) who asked if she might try the trampoline. The ensuing performance was the best tradition of slapstick comedy.

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or A/C, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book. (Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until July 1, 1966!)

So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

AFTER deduction of collection costs and the Waterways Commission's share, the money is distributed under provisions of state law which provides that 47 percent goes to the Department of State Highways for use on state roads, 35 percent to the state's 83 counties for use on county roads, and 18 percent to 520 incorporated cities and villages for their roads and streets.

Under this formula, the Department of State Highways will receive $29,198,439 as its share of the fourth quarter collections, while the counties will receive $1,743,519 and the incorporated cities and vil-

Flouride Care Set for Kids in County

The Charlevoix County Health Department is making plans to treat the teeth of children living in rural communities with sodium fluoride. The program will be made available to pre-schoolers over three years of age, to second, fifth and eighth graders and to special cases referred by the family dentist.

THE CHARGE for the cleansing and four applications of sodium fluoride will be $3.

The topical application of sodium fluoride to new teeth will reduce decay by 40 percent. In addition, the program includes dental health education given to the child by clinic personnel.

ON THE FIRST visit the teeth are cleaned and the first application of sodium fluoride is given. An application of sodium fluoride consists of the teeth being isolated with cotton rolls, then dried with compressed air and coated with a two per cent solution of sodium fluoride. On succeeding visits, only the chemical is applied.

For further information, call Mrs. Patricia Danbert, LI 7-9564 or Mrs. Jacqueline Klooster, LI 7-2070.

Stranded Teacher Walks Ten Miles in Snow for Help

Ellsworth Kindergarten teacher Theola Veenstra suffered frostbitten feet Jan. 29 when her car got stuck in the snow and she had to walk ten miles for help. It was learned recently.

Accompanied by her parents and an aunt, Miss Veenstra was enroute to Mount Pleasant when her car got stuck in a snowdrift between Gaylord and Mancelona.

AFTER TRYING to get out of the drift, she found she didn't have a shovel, so she left her parents and an aunt in the car and walked ahead for help.

Before getting stuck they had gone a long distance without seeing a house so she went ahead instead of going back. It took her three hours and 15 minutes to walk ten miles to the next house for help.

After wading through high drifts and walking over unplowed highways, she found she had frostbitten feet.

Miss Veenstra phoned for a wrecker in Gaylord, but after trying the road, the wrecker crew found they couldn't make it, and called one from Mancelona.

The people who were left in the car had to wait from 7:45 a.m. until 2:15 p.m. before help came. When the car was freed, the Veenstras cancelled their trip to Mount Pleasant and returned home.

PLANNING COMMISSION NOTICE

The Charlevoix Region has, through the efforts of nature, been blessed with a very pleasant natural environment. Our modern society, with its great demands, is, however, subjecting this environment to constant change.

In an effort to direct this inevitable change in a desirable direction, the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission has embarked on a comprehensive planning program for the Charlevoix area. One of the first and most important stages in this program involves the determination of problems and objectives--in other words, what is wrong or potentially wrong with the situation and how should we attempt to change this in the future.

With this in mind, the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission, through its planning consultant, has developed a Community Attitude Survey in an attempt to determine your thoughts and wishes as to how to make this area a better place in which to live, work and play.

This survey will be distributed to residents of the City of Charlevoix at the polling place at the election, February 21, 1966. Residents of Marion and Charlevoix Townships will receive copies of this survey in the mail shortly thereafter.

The success of this venture is greatly dependent upon you, the people most concerned with the future of the Charlevoix Region, and your concern and cooperation. It is therefore urged that you complete this survey as soon as possible in order that the results may be tabulated and the planning program undertaken in earnest.

Secrets and City Government

Just when you think everybody has it straight about the function of public officials in a democracy, someone has to go and spoil everything by pulling a trick like our City Council did last Monday night.

The regular session ended and Mayor E.D. Hawley announced a meeting of the finance committee immediately following and asked all members of the Council to attend.

Then he said he wanted the Council chamber cleared.

Asked if he meant the press, Hawley said he did and the Courier reporter left.

THIS IS the kind of thing newspapers have had to fight ever since Gutenberg invented the printing press. There's always someone who doesn't want the rest of the people to know what's going on in government.

In days past, the crowned heads of Europe kept the press in line by dictating what could and could not be printed. If a printer refused, his presses were demolished and that was that.

Our own country was founded on the premise that a free press is one of the bulwarks of democracy. The importance of an informed citizenry was deemed so vital to our founding fathers that they even put freedom of the press in the Bill of Rights. Jefferson said if he had his choice between a free government and free press, he'd take a free press.

IN OUR OPINION, the only time that a reporter might legitimately be barred from a public meeting is when the safety of the country is at stake.

It is difficult to conceive of a single situation in the conduct of Charlevoix's city government which would not be legitimate fare for the press. This goes not only for Council meetings but also committee meetings, particularly those committee meeting at which all aldermen are expected to be present.

MAYOR HAWLEY said the press was barred because "personalities" might be discussed. We fail to see why this should be a valid reason for barring the press. Reporters are perhaps even more acutely aware of the libel laws than members of the Council, and if the presence of a reporter would keep the meeting from degenerating into a gossip session, so much the better.

This business of having a plenary session of the City Council discussing "personalities" is a little surprising in itself. It would seem the function of the council is to establish a salary scale, the administration of which would be left up to department heads.

It hardly seems worth the time of an elected alderman to decide whether old Joe down at the sewage plant gets two cents an hour more than young Pete up at the pumping station.

WE ARE CERTAIN that the salary schedule approved by the Council at the secret meeting is illegal. The state manual outlining the duties and powers of fourth class cities specifically states that "all meetings and sessions of the Council shall be public" and that "no money shall be appropriated except by ordinance or resolution of the council." The manual further states that "no resolution be passed or adopted except by the vote of a majority of all the aldermen."

Aldermen claim no vote was taken at the meeting, yet pay increases for city employees amounting to $12,000 apparently were approved—vote or no.

We are amazed at how easy it is for elected officials to lose sight of the simple fact that they are public SERVANTS. They were elected by the PEOPLE and will serve in office only so long as the PEOPLE want them there.

It follows that there is no more expedient way for the people to find out what their public servants are doing than through the press. If citizens want to attend meetings themselves, this is their right.

THE ACTION that was taken at the Council's secret session was duly reported in the Courier last week. What we didn't print are the reasons, the attitudes, the motives, the "language" that went into shaping this particular salary schedule. These are things the people of Charlevoix will never know.

Before you vote Monday make sure you know how your candidate for mayor or alderman stands on freedom of the press. This could be a deciding factor in the quality and honesty of the government you get during the coming year.

Zoning Needs a Second Look

We believe the City Council acted too hastily last Monday night when it gave Mrs. Rose Daugherty 90 days to close her so-called nursing home on East Dixon Avenue.

It is encouraging, a week later, to learn that Mrs. Daugherty still has not received word to "cease and desist" and that City Attorney John Michael has asked County Health Commissioner John Reynolds for a definition of what constitutes a nursing home. These are signs the order may yet be rescinded.

The action came after Miss Annabel Comfort complained to the Council that the home was being operated in violation of R-1 zoning.

On the surface, Miss Comfort has a legitimate complaint, even though she is not a resident or property owner in the city.

THE HOME in question is located at 401 E. Dixon and is owned by her mother, Mrs. Metta Comfort. Mrs. Comfort lives in a house on the same lot facing Nettleton Street. For the past year, Mrs. Daugherty has rented the Dixon Street house and has had two elderly ladies living with her. Mrs. Daugherty makes her living by providing them with food and lodging.

This year, a new state law requires that all nursing homes secure a $3 permit. This Mrs. Daugherty did, according to County Health Commissioner John B. Reynolds. However, Mrs. Daugherty says she is unable to take care of bed patients, and must have guests who are up and about, pretty much taking care of themselves.

In a sense, Mrs. Daugherty is running 401 E. Dixon more as a rooming-boarding house than as a nursing home. This would be a permissible, non-conforming use under R-1, since the Comfort home has been used to accommodate guests long before Charlevoix had a zoning ordinance.

IT APPEARS in this case that the City Council is being made a tool in a family feud of long standing. Suffice it to say that Mrs. Comfort is perfectly satisfied with Mrs. Daugherty and her elderly charges as tenants. She was not even aware her daughter was in town on Monday, much less complaining about her renters up at a City Council meeting.

Mrs. William Cardwell who lives next door to the Daugherty house said she was shocked by the city's ordering Mrs. Daugherty to discontinue her nursing home. As a neighbor, she was unaware that Mrs. Daugherty was operating a business of any kind.

"I just thought they were three ladies living together," she said. "They're so quiet you wouldn't know they're around. I don't know what Mrs. Comfort will do if they're forced to leave. She's over there all the time and they're the best of friends."

These are some of the things our aldermen might have found out if they had acted less precipitously in ordering Mrs. Daugherty out of business.

Though there's nothing you can do about but dress for it, the weather remains the topic of conversation just about everywhere. Had a note from Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Padlock at Venice, Fla., where the temperature got down to 26 degrees. Cap. being a northerner, did what had to be done...things like wrapping the pipes so they wouldn't freeze and covering the flowers and bushes. Mildred wrote that it was something to look down the street and see everything covered with sheets, spreads, rugs, plastic...whatever was available...

AND TO THINK we had the good fortune to miss all that. But we haven't missed the thaw that started with a steady rain that took the snow down inches in a few short hours. The rising temperature, nearing 50 is now adding to the havoc. We've had little snow compared to other years and all too fast it is leaving. Talked with a couple ski resort operators and they were wondering whether to throw in the sponge and go out and drown their sorrows or hope for colder weather. As of Wednesday night they hadn't had any luck with the latter. I think I'd be tempted to do something drastic, maybe like get out of the business...it's rugged for these resorts represent huge investments...

HAD A CALLER the other day whom I enjoyed no end. Since my traveling is limited I do it through other people. I did quite a lot of it in talking with this fellow. Doug Bergmann, just home from Vietnam where he's been stationed with an army transportation company. You can look at pictures and read everything in sight but until you talk with someone like him you just can't get the feel of what it's like over there. In his job, he had to help move everything brought in by ship, and with facilities being what they are over there, that's one big job. But to hear him tell about the people, how they live, what they are like, what little they have is something. As he said, no matter how little you have here it's far more than those people have.

ANOTHER Charlevoixian, Gene Bridge, was in a similar outfit nearby and occasionally they'd get together and talk about home. Doug's, who is now out of the service, brought greetings from Gene to everyone back home.

WEREN'T you impressed with the excellent job the Boy Scouts did on the special supplement published in recognition of Boy Scout month? It was great fun seeing the pictures of the youngsters who are now grown up with youngsters of their own who are enjoying the program. A well done! to all scouts who had a hand in the special issue. And by the way, don't forget to spend a copy of it to Scouts who no longer live here...you'll find a lot of names you recognize and you may have the addresses of some of these people...

THERE ARE two things that I have a "thing" about...clocks and mirrors. I have one clock for the purpose of telling time and I never wear a watch. As for mirrors...well, that's something else again. Suffice to say I don't have any of those around either...

But despite this, I love the sound of a clock chiming...and one with beautiful chimes is a grandfather clock in Dr. Hoffmann's office. It's a Westminster chime clock which chimes four times on the quarter hour, eight on the half hour, etc. He was telling me about Mrs. Percy Woodcock who was in the office one day recently when the clock started to chime and, as it struck off each "ding" recited this little poem. With the first four chimes go the following words "So hour by hour..." For the second series you add, "Be Thou our guide..." the third series of 12 include these words "Thal by Thy steps" and on the hour you add these words "No foot may slide"...a very touching little prayer that I'm sure you never would have associated with chimes. Say it next time you hear a chime clock...it's really something...

AND SPEAKING of clocks, it seems as though there have always been some around to bother me. Mike Bice was a great tinker when it came to clocks...he was always picking them up at auction sales and taking them home. And when he had the time he'd "tinker" till he'd get them running...then he always had to keep them around the house to make sure they were working properly...if you happened to be on the phone "on the hour", conversation practically stopped till the clock would finish "bonging" the hour...

Dear Bob:
On behalf of the Furrin Group I would like to take this opportunity to thank you men for a wonderful ice run which you so graciously sponsored. Your town was so gracious to us and we being the "lovers" of an exciting event thought it a wonderful weekend. All your help and advice was so much appreciated. We hope to be able to see you next year if not sooner, after having reported our good times to fellow members unable to attend "66's ice run, I am sure a 50% increase in attendance can be almost assured.

Races Praised

(The following is reprinted from the Michigan Canoe Racing Association Newsletter, edited by Darwin Gilbert of Traverse City.)

I was in Detroit this day. I have been told I missed a fabulous race! The race was held on Round Lake with 11 degree temperature! Only minutes before the gun fired the Coast Guard broke up the ice. All but one team had wet suits and wouldn't you know it they were the only canoe to tip. The Coast Guard plucked them out of the frigid waters within three minutes that was said to seem like three hours. The hospitable Coast Guard wrapped them in blankets then took them to the station for hot baths and warm food. I understand one canoe could not move because of the ice jam. My reporter said one person got out of the canoe and stood on a large chunk of ice while pushing the ice floes away. The reporter thought the name was "Ed Adams." Maybe to some the effort was worth it—the Winter Carnival Queen passed out the awards to these five rugged Texas challenger teams. Pictures and results of this race will be at the meeting. Our thanks go to Charlevoix "Polar Bear Club" for putting on this spectacular event.

Protests Closing of Nursing Home

The Editor
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Sir:
It seemed incredible to me as I read in last week's Courier that the City Council is forcing Mrs. Rose Daugherty to close her "convalescent home" on Dixon Avenue. Never in the time that we have been neighbors have I thought of the home across the street as a convalescent home: it is simply a home occupied by three ladies who find it commonly beneficial to reside together. If that is illegal, it is certainly time that the city re-examine its zoning code.

Mrs. Daugherty is a lovely woman whose kindly ways are an inspiration to her neighbors. May I stress that she, her home, and her manner of living would be a credit to any neighborhood. If the City Council forces Mrs. Daugherty to leave Dixon Avenue, it would be none other than an unjust act against a woman who lives respectably and with dignity.

Yours truly,
Anne J. Fiedler

Reader Critical of City Wages

To the Editor:

We were amused to read an account of wages our city employees receive. Think of supporting a family on $1.56 an hour.

The city finance committee should use the $5,000 a year they hand out to the Chamber of Commerce every year to pay these underpaid men for cleaning up after these tourists and yachtsmen. Think of the fringe benefits they expect and just how much do they pay for parking at our docks.

No city employee should be expected to work at any kind of work for less than $2 an hour, not mentioning what sewer workers should be paid and they should furnish clean uniforms for them.

Have you walked up Bridge Street hill lately? It makes one think of a cow path through the woods and that can't be blamed on cost of heavy snow removal this winter.

They made no bones about raising our summer activity director's wages from $80 to $100 a week and he is not a year around resident and his work is not a necessity.

How many Charlevoix taxpayers benefit from an activity director but we can't get along without our city employees. Please withhold my name for good reasons.

Candidates belongs to the Communication Workers of America and is a union steward.

Boss served in the U. S. Army from 1954 to 1956. He said he is running for office because he has often thought about it and this year friends urged him to do so. Asked about his qualifications, Boss said:

"I have lived in the city or surrounding area all my life, and I like it here. And if elected, I will do my best to see that the city progresses in every way possible."

ROBERT G. LIEBERMAN
Robert G. Lieberman, 41, is seeking election as Second Ward alderman.

Lieberman, who owns a retail department store in downtown Charlevoix, lives at 216 Park Ave. with his wife, Martha Jane, and their four children, Kristin, 16; Kraag, 13; Kathryn, 10; and Kirk, 6. Lieberman was graduated from high school in Saginaw and attended Michigan State University and Alma College, receiving his B. A. degree in 1949.

An unsuccessful candidate in the last election, Lieberman has served as treasurer and president of the Charlevoix School Board.

He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club and the Congregational Church and has served as president and vice president of each.

During World War II, he served with the Marine Corps. Lieberman says he is running for the Council because he has a sincere interest in the future of Charlevoix. More specifically, he says he would like to aid in promoting and the city's economic development.

Asked about his qualifications, Lieberman said:

"My source of livelihood and my home are both located in the Second Ward. Therefore, I have particular interest in this precinct's activities. I feel familiar with Charlevoix's people and needs."

DONALD W. BROWN
A resident of Charlevoix 30 years, Donald Brown is seeking election as alderman in the Second Ward. Brown lives at 208 Clinton st. with his wife, Lo Anne, and three children, Marcia 13, Terri, 10, and Andrea 4.

He graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1946 and attended Ferris Institute. He presently is a salesman for Hess furniture Co.

He is a part president of the Charlevoix Jaycees and in 1958 was instrumental in starting a fund raising drive for the children of men lost aboard the Carl D. Bradley.

He served in the U.S. Army from 1946 to 1949 and from 1950 to 1952.

He also has been active in the Girl Scout movement, having served as chairman of the camp site committee.

Brown says he is running because of his interest in the Second Ward and a desire to see improvements there. He says he feels qualified to act properly on issues affecting not only people of the Second Ward but of the city as a whole.

He also says the city should attempt to obtain available federal funds under the Urban Renewal Acts to improve and extend water and sewer lines to many areas in the Second Ward that do not have them.

ANNABELLE CUNNINGHAM
Annabelle Cunningham is running unopposed for the office of city treasurer.

A life-long resident of the community, Miss Cunningham was graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1931 and has served as city treasurer since 1960.

She is a member of the Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Community Chest, the Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children, Inc., and the Community Church of God. She has served as treasurer of all these organizations, except the church.

Hoffman

January, 1949, to December, 1952.

Of his candidacy, Hoffman has this to say:

"No one to my knowledge on the Council now or previously has had formal training in city government. The position does require experience, plus time, to devote, vision to foresee, and knowledge to act. Experience plus nothing equals experience. But experience plus these qualifications equals accomplishment. My past two year record substantiates my qualifications."

"Charlevoix is moving forward on all fronts -- in industry, labor, resort, population, construction, and all will bring their problems."

"Fortunately, the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission (authored by W. F. Hoffman) will aid the city administration in the solution of many problems brought about by growth activity. It is hoped that a zoning ordinance can be written that can be interpreted legally and in fairness to all. During the past two years, some opinions have been rendered as the 'letter of the law' and in others 'the intent'."

"Services of the city, such as water, electricity, and sewage will have to undergo orderly expansion and extension."

"Establishment of an industrial park is a must. I also would like to see to it that the whole story of Charlevoix city government gets out to the public."

"Experience counts, but it takes more than experience to make Charlevoix a still better place in which to live, work and play."

EVEN THOUGH the snow is gone, many youngsters still enjoy ice skating.

Bad Eyes, Ears Plague Children

Bad eyesight plagues one out of every five children in the United States.

And one child in every 25 has hearing trouble.

Either of these difficulties could interfere with a child's success at school or with his social adjustment.

Defective vision is easy to spot. A child may blink frequently, rub his eyes, squint, frown or balk at doing close work.

Hearing troubles, too, show up in habits. A child may cock his head to one side, misunderstand or ignore instructions, speak too softly or too loudly, or act inattentive and restless -- all because he cannot understand the sounds around him.

If you are concerned about a child's vision or hearing, check with your family physician. After an examination, he may refer you to a physician who specializes in vision or hearing problems.

An ophthalmologist is a physician who specializes in the diagnosis and treatment of eye diseases. He may use drugs, prescribe glasses and perform eye surgery. An ophthalmologist can tell when failing eyesight is related just to the lens system of the eye and when it has been caused by injury, disease or possible poisoning.

An otologist is also a medical doctor. He is trained to detect the type and extent of hearing loss and to decide if medical or surgical treatment is needed. The otologist can determine by a variety of tests whether loss of hearing is due to nerve damage or to an interference with the transmission of sound waves to the hearing organ.

He may find that a child who is hard of hearing can be helped by something as simple as removing wax from the ears. In more serious conditions, a hearing aid or one of several operations may be recommended by the otologist.

He may find that a child who is hard of hearing can be helped by something as simple as removing wax from the ears. In more serious conditions, a hearing aid or one of several operations may be recommended by the otologist.

"After careful thought and consideration, plus the urging of friends and associates, I decided that if I was chosen by the voters of Charlevoix, I would put my experience and understanding of local government to work serving Charlevoix as mayor."

"I HAVE served five years on the City Council (mayor pro tem for the past three), I felt that I have the experience and understanding to effectively meet the challenges that face Charlevoix in the coming months. I also feel that I have the respect of the councilmen and can effectively lead them as their mayor."

Asked about major issues in the election, Fochtman said: "I don't feel there are any issues in the common sense of the word. However I do feel that due to the fast pace of growth that Charlevoix is seeing, a mayor is required who can calmly, intelligently and effectively take advantage of the opportunities that lie ahead for this community."

Mrs. John Kroken was in Lansing Saturday to hear the Sol Band of Northern Michigan University. Her son, Bruce, a student there is a member of the band.

1. After careful thought and consideration, plus the urging of friends and associates, I decided that if I was chosen by the voters of Charlevoix, I would put my experience and understanding of local government to work serving Charlevoix as mayor."

2. Buying an asphalt shingle roof instead of the metal roof originally planned.

3. Earmarking $8 a square yard for carpeting, instead of $10.

4. Covering the rear parking area with crushed stone instead of paving it.

5. Not building the proposed library sign at this time.

6. Eliminating for the time being the expandable wall partitions for the basement meeting rooms.

Begrow said his proposed cutbacks would save about $7,800, an ample amount to care for the estimated $5,200 increase in labor costs.

He will meet with the school board's library committee Thursday morning to come up with final recommendations before the bids are let.

The school board appeared willing to go along with the modifications, so long as they didn't interfere with the basic quality of the building.

Gary Klooster

Rheumatic Heart Claims Life of Ten-Year-Old

Funeral for ten-year-old Gary Allen Klooster was Feb. 18 from the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. John Burnham of East Jordan, pastor of the Norwood Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Norwood Cemetery.

Gary, a Fifth Grade pupil at Charlevoix Elementary School, died Feb. 15 at University Hospital in Ann Arbor from a heart ailment resulting from rheumatic fever. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. (Bud) Klooster, Gary has been ill since Dec. 17. He was born in Charlevoix Hospital May 3, 1955.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Linda, 16, and two brothers, Michael, 16, and Gerald, 9; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klooster, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Josephine Ross, all of Charlevoix.

A promotion to the rank of Admiral goes with the appointment, which was announced by President Johnson Feb. 17.

ADMIRAL SMITH will replace Admiral Edwin J. Roland who is retiring. Both admirals visited Charlevoix in October on an inspection tour of Coast Guard installations in northern Michigan.

A native of Suttons Bay, Smith moved to Charlevoix in 1923 when his father, Warrant Officer Oscar Smith, was placed in charge of the lifeboat station.

THE ELDER Smith retired from the Coast Guard in the late 1930's and he and his wife continued living in their home on Belvedere, Mr. Smith died in 1957 and Mrs. Smith in 1963.

Smith was graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1927 and attended the University of Michigan before enrolling in the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn. He received his commission in 1933.

His first assignment was as a line officer on board the Coast Guard Cutter Saranac based at Galveston, Texas.

Gables to Build Kitchen

A petition to rezone Grey Gables property on Belvedere as Commercial was defeated by the City Council Monday night.

But, meeting as a Board of Review, the Council gave owner Mrs. Florence Dundas and her son, Clark Nehls, permission to construct a 30 by 13-foot addition to their kitchen.

DICK LYONS, a spokesman for neighbors, said he was satisfied with the action. Mrs. Dundas also appeared, although she had asked originally for a change to C-1.

"Anything we can do for progress we're happy to do," she told the Council.

If the zoning change had gone through, Mrs. Dundas indicated she would have been interested in buying property to the west of Grey Gables owned by Irvin Cabana for future Grey Gables use.

As it is she said she is negotiating with property owners to the east of the restaurant-cocktail lounge for the rental of off-street parking space. At an earlier session, neighbors complained that Grey Gables was creating a parking and traffic problem on Belvedere.

The kitchen addition will enable the restaurant to move freezers and other equipment into one floor, facilitating the serving of meats. It will also increase seating capacity by three tables.

In other Council action, aldermen voted to transfer $40,000 from the electric fund to the general fund for the operation of city government. The figure is down $24,000 from the $64,000 transferred last year. They also:

Voted to extend a no-parking ban on Bridge Street from Carpenter south to State at the request of the State Highway Department. That section of roadway will be widened as part of the M-66 relocation.

---Took note of a letter from 2-Cap--a federal war-on-poverty program--that it has received permission from the school board to use office space temporarily in the old library and will not need city facilities.

---Agreed to keep the city savings account at the State Savings Bank for another year.

RUSTIC SIGN over the new Charlevoix Courier office on Bridge Street is hoisted into place by employees of the Paragon Construction Co.

Courier Is Moving to Bridge St. Office

The Charlevoix Courier is moving today to new offices at 111 Bridge Street across from the Beaver Island dock.

The Courier will vacate former offices at 101 Clinton St. which the newspaper has occupied since 1941.

BUSINESS manager Tom McDaniels said the new location will be more suitable for publication of the Courier.

Only part of the Clinton Street property has been used for the past 25 years since the printing of the newspaper was moved to Petoskey. "The old Courier building is near the heart of the business district, and might be put to better use," McDaniels said.

THE BUILDING is owned by Mrs. A. J. Usher of Tecumseh who has not said what she plans to do with the property.

Martin on April Ballot

William E. Fochtman was elected mayor of Charlevoix in Monday's primary election, defeating Dr. Walter Hoffmann by a margin of better than two to one. Jack Mol and Nathan Boss were elected First and Second Ward aldermen in contested elections.

The uncanvassed tally showed Fochtman pulled down 656 votes, compared to 303 for Hoffmann.

NATHAN BOSS emerged victor in a hotly contested campaign in the Second Ward, mustering 167 votes.

Democrat John F. Martin garnered only 18 votes but will run in the general election April 4 against Boss.

Two other candidates for alderman in the Second Ward were Don Brown and Bob Lieberman. Brown received 140 votes and Lieberman 90.

IN THE FIRST WARD, Mol had 224 votes, compared to 91 for his opponent Clair Martin. A total of 978 ballots were cast in the election, compared to 480 in last year's primary. There are 1,652 registered voters in the city.

In uncontested elections, Jerry Whitley was returned as alderman in the Third Ward with 210 votes; and Lee Moerland was elected supervisor with 193.

FIRST WARD Supervisor Kit Carson chalked up 270 votes, and Second Ward Supervisor Harold Totten garnered 303.

City Clerk Hugh Mayne was reelected with a total of 314 votes in all three wards and Annabelle Cunningham was reelected city treasurer with a total of 832.

An attempt by Second Ward Democrats last week to come up with a slate of sticker candidates for the general election failed to gain support and died aborning. Democrats said the main difficulty was finding persons willing to run. The attempt was made only in the Second Ward because that was the only ward with a democratic candidate, John R. Martin, on the ballot.

FOCHTMAN, 38, is part owner of Charlevoix Oil Co.

A graduate of Charlevoix High School and General Motors Institute, Fochtman and his wife, Ina, have three children. Nancy 13, Pamela, 9, and Deborah, 4.

Fochtman, who has served five terms as an alderman from the First Ward, said in his campaign that he felt he had the experience and understanding to effectively meet the challenges that face Charlevoix.

He will succeed Mayor E. D. (Pat) Hawley who did not run for reelection because of the press of business matters.

MOL, 37, owns a plumbing and heating business. A resident of Charlevoix 28 years, he is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended the Sault Branch of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology for two years.

The Mols have four children, Michael, 11, Terry, 8, Shari, 5, and Donald, 2. NATHAN BOSS, 31 is line-

Nathan Boss man for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

A native of Charlevoix, he was graduated by Charlevoix High School in 1952. He is a deacon in the Community Reformed Church.

The Bosses have three children, Gayle, 8, Denise, 7, and Craig, 5.

Pastors Protest the Go-Go

A request from the management of The Harp's Lair nightclub for approval of an entertainment license was sent to committee by the City Council Monday after representatives of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association protested that so-called "go-go girls" and like entertainment are bad for the morals of the community.

A request for approval of the license came in a letter from a Dale Winnie, representing the bar, which is located at the foot of W. Dixon Avenue. Representing the club in person was Mrs. Franklin Curtis, manager.

PROTESTS were filed on behalf of the Ministerial Association by Rev. George Majors of the Community Church of God and Rev. Jack Harris of the First Baptist Church.

Dahlquist Store Dolls Up

The Dahlquist store on Bridge Street is boasting a "new look" these days.

The former W. W. Mac variety store has been completely re-decorated on the inside, new fixtures have been installed and new merchandise has been stocked.

The store was purchased by the Harold Dahlquist chain last May 8. It is the second time the Dahlquist company has owned the store, having sold it to W. W. Mac in 1950.

MANAGER Milton Carter says most of the redecorating has been done by Steve LaBlance, including installation of new paneling at the rear of the store.

Carter says the work is still not finished. The new owners are looking into strip ceiling lighting and possible installation of a more modern candy counter.

MOST NOTICEABLE of the new fixtures are the overhead built-up displays which allow much more merchandise to be shown.

CLERK SANDRA Gregory and Manager Milton Carter arrange merchandise on new fixtures at the Dahlquist store.

Speeded Fined

Janet Johnston, 23, of Charlevoix was fined $20 and $5 costs by Justice John Connolly after she was stopped by city police for speeding.

Passer Fined

William J. Bodzick, 20, of Petoskey was fined $5 and $5 costs for passing on a marked highway after he was arrested by sheriff's deputies.

Box 1347, Omaha, Nebraska 68101, and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail. For comparison with their own vehicle identification numbers, an official Buick form will be required. formerly owned by Michigan Milk Producers Association to the East Jordan Iron Works Inc. was disclosed Tuesday. Buildings will be used for Foundry office and storage space.

MEMBERS of the Junior Play Cast were chosen Wednesday night. They are Brian Sturgell, Joan Slough, Jean McKay, Jerry Schenck, Linda Donaldson, Cathy Malpass, Lucy Grutsch, Linda Grutsch, Brian Bulow, Nina Gidley, Cal Diller, Mary Lou Kralic, and Jerry Hammond. Director-in-man said "The class has a lot of talent. Picking the cast was a very hard thing to do. We just don't have room for all."

THE SECOND annual Snowmobile Carnival sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce will be held Feb. 26 and 27, weather permitting, at Boswell Field, Bernard Hammond is chairman of the event.

The Red Devils met the Charlevoix flyers on the local court Friday night and chalked up a 72 to 55 victory. East Jordan's Coach Everest stated that Charlevoix's defeat can be traced to "inexperience. They are just a young ball club."

The following band members will represent East Jordan in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival on March 19, at Midland:

Dave Krake, cornet soloist; Charles Fisher, horn soloist; Julie Malpass, flute soloist; Clarinet Quartet: Linda Donaldson, Hazel Hartung, Linda McWaters, and Linda Hammond.

Shower Honors Mrs. De Vries

A miscellaneous shower was held at the Atwood Christian Reformed Church Fellowship room on Wednesday evening Feb. 16 in honor of Mrs. Bernie De Vries. The room was very pretty, decorated with streamers of white and lavender and silver shaped hearts.

The evening entertainment was presented by Mrs. Max Botser which consisted of written contests and another game. The new bride then opened the many gifts which were arranged on a table decorated with a love seat with two, sweetheart pillows and a miniature bride and groom.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. John Essenberg, Mrs. Erwin Holeczek and Mrs. Max Botser. There were 38 guests present including her mother, Mrs. Fred O'Neal, and her sister, Darlene, Mrs. Miner Veenstra and daughter, Mrs. Ken Boss of Charlevoix.

1 Card of Thanks

WE wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to all our neighbors, friends, and relatives for their many deeds of kindness to our son and brother, Gary Klooster, during his illness. We are deeply grateful for the beautiful floral tributes and many other expressions of sympathy shown to us at his passing. Special thanks to Rev. Burham for his comforting words, the organist, Paul Bearers, community ladies who served the lunch, the band Klooster family, 2/23x1

WE WOULD like to take this opportunity to thank, Carol Gendy, Dorothy Kasky, Susan Pearl, Colton Smith and Dorothy Willis for the fine service given us at our association tournament banquet held Feb. 7 at the Woodshed. At the same time, we would like to apologize for the misunderstanding on our part (according to Mr. Wood) about the tips. We assumed that when we paid for our dinners that included tax and tip it meant that you girls would receive your wages (as usual) plus a tip from the band. However, seeing how this was not the case we can fully understand and your disappointment in our association and can guarantee that if we have any thing to say about it, it will not happen again. 1965-66 officers of the Women's Winter Wonderland Bowling Association, Billie Smith, President; Beverly Smith, Secretary; Mary O'Brien, Treasurer. 2/23x1

Controlled heat is the real secret of great cooking. It begins with the quick response of a Gas flame. Because there are no heating coils to warm up, cooking action starts as soon as you turn on the burner. And stops the instant you turn it off. Need more heat or less heat? Set it and get it—as fast as you can turn the control. Control is the reason Gas makes a good cook better. It can do it for you.

Hospital Guild Making Layettes for Needy Moms

The Women's Guild of Charlevoix Hospital will hold a sewing bee March 1 at the home of Mrs. Robert Nef, according to Mrs. James Riche. Guild members will complete layettes for needy mothers and make puppets for hospitalized children.

THE GUILD will purchase an electrically controlled hi-lo bed for the hospital with money received from the fall thrift sale.

Favor chairman Mrs. Byron Wright reported that tray favors for the three holidays in February were made by Mrs. Robert Biggs and Mrs. Russell Mieras.

Students are reminded that the Guild will award two scholarships in June and applications are being taken now by Chairman Mrs. Arthur Skilton.

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mieras had as their guests recently her mother, Mrs. S. Sjaarda, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sjaarda of Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Moran plan to leave Tuesday for a three weeks vacation trip to Largo, Fla., where they will visit his mother, Mrs. Nora McInnis.

Mrs. Gordon Moeller left last week for southern Michigan where she joined relatives for a trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

ONE OF the most spectacular ice fountains in town was this frozen beauty at the back of Maurice Foster's "ski hours" on E. Dixon. Cold weather caused a water pipe to break in one of the upstairs bathrooms and this was the result.

Courts Collect Fee to Set Up Training Fund.

A ten per cent assessment on criminal fines is being collected in justice and circuit court to establish a Law Enforcement Officers' Training Fund.

Justice John C. Connolly said the special assessment was approved by the last session of the state legislature in order to provide financing of law enforcement officers' training programs.

Exempt from the new law are vehicle code violations, local traffic law violations, and conservation law violations. The money will be turned over to the county treasurer who will give it to the state treasurer.

What's At The Center?

What is it that may make one person's countenance shine and glow with confidence, good will, kindness and contentment while another's may reflect bitterness, cynicism and resentment—even though the two be associated in the same endeavor, labor or profession, and even though they be cast in the same environment?

Perhaps a look at what the motivating center is like will reveal the answer. If the center hole of a record, upon which a beautiful piece of music is recorded, be moved ever so little the new center will cause the record player to give forth hideous noises instead of the beautiful music intended and which would have been reproduced had the proper center been used.

The center of the life of the person with the glowing countenance is his Creator. His life is therefore in tune and harmonious. The other person has crowded out the proper center and moved in its place selfish desires.

A church in the life of any person will help provide the true and proper center. Select one and attend it regularly.

Home Courses Touch All Phases of Family Living

BY LORELEI GIGG

We face the future with warm courage and high hope, for we have the clear consciousness of seeking old and precious values...

As one of the 121 students enrolled in the Charlevoix Home-making program, I have had the privilege of gaining a "clear consciousness of seeking old and precious values."

flow? Well, come with me on a tour of our Home-making Program.

Since many people used to think and still do, that Home Economics is just sewing and cooking, you may be surprised as we visit each grade's course.

HERE we are in the modern home-making room with its tables, kitchens, closets, and book racks. The eighth grade is here taking one semester of foods and basic clothing construction. (Fathers, if you think you have it rough with one beginner cook, how would you like 407?) Then the freshman girls assemble for their ditty Home-making I course. This course has, in addition to more advanced foods and clothing construction, a study of home life, child care and friendships.

To make things more interesting, these girls have a work book to fill-out and study. The hour passes quickly and then the sophomores, eager to learn, take their places for their study in three areas: Clothing, Foods and Housing and Management. Not only is it fun to work with various types of materials and food, but it is something we can use all our lives.

MANY girls go on to the higher home-making program. This involves Home-making III and IV and only upper classmen can take these courses.

FUTURE Homemakers show some of the garments which will be modeled in their March 25 fashion show at the Elementary School. From left are Marcia Boss, Lorelei Gigg, Nancy Whitley and Mrs. Clarence Odmak, F.H.A. Adviser.

Homemaking III is a course on "Home and Family Living." It deals with marriage and home life covering topics from dating to retirement. Along with this, we sew clothes for persons other than ourselves and learn to cook just for two. By the way, if you'd like to see some of the clothes our seamstresses make, we are having a fashion show in March.

Homemaking IV deals with individual projects. Agirl may do one project every six weeks. Projects done in past years include helping at the retarded school, upholstering, making draperies and studying first aid.

THERE are some girls who are active enough to keep up a local Chapter of Home-making called "Future Homemakers of America." F.H.A. is on a national, state, regional and local basis. This year we were proud to have one of our own chapter members, Marcia Boss, attend the National Convention in Philadelphia, Pa. The F.H.A. program operates with seven officers and an advisor. Our programs include such things as how to choose china, silverware and electric appliances. We also have parties and trips for members.

F.H.A. has a great program for girls who want to continue their study of home-making. F.H.A. scholarships are often available for students wanting to major in Home economics in college. The "degree" system helps all girls develop their home-making abilities.

There are three degrees: Junior, Chapter, and State. Each has four areas in which the girls are to improve themselves: A, Personal goals; B, Chapter goals; C, Home and family; D, School and Community. Working on the State degree is the hardest and, of course, takes the longest to achieve.

There are many things to learn in the field of Home Economics. It is a real challenge to the modern homemaker in such a busy world. The F.H.A. creed sums up the task before today's teenagers:

"We are builders of homes. Homes for America's future. Homes where living will be the expression of everything that is good and fair. Homes where truth and love and security and faith will be realities, not dreams."

Guilty of Assault

Amos John 55, was fined $10 and $10 costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail after he was found guilty in Justice Court of assault and battery. The complaint was signed by Clara Washegic.

Comp Law Hit

The new mandatory Workmen's Compensation Act, which for the first time includes all Michigan farmers, is "unworkable and unendurable as originally written," according to Michigan farm leaders.

Elton Smith, Kent County dairy farmer and president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, reports that his organization has listed a number of recommendations to make the law more equitable and less confusing to everyone.

"The Legislature in its current session must recognize what forcing many present provisions of the Act upon Michigan farmers will do, not only to farm incomes, but to the price of food to Michigan consumers," Smith said.

HE POINTED to proposed rates which include a minimum fee of $234 and a standard rate of $8.35 for each $100 of farm payroll.

"Add such burdens to the farmer's already sky-high costs and what's left of his income will tumble. Farmers already have one of the lowest incomes of any industry in Michigan. How can Michigan farmers compete with farmers in other states with the increase in costs unless it can be passed on to consumers in higher prices?" he asked.

"A less visible part of this new cost will be found in the many hours of new bookwork necessary to follow the letter of this complicated and unworkable law," Smith said.

IN A FIVE-POINT list of proposed revisions to the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Farm Bureau recommended:

- Review and reduction of the proposed rates to realistic levels.
- Clarification of how the law would apply to members of a farm family.
- Provision for limited coverage on season employees.
- Classification of farm workers according to actual

Family Conference Is Thursday at TC

A regional conference on Strengthening the Family will be held Feb. 24 at Traverse City Senior High School.

The conference will be one of ten scheduled between Feb. 22 and March 14 throughout the state. More than 14,000 people have been invited to participate.

Announcing the program, Gov. George Romney said:

"THESE conferences are but the first step in a continuing program through the Division on the Family of the State Human Resources Council. This Division is doing everything possible to understand and support the work that is now going on through the churches, through our schools, through our public and private social welfare agencies, and the many other private organizations and individual citizen actions," the Governor stated.

"We are conducting this effort at the request of the religious leaders on my Ethical and Moral Panel, supported by the enthusiastic reception of this project at the first statewide Governor's Conference on Strengthening the Family held Dec. 7, 1965.

"The regional meetings have been called to bring together lay citizens and professionals in the field of social or family services. It will provide an opportunity to examine regional problems relevant to Michigan families and the allocation of available resources."

East Jordan Sinks Rayders

HIGH SCORER Tom Webb dribbles ball toward basket preceded by East Jordan's towering Bill Snyder. In background is Brad Carey.

Pellston, Gaylord Leading

The Red Rayders bowed to a superior East Jordan cage squad Friday night 72 to 58. The victory leaves East Jordan firmly entrenched in second place, behind league-leading Pellston and Gaylord who are tied for first with 12 wins and one loss apiece.

CHARLEVOIX is third, followed by Grayling, Harbor Springs, Boyne City and Mancelona in that order.

Tom Webb and Bernie Ward unscored Steve Smith from his position as top Charlevoix scorer in the game at East Jordan's vest pocket gym, each ringing up 13 points. Webb scored five fieldgoals and three freethrows; Ward six fieldgoals and one freethrow.

SMITH and Brad Carey followed with eight points each, Smith scoring two fieldgoals and four freethrows and four fieldgoals.

Ired Wabankmke and Jack Bergmann scored five points each, on two field goals and one freethrow. Other scorers were Deano Martin with one fieldgoal and Aaron Brock with one freethrow.

Altogether, Charlevoix made 44 points on fieldgoals and 11 on freethrows. East Jordan scored 52 on fieldgoals and 20 on freethrows. The Rayders failed to score on eight freethrows, and East Jordan failed on 11.

SETTING the pace for East Jordan were Tom Drenth who sank baskets for 23 points; Bill Snyder who made 18 and Steve Bell who chucked for 17. Together they accounted for all but 14 of East Jordan's total points.

Six-foot, six-inch Bill Snyder towered over the Charlevoix squad, sinking baskets at ease whenever he got the ball. Scrapper Steve Bell's stock-in-trade was snatching up the ball like a terrier and scotching down the side line to score a basket even before the opposition knew he was gone.

After an early lead, Charlevoix began to trail midway in the first period and never came close to posing a serious threat to East Jordan. Period scores were 22 to 13; 35 to 28; 56 to 42; and 72 to 55. One of the nicest baskets was Brad Carey's long shot just inside the center line early in the second quarter.

IN OTHER games Friday, Gaylord beat Boyne City 55 to 42; Pellston defeated Mancelona 78 to 60; and Harbor Springs whipped Grayling 68 to 62.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Editorial Page

Wednesday, February 23, 1966 Page 11

Charlevoix Loses a Winner

The Courier extends warmest congratulations to Mayor-elect William E. Fochtman and all the successful candidates in Monday's primary election.

A turnout at the polls nearly double that of last year indicates a high interest in city government by members of the community. We trust that the victors will carry this expressed interest into the Council chambers as a mandate for good government.

To the losers---what can be said? To a man, they have shown a civic mindedness which is a credit to the community.

Our only regret is that as a result of the election the city has lost one of the most astute political personalities ever to sit at a Charlevoix Council table--namely Dr. Walter F. Hoffmann who lost in his bid for the mayor's seat.

As Second Ward alderman he has been the guiding hand behind such worthwhile projects as the City Planning Commission. His agile mind has often come up with solutions to knotty government problems that left others stymied.

His wit and wisdom will be sorely missed on the Charlevoix City Council.

'Doing Something for Beanie'

We believe the City of Charlevoix should take official notice of some sort of Bernard "Beanie" Russell, the Elementary School janitor, who found Bobby Warner upside down in a snowbank and saved the boy's life.

If Russell didn't care enough for others to worry when he saw a pair of boots sticking out of a snowbank, things might have gone a lot differently for the little kindergartener.

AS IT WAS, Bobby was pulled from the snowbank in a coma and rushed to Charlevoix Hospital in a cyanotic condition.

In a larger community, the incident might have gone unnoticed. But not in Charlevoix. Friends and neighbors of the two families on Antrim Street would like to see "something done for Beanie" --- something he can remember in years to come.

The Courier feels they've got a point.

Sound Minds, Sound Bodies

Thanks to the efforts of Dr. William Ratigan, assistant superintendent--personnel for Charlevoix Schools, Charlevoix is one of the first school districts in the state to launch a learning improvement program for educationally and culturally deprived children.

At a cost of $21,212, the federally sponsored program is designed to diagnose learning problems and furnish remedial aid in improving communication skills. The program also will attempt to provide physical fitness services which hitherto have not been provided under existing physical education programs.

DR. RATIGAN says the goal of the program may be summed up by the classic goal of all education: A sound mind in a sound body.

It was no small task in itself isolating the 305 youngsters in the school system who are eligible for special assistance. A thorough review of all school records was involved, as well as consultations with judges, nurses and social workers.

An interesting facet on the program is that students being assisted come not only from Charlevoix's two public schools, but from St. Marys Catholic School as well.

Dr. Ratigan says that he and his co-workers are aiming to spend a minimum of four hours a week working with each disadvantaged child. In some cases this may be doubled, as youngsters become involved in small group learning activities and other recreational projects.

BASICALLY, the program will attempt to isolate and correct reading problems, and at the same time involve the youngster in a physical education program. It is hoped that the two-sided attack will result in youngsters who are sufficiently robust to reap the advantages of education and sufficiently well armed with the tools of learning to compete with their classmates.

Not only state licensed educators, but also interested members of the community, have been called upon to put the program into operation, Dr. Ratigan said. They will make weekly progress reports and also keep track of each individual's reading progress.

The program appears to be off to a good start. It will be interesting in June to see an evaluation of the first "crash program" of its type attempted in Charlevoix.

It's Still a Winter Wonderland

Despite one of the most unusual winters in living memory, some ski resort operators are managing to keep off the financial fall line. These are the resorts which have artificial snow making equipment, and can take advantage of the cold weather to provide what Mother Nature has been all too stingy in distributing on her own this winter.

Thanks to them, Michigan's reputation as a ski mecca will probably emerge from the present climatic disaster without too much tarnish.

MICHIGAN'S 87 ski resorts make us second nationally only to New York, which has 113. California is in third place with 53. Trailing are Colorado, Wisconsin, New Hampshire and Vermont.

The Michigan breakdown shows 16 winter sports centers in the Upper Peninsula, 39 in western Michigan, 20 in eastern Michigan and 12 in the southeast corner of the state.

Iron Mountain boasts the world's highest artificial jump. Ski jumps of various heights are found at nine other Michigan centers. Eighteen centers feature ice skating. Five have swimming pools.

NEW AREAS bowing this winter were the Cannonsburg ski area northwest of Grand Rapids, Fry's Winter Sports Park near Kalamazoo and Binder Park near Battle Creek.

As this season opened, millions of dollars had been spent on new ski facilities and enlargements of old favorite places. This trend should continue through this year and next at least. The number of winter resorts has nearly tripled in the last 10 years and income from skiing has nearly quadrupled in the same period.

The ski boom has been the key in turning Michigan into a year-round vacation state. Winter lodges also are serving an increasing number of guests in the fall and spring. The state's tourist industry now is a 12-month business.

Oddly enough, the winter sports season as it is now known is only some 20 years old. Boyne Mountain Lodge was the first complete winter resort, established in 1948. Caberfae, west of Cadillac, opened in the late 1930's, but did not offer lodging.

Unlike most sports, skiing depends upon an unusual combination of terrain, climate and weather --- not to mention a host of such man-made appurtenances as tows, lifts --- and, in some cases, snow-making equipment. Because of its unique geographic advantage, Michigan attracts thousands of thousands of skiers each winter from throughout the Midwest.

According to the best estimates, there were no more than 5,000 skiers in the nation 25 years ago. The winter sports boom has brought the current number up to the 10 million mark, and skiing is fast becoming the national participation sport.

odds ends

How about the pictures of those championship teams of the past that appeared in last week's Courier? And if you'll take a look at today's line-up, you'll see that there's still a familiar name to be found... that of Carey... a third generation of the family... in young Brad... and if you'll look around you at the next game, you'll notice that there's going to be Careys around for quite a while...

Now that we have a trophy case, wouldn't it be something to have pictures of all past Charlevoix teams... If they could all be framed and hung in the lobby of the new high school, along with a little card identifying the players and the year... Now that's a project for someone to take over... But let me clue you... check with the school powers---that be before you do anything about it...

I DIDN'T GET to read it but I'm told that this person in Washington, D. C., who claims to have powers to foresee the future came up recently with a real weird-o... that the state of Michigan was going to have some fabulous amount of snow like 11 or 14 feet... some day this month and that some of the population would be 'wiped out' by the great catastrophe...

When it started to snow Wednesday, I began to think she might be right... but after giving it some thought I quit being concerned... I figured that when a state lived through the big snows of 1958-59, it could stand anything... Remember when the banks got so high you couldn't see the houses along the streets... That's when those little flags on a car's radio antenna came into being... For those who weren't here, that's the year it started to snow on the 25th of November and snowed every day until Christmas... And after a couple days, it started snowing and that white stuff came down almost every day till late in March... And if you think we didn't have snow, just dig out some of the pictures... Like the one I remember the best... snow drifted to the top of the big window opposite the entrance desk at the Charlevoix Hospital... Unless you looked twice, you got the idea someone forgot to open the drapes...

RAN INTO my good friend, Jake White, who also is my favorite weather forecaster... He knows more ways to prophesize the weather than anyone else I know... We were discussing the unreasonable weather of a week ago when I mentioned that we'd probably get a lot of cold weather later this month and early in March... We often do... He told me to keep an eye on the moon... If it was going to get cold it do so when the moon is the fullest... I don't know exactly when that will be but it will be interesting to watch...

However, he didn't mention this storm we're having... Better check that a little closer next time...

WAS REAL disappointed when no one got pictures of the snow cat races recently... I mean those snow-mobles that are sold under a host of trade names... One of the features of the recent festival, I'm told, was an obstacle course for these things that was filled with more thrills than anything else... The racing of these things has turned into quite a sport... so I'm hoping that the Chamber of Commerce will latch onto a weekend for next winter and hold some races here... They're becoming more and more popular, these races, which are for distance as well as performance under all sorts of conditions... so it should be quite an attraction... But how's about not competing with neighboring communities... there's enough weekends for everyone...

HERE I AM, writing about next winter... when this one's just beginning, or so it seems... I find it hard to believe that several people called over the weekend to say that they had crocuses in bloom... Mrs. Charles Rinehart was the first and then several others discovered others... And now we're back to normal with snow and slippery roads...

Before the Charlevoix Courier comes out again, the Class Basketball tournament will be underway here... There'll be a story about the drawing but the reason I bring this up now is to ask that you plan to attend the tournament games... It means a lot to Charlevoix to have a tournament... Until we got our beautiful new gym we all had to trapse off to other schools to see our team play... I think we're mighty lucky to have one here every other year... It's an opportunity to see a lot of good basketball... and to see our own kids in action... So why don't you get out the old red pencil and circle March 1, 2 and 4 when the district tournament will be played here...

Clockwise With Bob Clock

The after - hours French class for adults is in full swing at Charlevoix High School and I would like to wish Instructor Gunner Luntjeng and his elves the best of luck. I especially hope the pupils have more success with French than I had with Japanese a few years back.

I had been in Japan a few months and I had picked up enough Japanese to put me on an easy footing in most of the social contacts I had with salesgirls and waitresses. I could ask the price of a brocade like jacket as well as the next guy, and I had no trouble ordering a tumbler of Toriy whiskey or a cup of hot sake in an emergency. I also could murmur "Watashi-wa anata-o i-e-shimasu" with enough conviction to melt the heart of the lady Buddha at Ofuoa.

BUT IT suddenly dawned on me what a wonderful thing it would be to speak Japanese --- really speak it the way the educated natives did. Why a whole new world would open to me, talking to a strange and inscrutable people in their own strange and inscrutable language. Who knows what I might learn?

At first I tried to pick up Japanese on my own, but it was next to impossible. I bought all sorts of pre-war books on the language, but the best they could offer were quarrelsome little phrases American tourists were supposed to use traveling in Japan. "Are you the barber? Where have you been? I have been waiting 15 minutes! Give me a haircut and be quick about it! Or: 'Here is my luggage, I'd like to handle it with care or I shall throttle you.' No wonder those people wanted to fight back in 1941. But I digress.

Finally, my eye caught an advertisement in Stars &

Stripes that a Madame Wabanata was starting a class in conversational Japanese for G. I. s at the service club. I lost no time in enrolling.

MADAME WABANATA was a rather stern, all-business, school marm type, who told us right off the bat that the pigeon Japanese we had been using was really pretty raunchy. Most of it wasn't grammatical, and a good deal of it was downright immoral. She suggested we forget what we had already learned and start from the ground up. I was putty in her hands.

Night after night we met at the service club, forgetting all the dirty patois we had picked up in the cabarets and drinking instead deep draughts of pure, unadulterated Japanese. "Sayonara," Madame Wabanata would say. "Is a bad word. It is not only bad, it is childish. 'Sayo-goodbye-nara', as you speak, is even worse. Before war, only little children say 'sayonara.' Now everyone say 'sayonara' because the G. I. do. It is terrible. Tellible."

We all nodded sympathetically and made a notation in our books that the proper Japanese term of farewell is "De wa komen kudasai."

ONE OF Madame Wabanata's phrases that took my fancy "Denki desu, ne?" which meant simply "It's a nice day, isn't it?" It was an ideal conversation opener and I lavished it upon every Japanese I ran into for weeks ---urchins, peddlers, beggars, streetwalkers, tradespeople. Only I never got the response I expected. Instead my greeting was met with looks ranging from amusement to genuine alarm. And no one ever saw fit to agree with my simple observation on the weather.

Finally one day our little Japanese secretary set me straight.

"I think you want to say, 'It's a nice day, isn't it?' she offered. I agreed that was generally what I had in mind. "Well, that should be 'Genki desu, ne?' not 'Denki desu, ne?'" she explained. "What you are saying is 'I am a nice flashlight, am I not?'"

I DON'T have to add that I never went back to my class in conversational Japanese. In fact, I spent the next few weeks trying desperately to forget everything Madame Wabanata taught me. I guess I was successful, because during the rest of my tour of duty in Japan I spoke nothing but the language of the streets, and I don't think there were many times I was misunderstood. And there wasn't much I missed. Sayo-goodbye-nara.

Go-Go

of the First Baptist Church. Rev. Majors said that go-go girls, the way they were described in the Charlevoix Courier, are not wholesome for the community.
"Charlevoix is attractive because it is wholesome," he said. "That type of license attracts the wrong kind of entertainment."
He added that such dancing arouses sexual passions which often are gratified illicitly.
REV. HARRIS said go-go dancing lends itself neither to the betterment of the community or makes for better people. He said that he himself had spent a lifetime helping people and that he believed granting such a license would result in an unwholesome atmosphere.

The spokesmen for the Ministerial Association pointed out that many young servicemen in town are apt to be led astray if such entertainment is encouraged.
MRS. CURTIS said she really couldn't say whether go-go dancing is "risque," but she said she understood it was done in the cities. She added that the Hare's Lair closed voluntarily when the Liquor Control Commission called attention to the fact that go-go dancers and like entertainment are not covered by the present liquor license.
A hearing on a liquor violation against the club is pending.
Mrs. Curtis said there was "no sense" in staying open without entertainment.

Council

--Took note of complaints that heavy Medusa trucks may damage city streets when the spring thaw comes.
--Discussed what action, if any, was necessary by the Council to legalize salary and benefit improvements for city employees approved two weeks ago at a closed-door session of the Council. They voted to amend an ordinance to permit three-week vacations after 15 years' service, but put off a vote on salary increases on grounds they will be included when a vote is taken on this year's budget.

The allocation will then have to be made retroactive since the raises are due to go into effect March 1, before the next Council meeting.

--Approved bills totaling $90,493.58 (including the $40,000 transfer from the electric to the general fund.)

Courier Ad Sells Dinette Set

It's time for spring house cleaning, sprucing up the old place, buying new furniture, discarding old.

The next time you have something to buy or sell, why not give Courier people-reacher ads a try?

40 Inches of Snow So Far This Year

Charlevoix had only slightly over 40 inches of snow through February, and the county's chances for qualifying for even minimal snow removal assistance from the state next year are growing slimmer every day.

This year, the County Road Commission received $13,621 from the state for snow removal, based on a total accumulation of 113 inches last winter.

THE STATE helps those counties experiencing a snowfall of 70 inches or more. Weatherman Harry Ladd measured a total fall of 40.9

Church Marks Century

The Charlevoix Christian Science Society this year is celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Christian Science Church by Mary Baker Eddy.

The year 1866 was the turning point in Mrs. Eddy's life, according to Christian Science News Service.

"The healing (of a severe injury) occurred as she read one of Jesus' healings, in Matthew's gospel, and the experience began to put a new light on everything she knew as a Christian. She became convinced that the principle underlying the life and teaching of Jesus is fundamental to existence itself."

ACTUALLY, it was 13 years before the first Christian Science Church was planned, but the idea had taken root and was growing.

The present Christian Science Church at 205 Clinton St. in Charlevoix was dedicated Jan. 29, 1956. No Christian Science services were held in Charlevoix before 1906, although a few early resorters were Scientists and met at various cottages.

As the group grew, meetings were held at the Bank Hall and later at the Knights of Pythias Hall. In 1909 the group organized as a society, a branch of the Mother Church in Boston.

LATER the group met at the Oddfellows Hall and the Van Pelt Hall, where meetings were held for 24 years. In 1945, a building was acquired at the present site, but the rear was destroyed by fire Feb. 7, 1955, and the present structure was built.

The building is open Saturday afternoons from 3 to 5 p.m., and regular services are at 11 a.m. Sunday and the first Wednesday of the month at 8 p.m.

The public is invited to attend services and make use of the Reading Room.

MRS. VIDARICHARDSON presided.

Railroad Lights Coming

The Michigan Public Service Commission has approved the new railroad crossing over Highway U. S. - 31 southwest of Charlevoix.

The spur line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad was built to serve Medusa Portland Cement Co.

The crossing will be protected by automatic flashing light signals because of the heavy highway traffic, even though only a limited number of slow-speed train movements will be made at the crossing.

PETER B. SPIVAK, chairman of the PSC, also said the commission has approved relocation of the crossing of highway M-66 at a point about one-half mile south of the city. The railroad and highway presently meet at the Ferry Avenue bend.

HE SAID flashing light signals have been ordered for the new crossing, with the agreement of the State Highway Department. Relocation of M-66 has been held up pending the granting of easements into the city.

Present traffic on M-66 in the area is now 2,400 vehicles in a 24-hour period and is expected to double within the next 20 years, Spivak said.

Honor Society Inducts 16 at Charlevoix High

Sixteen Charlevoix High School students were inducted as members of the National Honor Society at ceremonies Feb. 23 in the high school cafeteria.

Admission to the top high school honor group is based on scholarship, leadership, character and service.

MASTER of Ceremonies was Ted Weidman, Melvin Matchett and Barbara Wood, members of the class of 1965, spoke on "What the National Honor Society Has Meant to Me."

Guest speaker was Harvey C. Varnum, prosecuting attorney for Charlevoix County. Varnum told the young people that they must be ready and willing to become a part of the community, "to have responsibilities as citizens."

"KEEP YOURSELVES informed," Varnum said. "If you don't like the way things are going, take the lead in changing them."

He charged the inductees to continue with the development of strong moral character.

Sees 500 Men on Medusa Job

George Martin, vice president of the Nicholson Co., Inc., has moved to Charlevoix as project engineer for Darin Armstrong-Nicholson operations at the Medusa site.

Darin and Nicholson of New York are the prime contractors for building the Medusa Portland Cement Plant at south point.

MARTIN says he expects to have 500 men on the job during the peak of construction later this year. He anticipates having to move many workers into the area from Detroit, since there is not enough help available locally. Target date for completion of the plant is July 4, 1967.

The construction contracts, exclusive of electrical work, come to $10 million.

Oleson's Variety Store Plans to Open March 17

A target date of March 17 has been set for the opening of Oleson's Variety Department Store at the Oleson Shopping Center, according to Ted Bathke, general superintendent.

The three-level store is located at the west end of the shopping plaza, with entrances on Antrim Street and the Plaza. Bathke says the lower level will be devoted to health aids and stationery, the second level to general merchandise and the third level to ready-to-wear and shoes.

A wide, red-carpeted stairway connects to two large sales areas. A ramp connects the lower area with the first floor.

Completely remodeled by Frank Boss, the 7,500 square foot store has unusually textures floor tile throughout. The building will be air conditioned in warm weather.

The store is the second Oleson Variety department store, the first having been opened in Cadillac Nov. 28.

THE CHARLEVOIX store will have check out counters and "super market" carts and baskets for the convenience of shoppers.

Local manager of the store will be Mrs. Bertha Sternaman, formerly of Traverse City. Mrs. Sternaman and her husband, Harold, a locksmith, are renting a house on Division Street.

Asked to Resign From Chamber

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce has asked for and received the resignation of Mrs. Lila Humphries, secretary to Chamber Manager Archie Dayton.

A spokesman for the chamber said the action was taken in the best interests of the organization, and that it was no reflection upon Mrs. Humphries' clerical abilities.

Mrs. Humphries said she considered the Chamber's reasons "flimsy."

Fifteen Men Take Army Tests Today

Fifteen young men from Charlevoix County, ten of them married, report to Fort Wayne in Detroit today for pre-induction physical examinations.

The group left Charlevoix yesterday for Detroit by bus and probably will return early Thursday.

Aged from 19 to 24, the group includes the largest contingent of married men to be tested from Charlevoix County. The married men included:

School Work OK'ed

The Charlevoix School Board approved plans for remodeling a section of the basement of the Elementary School at its meeting Monday night.

The plans must now be approved by the State Department of Education, according to Superintendent Rex Milligan.

A PARTITION will be built across the former girls' shower room, creating room for administration of the federal Title I funds for culturally and educationally disadvantaged children.

The district's Title I program --- which provides for a supplementary schedule of remedial reading classes and gymnasium time for more than 300 children --- recently was approved by the state.

It is planned in time to use the Title I space as a type-A classroom.

THE VISUAL aids room in the basement also will be converted for use as a music room, Milligan said. The remodeling will relieve two upstairs rooms for an anticipated increase in enrollment next fall.

In other business, the board discussed letting contracts for demolition of the two-family apartment house where the new library will be built on Clinton Street, talked about the district's vocational education program, heard a report on Guidance and Counseling and Title I by Dr. William Ratigan and a report by Milligan on current legislation.

Romney Bets on Family in War on Crime

Gov. George Romney's drive to strengthen family life in America picked up momentum last Thursday night when 200 community leaders from 11 counties in northwestern Michigan got together at Traverse City High School to talk about what can be done to pull families back together again.

Heading the Charlevoix delegation to the meeting was Dr. William Ratigan, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel services for Charlevoix schools, who was one of the seven discussion leaders.

ALSO attending from Charlevoix were Charles Robinson, Superintendent of the Charlevoix - Emmet Intermediate School District, Mrs. Robinson, Diagnostics Don Fuller and Mrs. Fuller, Rev. George Majors of the Community Church of God, Rev. Jack Harris of the First Baptist Church, Mrs. Frances Hooper, school board member, school nurse Joan Miles and Mrs. Edith Gilbert, syndicated feature writer.

Gov. Romney kicked off the meeting with a run-down of the indicating that family life in America is not meeting its traditional responsibilities.

He said crime in multiplying five times faster than the population, pointing out that 70 per cent of major crimes in Michigan are committed by persons 22 years of age or under and the 56 per cent of major crimes are committed by persons 16 years of age and under.

The governor said alcoholism is also on the increase and that recent surveys in metropolitan areas indicate that 55 per cent of youngsters in high schools already are drinking. Throughout Michigan, more than half of the highway deaths involve drinking drivers, and in Wayne County (Detroit) the percentage has reached 70 per cent.

HE SAID the quality of entertainment of all kinds---books, movies, music---is slipping and is having a "telling influence" on family life.

Romney quoted Federal Bureau of Investigation Director J. Edgar Hoover in expressing the belief that juvenile criminality is the product of neglect and improper training and can be traced directly to parents.

"Youngsters are going to do what they see being done.

Adult delinquency breeds juvenile delinquency," Romney quoted Hoover as saying, adding that Hoover believes the teaching of God will prevent criminality.

THE GOVERNOR said the United States has a religious basis in the Declaration of Independence but the nation has strayed too far from its religious well springs.

He pointed out that the country was founded with a belief in God, a belief in the dignity of the human being, a belief in truth and a belief in limited government.

He also cited a "vacuum" in purpose and learning on the nation's college campuses. He recalled an incident in 1956 when President Eisenhower's proposed visit to Japan was cancelled because of student-incited riots in Tokyo.

At the time, such riots were almost unthinkable in America, but not today, he said.

THE GOVERNOR also noted a lack of patriotism on college campuses which he believes is perpetrated by faculty members.

The governor had a grim warning for Americans: Either they acquire some old fashioned morality or go the way of all the great civilizations of the past. He said a study shows that most civilizations decline after 200 years, "and the United States is now 190 years old."

THE GOVERNOR said the family conferences, which are being held throughout the state, are the outgrowth of deliberations by his Ethical and Moral Panel. Made up of religious leaders and laymen, the panel stands firmly behind the separation of church and state, but recognizes that deterioration of the family, with accompanying declines in religious conviction and moral character, are largely responsible for the rising tide of juvenile crime.

After the governor's address, the group split up into committees of 25 or less to discuss what steps might be taken by all segments of the community to bring the family back together.

HERE ARE SOME of their suggestions, as reported at the wind-up session:

1. Start early to impart values to youngsters.

2. Educate parents on the responsibilities of parenthood after marriage when the information is needed most.

3. Improve dissemination of information about what services already are available to the family.

4. Start more and better adult education classes.

5. Institute longer school days and a longer school year.

6. Limit the number of outside activities in which members of a family take part.

7. ADMINISTER emotional maturity tests before marriage.

8. Increase the role of the school in strengthening families, particularly in the field of sex education.

9. Eliminate the double standard between adults and youngsters. (The "do as I say, not as I do" attitude)

The Church Serves Youth

Church is for young people—whether they be five or eighty-five.

In his essay, "Youth", Samuel Ullman says: "Youth is not a time of life, it is a state of mind . . . You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair."

The Church is a great help in strengthening faith, establishing self-confidence, keeping hope alive. Down through the years many have relied upon it for aid in dispelling doubt, fear and despair.

If you have not already done so, find a church that will serve you in such a capacity and use its services to aid you in staying young in heart and spirit.

Kroger Sets Record

The Kroger Company, third largest food retailer in the nation, has reported all-time high sales and earnings for 1965.

After tax, net income reported by Jacob E. Davis, president, in the Annual Report to shareholders totaled $31,302,137 compared to $27,923,271 in 1964. This is equivalent to a record $2.42 per share at the year end. A 13 per cent increase over $2.14 earned in 1964 net income amounted to 1-2/10 cents per dollar of sales in 1965.

SALES of $2,555,109,466-53 weeks topped 1964 sales of $2,327,563,209-52 weeks - by 10 per cent or 8 per cent on a comparable 52 week year. Average annual sales per food store on the 52 week basis were $1,666,619 in 1965, an increase of $84,260 over 1964. "Despite highly competitive conditions throughout the retail food industry during the year," Davis said, "sales increased in 26 of the Company's 27 retail divisions." He added that Kroger's merchandising policies and pricing practices reflect the Company's determination to continue to be an effective competitor in every market area in which it operates.

"The quarterly dividend rate on common stock was increased from .30 to .32 1/2 cent per share in the fourth quarter of 1965," Davis noted. The 1965 dividend hike followed a raise from .27 1/2 to .30 in 1964. Kroger has paid dividends from current earnings for 64 consecutive years.

Business New & Notes

Record Year

Medusa Earnings $2.70 Per Share

Medusa Portland Cement Co. has announced record earnings of $4,515,000 for 1965 or $2.70 per share, up from $4,110,000 or $2.43 per share last year. The previous high was reached in 1958 when the company earned $4,223,000 or $2.32 per share.

Said Robert W. Fort, President, "The improvement came in the face of a slight decline in total consumption in our markets and a further softening of prices. It can be attributed primarily to lower costs of production and a modest gain in Medusa's volume."

SALES VOLUME for 1965 was $43,020,000 as compared with 1964 sales of $41,644,000. In 1958 sales amounted to $39,786,000. Dividends paid in 1965 totaled $1.20 per share, also a new high, and compare with $1.05 paid in the prior year.

Speaking before a group of institutional investors in Boston recently Fort said:

Report Tips by March 10

Employees in Michigan have an important tax deadline on March 10.

This is the last date for all employees who received cash tips of $20 or more last month to report them to employers for tax withholding purposes, Detroit District Director of Internal Revenue A. M. Stoepeler, said today. IRS Form 4070 may be used for this purpose.

New laws passed in 1965 require all employees receiving $20 or more in cash tips a month to report them to their employers by the 10th day of the following month. This tip income now counts toward Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits.

lar contract for erection was let last week to a joint venture of Darin & Armstrong, Inc. of Detroit and The Nicholson Co., Inc. of New York.

Construction has been almost completed on the Company's new Technical and Research Center which is being constructed underground at Wampum, Pa.

Lake Tankers Report Upturn in Oil Shipments

Shipments of petroleum products over the Great Lakes in U. S. and Canadian tankers in 1965 totaled 11,167,957 net tons, or 79,521,055 barrels, according to the Lake Carriers' Association.

Last year marked the first time since 1961, the trend of shipments turned upward. The 1964 movement amounted to 10,789,936 tons.

The tanker fleet on Jan. 1 consisted of 43 U. S. vessels and 31 Canadian ships, and totaled 156,780 gross registered tons. It was the smallest such fleet to operate on the lakes since 1944 when 70 units were in the trade.

The reduction in the volume of petroleum products carried over the lakes in recent years has been directly related to the expansion of products pipelines in the Great Lakes area.

U.S. to Study Transportation in N. Michigan

The federal government is undertaking a thorough study of transportation needs in Upper Michigan.

The office of economic development has approved a $65,000 study to determine what must be done in the way of transportation to boost Upper Michigan commerce and industry.

Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D-11th District), in announcing approval of the study, said it will include all of the Upper Peninsula and the 33 northern counties of the Lower Peninsula.

"The shortage of swift, economical transportation in Upper Michigan has made it impractical for some businesses and industry to compete with those in areas more favorably situated to modern transportation facilities," Clevenger said.

The Colosseum in Rome had a seating capacity of 40,000 to 50,000, making it comparable to many football and baseball fields of today.

Untended water pipes often burst in the winter because water increases in volume as it changes to ice.

I wish to express my deep appreciation for your vote of confidence in electing me as a candidate for first ward alderman.

I will also appreciate your continued support in the April 4th general election.

With Bob Clock

Part of the America I remember as a boy died with Billy Rose. I never came close to meeting the "Bantam Barnum" but the little impresario's life and times somehow always seems to strike a responsive chord with me. When I was a school boy in the 1930's, the name Billy Rose was synonymous with those things like boys had no business even thinking about, namely New York girlie shows. That's why we thought about them all the time. In our school, we even chanted a little song that started: "Said Billy Rose to Sally Rand, Do a dance without your fan..."

There was more to it, but to this day I'm not certain whether it's sacrosanct. But back in the 1930's I certainly thought it was. At any rate, Billy Rose to me was sort of Mr. New York. From the stories I heard, I was sure his Diamond Horseshoe nightclub must be the center of the universe. In those days I knew little of Rose's past--that he was born William Rosenfeld, that at 18 he had become the world's fastest stenographer, or that he worked as a secretary to Bernard Baruch during World War I. My next "contact" with Mr. Rose came in the 1940's when I was a college boy. I was studying journalism and Billy Rose was a syndicated columnist appearing in the Detroit Free Press. And how that man could write! With the exception of Mark Anthony's oration in "Julius Caesar," very little literature has moved me sufficiently to make me take out a handkerchief. But Billy Rose could do it with disturbing regularity.

I'll never forget one little piece he did about a pair of young brothers who were taken by their mother to a farm in upstate New York for their summer holiday. One day the boys were playing in a barn when the younger one fell from the loft onto a rusty disc harrow. The boy was badly cut and lost an enormous amount of blood before the local country doctor could anesthetize him and stitch up his wounds. While the doctor was working the older boy stood close by, asking all kinds of questions.

"Does it hurt when you lose a lot of blood?"

"Well, it may not hurt, but it doesn't do you any good."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, if you lose a lot of blood, you might die," the doctor answered.

"How much is a lot?"

"Well, now, that depends..." the doctor answered vaguely.

After surgery, the doctor told the mother the boy was terribly weak and badly in need of a blood transfusion.

The mother said that should be no problem, since her New York pediatrician had told her both boys had the same blood type. Without hesitating, the doctor asked the older boy if he would give blood to his brother. The child's eyes looked grave for a moment, and then he said he would.

After the transfusion, the younger boy perked up, but the older boy stayed in his room and when supper time came he said he wasn't hungry. As the evening wore on, he simply lay on his bed looking at the ceiling. Finally his mother heard him open the screen door and come out on the porch.

"How are you, son?" she asked.

"All right, I guess," the boy answered.

"Then why are you so quiet?"

There was no answer for a moment, then the boy blurted out: "I was just wondering how long it's going to take me to die!"

Billy Rose came into my life again when I was a young bachelor, given to spending my Saturday nights at some of the smokier bistros in Detroit where the entertainment consisted of has-beens of the vaudeville stage who sang to the accompaniment of a honky-tonk piano. I'll never forget one old trouper with a Sophie Tucker physique whose specialty was Billy Rose's "That Old Gang of Mine. She was a throaty contralto and the glasses would stop clicking as soon as she started singing: "G-e-e, but I'd give the w-o-r-l-d to s-e-e That Old Gang of Mine..."

After the first chorus, she would stop, look grandly over the audience and begin what Rose called the "recitation," while the piano repeated the chorus softly in the background:

"Last night 'neath a street lamp I silently stood,

On the same old corner, back in the old neighborhood,

As I gazed at the houses unchanged by the years,

In my throat came a lump, and my eyes filled with tears."

The audience was all hers by now, and they stayed with her while she described the kids in the old gang and how they used to play handball down by the school.

"And then came the parties, and dances--that's why we didn't notice the years going by,

And the first thing we knew we were all twenty-one."

CHARLES RONQUIST

BRUCE FILLMORE

GARY FORTNER

New Guardsmen at Station

Three new men have been added to the staff of the Charlevoix Coast Guard station. They are Charles Ronquist, FNEEN, and Bruce Fillmore, FNEEN, both recent graduates of the engineering school at Graton, Conn., and Gary Fortner, formerly of Group Headquarters.

A native of Hancock, Mich., Ronquist has been in the Coast Guard 4 1/2 years. Other CG assignments have taken him to Portage, Mich., Milwaukee, Wake Island and Maine. Fillmore, who has been in the Coast Guard six months, comes from North Tonawanda, N.Y.

Fortner, an engineering second class, has been in the Coast Guard almost 8 years. Before coming to Charlevoix in 1964 he was stationed at Sault Ste. Marie and in Alaska. A native of Rochester, N.Y., his most recent assignment has been at the Lansing shoals Light.

Michigan Bluebird Faces Extinction

A housing shortage is threatening to wipe out the bluebird in Michigan, according to the Grand Rapids chapter of the Michigan Audubon Society.

The chapter says the bluebird has been reduced 80 percent and is well on its way to extinction. The primary cause of the trouble is a critical shortage of nesting sites.

But the gang stuck together in fight or in fun.

And then came the war--the crowds in the street.

--The blast of the bugle--the tramp of the feet.

And the gang, That Old Gang of Mine.

Was the first gang that hit the Von Hindenburg line."

At this point the audience was in a state of suspended animation, and even the bartender would stop polishing glasses to listen.

"But the war is all over, and last night as I stood

On the same old corner, back in the old neighborhood,

I couldn't help brushing a tear from my eye,

For I knew not a face in the crowds that went by.

Gone forever are the pals that I love.

There isn't a trace or a sign,

Of that regular, honest to goodness old bunch,

That I call That Old Gang of Mine."

Talk about brushing tears away! There wasn't a dry eye in the house when the singer picked up the chorus again, finishing with a flourish reminiscent of Roaring Twenties.

Two weeks ago Billy Rose died in Jamaica of pneumonia. It's sort of nice to think that, after all these years, that old gang is finally back together again.

The Atwood Homemakers meeting was held on Wednesday Feb. 9 at the home of Mrs. Peter Pott, Vice Chairman. Mrs. Art De Vries called the meeting to order. Devotions and prayer were given by Mrs. Peter Pott. The minutes and treasurer's report were read by the Secretary Mrs. Henry Burns.

There were seven members and one visitor, Mrs. Selbe De Vries present. Discussion leader, Mrs. Art De Vries, gave a very interesting lesson, "Money and Planning the use of the Family Dollar."

The ladies also checked a sheet on "Can You Manage Money?" which caused some discussion. Mrs. Art De Vries and Mrs. Erwin Holeccheck plan to attend the Thursday afternoon meeting at B. H. Hurren Home Management and Decision Making.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. David Beck on Wednesday March 9 at 1 p.m. Meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Peter Pott.

Family Talks Hold Promise

Of all the government programs designed to "do something" about juvenile crime and lax moral standards in the past few years, the current series of governor's conferences on strengthening the family seems to have the best chance of success. Locally, the first regional conference was held in Traverse City Feb. 24.

The reason for our enthusiasm is the dynamic leadership Gov. Romney has given in isolating the problem and turning it over to the people for a workable solution.

NOT ONLY by word, but also by example, Romney is one of the country's staunchest believers in the importance of strong family ties in keeping the country on the straight and narrow. A family man and church leader, Romney speaks with a conviction that causes his listeners to sit up and take notice.

No small amount of credit for the program should go to Charles Stolz, director, Division of the Family, State Human Resources Council, who has acted as moderator for the program.

STOLZ has arranged regional meetings throughout the state so that an awful lot of work can be accomplished in a minimum amount of time. After the keynote address, conferences adjourn to small workshops where everyone of the hundreds of people attending has a chance to be heard. The results of each small group discussion are then summed up by discussion leaders at the final plenary session.

Another good feature of the conferences is the follow-through. A representative from each discussion group will be invited to Lansing April 2 to draw up a final list of recommendations.

We wish the governor well on this bold, new undertaking.

Deer Problem Is Biological

The following article on the "deer situation" was prepared by the State Conservation Department.

Michigan does not have as many deer as it used to have.

Michigan is going to have fewer deer before it has more.

There is nothing practical that can be done to produce many more deer right now.

Michigan is located at the northern fringe of the natural range of the white-tailed deer. Fifty miles north of the Soo, there are no deer.

Deer can survive Michigan winters only by retreating into the shelter of deer yards -- dense swamps and thickets. Whether they survive until spring depends entirely on one critical factor: the amount of food available in the deer yards.

A DEER must have a bushel basket-full of food every day to stay alive and healthy. That means every single deer in northern Michigan needs 90 bushels of food to take him through the winter. In this fact lies the answer to why artificial feeding on a large scale is impossible.

The point is there has to be enough of the right kinds of plants growing in deer yards and it has to be within reach.

ALL THE green stuff in the world won't feed a single deer if it isn't on his highly selective menu list, and if it isn't where he spends the winter. When the White Man came to Michigan there weren't many deer. The forests were mature. A few animals lived in cedar swamps, stream valleys and at beaver dam openings. Then came the lumber era and fires in the slashings. This set the stage for the following explosion of deer.

The blackened land subsequently became covered with weeds, then grass, finally shrubs and trees. This made a paradise for deer and they were quick to take advantage of it.

The buck law made good sense in those days. It is always good sense to protect a species during a time when it is expanding and extending its range.

THE MICHIGAN deer herd probably reached its peak sometime during the 1940's. But even as it peaked, it was evident that disaster lay ahead. The food supply was shrinking. Browse lines--top limits of what a deer could reach--were appearing. Starved deer were being found on spring visits to deer yards.

Just as it is sound to restrict harvests when the herd is expanding, so it is sound to step up the harvest when it gets out of balance with its range.

With the taking of antlerless deer, the herd was bound to decline. We knew that. We knew too, that people would want more deer and that the Department's program would be blamed for the drop.

IN MANAGING Michigan's deer today, the Conservation Department is fighting a rear-guard action.

Michigan is losing deer, slowly and inevitably to the pressures of nature. The goal is to hold these losses to an absolute minimum.

Michigan's forests are maturing. We are moving into another era of big trees and tall timber. We are growing wood at more than three times the rate we are cutting it. So long as this continues, deer food will go down, and so will the number of deer.

The future? Trees are not going to quit growing. There is no prospect except for a slow decline in deer numbers.

THERE ARE some things we can do and are doing to help carry more deer through the critical winter months and thus retard the decline. We are doing some spraying to stimulate new growth of deer food plants. We are concentrating this work on the edges of deer yards, to provide food where it is most needed. This effort, together with commercial logging operations, probably is making it possible to bring as many as 100,000 more deer through the winter than we otherwise could. By coincidence, that's about the average number that hunters have been harvesting annually over the past 10 years.

However, only about 20 percent of the land in northern Michigan is state owned. Any large-scale effort to improve deer range, therefore, requires the cooperation of owners of the remaining 80 percent.

Another important factor working against us is the rapid conversion of Michigan land to non-wildlife uses. Michigan is losing land at the rate of 200 acres per day; more than two square miles, or 1,200 football fields per week. It is going to homes, cottages, supermarkets, highways, factories, golf courses, hot dog stands, artificial lakes, and other handiworks of man.

CONSIDER too, how numbers of deer hunters are increasing. In 1965 there were 150,000 more than were in the woods just three years before.

Given the condition of Michigan's deer range as it exists today, and given the hard, cold facts of nature, all Michigan deer seasons for the foreseeable future must include as a basic principle the taking of some antlerless deer every year.

We must manage deer on the basis of biology--not by popular vote.

WHAT'S WRONG with turning the job back to Nature? Just this: Nature cannot operate normally in the presence of Man. It was Man, not Nature, who created the conditions which allowed the deer herd to explode 20 and 30 years ago. Not only did Man change the face of the land with axe and fire, he also eliminated the timber wolf, the principal predatory check on deer, a key cog in Nature's other basic controls are starvation and disease. These she will use, and use them ruthlessly, if deer control is given back to her.

If the Department of Conservation is allowed to continue and improve the management program it now has, a program that has proved itself over 13 years of good deer harvests in the face of rising human pressures, Michigan can maintain a healthy herd with a high rate of reproduction. Hunters can go on shooting deer in about the same numbers each year as they are now taking.

If we let Nature take over, we can look forward to a declining herd of small, malnourished, slow-reproducing deer, and the gradual decimation of deer and deer hunting in much of Michigan can be expected.

That is the choice we have to make.

odds FRAN MARTIN ends

Tournament drawings were held last week... which, in itself, is nothing unusual this time of year... after all, it's tournament time. If you're interested in basketball you know that Charlevoix drew Mancelona for a game to be played tonight... and therein lies my story... for this is only the third time in 11 years that Charlevoix hasn't met head-on with Boyne City. In the opening game of the District Class C tournament... I'd say that that was one for the books for there have always been four and sometimes more Class C teams in these tournaments... Guess everyone was justified in sounding off this issue...

HAD A CALL from a friend of mine who said she had a lovely crocus in a pot on her kitchen window... in answer to the question of who she'd gotten it, she said that it had popped its little nose out of the ground during the recent warm spell and when it turned cold her brother had dug it up and potted it rather than see it freeze... All this so you'll know what to do in case this happens to you...

IN CASE you think there aren't people who will peddle Charlevoix's wares at the drop of the hat, let me tell you about the Murdicks who set up business at home shows and boat shows at various spots in Michigan and nearby states... One of these has been in Toledo where Fran Murdick has been holding down the candy making chore and dispensing brochures about Charlevoix the Beautiful on the side... There's been a home show in Grand Rapids and later on there'll be a sports show where Jerry Murdick and his cohorts will be selling their own wares as well as Charlevoix as a winter and summer resort... And all of this out of the goodness of their hearts... Quite a contribution, I'd say, when you consider the price of floor space at these shows...

SPEAKING of space, did you know that in a small country like Denmark every square foot of land is accounted for? That's right... the government has a planner whose job is to utilize every inch, one might say, because there's just not enough land to go around if it isn't used to the best advantage... Why do I bring up this issue? Well, it's like this... Have you noticed how all those open spaces we boasted of a while back are no more? I'm kidding? If you think so, just take your little self out for a ride around what was once considered the boondocks and see for yourself how few lots are left... Or, if you don't want to do that, check with the powers that be at the Register of Deeds office and see how many pieces of property have changed hands recently or at the city hall and find out how many new building permits have been issued... Time was, and it wasn't too many years ago either, that about the only things occupying the area bordered by Meech St., Dixon Ave., Mercer Blvd. and Petoskey Ave. were the old Inn Garage and the clubhouse at the golf course... and now take a look... It's much the same all around the village... So the 1960 census reports that Charlevoix isn't growing... Then wherever are all these new homes coming from?

ACCORDING to Webster, a hobby is defined as "an occupation pursued for recreation". I'm of the opinion that everyone should have a hobby of some kind... even if it's only reading the sport's page... But some hobbies are like Topsy, they grow... and in many instances take up more space and time than anyone counted on... I heard of one the other day that just about topped them all... When the youngster in the family was real small, he became interested in butterflies and moths... Little by little the entire family got interested in collecting and mounting them... Now it's become a family project... even to the point of hatching out cocoons to obtain a desired specimen... They've been mounted through the years and now the family boasts a beautiful collection...

Then there are people who knit... just anything from booties to an afghan or a suit... and how many people do you know who crochet... or polish stones... make doll clothes... paint... make ceramics from molding the clay to the finished product... drift wood... the list goes on and on...

WHAT'S YOUR hobby? If it's something unusual, I'd like to hear about it... I think it would be fun to share it with everyone... And if you think a hobby's for the birds you're wrong... it's something that may at some time keep you sane... or you'll health so don't speak lightly of it.

Attention Drawn to Problems of Senior Citizens

To the Editor:

A recent survey indicates that the younger Americans are aware of retirement and that most wish to retire at an earlier age than did retirees of the past or the present. The fact is, that while old age is the present of the senior citizen, it is the future of the younger citizen. Hence it behooves all of us to become aware of and concerned for our senior citizens.

For one thing, our churches should get together and form a council for the senior citizen's interest. This council could, in fact, use its influence on various state and federal agencies to secure a trained moderator or coordinator and the establishment of a Senior Citizen Center -- one that would have real meaning to our people, such as health service, part-time employment, handicrafts, dancing and all sorts of recreational events.

MORE PEOPLE are living longer than they did before. Life expectancy now is 69.9 years, compared to 47.3 at the turn of the century. For women it is as high as 73.4 years.

Sen. Pat McNamara of Michigan was one of the principal authors of some senior citizen legislation which established a new administration on aging in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and made possible three great programs for the benefit of elderly people.

Michigan is now working to increase multi-purpose activity center programs and will assist in establishment of local councils on aging and training programs to prepare qualified personnel to work with the elderly.

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor?

It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers. But don't let that scare you... write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone... free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "bail down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous... even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you... taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business... scores of things to write about!

11. Listen to young people when they tell what they expect of their families.

12. Develop a weekly television series showing how best to handle those problems which are ruining the importance of the family.

SUMMING up the conference, Mrs. Lois Whitehead, Assistant Director for Family Living Education at Michigan State University, recalled a two-and-one-half day stay in Pakistan, during which she did not see a single "naughty" child, even among the most down-trodden families. She said the conclusion such respect stemmed from a realization on the part of the children that their parents were doing the best they could for them.

Additional questionnaires are being mailed to residents of Charlevoix and Marlon Townships. Tourist and Commercial forms are being sent to interested parties and should be forwarded to Williams and Works, community planners, in Grand Rapids. A survey of industrial plants will be conducted by Williams and Works in person.

Probe Plane Report

Coast Guard aircraft and the Sundew were called to investigate a report that an airplane was down on the ice of Lake Michigan about five to seven miles from Good Hart Tuesday afternoon, but the mission appeared to be a false alarm.

Warrant Officer James Seldi, Group Commander, set the search in motion after he was informed by the sheriff's department that Harbor Springs police reported a plane was seen landing on the ice.

Seldi notified Ninth Coast Guard District headquarters which ordered the search.

It was later learned that Highway Department workers near Harbor Springs had seen what they thought was the tail section of a plane on the ice.

The Sundew was recalled, but the air search continued until sundown.

William Howard Taft is the only man who served both as president and as Chief Justice of the United States.

Pier Crumbles

HEAVY ice has caused the north pierhead at Charlevoix Harbor to crack and sink into Lake Michigan. The local Coast Guard Station has taken note of the situation and sent pictures to the Army Corps of Engineers to determine what must be done to repair the damage.

City Street Boss Leo Allard Retires

Leo Allard, superintendent of the city's Street Department since 1928, will retire in April. But co-workers held a party in his honor March 5, his last full day of work before vacation.

When Allard came to work for the city, street facilities consisted of "an Acme truck, a team of double horses, a push-type snow plow, three men and myself."

Allard leaves behind a staff of five plus some of the best equipment going for street maintenance and repair.

Known for his dexterity at the helm of a snow plow, Allard says his first year in the department was the first year Charlevoix plowed its streets, using a snow-plow attachment on the truck.

"Even then, we only plowed half of every street, leaving the other half open for sleigh traffic. We used the team of horses to haul the snow away on bob sleds."

Allard recalled that as late as 1950, the city used horses to plow sidewalks.

Allard plans to spend his retirement in Charlevoix, although his wife, Lela, is talking about a trip to California next fall to see her sister. The Allards live at 1006 Bridge Street.

Leonard Dubey will succeed Allard as street superintendent.

Upholds Family Tradition

Daniel N. Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gallagher, is upholding a family tradition.

Go-Go Permit Denied

Aldermen Reject Hare's Lair Bid

Charlevoix City Council Monday denied a request for an entertainment license at the Hare's Lair on W. Dixon because the physical facilities at the would-be night spot aren't good enough.

The action came after the Charlevoix Ministerial Association protested at the last Council meeting against Go-Go girl entertainment offered by the Hare's Lair earlier this winter.

THE REV. Jack Harris of the First Baptist Church and the Rev. George Majors of the Community Church of God said Go-Go type entertainment undermined public morality, led to illicit sex and was apt to lead astray servicemen stationed at Charlevoix.

In a letter read to the Council Monday by Mayor E. D. (Pat) Hawley, Rev. Harris, who heads the ministerial group, thanked aldermen for looking deeply into the situation. He said the kind of license sought by the Hare's Lair would open the door to "all types" of objectionable entertainment.

HAWLEY also read a letter from D.A. Winnie, representing Henry Hogan, owner of the Hare's Lair. Winnie stated his request for an entertainment license, expressed surprise that the council had tabled the measure at the last meeting and said he expected the "courtesy" of an explanation.

"We regret the unfavorable publicity given this matter by the Courier and the connotation given that we are establishing a Go-Go house having a bad reputation," he wrote. "We chose to close, pending approval of our request for an entertainment license to avoid undue publicity and because the winter ski season was essentially over."

"WITHOUT an entertainment license, speakers, stand-up comedians, and other forms of dancers and entertainment could not be engaged. We are as interested in preserving the good, wholesome reputation of Charlevoix, if not more so than many, because of our investments, and wish to see the city prosper as much as possible," he continued.

"I REPEAT that our interest in having an entertainment license is in preparation for the new hotel and continuation of Go-Go girls is furthest from our minds. Although this is a form of entertainment much publicized on television for the younger set, like most things, it can be exaggerated. To this extent, we apologize to anyone offended and hope it won't be seriously held against us."

A motion denying the license was made by Alderman Del Torritt, supported by Alderman Bill Fochtman. The vote was unanimous.

THE RESOLUTION was a stock form supplied by the State Liquor Control Commission to sound out community sentiment on the granting of licenses. A license objected to locally has virtually no chance of approval by the state.

The type of license presently held by the Hare's Lair permits a band and a singer but no other types of entertainment.

The bar is located in the basement of the unoccupied Holiday Beach Hotel at the foot of W. Dixon Ave. Eventually, Hogan hopes to tear it down and build a nine-story convention hotel on the site.

Notified of the Council's action, Hogan said the Hare's Lair will not re-open this winter.

Steve Kowbel 'Holding Own'

Members of the family report Steve Kowbel is "holding his own," although he is still in a coma.

Kowbel suffered a stroke Feb. 28 while working at his store. He and his son, Don, are proprietors of Harbor Hardware at Charlevoix Hospital.

Sanitary Facilities Asked in E. Park

Mayor E. D. (Pat) Hawley recommended Monday night that money be set aside in the 1966-67 budget for toilet and shower facilities in East Park to alleviate pollution of Round Lake.

City Superintendent Jim Taylor said it was too late to get any facilities built for use this summer.

A total of $19,358 was set aside for the work in last year's budget, but part of the money was used for roads and airport improvements.

LAST YEAR, an engineering survey fixed the cost of a harbor facilities building at $150,000, half of which would be borne by the state. Toilet and shower facilities alone would cost $35,000, of which the city would pay $17,500.

Mayor Hawley pointed out that if the city accepts matching funds, the facilities are subject to state controls. This would mean the service building would be open only to sailors docked at Charlevoix and closed to all others.

ALDERMAN Robert Gill suggested that Charlevoix try to "go it alone."

Mayor Hawley asked Taylor to check and see what additional funds might be available and the matter was dropped.

IN OTHER Council business, aldermen agreed to look into a request by Taylor that the city purchase a street sweeper at a cost of no more than $12,000.

"Why don't you put it in the proposed budget?" Hawley suggested.

"It's already in there," Taylor answered. He said the budget probably will be ready for the Council at the next session.

Marauding Skunks Plague Charlevoix

Charlevoix has more than its share of skunks, and the State Conservation Department is doing what it can to get rid of them, according to Harley Burris, conservation officer from Boyne City.

The little nocturnal beasts not only are unpleasant to have around --- odoriferously speaking --- but virtually all skunks are carriers of rabies, Burris says.

Pictures Stolen While Family Attends Funeral

The Frederick Frederick home at 106 Palmer was entered sometime last week and about 200 family pictures---many of them of Mrs. Frederick---were taken, according to Charlevoix police.

The house was entered while the Frederick family was in Sault Ste. Marie attending the funeral of Mrs. Frederick who died Feb. 28 at Charlevoix Hospital of Hodgkins disease. She was 29.

FREDERICK, who is assigned to the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station, said most of his pictures of his late wife were taken, along with other family pictures and photos taken during his recent tour of duty in Turkey.

"They are of value to no one but me," he said. "I can't understand why anyone would want them."

The entry was discovered Saturday night by friends who were watching the house. Frederick and his six children returned from the Soo Sunday.

Ex-School Marm Writes for Courier

A former schoolteacher, Mrs. Ross Alexander has been writing Ironton news for the Courier since 1930.

A native of East Jordan, Mrs. Alexander spent her girlhood in Central Lake and attended normal school (teachers' college) in Charlevoix.

"At that time, normal school occupied two rooms in the high school. It was a one-year course, and I spent one summer at Ypsilanti State Normal for extra credit," she recalls.

IN 1921, Mrs. Alexander began teaching grades one through four in a two-room school at Ironton. The following year she taught at the Lincoln School in Charlevoix (now the American Legion Hall) before marrying Ross Alexander and moving back to Ironton. Her father-in-law, Sam, operated the Ironton Ferry for many years.

At the start of World War II, the family moved to Petoskey where Alexander was superintendent of the Foster Boat Co., a firm making tarpaulins and other marine gear. Mrs. Alexander gave up her correspondent's job.

WHEN THE WAR ended, they moved back to the family home in Ironton for keeps. Today, Alexander is superintendent of Paul-Reed Co. in Charlevoix and Mrs. Alexander keeps busy with a multitude of activities in addition to her work for the Courier which she resumed in 1964.

SHE IS a member of the Charlevoix Garden Club, the Dickens Club and sings in the choir at the Ironton Church across the road from her home.

She enjoys painting and has an interesting painting of her childhood home framed and hanging on the dining room wall. She also knits, sews, raises African violets and spends no small amount of time seeing to it no bird in Ironton goes without three-square meals a day. Bird feeders of every size and description decorate the Alexanders' lawn.

She is particularly fond of one cardinal which has re-

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

I was surprised at the recent governor's conference on strengthening the family how often the discussion turned to a lack of child discipline as one of the major causes of problems besetting modern society.

As a former schoolteacher, I could only concur. It doesn't take too many days at the head of a class to realize that the happiest children -- the ones who do the best work and take home the best grades, the ones who are best liked by their classmates and vice versa -- are the ones who live under the strictest set of rules at home.

I'LL NEVER forget a conversation I overheard one afternoon in the hall between two 12-year-old girls. One, a pretty little thing, was the product of a broken home. Her mother worked and she was her own boss so far as hours, dress and spare time activities were concerned. The other one came from a family where the parents were known as strict disciplinarians.

"I'm going to ride my bicycle to Fenton after school today," the first one boasted loudly.

The other didn't answer for a minute. Then she came up with a real conversation stopper:

"My father won't let me ride my bicycle to Fenton," she said in a tone that was just as boastful as her friend. For a minute I thought the first little girl was going to burst into tears because she had nobody to tell her what she couldn't do.

IT'S BEEN my experience that rather than resenting discipline, youngsters absolutely crave it. Their experience in the world is too limited for them to set their own guidelines. And, strangely enough, they know it. Many of the participants at the governor's conference agreed that if youngsters are called upon to set limits on their own behavior, they will draw lines much tighter than necessary. They are willing to tow the mark, but they need someone to draw boundaries and set limits -- and then enforce them.

IT IS REALLY not difficult to understand why so many parents of today's teenagers have abdicated their responsibility. They were youngsters during the Depression and the turbulent years of the Second World War. They raised their families during the prosperous 50's and 60's, determined that their youngsters were going to have a better life than they had.

Many parents seem to have agreed that it cripples a youngster's style to get a job and earn his own spending money at the very time that jobs for youngsters were vanishing into the maw of automation. Automatic pin spotters replaced the pin setter; check-out counters diminished the need for sales clerks; prepackaging of all kinds reduced the need for stock boys. Youngsters found themselves with a super-abundance of time, plenty of pocket money from dad -- and no ready advice on how to spend either wisely.

A whole generation of parents -- and youngsters -- seems to have lost sight of the fact that the most worthwhile things in life are the products of discipline.

WE ARE reaping the results of our permissiveness today with a bumper crop of juvenile hoodlums who, in the absence of parental rules, have written their own. Now it appears that unless we apply the brakes and make a U-turn toward old fashioned discipline in the home, we are in real trouble, not only as families but as a nation.

Mrs. Lea Whitfield of Michigan State University's family living department thinks one way to keep the situation from worsening is to educate young parents on how to raise their youngsters -- impressing upon them the importance of discipline at all stages of child development. She believes a person learns best at the time he needs the information. It follows that the best time to train people to be parents is when they have children, not when they're pimply-faced students in a high school home economics class.

Mrs. Whitfield's argument makes sense. It is presumptive to assume that because a man and woman are biologically capable of producing a child that they automatically know how best mold that child into a happy, contributing member of society. Mrs. Whitfield thinks we leave an awful lot to chance.

If she has her way, all new parents will be taught not only how to change a baby's diapers, but also how to shape his emotional development

Have You Ever Been Lonesome?

Have you ever been genuinely lonesome? Have you ever been placed under circumstances that you felt yourself utterly alone? One does not, of necessity, have to be in surroundings where there is little life, where trees and vegetation are hard put to exist. Sometimes one can be made to feel absolute loneliness—one hundred percent alone—even though he may be in the city with a million other people.

There are, however, some who are never alone, no matter where circumstances or fate may place them. What is the secret? It is no secret! They have a God that is as real as any of their surroundings.

How does one acquire the companionship and presence of such a God? The Church is a wonderful asset. Find a church that fits your needs, use it, and the companionship of God will be yours so that you need never be lonesome again.

Pvt. L. H. Messmore

Combat School Training Ends for Messmore

Marine Pvt. Lawrence H. Messmore, son of Dr. and Mrs. Messmore of 301 Michigan Ave., Charlevoix, has completed individual combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The four-week course included over 200 hours of instruction under simulated combat conditions, covering squad tactics, guerrilla warfare, day and night combat, patrolling, and the use of infantry weapons.

His next step is four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught infantry sub-specialties, such as the machine gun, grenade launcher, rifle or mortar. Marines to be assigned to highly technical specialties will be sent to military technical schools for their specialist training.

Leath-necks bound for the Pacific will receive more training when they report to the Staging Battalion at Camp Pendleton, Calif. This training will emphasize jungle warfare, patrolling, and elite action based on experience gained in Vietnam.

Pier Planned at St. James

The Department of Conservation has announced plans to construct two piers at Sucker Point in St. James Harbor and to dredge the approach to a depth of five feet.

The piers will extend 35 feet into the harbor and the dredged material—about 92 cubic yards—will be deposited shoreward of the bulkheads.

THE SITE of the proposed work is about 900 feet north of the U. S. Coast Guard Station on Beaver Island.

Any interested party with objections to the work should file a written protest with the Department of the Army, Detroit District, Corps of Engineers, not later than 4 p.m. March 10.

The work will be carried out by the Conservation Department's Research and Development Division.

Spring Is a Little Late This Year

You may not think so, but spring is going to be a little late this year when it arrives at 8:53 p.m. March 20, says University of Michigan astronomer Dr. Hazel M. Losh.

That's the time the Sun will reach the vernal equinox (cross the equator on its way north). And officially, this date of the start of the spring season is nearly six hours later than last year.

"This is so," Professor Losh explains, "because the number of days in our calendar is 365, while the Sun requires the uneven number of 365.2422 days in its apparent yearly travel around the Earth. Since December 21, the Sun has been steadily trekking northward at the rate of about one degree per day."

ALTHOUGH it has been rising and setting south of the east and west points of the horizon for the last six months, on this day of the equinox the Sun will shine vertically over the Earth's equator. Both hemispheres will share the Sun about equally on that day, Dr. Losh says.

"As the Sun continues northward, it will not only lengthen the daylight hours, but also bring warmer weather to the northern hemisphere."

And, contrary to what many believe, the day and night will not be exactly the same length on the day of the equinox, Professor Losh says. "The length of time between sunrise and sunset will be a few minutes longer than from the Sun's setting to its rising, because of the refraction or bending of the Sun's rays by the Earth's atmosphere."

Due to this refraction, "the sun is lifted into view" a few minutes before it actually comes over the horizon.

"Consequently, the day and night are most nearly equal three days before the equinox."

Reader Defends Erotic Dancing

Dear Mr. Clerk:

Lately there has been a lot of controversy over the Harp's Lair. The Petoskey paper has printed an article and you have devoted one of your columns to the subject.

You described the entertainment as "commercialized sex." To the aged, who do not understand it, this may be true. That still didn't keep them from comprising the vast majority of the audience. No doubt being such capable judges of "good music" they remember Scherzinger, the Classic Ballerina. Was that "commercialized sex"? More recently there was the musical "Kismet." Of course Charlevoix probably will never be so blessed as to see anything like that--they may lead the servicemen astray!

DANCING is a form of expression, an art and a recreational activity. For example, when a young couple dance for the first time, they find out a lot just by the way their partner dances. Whether he or she is shy, reserved, despondent, or domineering. To the newcomer, all young dancers look as if they're oblivious to anyone else. Actually, they're saying what they feel. At times they can even tell where their new partner is from, as each locality has a little style of its own. Regardless, a girl who learns the "jerk" or "social" dancing in Charlevoix can still dance with a boy from Seattle, Wash., even if complete strangers. But if one looks for bad in an innocent thing, let him. But let's not all condemn the discotheque. I'm sure any young relation of those ministers -- whether daughter or niece -- could easily dance with any young airman over at Bay Shore.

P.M. GRATEFUL, the clergy of the area are interested in the servicemen. Why not build a wall around the Air Force installation, the Coast Guard station and the CGC Sundew to protect us from evil --- or around your daughters and sons. Better still, build one around pure white Charlevoix and outlaw life. (Name one spot in town that has any.) I propose a slogan for the crowded masses that attend church on Sunday: Close the Harp's Lair and end illegitimate sex in Charlevoix.

ELLSWORTH NEWS

Journalism Class
Ellsworth High School

Students at E.H.S. have been snowed under with all sorts of tests. On Monday, Feb. 28, freshmen and sophomores took the National Educational Development Test for the entire morning. Next day, juniors tackled the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Exam. Then on Thursday, seniors took an Air Force exam in Central Lake.

After the exams, students developed brain pains worrying over the outcome of the basketball tournaments at Bellaire. On March 1, fans boarded the spectators' bus and all available cars to watch the Lancers beat the Bellaire Eagles. During the latter part of the game, the scores got mighty close, but the Lancers managed to pull off a 62-54 victory. Ken Richardson scored tops with 23 points. Mike McMillan of Bellaire had 22.

Sparked with enthusiasm brought on by the Tuesday night win and a glimpse of the trophy, the Lancers went on Thursday night and trounced ed Boyne Falls, 87-45. That night, Marv Ruis led the scoring with 24 points. Myron Lick put in 13 for the Loggers.

On Saturday, Ellsworth played the last game of the Districts Tournaments, defeating the Central Lake Trojans 78-47. Ellsworth led throughout the whole game and led with quarter scores of 24 to 11, 41 to 26, 63 to 31, and 78 to 47. Rich Ruis led the scoring for the Lancers and made 25 points. Marv Ruis and Harold DeYoung followed with 16 and 12 points respectively. Powers Payton made 21 points for the losers and Jim McDowell and Wally Dishrow followed with 15 and 4 points each.

This victory over the Central Lake Trojans gave Ellsworth their third district championship in a row. They were to play in Traverse City March 8, against the Leland Comets in the first game of the Regional Tournaments.

In regular play, Lancers ended the season in second place, with 17 wins and 1 loss. Their last seasonal game was a victory over Central Lake on Friday, Feb. 26. The Lancers paced the game to an 85-40 victory, led by Ken Richardson with 33 points.

The Junior Varsity came through the season with no losses, and put another trophy in the case.

In other school news M/Sgt. May, from the U.S. Air Force in Traverse City, Mr. Cook, prosecuting attorney from Bellaire, spoke to the government class.

The Junior class has selected their play to be presented April 15. It is entitled "Bertha, the Beautiful Typewriter Girl", an old-fashioned melodrama.

The Public School P.T.A. will present a "Talent Night" March 25.

Coches Gaunt and Mrs. Gaunt are the parents of a baby girl, Tracy Lynn.

Ellsworth Public School officials sent out papers to the patrons concerning the idea of a consolidated high school. They would be more than happy to hear your questions and comments concerning this issue.

Jim Denny is really proud of his great catch—a 29 inch, 6 pound pike.

Gordon McPherson will begin a four-year tool and die apprenticeship in East Jordan. Gordon hopes to finish in 2½ years because of a previous course he has taken.

Farmers Buying Bargain Grain

Upper Michigan farmers have received more than 150,000 bushels of below-market-price government surplus feed grain in the last two months.

Congressman Raymond F. Cleveland (D-11th District) reports farmers in the 16 Upper Michigan counties declared eligible for emergency feed grain assistance early in January have purchased 5,959 bushels of barley, 86,342 bushels of oats.

The grain was purchased at prices ranging from 75 percent of the government support price to approximately the full support price. The support price is less than the market price.

This special relief was authorized for Upper Michigan farmers in areas where an unusually wet spring delayed planting, followed by a cold, dry summer which slowed growth and a wet fall that prevented harvest. Adding to the misery, early snows, in some areas, ended the availability of pasture sooner than usual.

In April, no X-rays will be taken on the 13th, but the clinic will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. on the 27th.

Make sure they're talking about you when they say,
'Just like Mother used to make.'

Remember those favorite dishes from your childhood? Nothing ever tasted quite as good again. Mother's apple pie, Mother's special spaghetti sauce, Mother's sugar cookies still warm from the oven. Every mother wants to be the kind of cook her children will remember. And being the cook you want to be is easier now than ever. Whether you're broiling a steak or baking cookies, creating a delicate sauce or warming milk for cocoa, a modern Gas range gives you the precise temperature you need the instant you need it. And that's the real secret of cooking success. Stop by your dealer's or Gas Company showroom and see the handsome new Gas ranges. Gas makes a good cook better. And memories are made like this.

Skunks

things Charlevoixans can do to help alleviate the skunk problem.

1. Keep all garbage containers sealed tight. Since this is the skunk's main source of food.
2. Close up all holes that would let the animal seek refuge under your house or outbuildings. This is best done with cement, but wire "hardware cloth" also is effective.

If SKUNKS continue to be a problem, Burris suggests you call his office at JU 2-6681 in Boyne City and he'll come to your assistance.

Burris, who traps from 50 to 60 skunks in Charlevoix every year, says he has captured nine of them in the last two weeks alone.

Disposing of skunks trapped alive is tricky business, Burris attests. When he has one caged, he takes out a heavy wool blanket he keeps in the car and approaches the cage quietly from the blind side so the skunk can't see him. He slips the blanket, very gently, over the cage and the animal usually quiets right down.

Probe Asked

Third Ward Alderman Del Terrill says he thinks the city should take steps now to meet the needs of an estimated 500 workmen expected in Charlevoix later this year when construction of the Medusa Cement Plant swings into high gear.

Terrill suggested that the city might need more police officers for patrol duty. He also recommended a study of housing needs.

"They have weak eyes and prefer darkness," he says. Then, when the skunk is quiet, he picks up the trap, gently places it in his car and drives out into the country where the animal is released -- and shot.

"You want to handle that cage like a crate of eggs," he emphasizes, "because they're jumpy and you can't tell what might happen. So far, I guess I've just been lucky."

He says he had no explanation why Charlevoix has more skunks than other towns in Charlevoix County.

Reports of skunks patrolling Bridge, Clinton and Antrim streets in the early morning hours were common last fall, and apparently mild weather has brought them out again.

ALDERMAN Bob Neff read a letter from one of his constituents objecting to the threatened closing of Mrs. Rose Daugherty's "nursing home" on E. Dixon as an infraction of the zoning ordinance.

City Attorney John Michael said Mrs. Daugherty still hasn't received her letter to "cease and desist" but she will unless she can get her "nursing home" designation changed by the County Health Department.

Auxiliary Test

The first qualification exam for persons interested in becoming members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary will be given at 7:30 tonight (Wednesday) at the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station.

The test is the first of five which must be passed to qualify for membership.

Bell Collecting Salt, Pencils and Soap for Needy

Jay Yeager of Harbor Springs, president of the local chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America, says Michigan Bell employees in the area are collecting soap, salt and pencils for distribution to needy families overseas.

Meager said the collection drive is part of the Navy's "Project Handclasp."

Contributions may be made at Bell Telephone Co. business offices throughout the state.

Sign-Up Slated

Medicare registrars will be at Charlevoix City Hall March 15 from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and at Ellsworth Village Hall the same day from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

Lancers, Freesoil Vie

By the Ellsworth Journalism Class

Ellsworth will carry the hopes of area cage fans into the state quarterfinals tonight when the Lancers meet Freesoil at Cadillac.

The last remaining area team in tournament competition, Ellsworth defeated Leland and Vanderbilt to carry her colors into the quarterfinals.

THE WINNER of tonight's match will play the victors in a downstate clash between Flint St. Mary and Maple Grove St. Michael. That game will be played in Mount Morris. The semifinals will be Friday and the championship Saturday in E. Lansing.

On March 8, Ellsworth won the first regional tournament game, defeating the Leland Comets by a score of 63 to 57. It marked the first time the Lancers have defeated the Comets in four regional contests.

The battle with Leland was close and exciting, with Ellsworth jumping to a 10-point lead in the first quarter. Leland came back in the second period, taking the lead for the time being. Before the half-time buzzer, however, Ellsworth managed to tie the score at 34.

LELAND mustered a five point lead early in the third quarter, but Ellsworth soon took charge of the situation and at one point led by 15 points.

Leland matched baskets with the Lancers in the last stages of the game, but were only able to move within six points of the Lancers.

Ken Richardson led the scoring for the Lancers with 20 points. Rich Ruis followed with 16 and Harold DeYoung with 12.

Ken Traverer led for the Comets with 20 points.

IN THE SECOND game, Ellsworth defeated Vanderbilt handily with the turn-about score of 63 to 36. The Lancers led the Yellowjackets throughout the game, with quarter scores of 11 to 6, 37 to 16, and 57 to 25.

Ken Richardson led the scoring for the Lancers with 21 points. Rich Ruis chalked up 16, Marv Ruis 11, Harold De Young 6 and Vern Heeres 5.

Oliver House and Roney Spreeman set the pace for the Yellowjackets, each player making 11 points. Greg Sides followed with 9 and Pat and Bally Oliver with two each.

The win marked the second time the Lancers defeated the Yellowjackets this year, the first victory was in regular season play.

Friday, Ellsworth defeated Kingsley at Traverse City, 77 to 70, to become the regional champs.

No Draft Call in April

No young men from Charlevoix County will be drafted in April, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgois, secretary of the local Selective Service Board.

She added that only four persons from the county will be sent to Detroit for pre-induction physical examinations on April 18.

The names of the four were to be selected at a meeting of the local board Tuesday night.

MRS. BOURGOIS attributed the negative draft call to the large number of enlistments from Charlevoix County recently.

"The Navy and the Air Force even have waiting lists to get in," she said. "They have to put one group through training before the next is accepted."

Eight men were requested on the March draft call, including Gary G. Moore, Keith D. Mitchell and Gary J. Loder of Charlevoix and William Dinson of East Jordan. They will leave March 28.

Boy, 17, Asks Examination on B & E Charge

Seventeen-year-old William Clifford Brown demanded examination when he appeared before Charlevoix Justice of the Peace John C. Connolly March 10 on a charge of breaking and entering.

Examination was set for March 21 and Brown was released on $250 bond.

Brown is accused of entering the home of Frederick Frederick at 106 Palmer last weekend and taking photographs, money, jewelry and souvenirs. The family was in Sault Ste. Marie at the time attending funeral services for Mrs. Frederick.

Brown was apprehended by city police.

Walkout Slows Medusa Work

Thirty-two carpenters on the Medusa project lost a day's work Monday when they struck for hazardous duty pay, according to Charles Hayes, superintendent of the H. K. Ferguson Engineering Co.

They returned to work Tuesday when told that hazardous pay has not been approved by the Carpenters International union for the Medusa job.

Hazard pay for carpenters is paid for tunnel work 35 feet below ground level, or shaft work 40 feet above ground level.

Hayes said the risk pay amounts to 25 cents an hour.

The stoppage means that three forms instead of four will be poured for the Medusa slip this week.

City Stores Close for Kowbel Rites

Charlevoix business places closed from 10 a.m. until noon Friday out of respect for Steve J. Kowbel, proprietor of Harbor Hardware, who died March 9 at Charlevoix Hospital.

Kowbel, 57, suffered a stroke Feb. 28 while working at the store and remained in a coma until his death.

Funeral was held at St. Mary's Church, the Rev. E. F. Denay officiating. The body was taken to the Huston Funeral Home in Caro where graveside services were held at Elmwood Cemetery on Saturday.

A RESIDENT of Charlevoix five years, Mr. Kowbel was born in Saskatchewan, Canada, April 10, 1908. He worked for the DeFore Ship Building Co. in Bay City and operated a general store in Unionville, Michigan's Thumb, before moving to Charlevoix in 1961. In 1939 he married the former Anna Jennette Leach who died in 1956.

Ads Work When 'Wee Folk' Fail

Many Irish settlers still have faith in the "wee folk" when it comes to returning lost articles.

But Courier classified ads do almost as good a job, according to Mrs. Gladys Sine-way of Antrim Street.

Mrs. Sine-way lost her watch last week on Bridge Street and it was found by Mrs. Esther Miles. A Courier people-reacher ad brought the two parties together.

"The watch wasn't worth much, but there was a lot of sentiment attached," Mrs. Sine-way said.

If the "wee folk" fail, it's time for you to try the Courier's lost and found column.

SURVIVING are his widow, the former Louise Miller, whom he married in 1957; a son, Donald S. of Charlevoix; a step son, Garrett C. Miller, stationed with the Navy at San Francisco, three step daughters, Mrs. Clifford Kibbey of Clifford, Mich., Mrs. Donald Steffen of Birmingham and Mrs. Bruce McDonald of Muskegon; and nine step grandchildren.

Library Short of Books

The Charlevoix Board of Education heard a report Monday night that there is considerable room for improvement in the school library, according to Board President Burr Blanchard.

Library Assistant Lucille Martin said that audio-visual aids are almost totally lacking and more volumes are needed to meet a short-term goal of 3,500.

MRS. MARTIN said the library presently has 2,400 books and that 500 new volumes are expected shortly, bringing the total to 2,900.

The annual St. Patrick's Day dinner will be served at the St. Mary's School Hall Sunday, March 20, from noon until 3 p.m. The home-cooked meal features ham and mashed potatoes.

'Beaver Ireland' Pair Mark Golden Year

There's no better time than St. Patrick's week for the Patrick Bonners of Beaver Island to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Actually, the Bonners were married half a century last Oct. 27 and there were parties in both St. James and Grand Rapids.

"BUT WE didn't get around to having a picture taken until just now," Mrs. Bonner explained.

Bonner was born on Beaver Island 83 years ago, the son of Irish immigrants who came to northern Michigan waters as fishermen. Mrs. Bonner, the former Rose Boyle, was born in Escanaba.

Mrs. Bonner's bridesmaid was Mrs. Mary McDonough who still lives on Beaver Island. Best man was William Green who died not long ago in Charlevoix.

THIS WINTER, the Bonners have been staying in an apartment at Bridge and Lincoln streets in Charlevoix. They plan to spend Easter in Kalamazoo before returning to the island "when the boat starts running."

Among his worldly possessions Bonner numbers a 1713 Stradivarius violin which he bought from his brother 42

To Man Lights on Friday

Lighthouses in northern Lake Michigan will be manned as of March 18, according to CWO James Seidl, commanding officer of Group Charlevoix.

Thirteen Coast Guardsmen will be taken to their stations Friday by the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, Seidl said.

Ordinarily, the lights are serviced by buoy tenders, but the Sundew is being used in the event any of the lights are closed in by ice. The shipping season is expected to start April 1.

On Monday, Seidl plans to transport 12 more men to Lake Huron lights under his command.

THE MEN will spend three weeks on the lights, with one week shore leave, throughout the shipping season.

Assigned to the Gray's Reef light in Lake Michigan are Elwood R. Wade (BM1), officer in charge, Daniel Disclanno (EN1); Frank Marangozo (SA), and Donald E. Siefried (FN). One other man will be assigned to the light later.

Going to White Shoals Reef will be Michael N. Reynard (BM1), officer in charge, Leland O. Steele (EN1); and H. Ross, (BM2); and Thomas H. Johnson (FA).

No Draft Call in April

No young men from Charlevoix County will be drafted in April, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgois, secretary of the local selective service board.

She added that only four persons from the county will be sent to Detroit for pre-induction physical examinations on April 18.

The names of the four were to be selected at a meeting of the local board Tuesday night.

MRS. BOURGOIS attributed the negative draft call to the large number of enlistments from Charlevoix County recently.

"The Navy and the Air Force even have waiting lists to get in," she said. "They have to put one group through training before the next is accepted."

Eight men were requested on the March draft call, including Gary G. Moore, Keith D. Mitchell and Gary J. Loder of Charlevoix and William Dunson of East Jordan. They will leave March 28.

Boy, 17, Asks Examination on B & E Charge

Brown is accused of entering the home of Frederick Frederick at 106 Palmer last weekend and taking photographs, money, jewelry and souvenirs. The family was in Sault Ste. Marie at the time awaiting funeral services for Mrs. Frederick.

Brown was apprehended by city police.

Walkout Slows Medusa Work

Thirty-two carpenters on the Medusa project lost a day's work Monday when they struck for hazard duty pay, according to Charles Hayes, superintendent of the H. K. Ferguson Engineering Co.

They returned to work Tuesday when told that hazard pay had not been approved by the Carpenter's International Union for the Medusa job.

Hazard pay for carpenters is paid for tunnel work 35 feet below ground level, or shaft work 40 feet above ground level.

Hayes said the risk payments to 25 cents an hour. The strike means that three jobs last of four will be paid for the Medusa strike this week.

'Beaver Ireland' Pair Mark Golden Year

There's no better time than St. Patrick's week for the Patrick Bonners of Beaver Island to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Actually, the Bonners were married half a century last Oct. 27 and the new festivities in both St. James and Grand Rapids.

"BUT WE didn't get around to having a picture taken until just now," Mrs. Bonner explained.

Bonner was born on Beaver Island 83 years ago, the son of Irish immigrants who came to northern Michigan waters as fishermen. Mrs. Bonner, the former Rose Boyle, was born in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Bonner's husband was Mrs. Mary McLaughlin who still lives on Beaver Island. Her son was William Green who died not long ago in Charlevoix.

THIS WINTER, the Bonners have been staying in a apartment at Bridge and Lincoln streets in Charlevoix. They plan to spend Easter in Kalamazoo before returning to the island when the boat starts running.

Among his worldly possessions, Bonner numbers a 173 Stratford violin which he bought from his brother 42 years ago.

Unknown Factors Trigger Annual Spring Smelt Run

A fisherman wades a wilderness stream, striding slowly against the current, letting a dry fly fall as softly as a snowflake as he tries to tempt himself-working every likely spot, every odd, riff, every patch of still water. He will quit when he has enough trout to fill a frying pan.

Which is happy, the fly-caster, now lying in solitude and the exercise of his skill, or the smelt diver, in the midst of a throng, filling wash-tubs with silvery fish weighing about eight to the pound?

EACH IS FILLED with the primitive satisfaction of our long history as hunters, fishers, gatherers. Smelt diving partakes of all three. Plus the excitement of the spring night, fast action, companionship, anticipation of feasting.

In general, smelt-diving is for the young, and for those who refuse to be old. It involves a wet, chill night with not much sleep. Probably a long drive. Perhaps a few bottles of beer too many somewhere along the line.

SMELT RUNS are triggered by mysterious factors. Water temperature, for one thing, must be 40 or above. Conservation department records show runs starting Michigan, April 16 in the Lake Superior watershed, and lasting from 10 to 18 days, or nights.

For about two weeks, smelt are big business in localities extending more than 600 miles, from Lake Erie to the western end of the Upper Peninsula. Smelt divers are customers for a lot of things, from nets to gasoline, hip boots to flannel underwear; mud units, hot dogs, flashlights, steaks, charcoal, phonograph records. When the smelt rush is on, smelt divers' jungle from sunset to dawn.

WIRE WASTE-baskets were favored dipping gear in the early days of smelt harvesting. Hand nets designed for smelt are preferable. In places on the Canadian side of Lake Erie seines are used.

There is no closed season on smelt, no size limit, no creel limit. The only restriction - the dip net's diameter must not exceed five feet.

THE MICHIGAN smelt story begins with a planting in Crystal Lake, Benzie county, of smelt eggs from Maine. That was in 1912. The first sizeable smelt run brought dip-liners to the town of Benzie. In 1912 there was a mysterious die-off, starting in Lake Huron, and causing an estimated loss of 20 million pounds of smelt. But the smelt came back, and how! In 1944 the commercial catch of smelt was 200 pounds; in 1952, 4,236,000 pounds.

A smelt run includes drift-wood fires, barber shop harmonizing and enormous loads of smelt in restaurants, cottages and outdoors.

Fresh smelt are delicate and delicious. There are numerous ways to prepare them, including pickling, smoking, frying, baking.

Here's a Michigan Consolidated Gas Company home service recipe that has the enthusiastic approval of smelt specialists:

CLEAN SMELT by spreading gills open, gently pulling out the inner gills and attached innards. Or, clean with a pair of scissors. Dip smelt in flour, beaten egg, bread crumbs or corn meal. Broil on greased grid at 350 degrees. Bake occasionally with melted butter, brown on both sides. Eat, with fingers, when eat some more; heads, tails, bones and all. If you want to demonstrate that you know your smelt.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

It's that time of year again when everyone with a shot glass of Irish Blood in his veins puts a shamrock on his lapel and comes out in favor of St. Patrick in no uncertain terms. It is almost as though, for one day out of the year, everybody on the face of the globe becomes, by common consent, an Irish Catholic.

In years past, the only holdouts on the St. Patrick's bandwagon were Orangemen--the Protestant Irish whose Gaelic ancestors took the side of William of Orange in the bloody Battle of the Boyne in 1690.

In Ontario, Orangemen are so well organized they even have their own fraternal order--the Orange Lodge--and their own special day to celebrate, July 12.

When I was a boy, the line between the Orange and the Green in Canada was pretty tightly drawn. Our summer vacations "on the Canadian side" usually embraced the 12th of July and the whole family would dress up like pumpkins to march in one of the Orange parades held by turns in every Ontario town. Uncle George played the drums and there was always grim talk about what would happen if anyone dared show up wearing a scrap of green.

There are still Orange lodges in Canada--and probably a few in American border towns--but feelings don't seem to run as high between the two groups of Irish as they used to. If you'd check almost any Detroit or Windsor tavern this March 17 you'd probably find as many Protestant Irish as Catholic Irish drinking toast after toast to St. Pat's good name and his fabled memory. And there'd probably be a few Poles, Czechs, Chinese and Arabians doing the same thing.

ONE OF the features of the annual St. Patrick's banquet in Holly, our old hometown, was a roll call by Father Rancourt, pastor of St. Rita's Church. He never got any further than "Sol Klopman, Murray Packer, Karl Schwartz, Walter" when the audience would dissolve in laughter. Needless to say, all three are as Irish as Molly Goldberg.

I NEVER have heard a really good explanation of why so much levity and high spirits--particularly of the liquid variety--are associated with St. Patrick. History does not record a great deal about the Saint other than he was an English lad who was kidnapped and held prisoner in Ireland for many years. He later escaped to France, became a priest and returned to County Ulster to convert the heathens to Catholicism. He used the shamrock as a symbol of the Holy Trinity in his sermons.

IN IRELAND, St. Patrick's Day is observed as a holy day. The pubs are closed and people divide their time pretty much between church and home. In the States, on the other hand, St. Patrick's Day offers the best excuse between News Years and the 4th of July to cut loose with excesses of all kinds.

ONE OF Detroit's oldest barkeepers, Tommy Long, who has always catered to Irish and pseudo-Irish, used to say that if his establishment were open only one day a year--St. Patrick's Day--he would make enough money to keep him in fine style for the other 364.

So be it, and more power to St. Pat. Although he has been in his grave 1,500 years, the celebration of his feast day has done more to create a good feeling among nations and races than any holiday on the calendar except Christmas.

Any car that looks like this is unfair to organized competition.

And if Wide Track styling doesn't prove it for you, take a look at the way we're outselling all but two makes for the sixth straight year. Or take a look inside one of our 40 Pontiacs. You'll find carpeting, genuine walnut and all the roominess Pontiac is known for. Or peek at one of the 15 renowned Pontiac engines. And if you're still hard to convince, take a look at what that price sticker does to those other cars. It's a conspiracy, that's what it is. And more people have been taking part in it than ever. How about you?

Head Start Funds Set Aside for Area

A total of $6,935 in federal money will be available for Operation Head Start in Charlevoix County this year, according to Congressman Raymond Cleveland (D-11th District).

Designed to help economically deprived children, the program provides medical and dental care, guidance and counseling, special tutoring and other educational experiences for children from economically depressed homes.

LAST YEAR, Charlevoix was one of seven counties in the 22-county Congressional District which did not use funds allocated to it for a Head Start project.

During the summer of 1965, more than 500,000 American children received pre-school assistance from Project Head Start, Cleveland said. It is hoped this summer's program will cover as many youngsters.

Local programs are carried out by professional educators and volunteers with knowledge and talents in specific areas.

Wishes Do Come True

"Make a wish. Blow out all the candles and your wish will come true."

So it is throughout life, we continue to make wishes—to long for that which we think will bring happiness. The wishes of some continue as self-centered and petty as childhood wishes. With others, their goals become less selfish, less materialistic as they grow in stature and character, for they grow in spirit as well as in body. Their wagons get hitched to a star.

Those who grow only in body and age never live to see their wishes come true, because those wishes are not grand enough or fine enough.

It is the purpose of the Church to convert people so that they may grow in spirit as well as body and mind. Find a church that serves such a purpose for you. Make it an essential part of your life, then you'll find your wishes coming true.

Gwen Roof

Troth Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Williams of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Gwen Roof, to Paul Arnold who is stationed aboard the Sundew. Arnold is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arnold of Phoenix, N. Y. An April 19 wedding is planned.

Pollution Meeting Slated

A statewide conference on pollution control is expected to draw at least three hundred representatives of industry to Lansing March 23. Harry R. Hall, president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, said today.

The conference, which is being sponsored by the Michigan State Chamber, is designed to make helpful information available to industries that are facing new restrictions as the result of stiffer pollution laws enacted last year, Hall explained.

"WE HAVE been very encouraged by the attitude of everyone on the matter of increased pollution abatement and treatment," he said. "It bears out our contention that the people of Michigan are willing to take care of their own problems, rather than to relinquish this authority to the Federal government."

Heading the list of speakers will be Governor George Romney, Carl Gerstaecker, Chairman of the Board of Dow Chemical Company, and John Kinney, Ann Arbor consultant and specialist on water management and pollution control.

LORING Deming, executive secretary of the Water Resources Commission, and Ralph Purdy, also of the Water Resources Commission, will explain state and federal legislation, and the effect that pollution has on stream quality.

Michigan's new solid waste disposal law, which is designed to control village dumps and industrial wastes, will be explained by Fred Kellow of the Michigan Department of Health.

Frances Arnold Exchange Vows

Frances Mary Arnold became the bride of James A. Parish, Jr., of Fayetteville, Ark., in a double-ring ceremony March 7 in the U. S. Naval Chapel, Mayport, Fla. Chaplain Joseph R. Frazier of the U. S. Naval Station at Mayport officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Arnold of 106 Green Ave., Charlevoix.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Austin Parish of 1240 North Lindell, Fayetteville.

WEARING a white wool skirt and sweater, a white veil and carrying a bouquet of white carnations with red roses, the bride repeated her vows before an altar decorated with pink glads.

Miss Madalyn Hall of Jacksonville Beach, Fla., was maid of honor. She wore a navy blue cotton suit with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

GERALD Robert Plants, stationed aboard the U.S.S. Strubling, Mayport, was best man.

Mrs. L. E. Sanford, was hostess at a reception, assisted by Mrs. Doubles Haycraft.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Charlevoix High School. The bridegroom recently completed four years service in the Navy. They will live at 1241 N. Lindell, Fayetteville, Ark.

The muddy waters of the Missouri River meet the clearer Mississippi north of St. Louis, but each river retains its identity for more than 35 miles before blending into a uniform color.

Forest Course Slated

A wood harvester training program will begin March 28 at Gaylord, according to Leo Kelly, manager of the Petoskey office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Developed under the Economic Development Act, the four-week program is designed to provide instruction in various phases of the wood harvesting industry.

Among the subjects taught will be forest resources and management, equipment operation and maintenance, harvesting, raising and sealing and forest purchase and sales.

The training is open to unemployed and underemployed persons 18 through 60 in good health. No minimum education has been set but applicants should have some experience in woods work.

The course is designed to upgrade the skills of persons now engaged in woods working and to provide a good background for persons who are interested in entering the industry.

Qualified applicants will receive weekly training allowances while undergoing training.

Anyone interested should apply to the nearest Michigan Employment Security Office.

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book. (Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until October 1, 1966!) So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

We start at giving that "like new" look to cars

Skunk Patrol Is on the Job

SKUNKS -- hundreds of them -- have invaded Charlevoix with the coming of warm weather. The little aromatic animals not only are unwelcome because of their odor, but they also pose a health problem. Most of them carry rabies which could readily be passed on to domestic pets by biting.

State Conservation Officer Harley Burris of Boyne City has trapped 17 skunks in Charlevoix in the past month, using peanut butter as bait. The cage is then wrapped in a woolen blanket and the animal taken outside city limits where it is released and shot.

Pictures on this page tell the story of how the Conservation Department is helping Charlevoix handle its skunk problem. You can help by keeping garbage containers sealed tight and closing up hiding places under your home and out buildings.

CHARLEVOIX Sheriff Glenn Rose edges close to cage behind south side home to get polaroid picture of trapped skunk.

CONSERVATION OFFICER Harley Burris sets second trap using peanut butter as bait. To reach peanut butter, an animal must trip lever, closing gate.

WRAPPED carefully in a woolen blanket, the cage is placed gingerly in trunk of car for trip outside city limits. This is the 17th skunk Burris has disposed of for Charlevoix in the past month.

WARY SKUNK steps outside cage, the prelude of his dash for freedom. Fifteen yards from the cage, a bullet from Burris' rifle found its mark. A second bullet finished the job. "I don't like to see them suffer," he explained.

Who's Going to Pay the Tab?

It was with a measure of reluctance that President Johnson set his pen to the so-called "Cold War GI Bill of Rights" recently giving veterans of the war in Vietnam and others who have served in the armed forces since 1955 an opportunity to continue their education at federal government expense.

The President's reluctance stemmed from the fact that the bill is going to cost $245 million more than he had recommended for the first year of the program. Over five years, the deficit will amount to $1.8 billion.

WHAT IS so astounding about this particular piece of legislation is that it was passed unanimously by the Congress.

THE PRESIDENT --- who had let it be known earlier how he felt about saddling the country with such a whopping financial burden on top of the present national debt --- seemed to feel he had no choice other than sign the measure. "I am going to resolve the doubt in favor of Congress," he said. "It just could be that the President was wrong."

As much as we favor educational benefits for GIs, we can't help but share President Johnson's reservations about this particular bill. Since Congress made no provision for raising the money to pay for it, we must assume it will be added to the enormous debt that unborn generations of Americans must grapple with sometime in the distant future.

Thanks for a Fine Year, Rayders!

Although Charlevoix didn't get past the District finals, the Red Rayders deserve a rousing well-done from the city for turning in a superb basketball season.

Friday after Friday the Rayders came up with some of the best basketball in northern Michigan, with thrills enough to last until next winter.

Charlevoixians who were expecting only a so-so season because of the age and inexperience of the team have special

PRESIDENT Johnson wanted benefits limited to veterans of combat areas. This would have cost about $150 million a year. In the form the bill was passed by Congress, benefits will cost $350 million the first year and $500 million by the fifth year --- far beyond the administrative recommendations.

IT IS DIFFICULT to imagine that in the entire Congress not one voice --- Republican or Democrat --- was raised in protest at the final vote. Nor did anyone insist on a means of financing before passage. It is little wonder so many individual Americans find themselves in financial quicksand due to various "go-now-pay-later" schemes, when their elected representatives show no better judgment in matters of far greater consequence.

The provisions of the Cold War Bill are admirable --- $100 a month education payments for each month's service, with payments ranging up to $150 if a fellow has a wife and kids; a guarantee of up to $7,500 on home loans by private lenders; job counseling and placement assistance; hospital benefits and Civil Service job preference.

The bill would be an excellent piece of legislation --- a hearty well-down by the federal government for the young fellows who are keeping the world safe for democracy. But who's going to pay the tab? When? And with what?

reason for being surprised. It's interesting to think of what might happen next year when the present squad returns with a year's maturity and growth behind them.

Of course, the credit for developing this excellent Charlevoix team goes to Coach Don Carey. He, more than anyone else, is aware of the heights Charlevoix eagles may reach in the next year or two.

odds ends

Street names are something that have always fascinated me. Never see a street in a town, especially an unfamiliar community, that I don't wonder where it got its name. . . . Being a native, I know the origin of a good many of the names here. . . . For instance, Dixon, Nettleton, Lewis, Auld, Grouder, Nichols, Burns and Meech on the north side are all named for early residents while in the new division Oak, Cherry and Elm are named for native trees with Central ave. cutting through the area. . . . Chicago ave., no doubt, was named for the Chicago Club, Division ave. because it divides the city from the township. . . . Coast Guard ave. because it leads to the Coast Guard complex, Michigan because it parallels Lake Michigan and Petoskey because it leads to Petoskey. . . . Leaving Mercer Blvd. and Prospect ave. unaccounted for. . . . And then of course, there's Pine River Lane which, to me, will always be River St. and the newest street which runs to the Olsen property on the north side of Round Lake. . . . In the phone book it's listed as Que Sera Sera. . . .

THEN THERE'S Bridge st., named either because of the bridge or for the bridge family. . . . State street which was supposed to be the city's main street at one time. . . . and then we hit the famous people Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Lincoln, Garfield. . . . with no accounting for Clinton, Park, Antim, which is a county in Ireland, Mason, another early resident, Lake probably because it leads from the lake. . . .

Belvedere ave. because it leads to the resort. . . . and then on to the south side where you find Alice and May, unaccounted for along with Hurlbut, Upright, Green, Wood, Carpenter, Eaton, Robinson and Ferry. . . . which was named for the Ferry Seed Co. that was once located off the street toward Lake Charlevoix. . . . And on the southwest corner we have Stover road. . . . I've missed any I'm sorry. . . . and if you know the history of any of these names I'd like to hear about it. . . .

And how many of you know the location of Elverside, Maple Chapel, Baxter, Bryant, Simpson, Longfellow, Whitaker, Hawthorne, G. A. R. Walk, First, Second, Third and Fourth avenues plus another Elm and Oak. . . .

HAD A CALL regarding the pictures of former championship teams that once played for good old C.H.S. . . . It was from Pete Burns who informed me that he and Bob Mills were one jump ahead of me. . . . for they were already collecting pictures which they hope some day to have framed and hung in the area of the gym.

And speaking of pictures, I had a letter from a former resident, L. G. (Leg) Carey who states that he "craves accurate and complete legends on scenes from the past" and goes on to say that the upper picture which appeared in the Feb. 16 issue was that of a football team (note nose guards, shin guards and helmets) and not basketball, as stated. He added that basketball was not played here in those days. . . . He added that "worst of all, the four in the upper row were not identified. These two, I believe, are still living. . . . namely, Gray Dugan and Hoop Padlock (Nos 4 and 5). The other two are Bill Poole and Dee Marsa. . . .

REGARDING the picture of the baseball team, the player identified as Leo Small was really Emerald Emory, who and three sisters were all jewels. Pearl, Opal and Ruby. Their mother was a milliner and their father a steam-boat captain. . . . This letter, by the way, came from Riviera Beach, Fla., where Mr. Emory is apparently spending the winter. . . . By the way, he's a brother of Leo Carey, in case you didn't know. . . .

And speaking of names. . . . Are you like I am. . . . after a while you get to identify the clerks in the store with the business. . . . rather than managers who some times come and go. . . . Take, for instance, the Kroger store where I always think of Ilene Drost as "Mrs. Kroger". . . . or the dime store where Mrs. Herriman, Betty Taylor and Sandy Gregory have held down the fort for ever so long. . . . or some of the garages where the guys in the backroom are still around after, to these many years. . . . I wonder if they know how much we appreciate them?

HAD A CALL recently . . . announcing the arrival of the first robin. . . . It was from Mrs. Earl Johnson who lives up on E. Upright. . . . She had heard his chirping for a few minutes before she realized what it was. . . . She's hoping that he was the real McCoy and that spring can't be far away. . . .

I AM A tired American--- who is getting madder by the minute at the filth peddlers who have launched Americans in an obscenity race, who try to foist on us the belief that filth is an integral part of culture. . . . I am a tired American--- weary of the bearded-bums who tramp the picket lines and the sit-ins---who prefer Chinese Communism to capitalism---who see no evil in Castro, but sneer at President Johnson as a threat to peace. . . . I AM a tired American--- who has lost all patience with that civil rights group which is showing propaganda movies on college campuses from coast to coast---movies denouncing the United States, movies made in Communist China. . . . I am a tired American--- who is angered by the self-righteous breast-beater critics of America, at home and abroad, who set impossible yardsticks for the United States, but who never apply the same standards to the French, the British, the Russians, the Chinese. . . . I am a tired American--- who resents the pimply-faced beatniks who try to represent Americans as the "bad guys on the black horses." . . . I AM a tired American--- who is weary of some Negro leaders who, for shock purposes, scream four-letter words in church meetings. . . . I am a tired American--- sickened by the slack-jawed bigots who wrap themselves in bed sheets in the dead of night and roam the countryside looking for innocent victims. . . . I am a tired American--- who dislikes clergymen who have made a career out of integration causes, yet send their own children to private

ALTHOUGH the shelter at the right is still standing, boats docked at the Belvedere wharf have changed considerably since this picture was taken in 1909. The horseshoe boat landing is still a feature of the Belvedere Club.

Reader Wants Livable Wage For "Beanie"

March 10, 1966

Dear Editor:

I've been waiting to hear the response to your editorial of February 23rd about "Beanie" Russell. To date there has been none. Several people have mentioned that the best thing we could do for him would be to see that he received a more livable wage for working for the school. If some of the people of Charlevoix knew how little he is paid they would be surprised and shocked. Shoveling snow, moving pianos, and any other job he is asked to do, Bernard is one of the most faithful and loyal employees in town.

He does not have the formal education to assume the full responsibility of a janitor, but he is now receiving much less than the recognized wage for a laborer.

In my opinion the best thing that could happen to "Beanie" would be to have his wage scale up where it belongs.

Very sincerely,

I am deeply grieved about all these mixed up accusations recently brought up against me and also the very hasty decision of our city council. It would seem very one sided, and based on false foundations.

We have two ladies who reside with me the year around. They both are up and around and are not confined to bed or to their rooms or to the house for that matter. You call this a rest home or a convalescent home? No, it is more like a boarding home where they have their meals prepared for them and their rooms kept clean. Well, it is not important what it is called, I call it MY home and I felt that I was helping the families of these two ladies and doing good. I had to get a permit to run a rest home this year which is something I didn't understand and still don't but I got the permit anyway as I

Reader Wants Conservationist To Be Consistent

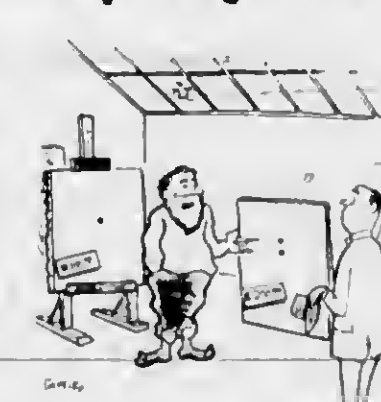

To the Editor:

The publication of the State Conservation Department released statistics on deer killed by highway accidents, in this release it was revealed that the 1965 total deer killed by highway accidents established a record for the sixth straight year, and the increase was attributed to "heavy traffic and a ballooning deer herd" in southern Michigan.

Perhaps the Conservation Department experts should get their explanations coordinated before the disgruntled group of amateur hunters get the idea that they are being flimflammed.

Four Rescued From Icy Lake

(Courier Editor Bob Clock was aboard the CGC Sundew covering re-activation of the Lake Michigan lights when the cargo boat accident happened. Here is his account of the incident.)

Four young seamen aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew were thrown into the icy waters of Lake Michigan March 18 when their 24-foot cargo boat was swamped by waves and ice at the White Shoal lighthouse.

All were rescued, thanks to the quick-thinking of their shipmates, but the cargo was lost for two days. It was recovered Sunday by diver Don Negeison.

The men are Timothy N. Uts, 20, (SNAN) of Evans City, Pa.; Joseph Prevost, 22, (DC2) of North Coplay, Pa.; Lyle Hansberger, 18, (SA) of Wayne, Mich.; and Wylie Crockett, 20, (SA) of Geneva, Ohio.

The accident occurred about 2 p.m. Friday while the Sundew was transporting men and supplies to lighthouses in northern Lake Michigan. The Sundew stopped at Gray's Reef first and then proceeded to White Shoal, about 35 miles northwest of Charlevoix.

Because of the shallow waters, the White Shoal light must be serviced by cargo boats from the supply ship. The last cargo boat was on its second trip to the light from the Sundew when the wind began picking up. The craft unloaded its cargo at the light and was about to return when it was discovered that a line had become tangled in the screw. The boat was secured by tow and stern lines to the lighthouse crib and the crew was awaiting the arrival of a second cargo boat for assistance.

SUDDENLY, a wave washed over the boat and both bow and stern lines parted at almost the same time.

Watts grabbed a section of the stern line still connected to the crib, swung over to the lighthouse and was helped aboard by the keepers. The others in the half-submerged vessel were set adrift in a 50-foot passage between the lighthouse and a 20-foot high ice reef.

Waves drove the bow of the boat up onto the reef, but seconds later a huge chunk of ice was washed aboard and the boat was swamped, throwing Prevost, Hansberger and Crockett into the water.

MINUTES before the accident, it was apparent to officers aboard the Sundew that the cargo boat was in trouble, and a second craft, which was being readied for a trip to the light, was hurriedly put under way.

When Lt. Dave Smith, acting Commanding Officer, saw Watts leave the cargo boat, he ordered all men to their rescue stations and proceeded in a circle around the ice reef to the west side of the lighthouse. The second cargo boat meanwhile was approaching the passage from the east.

Because of the high reef, no one aboard the Sundew could see what was happening in the passage until the boat neared the light. Three men were in the water and the bow of the cargo boat was still on the ice.

LATER, Hansberger said: "It sure was a welcome sight to see the superstructure of the Sundew coming around on the opposite side of the reef, with all that black smoke coming out of the stack. Then I heard what I thought was a helicopter, and I turned around and there was the cargo boat coming into the passage from the other direction. I could hardly move in that cold water, but it was nice to know help was coming."

The Sundew churned up the bottom approaching close enough so that life-lines and ring buoys could be thrown to men in the water.

Seaman John Lambing aboard the Sundew donned a wet suit en route to the accident site and jumped into the water to help the men aboard.

They were all hoisted into the second cargo boat and the entire craft was lifted aboard the Sundew on the davits.

THE MEN, none of whom completely lost consciousness, were rushed into hot showers and were put to bed wrapped in wool blankets. A single hot water bottle aboard the ship was passed from one man to another.

They all suffered severe chills for several hours, despite artificial heat, hot coffee and sandwiches.

THE SECOND cargo boat, piloted by John Shumacher, returned to the passage to attempt to secure a line to the swamped boat, but was unable to maneuver close enough because of the rising winds. Later, men on the light radioed the Sundew that the boat had sunk out of sight.

The second craft made another trip back to the light to remove Watts to the Sundew.

According to a Coast Guard cold weather manual, survival time in icy water can be very short, many victims suffering heart attacks almost immediately from rapid cooling of the body. It is estimated the men in the lost cargo boat were in the water about six minutes.

THE SUNDEW was put in contact with Dr. Robert Martin in Charlevoix via radio at the Lifeboat Station. Told what was being done for the men, Dr. Martin said there was no urgency in returning them to Charlevoix, and that it would be all right for the ship to continue to Lansing Shoal to leave men and supplies at the light house there.

At Lansing Shoal, however, gale winds had sprung up, and, after receiving a forecast of continued foul weather, the Sundew returned to Charlevoix through mountainous seas.

When the boat docked, Dr. Martin checked the men. He reported they were all in good condition and ready to return to duty.

CREW ABOARD cargo boat pull victim of boating accident to safety. One man was helped aboard White Shoal light, two others were saved through efforts of Sundew crew. Fortunately, the sunken cargo boat had just left supplies at the light, so the loss was minimized. The boat was raised Sunday and can be repaired.

Mrs. Bridge Sells Bank Control

Walkers Among Buyers

E. D. Hawley, President of the Charlevoix County State Bank, and Mrs. Marian M. Bridge, widow of the late Robert Bridge, former President of the bank, have announced that she has accepted an offer for the purchase of a controlling interest in the bank.

The offer was received from a group consisting of D. D. Walker, Mrs. Louise O. Walker, and Dayton H. Mudd all of Charlevoix, and St. Louis, Mo., Woodbury Ransom of Charlevoix and Kalamazoo, and Paul Bakewell III of St. Louis, Mo.

The offer by this group is subject to an option by the existing shareholders to purchase the stock by meeting the terms of such offer.

IN ACCEPTING the offer, Mrs. Bridge stated that, since no member of the Bridge family is now actively engaged in the operation of the bank, it was her feeling that ownership control should be vested in people who are more actively interested in business and community affairs. She stated she intends to retain a small stock interest, however, to preserve the tradition of family association with the bank.

Walker has stated his group is making this investment in the bank because of their long-time interest in the Charlevoix area and their confidence in its economic future. He further stated that although his group would expect representation on the Board of Directors of the bank, no changes in operating personnel were contemplated.

Council Warned Building On Antrim St. Is Hazard

The City Council Monday decided to try again to get the owners of an unoccupied building on Antrim Street across from Oleson's Shopping Center to put it in repair.

City Attorney John Michael said that he has received many complaints from neighbors that the building as it stands is a hazard.

"The roof is in a bad state of repair, and the stairway at the back should be torn down before some kid gets hurt climbing on it," he said.

HE SAID the building is owned by Mrs. Marguerite Currie, presently living in California. She is represented in Charlevoix by her father, designer Earl Young.

This is not the first time the building has been called to the attention of the Council. Last Nov. 15, automobile Dealer Bill Kusina showed aldermen a photo of a section of sheet metal lying in Antrim Street, in front of his business place which had blown off the building.

City Superintendent Jim Taylor said the building is "square and stout as an old tree", but the roof and stairway need attention.

MICHAEL suggested that Mrs. Currie and Young be notified that they have 30 days to make repairs, or the city will make improvements and charge the owner.

Mayor Hawley said letters will be sent both to Mrs. Currie and Young asking for their cooperation.

Taylor announced that the 1966-67 budget will be mailed to aldermen sometime during the coming week so they will have a chance to study it before the next Council meeting. Public hearing on the budget will be May 2. The Council also:

AGREED to hold the next Council meeting on the regularly scheduled date, April 4. At the last meeting, Deputy City Clerk Ida Helge asked that the meeting be delayed one day because of a conflict with election business. The next meeting will mark the last session for the present Council. Bill Fochman will take over as mayor April 18.

VOTED to keep the city treasurer's salary and the deputy clerk's salary at $4,800 for the coming year.

N. Side Zone Change Sought for Apartment Project Planned on Round Lake

Detroit Chevrolet Dealer Jim Davis has asked the Charlevoix City Council to rezone 353 feet on the west side of Prospect Street on Round Lake from R-1 to R-2 so he can build a 20-unit apartment building.

A public hearing on the appeal will be held April 18 during the regular Council meeting.

DAVIS says he has no plans as yet for the apartment building, but it will be designed for permanent residents.

"I'll even let you choose the architect," he told the Council.

Davis said he owns property in Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix, and plans to settle somewhere in northern Michigan.

HE ADDED that he would prefer to live in Charlevoix, and will live in the apartment himself.

"There will be no absentee owner," he said.

At present the property is owned by Hal Forbrigg and Dr. Lawrence Grate.

IF DAVIS is given the go-ahead, the project will raise to 46 the number of apartment units under construction in Charlevoix.

Forbrigg is building 16 units on Meach Street and Thomas Darnon of Lansing is converting the old hospital on Huribut Street into ten apartment units.

Hospital Rates To Rise in May

Increased hospital room rates, averaging $24 a day higher, were approved by the Charlevoix Hospital Board of Trustees at the last meeting, March 16. The increases are effective May 1.

The higher rates will help defray rising operating expenses, according to Anne Baumgartner, hospital administrator.

UNDER THE NEW schedule, the rate for a private room will be $28.50, up from $27.00, and a semi-private room will cost $24, formerly $22.

Pediatric ward rate is $23, nursery $11, nursery (after mother leaves) $12, and isolation, $26.

Deadline Nears

Persons over 65 are reminded that they have until March 31 to sign up for Medicare. There will be a long waiting period after the deadline passes.

Beanie was invited to attend a meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club where he was publicly cited for his outstanding citizenship.

This winter Beanie was instrumental in saving the life of his six-year-old neighbor, Bobby Warner, when he found the boy suffocating head-first in a snowbank on Antrim Street.

"BEANIE exemplifies so many of the good things that we Kiwanians stand for," said Roy Bennett in announcing the award. "He is always willing to give that little something extra to his job. He knows how to put in a good day's work. And he always has a smile and a friendly word for everyone he meets."

Beanie, who works as a janitor at the elementary school, listened to his accolade in silence.

Jens Sanberg Drowns Death Ruled Accidental

The body of Jens Sanberg, 74, of 209 E. Garfield, was found on the north shore of Round Lake Friday afternoon, March 18.

Coroner Jim Stackus of Boyne City ruled the death accidental -- asphyxiation by drowning.

However, a note on the victim's dresser read: "I am too tired. Farewell to all."

It was ruled out as a possible indication of suicide by County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum, who pointed out the note was not dated.

CONTRARY to earlier reports, the message was in English, not Danish, Mr. Sanberg's native tongue.

There were no marks of violence on the body, and the coroner estimated Mr. Sanberg had been in the water less than 24 hours. He had purchased medicine downtown March 17, which was found in his house, along with the March 17 issue of the Petoskey News Review, indicating he had been home late in the afternoon.

The body was found by children playing along the shore who notified Mrs. Dale Foster on Dixon Avenue, wife of the

In addition Brehm was fined $50 and $5 costs for reckless driving. State Police clocked him driving 110 miles per hour on U.S. 131. When they stopped the car they discovered the alcoholic beverages.

I picked up the book bargain of the decade down at the Dahlquist store one day last week. The sign over a counter of dog-eared books read: "Your Choice—5 Cents" and I couldn't resist. Fifteen minutes later I left the store armed with five volumes. The first was a set of 1948 rules for contract bridge; the second was a treatise on sound business practices; the third an introspective work on cerebral palsy by a c.p.—and the last two were books on the late Joe McCarthy, junior senator from Wisconsin. Total cost: 26 cents.

That night I spent with the McCarthy books, and it didn't take too many pages to wash away the years and bring that most ignominious era in American history sharply back into focus.

It is hard to believe, 20 years later, that Americans ever allowed themselves to be led around by the nose as they were in the late 1940's and early 1950's by Sen. McCarthy, the Republican lawmaker lived in a world inhabited largely by imaginary Communists, and he made it his bounden duty to ferret them out wherever they might be. A good many of the rest of us followed at his heels, barking and snapping like rat terriers at his straw enemies.

Why we ever fell in line with him is hard to understand. We had just won one of the costliest wars in history and were pretty proud of ourselves. With Adolph Hitler as a fresh example, we knew the consequences of totalitarianism and government by fear. We weren't really mad at anybody, although the peridy of Joe Stalin rankled from time to time.

We knew our systems of government and economics were superior to Russia's in every respect. We had a chance, in defeated Germany, to compare our modern war machine with the horse-drawn caissons of the Communist troops and we knew we were ahead of the Reds militarily. G.I.'s returning from Europe assured us that the Communist system had nothing to offer that we didn't have more of, and in better repair.

Yet Joe McCarthy waxed fat on the spectre of communism and painted such a grim picture of the threatened Communist take-over of America that people who should have known better either did his bidding or clammed up, afraid he would turn his bitter invective upon them.

College campuses were looked upon as hotbeds of Communist activity. Instructors who should have held individual liberty in higher regard were expected to sign pledges of their faith in the American system if they wanted to teach.

Many otherwise excellent teachers, afraid for their jobs, voluntarily eliminated controversial material from their lesson plans lest they be charged by McCarthy with corrupting American youth.

One very fine American literature instructor at Michigan State College (MSU) failed to appear on the roster of teachers one semester. Later I met her on the street and asked her how come.

"I don't really know why, but I wasn't asked to return," she said. "I have heard since that I put too much emphasis on the Mayflower Compact. They think it's subversive." And so it was, and is, if people helping each other is subversive.

Time after time, when controversial subjects came up in class we were told point blank by instructors:

"I wish I could talk about

WITH BALMY BREEZES sweeping in from the Deep South, March 16 marked the end of ice boating on Lake Charlevoix. A lack of snow coupled with below-freezing temperatures have made for superb ice the past few weeks. This photo of John Gibson and Bill Novotny was taken shortly before the boats were beached for the season.

that but I can't." And the subject would be dropped. Dead. Ten years later communism was being discussed in American high school classes with far more candor than was possible on the university level under McCarthy's reign of terror.

One of the books I picked up at Dahlquist's is entitled "Joe Must Go," an account published in 1954 before McCarthy's death, of the first ill starred attempt to have him recalled from Congress. The author is Leroy Gore, editor of the Sauk-Prairie Star, the man who proposed the recall and helped direct it. Not many small town editors ever get to do anything as big and glamorous for their country as spearheading a recall movement, and his story fell upon hungry ears.

The second book, "McCarthy and the Communists," is an objective study of McCarthy and his methods by James Rorty and Moshe Decter, also published in 1954. After delving into these two works by contemporaries, it will be interesting to know how history eventually sizes up this man who gave American democracy some of its most chilling hours.

U-M Album Needs Photos From 30's

The University of Michigan is getting its own "family album."

Staffers at the Michigan Historical Collections Library on campus are presently editing a 250-page pictorial history of the University to be published in 1967 when the U-M celebrates its 150th anniversary.

The 300-some pictures to be included in the book will trace the University's lineage from its birth to its present administration.

Mrs. Ruth B. Bordin, who is in charge of the compilations, says that the bulk of the pictures are coming from the University's archives, with the majority of the rest from alumni. Her chief problem, she says, is one of selection.

THE PROJECT began about a year ago. Pictures have been found to represent most periods in the institution's history except for the 1930's, Mrs. Bordin reports.

"We've run into kind of a gap here," she says. "I have a feeling that most of the people who were graduated in the 1930's might not have their old college pictures with them at their present homes, quite possibly pictures, diplomas, and the like are still stored in the homes of their parents."

The book will be published by the University Press.

Roland Delays Enforcement of Boat Vent Law

Pleasure boatmen not yet complying with new federal regulations requiring changes in small boat ventilation will not be penalized by Coast Guard boarding officers, according to, Admiral Edwin J. Roland, Commandant of the Coast Guard.

Acknowledging that many U.S. boating enthusiasts had protested enforcement of the new safety requirements on the basis that they had been afforded insufficient time to get their boats in order, the Coast Guard has extended the deadline to June 1, 1967.

THE GRACE period will be particularly welcomed by owners of older inboard engine types. New small craft owners will find that many of the late models have already had the new requirements built into the design by safety-minded manufacturers.

Boarding officers of Coast Guard safety patrols will continue to bring the new rules to the attention of owners and operators during their normal inspections and will recommend preventive measures against unsafe practices they observe.

Phone Books Coming

The 1966 telephone directory serving Charlevoix and Emmet counties will be delivered to all subscribers beginning Tuesday, March 29, announced Kenneth T. Harrold, manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The cover of the new directory includes a Michigan map, and a vacationland motif, and was designed by Stanley Nunn, an artist with Michigan Bell's marketing department in Detroit.

NUNN has traveled extensively throughout the state, and developed the cover theme from those travels.

Harrold said some 20,000 directories will be delivered in Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Pellston, Petoskey and Walloon Lake.

Area Seniors Map Government Day

Three students from Charlevoix High School and Dr. William O. Ratigan, school counselor, met with representatives from six Charlevoix and Antrim County high schools March 16 to make plans for Senior Government Day April 4.

Attending from Charlevoix were Linda Supernaw, Susan Freedman and Ted Weidman. East Jordan was represented by Tom Drenth, Jim Cihak and Bonnie Ohland, accompanied by M. J. Everest, a teacher at East Jordan High School.

ELLSWORTH was represented by Tom Armstrong, Marvin Ruis and Richard Shooks, all seniors, and coach Robert Gaunt.

WHITE SHOAL LIGHT where the accident took place is located about 35 miles northeast of Charlevoix. The cargo boat upset between the light and the ice reef above.

THE UNIDENTIFIED man in the water doesn't appear to know that help is on the way as the second cargo boat approaches from the rear. The Sundew herself came in close enough to chum up bottom mud with her screws.

THE SECOND CARGO boat drew alongside the Sundew to help the last of the struggling men aboard.

SUNDEW CREWMEN prepare to lower cargo net to aid in rescue effort. Later, a sailor commented: "Everything went exactly like it was supposed to in the drills."

THOROUGHLY CHILLED, victims of the accident are helped out of the cargo boat and hurried below where hot showers were waiting.

Garden Club Mulls Nature Trail Idea

The Charlevoix Garden Club held the March meeting at the home of Mrs. John Michael with Mrs. Russell Mieras assisting. Members answered roll call by describing the kinds of food each one is using to feed the wild birds.

The Litterbug Committee reported the poster contest winners in the second grade are: John Peterson, Chris Avery, and Debbie Klooster. The prizes were potted bulbs.

The Club is discussing the possibility of building a nature trail in Charlevoix or neighboring area. The guest speaker, John Hodge, Agent for the Emmet County Cooperative Extension Service, spoke on the subject "Laying a Foundation for a Nature Trail." The purpose of a nature trail is to display nature at its best, to educate both young and old, to increase appreciation of nature.

It was suggested the Club should first decide the kind of nature trail -- one that would appeal primarily to children, or to tourists, or to the local people.

Hodge pointed out various items all nature trails should include, plus optional interests. Various wooded areas in the Charlevoix vicinity were discussed for their advantages and disadvantages. The Club will continue discussion on this subject at the next meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Freedman April 12, with Mrs. Curtis Burlin assisting.

This is the heating element on an electric range. You can set it at high, medium-high, medium, medium-low and low. It takes a while to reach the desired temperature, of course. And quite a while to cool after you turn it off. It's difficult to keep it clean. And it's the most expensive way to cook.

This is the burner on a modern Gas range. It gives you an infinite number of heat settings. Turn it on and immediately you get the exact controlled heat you want. Turn it off and it cools almost at once. You can remove the entire assembly and wash it in your dishwasher or dishwasher in a matter of minutes. And it's the least expensive way to cook. Public To Weigh Deer Woes TRACK practice is under way after school these mild spring days at Kipke Field. These sprinters are working out under the direction of Coach Del Terrill.

Groups Forming

Details for setting up Citizens' Advisory Committees on Deer to promote greater public participation in Michigan deer management have been announced by the Conservation Department. The Conservation Commission proposed last week that such a program be established.

Following last year's poor deer kill, the department has been pressured by hunters and others into considering changes in the management of Michigan's deer herd which it considers ill - advised. The department apparently feels that getting more people involved in deer management problems will result in a wider understanding of its actions and goals.

COMMITTEES of 25 will be appointed in each of the eight northern Michigan conservation districts. It was decided not to establish committees in the six southern districts, where deer management problems are different than in the north.

The Legislature will be asked to appoint 10 members of each committee. The other 15 will be named by the Conservation Commission from nominees submitted by clubs, organizations, and individuals.

ANY CITIZEN of Michigan will be eligible for nomination provided he either hunts deer, lives, or owns property in the district in which he seeks appointment. Individuals may nominate themselves or may be recommended by others.

Nomination forms will be available next week from all Department regional and district headquarters, and from Department offices at Wakefield, Cusino, Sault Ste. Marie, Atlanta, Grayling, Traverse City, Houghton Lake, Baldwin, Allegan, St. Charles, Pigeon, and Detroit.

Supplies also will be sent to a broad list of agencies and organizations known to have an interest in deer.

MIDNIGHT, March 31, will be the deadline to complete and submit the forms to the Conservation Commission, which will act on committee nominations at its April 7-8 meeting in Lansing.

Organizations from which citizens may be nominated include county boards of supervisors, sportsmen's and conservation clubs, farm and labor groups, affiliations of the tourist and resource-oriented industries, chambers of commerce, and educational institutions.

All appointments will be made for three-year terms running through 1968.

THOSE NAMED to the committees will be required to take part in orientation and survey work to develop well-informed backgrounds for recommending deer hunting regulations. At the outset, each member must attend an all-day briefing session in his district, covering basic deer biology and management.

For the year, each member must spend three full days becoming oriented and inspecting deer range to be eligible to vote on deer regulations for his district. Because of the short time left before 1966 regulations must be set, only three field trips will be held this year.

To give members a better chance of meeting the requirement of attending at least three field trips each year, six of these look-see tours are scheduled for both 1967 and 1968.

THIS YEAR'S schedule of committee activities shapes up like this: April 7-8, appointment of committees at Conservation Commission meeting in Lansing; April 11-13, mailing of appointment notifications to committee members; April 20-24, orientation classes and first field trips by committees; May 21, second field trips; June 11-12, third field trips and drafting of hunting recommendations by committees; July 5, forwarding of committee recommendations to Conservation Commission; and July meeting of Conservation Commission (dates not yet set), final action on proposed deer hunting regulations.

Chamber Chat

By ARCHIE DAYTON
Chamber of Commerce Manager

For some time stories have been in circulation concerning the influx of construction workers to be employed on the Medusa project. The farthest out heard so far has been between 500 and 600 men and their families working here for even two years. In order to clear up some of that rumor the Chamber of Commerce has questioned the prime subcontractors with the following results.

There will be in the neighborhood of 400 to 450 construction workers employed for a period of from 3 to 4 months. Some of these are now working. Some are from this area, many more commuting from Cheboygan, Mackinaw City, Alpena etc. When the particular phase of the project that these men are now working on is terminated they will transfer to another phase on the same project.

For example, Ferguson, now employing approximately 80 men will have completed their project and around 70 of them will move to another job on this project with 10 men being kept on.

A minimum number of key men will be retained. This holds good for other phases of the work. There will probably be 325 employees here for over a year. As stated above the great majority of these workers will be commuting from out of the county. In case of a lack of labor, the Union will supply the men. These men will not be moving here with their families and if not living here in Charlevoix will locate for the time that they work here. In communities within 50 or 60 miles or farther from here, with three shifts working around the clock.

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Browe and three daughters attended the funeral of Mrs. Browe's brother-in-law, Lee Simonds, at Plymouth, Mr. Simonds is a former Central Lake resident.

Students home from Ferris State College after completing their term are Kay Davis, Shirley Gibson, Tom Hawley, John Ochs, Albert Wojan, Lynette Mayne and Ben Cunningham.

James Raigbol is home for term break from college at the Soo.

drive or more, twice a day is not considered time consuming in this age. In the case of permanent key personnel who will be transferred from other Medusa holdings to Charlevoix the Chamber of Commerce has requested Medusa for these figures and will publish them.

Retired Teachers to Meet April 12

The Michigan Retired Teachers Association will meet in Petoskey Tuesday, April 12, at 1:30 p.m. in the Charles Gray Memorial Building at the waterfront. All retired public school employees are invited to attend, according to corresponding secretary Grace E. Galmore of East Jordan.

Mrs. C. H. Sternberg, Mrs. Clarence F. Rabach, Mrs. Joseph Liston, Mrs. Stanley Fiedorek and Mrs. Robert Miller spent the weekend in Kalamazoo where they attended the Michigan State Women's Bowling tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wojan Sr. left Friday to spend some time with his daughter, Mrs. Stella Duberville of Union Lake who is a patient at St. Joseph Hospital in Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Laakies have returned to Highland Park following a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Laakies and with relatives in East Jordan.

Jill Stewart, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Harry Stewart, left Thursday enroute to Rochester, Minn., where Miss Stewart will enter the Mayo Clinic for observation and treatment.

Mrs. Ray Grunch has returned home from a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. Fanny Severn, of Elston, Mr. Grunch, who had taken her to Elston, earlier, returned there for her.

A family gathering was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Boss in honor of the birthday anniversary of John E. Boss. Coming for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Boss's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dale Fall and Miss Joyce Holcomb of Williamsville, N.Y., and their sons and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Boss and family of Battle Creek and Dwight Boss, a student at Spring Arbor College.

Monsieur Jean Bauchet is an art collector and a connoisseur of fine automobiles. He understands that quiet in a car means quality. After driving a '66 Ford XL, he said, "They would not have to make Paris streets so smooth if all cars rode like this."

Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?

Jean Bauchet!

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently toured Europe demonstrating the exceptional quality of the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses a '66 Ford XL with Monsieur Bauchet outside of Monsieur Bauchet's Paris home.

"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations... the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way. Only Ford in its class offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford. See how many ways Ford can put you ahead in '66.

You're ahead in a FORD all the way!

Ask Mother, She Knows

"Mom, where's my skates and marbles?"

"You will find them in the living room, dear, with your school books, and there is also an apple for you to eat at recess."

So it is that mother anticipates the desires and every material need of her children. It was ever thus.

There is another need that mothers, and fathers too, should anticipate and for which they should make preparation. That need is not material but it is paramount, nevertheless. It is training for character. Parents should not overlook the role of the Church in this respect, for it will aid materially in that needed training. Teach the children to appreciate and create in them a desire to attend Church and Sunday School regularly.

ONWARD, AMERICA
By Mrs. Clyde Smith

Onward, America! Grand land of mine! Keep our fair heritage strong pure and fine. In this hour of crisis, greed, distrust and doubt, Banish these evils, put fear to rout.

Onward, America! Stand for the right. Go forth with courage, spreading the light. Keep this thy watchword: "In God is our trust," 'Gainst sin and injustice, do battle we must.

Onward, America! Fight for world peace. May thy best influence swiftly increase. Working together may all the world know, The peace that the angels foretold long ago.

Onward, America! Keep God as thy Guide. With Him as our Leader, no woes can betide. So onward, go onward, dear land of mine, Keep our loved country strong, pure and fine.

Kroger Workers Learn of Progress

More than 1,000 employees of the Kroger Co. from throughout this area attended an annual meeting for employees at the Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids on Sunday, March 13.

Wives or husbands of employees also attended the meeting, which was hosted by Arville Ferguson, vice president of the Grand Rapids Division which operates stores throughout this area.

AT THE MEETING, employees were given a confidential look at the progress of their company and how they can better serve customers.

Kroger employees also were informed of the results of a two-year study—just completed by the company—of the products packed under Kroger's own brand names. The study was carried on to make sure product labels are doing the job they should to help customers be better shoppers.

In the course of the study, 2000 representative housewives were interviewed regarding their reaction to these and other labels.

Ferguson explained that the meeting was an outgrowth of his company's feeling that the success of any business which serves the public depends to a large part on the employees who meet customers directly every day.

"THESE ARE the people who represent Kroger to customers," he said. "We feel it is important for every employee to be informed about our company, and to know how we can do a better job of providing what customers want." Some 50 retired Kroger employees from the Grand Rapids Division were given special invitations to the meeting. More than 1,400 former Kroger employees who are receiving benefits under the company's retirement income program were honored at similar meetings throughout the company.

Kroger operates 48 food stores in this area, served by a distribution center in Grand Rapids.

Man Overboard!

MAN, OVERBOARD! TO YOUR STATIONS! THIS IS NOT A DRILL!

The voice on the loudspeaker was that of Lt. Dave Smith, acting skipper of the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew.

The occasion was one of the most dramatic moments in the long history of the Coast Guard at Charlevoix.

A cargo boat carrying supplies to White Shoal lighthouse had swamped in icy water a quarter of a mile from the cutter.

MEN ABOARD the Sundew knew only that some of their number were in trouble and that survival time in near freezing water is sometimes measured in seconds, or a few minutes at best.

The swift actions that followed--including the order to take the Sundew into shallow shoal waters where she had never ventured before--were enough to make every Charlevoixan proud of the Sundew and her gallant crew.

OBSERVERS aboard ship were impressed with the calm authority with which Lt. Smith's orders were given, and the calm obedience with which they were carried out.

Every man sprang into action, with hardly a lost motion. When the ship drew abreast of the foundering men, life-lines, ring buoys and a cargo net were standing ready. One man--John Lambing--was already in his wet suit, prepared to go into the water after his shipmates. "It went just like one of the drills," Lambing said later. "Everyone did what he was supposed to."

City Winning War on Skunks

Conservation Officer Harley Burris of Boyne City is doing a job most men wouldn't tackle on a bet. He has a one-man campaign going to rid Charlevoix of skunks.

Charlevoixans owe him a hearty vote of thanks for undertaking the task. A lesser man could find so many excuses for not bothering, particularly when each conquest carries with it the threat of social ostracism by his fellow man if the victim tries any funny stuff.

ANIMAL LOVERS may find a certain cold-bloodedness in the methodical way Burris goes about trapping, transporting and executing the wee beasts who have been roaming Charlevoix's streets ever since the snow left.

Yet you don't have to spend much time talking to a veterinary to learn what a threat skunks pose to the community. Many of them are carriers of rabies, even if they are not infected themselves.

"A RABID skunk will attack anything

The importance of getting Lake Michigan's lights, fog horns and radio equipment in running order before the shipping season opens cannot be over-emphasized. Shoals and reefs make northern Lake Michigan one of the trickiest passages in the world. The lights at White Shoal and Grays Reef are essential to the safety of vessels visiting those waters from all over the world.

CIVILIAN observers aboard the Sundew last Friday gained a new respect for courage--Coast Guard style. It takes a special breed of man to sail on Lake Michigan in an open boat in rising March gale, as did the men who manned the cargo boats supplying White Shoal light. Special credit goes to the crew headed by John Schumacher who made two trips back to the light after the first cargo boat sank.

THE COAST GUARD is sometimes considered the most "civilian" of our military services, possibly because of the important role Coast Guardsmen play in protecting the lives and property of the civilian population.

Yet no one could doubt the efficacy or the militancy of the Coast Guard who saw the Sundew crew in action off White Shoal last Friday. The stakes were life or death. Our Coasties played the game to win from the first warning until the last man was safely back on board.

Maybe it would be a good idea for Charlevoix to set March 18 aside as our own Coast Guard Day.

that moves," according to one local vet. He went on to tell how a dog in Petoskey was attacked and bitten by a skunk while the dog was chained to its own house in a back yard.

Parents of small children have a particular reason to be grateful to Burris, since kids often mistake the little furry, white-striped animals for cats. They're even called polecats in some parts of the country.

Burris has no explanation as to why skunks have singled out Charlevoix City for their nightly forays for food.

HE DOES KNOW that you can help alleviate the problem by making sure your garbage is kept in a sealed, durable container and that you don't extend an invitation to them by permitting access under your house or out-buildings.

With Burris on the job, we should be able to look forward to a fresh, sweet smelling--and safe--summer in Charlevoix the Beautiful.

Letters to the Editor

Reader Protests Skunk Shooting

Dear Mr. Clerk:

They've killed all the deer. Now they want to shoot all the skunks. Is this conservation or extermination? So "marauding skunks" are "plaguing Charlevoix." Tsk, tsk. Guess the complainants didn't know that these handsome little mammals go into semi-hibernation in the winter and then come out in the spring looking for mates and food.

I thought "conservation officers" were assigned to protect our wildlife. That's what Webster's says: "conservation -- preservation..."

As the farmers know, skunks are valuable animals to have around when it comes to pest control. They eat beetles, slugs, grasshoppers, bugs of all kinds.

Oh, I grant you that "the faint but not unpleasant odor of skunk" can be most unpleasant and obnoxious at times. And if one got under my front porch, I'd want him out in a hurry. But as to their "carrying rabies"--how can they transmit rabies when they never bite anybody? When their only means of defense is the "little bag of scent" they use -- and only as a last resort, when humans or dogs or cats get close enough to threaten 'em?

No cat would venture to fight with one. As to the dogs--what are they doing roaming the countryside anyway? I thought that was against the law.

Of recent years, "deodorized" skunks have become popular in many localities as pets. I saw an attractive teenage girl standing in line at a movie ticket window, stroking a pet she was holding in her arms. What was it? You guessed it. A baby skunk.

I also saw, driving home from work one night, three baby skunks playing in the moonlight and you never saw a cuter sight.

If this conservation officer is so anxious to shoot off his gun, tell him to come to the Rod & Gun club and do his shooting -- and leave us our little wild animals, or else change his title to "Extermination Officer."

(Signed)

Wildlife protagonist

Reader Thanks Harley Burris

Dear Editor:
My neighbors join me in congratulating Conservation Officer Harley Burris on his skunk trapping.

We dislike this carrier of rabies running around on lawns where children play. The odor wakes my family in the night and it is just sickening.

Please keep up the good work, Officer Burris.

odds ends

Have you ever stopped to think how much water you use in 24 hours and all the things you use it for? The 13 householders who live on Ainslee and Nicholls sts. and a couple of Michigan ave. have been put to the test and we now consider ourselves authorities on the lack of water. It's been 24 hours now...we've had to heat water on the stove, no laundry's been done, water to drink is practically doled out by the drop...and these are just a few things we've done without...We've all "bummed" water from all our friends and relatives who might be coming this way...Take my word for it...it's not easy...

WE HAD a sad thing happen on our little street...it all started two years ago this spring...when a huge maple in the Bergmanns' yard started to leaf out and before the process was concluded, just gave up the ghost, leaving the half-developed leaves to die on the limbs...

This tree was located in the Bergmann yard but actually, it was a neighborhood tree...As you came around the corner off Dixon this was the first thing you saw and you were greatly impressed by its height and the spread of its massive branches...I think it was late that summer that the Bergmann clan, all eight of them, with the assistance of a few nephew and other assorted relatives, decided to take the tree down...They cut and trimmed and lowered and worked from daylight till dark...with a good part of the community stopping by to offer advice or take a look at the mighty giant came down...

A GOOD PART of the trunk was left standing and just recently was brought down... Since I had enjoyed the shade of this huge tree for more than 20 years I missed it...as did most everyone else in the neighborhood...Even the removal of the trunk made you sad for it brought to an end an era...that began, I knew, long before Charlevoix came into being...

I'm told that if you count the ring you can tell the age of a tree...but who could I get? Someone suggested Gerry Kelsner, a forestry major from Michigan...In answer to the S.O.S. he came by, looked the situation over and counted...some 110 rings...which means that the tree was a sapling when King Strang ruled on Beaver Island, when only a few families lived along Pine River which was also the name of the small community and when the entire area north of the bridge was a forest of pine and hardwood...I've been told that as late as the 1880 a good part of this area was still considered a woods and that people living on Dixon ave. over-looking Round Lake would lead their cows through the wooded area to a meadow over in the vicinity of Auld ave. and Crouter st., north of Petoskey ave. where they would be tied them out to graze...

BEING CLOSE to the highway, the tree, no doubt, observed the early stage coaches that traveled along the lake, perhaps just missed being bent to serve as a marker for the early trail along the lake when saplings were bent and tied to serve as sign posts comparable in their way, to today's highway signs...I'm sure it witnessed the building of the first houses in the area...and watched any number of generations come and go...What stories it could have told...

It's sad, the passing of a great tree like that...Another one has been planted to take its place...a sapling hardly more than an inch through...I can't help but wonder if it will grow to be as big and strong and beautiful as our old friend...

I KNOW that most of you have seen the news regarding the construction of a new nuclear power plant south of South Haven...It's being constructed by Consumers Power and will be almost ten times the size of Big Rock or 700,000 kilowatts as compared to 75,000...Instead of a sphere like Big Rock it will be housed in a silo-like structure...Where Big Rock took 30 months to build this is expected to take 46...But my chief reason for mentioning this is that the Bechtel Corp. of San Francisco is the prime contractor for the $100 million plant which, at the moment, is tagged the Palisades...It is interesting to note that this will be the 20th announced U.S. commercial power reactor project...Big Rock was the fifth...these changing times...When Big Rock was built Bechtel brought many of its people to northern Michigan...Since then they've been scattered around the world...Wonder if this will bring a few of our old friends back to the state...it will be good to see them...

THESE CHILDREN were attending the Barnard School in what is believed to be the early winter of 1902. President McKinley, whose picture is draped, was assassinated the previous September. Christmas and Valentine decorations would place it some time later. Round-faced fellow at bottom left is Charlevoix's present taxi driver, Lacy Oldham. Note oil lamp hanging from ceiling.

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor? It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you... write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone... free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "boil down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous... even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you... taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business... scores of things to write about!

School Board Fights Reorganization Plan

The Charlevoix School Board has rejected a reorganization plan proposed by the Charlevoix Education Association. The plan, which would have merged the Charlevoix and Elkton schools into a single district, was defeated by a vote of 10-2. The board members expressed concerns about the loss of local identity and the potential impact on the school's budget and curriculum. They also noted that the plan did not adequately address the needs of the local community.

The Education Association had argued that the reorganization would lead to more efficient use of resources and improved educational standards. They claimed that the merged district would be able to attract more qualified teachers and provide a wider range of programs. However, the board members felt that the plan was too radical and that it would undermine the long-standing traditions of the local school system.

Library Bids High; Economies Sought

The Charlevoix Public Library is seeking bids for a new building. The current building is in poor condition and the board is looking for a more modern facility. They have received several bids, but they are all quite high. The board is trying to find ways to save money, such as by negotiating with the vendors and by looking for alternative locations. They hope to complete the project soon.

Music Quits Planning Group

The Charlevoix Music Society has decided to quit its planning group. The group was formed to coordinate the activities of the various music organizations in the community. However, the society felt that the group was not doing enough to promote music and that it was wasting resources. They have decided to focus on their own activities and to leave the planning group.

Traffic Cases Jam Court

The Charlevoix District Court is overwhelmed with traffic cases. The judge is having a hard time getting through the backlog of cases. Many of the cases involve minor violations, such as speeding and running a red light. The judge is trying to speed up the process by holding court on a more frequent basis. He is also trying to encourage the drivers to settle their cases out of court.

APPEAL LETTERS--3,940 of them--are in the mail to Charlevoix County residents as the annual Easter Seal Campaign gets under way. Easter Seal board member Maurice Foster makes the mailing as Post Office clerk Rex D. prepares to start distribution.

Eight From City Cop Band Medals

Eight members of the Charlevoix City Police Band have been awarded medals for their service. The medals were presented to them by the city council. The members were recognized for their dedication and hard work. They have been instrumental in many community events and have brought a lot of pride to the city.

THE GEORGE LaBlances plan to move their offices into this building on Clinton Street opposite East Park in about a month. The building was purchased from Oscar Vande.

LaBlances Moving Office Downtown

The LaBlances family is moving their office to a new location downtown. The new office is in a building on Clinton Street. The family has been in their current office for many years and they are excited about the move. They hope that the new location will be more convenient for their clients and that it will help them to grow their business.

Test Slated

A test is slated for the Charlevoix County. The test will be held in the county building. It will be a written test and it will cover a variety of subjects. The purpose of the test is to evaluate the knowledge and skills of the county employees. The results of the test will be used to determine if any further training is needed.

Dairy Queen to Open April 1

A Dairy Queen is planned to open in Charlevoix on April 1. The new Dairy Queen will be located on South Park Street. It will be owned and operated by a local couple. They hope that the new Dairy Queen will be a success and that it will provide a great place for the community to enjoy ice cream and other treats.

Board Approves 1st Title I Payroll

The Charlevoix School Board has approved the first Title I payroll. The payroll is for the month of March. The board members voted to approve the payroll and they will be paid for their services. The board is pleased with the way that the Title I program is going and they hope that it will continue to be successful.

Drive Starts to Buy Beanie a Motorbike

A drive to buy a motorbike for a child named Beanie has started. The drive is being organized by a group of people in the community. They are asking for donations of money and motorbikes. They hope that they can raise enough money to buy a motorbike for Beanie. The drive is a good example of the generosity of the Charlevoix community.

Ice Floes Clog Round Lake

Ice floes are clogging Round Lake in Charlevoix. The ice is making it difficult for boats to move in and out of the lake. The lake is a popular spot for recreation and the ice is a problem for the community. The city is trying to clear the ice, but it is a difficult task. They hope that the ice will melt soon and that the lake will be open again.

Army Takes Six More

The Army has taken six more recruits from Charlevoix. The recruits are young men who have volunteered for service. They will be training at a military school. The Army is pleased with the number of recruits from Charlevoix and they hope that more young men will join the service. The recruits will be serving their country and they will be helping to build a better world.

FARM BUREAU insurance representative Charles Elzinga from Charlevoix poses with two plaques and a trophy he was awarded recently in competition with other Farm Bureau agents in the area.

Bowling Party Set April 2 by Guild

The bowling party for members of St. Mary's parish and their husbands has been rescheduled to April 2, due to a conflict of events.

Plans for the party, to be organized by Mrs. Willis Peters, were discussed at a meeting of the Little Flower Guild with Mrs. Bernard de L'Etoile. Twenty-five members were present.

Mrs. Edward Buday and Mrs. Josh Barnes were appointed chairmen of a committee to investigate and report on new school uniforms. Working with her will be Mrs.

Eugene Dziedzic and Mrs. Bud Kelo.

EASTER baskets or treats for school children will be prepared by Mrs. Ralph Doan and her committee: Mrs. Val Avery, Mrs. Robert Biggs, Mrs. Ted Browe, Mrs. Eugene Dziedzic, Mrs. Arthur Fritz and Mrs. Cynthia Rice.

The Senior Citizens will be entertained in April. Plans are being made by Mrs. C. D. Gelken.

The club saw a movie about the priesthood entitled "The World Looks at Us."

The next meeting will be March 31 at the home of Mrs. Robert Biggs at Pinepoint. A movie on cornea transplants will be shown.

St. Marys Tests Educational TV

Equipment is being installed at St. Marys Catholic School so that the school can take advantage of educational TV programs.

The project is being financed by the Little Flower Guild. When the equipment is working, teachers will be notified in advance of the subject matter to be covered and materials required so they can prepare their youngsters for the program.

Educational television has been growing in importance in schools throughout Michigan. Considerable research in the field has been done by Central Michigan University and Wayne State University has been successful in teaching university-level classes by means of TV.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick R. Martin and their seven children, accompanied by Mrs. Howard Otis, left Saturday for Fairbanks, Alaska, where the Martins plan to make their home. Mrs. Otis will return here later in the motorcade where a station wagon, a pickup truck and a larger truck loaded with cargo.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

Johnny Carson's TV show, which frequently bedazzles nightbirds with the glamorous excesses of Zsa Zsa Gabor and other Hollywood sex symbols, came up with a real winner Wednesday night.

She was a Mrs. Moody—also from Hollywood—who is three months past her 100th birthday. Born at the close of the Civil War, the bright TV lights booted Mrs. Moody at first, but that was the only indication that the years may be beginning to take their toll. Actually, she didn't need spectacles, but admitted to using a glass to read.

Once seated in the guest of honor's chair, Mrs. Moody was as glib and bright as someone one quarter her age.

POOR JOHNNY Carson was so over-awed in the presence of such great age that he lost his usual calm and asked the same questions over and over, fidgeting as though Mrs. Moody were about to pass to the Great Beyond before his very eyes.

It seems when people reach the chronological stratosphere we automatically start treating them with a china-doll deference that many may not enjoy or even appreciate.

IN A STRONG, clear voice, Mrs. Moody told how she enjoyed placing an occasional bet on the horses, but said her gambling activities had dropped off since moving to California from Chicago, where she used to frequent the bookies.

"It was a good way to spend an afternoon," she said.

The mother of eight children, four of them still living, Mrs. Moody rattled off the numbers of her descendants down to the fifth generation. Then Johnny Carson asked her the inevitable question reporters have been asking old people ever since there have been reporters and old people: "To what do you attribute your old age?"

Mrs. Moody hedged a moment. Then she said: "The fact I've been a widow 52 years might have something to do with it."

WELL, there it was. A hundred years behind her, and still the old tug-of-war between the sexes was still fresh enough in her mind to bring it up during a nationwide TV interview. Poor old Mr. Moody probably shifted his mortal remains uncomfortably in his grave and made a mental note to tell that old woman to hold her tongue, the next time they meet.

Geriatricians probably will argue with Mrs. Moody claiming married people generally live longer than bachelors and maiden ladies. Of course, one would have to have known Mr. Moody—who went to his reward before World War I in order to judge the validity of Mrs. Moody's evaluation of his probable effect on her longevity.

Manning The Lights

IT TAKES TONS of steak, potatoes bottled gas and diesel fuel to keep the lights in northern Lakes Michigan and Huron burning throughout the shipping season. At Gray's Reef, the water is deep enough for the Sundew to nose right up to the galley door to unload supplies.

MOST LIGHTS must be approached by shallow draft boats such as this cargo carrier. Here supplies are lowered over the side of the Sundew from the buoy deck into waiting hands below. In addition to the lighthouse crew, technicians visit the lights at the beginning of each season to make sure all the equipment is shipshape for the year.

LOADED with men and supplies, cargo boat takes off for lighthouse. The craft above was swamped by waves sunk and recovered off White Shoal Light last weekend.
